

DAY TO RESCUE OF PACKERS' TRUST

Standard Oil University Head Hastens to Champion Cause of Beef Barons.

SEVERELY CRITICISES ACTIONS OF ROOSEVELT

That Foul Harpies of Slander Have Cost Us Millions of Dollars in Eyes of the World and Nauseated Mankind.

(Journal Special Service.)
Syracuse, N. Y., June 11.—In his baccalaureate sermon yesterday Chancellor Day of Syracuse university, of which John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil company is chief beneficiary, again took occasion to criticize President Roosevelt for his attitude toward the trusts and severely criticized the executive's action regarding the packers. Chancellor Day said, in part:

"When senators and representatives receive orders from the executive, when appeals to popular passion are made to force them to action to which their sound judgment and honest convictions are opposed, the government by the people and for the people becomes a misnomer and a deception. In that hour we are a monarchy without the name."

"It is to be hoped that we are not so dazed and so daft by an office that has grown great with our greatness that it may be permitted to set aside courts, senators and congresses."

"Recently pressure was brought by a message, the purpose of which the senators instantly understood and which evidently was intended to appeal to long-prepared prejudices of the people."

"Foul Harpies of Slander."

"Is this the method of legislation to which this great nation has descended? Is this the way the best way to make our laws?"

"We have fallen into a scandal-mongering epoch. The foul harpies of slander have created a condition and all of the citizens are nauseated at the thought of us. It has cost us tens of millions of money and the respect of mankind. It will cost us our self-respect if we do not turn out with the people in a hot indignation this sort of slander."

"The scandal-mongers who drag the people through slaughter-houses to exhibit in lowest forms the food of their tables by exaggeration and stories of things that always must be offensive at best, are mistaken agitators and especially dangerous to us as a people at this time."

"Fifth of Damnation."

"This is the epoch we are in. Nothing is right. Everything is wrong. Everybody is bad except the accusers. Everybody seems to be on the verge of being drawn into the fifth and sixth of damnation or deadly fire-damp of suspicion."

"Committees are sent out to bring back shocking things, and if they come back without them others are sent with more sensitive powers. Those whose judicial temperament unfit them for hysteria, are threatened with dismissal or branded as remiss in duty. The people who wait for both sides of the case are tools of the trusts."

"How long can a nation endure such action of things? They threaten the stability of all forms of business and create universal distrust."

EVENTS OF GRADUATION AT ALBANY INSTITUTION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Albany, Or., June 11.—Commencement exercises of Albany college are proving of interest to friends of that institution. The exercises of the business department, the junior banquet and the recital of the department of music have been held. Thomas Richardson delivered a practical talk to students in the commercial department. The department of music has been in charge of Miss Emma B. Sox, instructor in piano, and Miss Florence Roach, vocal music. The work of the pupils reflected great credit on their instructors as well as on themselves.

Baccalaureate Sunday was a memorable occasion. President Crooks delivering the address on the subject, "The Human Element." The exercises were augmented by music. The selections from Mendelssohn's "Elijah" by a large chorus choir containing the best musical talent in the city and Handel's "Largo" as an organ offertory by Miss Sox were most favorably received.

WOMEN AS USHERS AT WHITE TEMPLE

Miss Clara L. Webb.

Last night was a memorable night at the White Temple as it marked the day of equality between men and women. Those who went to church expecting to be ushered in by some dignified old man with flowing white beard were surprised, and not unpleasantly, to find a white-frosted maiden smilingly asking where they wished to sit. Fifty women in pretty summer gowns were Dr. Brougner's right-hand aides last night and without faltering they conducted the church attendants to their pews, supplied them with hymn books, attended to the windows and passed the collection plates.

The work was systematically divided and there was no confusion. Mrs. J. W. Brougner was general chairman of the reception committee and had her corps of workers arranged two for each aisle. Miss Clara Webb, Dr. Brougner's

BROWN IS WORN.

Whether brown will be worn this season, is indeed a query, for what we are repeatedly told by the leading modistes for that it is not a color of the hour, still we are constantly seeing some of the smartest gowns made in the various shades of golden, mahogany and tobacco brown. Another instance where this is shown is in the cinnamon brown chiffon cloth gowns, which have appeared at the eastern horse shows. The bodies of one gown was made in coat form, with only a suggestion of trimming in the double row of entire dexa that spanned the entire bodice. There was a high swathed belt of brown velvet finished with a bow and smart buckle. The sleeves were pretty, being composed of double puffs and completed at the elbow by several narrow killings of the self-material. All round the edge of the skirt ran a series of the same plaitings. A fitting accompaniment to the gown was a huge Gainsborough hat, of the same dark brown shade, carried out in Neapolitan and swathed round the crown with a soft drapery of liberty satin, while at one side was arranged a cluster of upstanding plumes, whose long, uncurled fronds dominated the entire crown. A huge ruff of brown chiffon was worn over the shoulders—a most becoming accessory.

VACATION TIME.

In almost every home in this city the closing of the school doors for the summer vacation means something very definite. The 26,000 youngsters who troop from their school yards with books securely strapped must necessarily revolutionize the quiet tenure of the homes.

For many months the spirits and bodies of these young people have been cramped and strained. From the furthest corners of the mind, the selections from Mendelssohn's "Elijah" by a large chorus choir containing the best musical talent in the city and Handel's "Largo" as an organ offertory by Miss Sox were most favorably received.

Take half a dozen good-sized, round potatoes, wash thoroughly with a vegetable brush; put them in a brick oven, and when baked pick a hole in the end to let steam out. Boil the potatoes in mealy, baked potato; next cut the potatoes in half, lengthwise, scoop out the inside into a hot bowl and add a dessertspoonful of butter, two tablespoonfuls of hot milk, the yolks of two eggs, salt and pepper to taste; beat vigorously and fill the jackets with the mixture; put the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff, over the top and return to the oven until brown. A very ornamental and toothsome dish. Place on flat dish and garnish with parsley.

THE BEST WAY TO FIGURE.

In a discussion of household economy a club woman said the other day: "The late Susan B. Anthony once threw a new, strange light on this subject. She was talking to me about the allowances that husbands make their wives, and I can't help thinking that there was a good deal in what she said."

"She said that an average man and his wife, an average woman, were discussing their receipts and disbursements. The man, a bookkeeper, had had his salary reduced. It was now $1,000. He wanted his wife to tell him on what weekly allowance she could hereafter run the house."

"I know it," said the man, "but just figure them up." "There are the clothes for three children," she murmured. "There's the servant's wages. There's the butcher, the grocer, the baker and the milkman. There's the rent."

"I'll figure it up! Figures it all up, can't you? The man interrupted, rather impatiently."

"The woman looked up suddenly. 'I could figure it up,' she said; 'but I have thought of a much simpler plan.'"

"All right. What is it?" said he. "It is, she answered, 'that you figure up instead of what it will cost you for carfare, luncheons and tobacco, and hand over the rest to me.'"

TRY TOAST FOR HEALTH.

Since most people are very fond of toast, but eat it sparingly, however, because of the general impression that it is bad for the health, it is pleasing to know that toasted bread is really very wholesome, even for invalids.

One thing in its favor is the fact that it places a lighter tax on the digestive functions than ordinary bread, since during its preparation some of the starch grains of the flour are ruptured, while some are converted into dextrine, which is easily soluble.

Further, the crispness of toast necessitates its being completely masticated in the mouth before it can be swallowed. As a rule, therefore, toast is thoroughly submitted to the action of the preliminary digestive process in the mouth. It is important, however, that toast should be crisp all through, as otherwise the internal portions tend to become plastic and soft, like new bread, and, like it, difficult of digestion if not thoroughly masticated.

Storm in Russia Cannot Long Be Delayed—Czar Must Give In to Demands.

BULLETS AND BAYONETS ADVOCATED BY SOLONS

Peasants Now Thoroughly Aroused and Demanding Ownership of Property by Force if Necessary—Workmen Conservative.

(Journal Special Service.)
St. Petersburg, June 11.—Students of events are confident that the storm cannot long be delayed until the czar backs down completely. An ominous warning came today when the Novotcherkassk regiment, which is at Okazka, near St. Petersburg, mutinied. It was under orders to proceed to the Baltic provinces and the men refused to go.

In the meantime the liberal leaders in the duma are stirring up the people. Aminin and Alladin, the principal peasant orators, who are able men, have used language this week that might have been borrowed from the pages of American revolutionary eloquence.

"It is only bullets and bayonets that the government will reply to," exclaimed Alladin at the end of a brilliant and remarkably temperate declaration that the duma had "no faith in the ministers and no fear of them, either, and then pausing until the uproar subsided. "It is our high duty without delay or deviation to raise a banner beneath which the Russian people may march to victory in the struggle that will surely come."

Aminin declared that the theory that the peasants are conservative is utterly fallacious. They are now as thoroughly convinced that the land belongs to them as they were in 1861, that serfdom should cease. The government seems utterly incapable of grasping the idea of public control of land.

"The government must beware or soon it will be too late and the people will take what the government refuses to give."

The artisans, on the contrary, show strong conservative leanings. While they were advocating violence they are now giving the duma intelligent bearing. But if a rupture comes they will be ready to organize the peasants. It looks as if a new era of strikes in large cities was beginning.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED AT M'INNIVILLE COLLEGE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
McMinnville, Or., June 11.—Commencement exercises of McMinnville college begin next Sunday, June 17. The principal features are the graduating exercises of the conservatory of music and of the candidates for the degrees of A. B. and B. S., the former being a class of four young women and the latter a class of nine young men and women. The program is as follows:

The term examinations take place Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Friday evening the elocution and expression department will give a recital. On Saturday evening the annual lawn fete of the conservatory will take place.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

(Journal Special Service.)
Buffalo, June 11.—The annual national convention of the Travelers' Protective Association of America opened in Convention hall today with an attendance of hundreds of delegates representing every section of the country. The initial session was opened with prayer by the national chaplain, Rev. Homer T. Wilson of Fort Worth. Mayor Adams made the welcoming address, which was responded to by the national president, W. B. Johnson of Knoxville. Other speakers on the program of the forenoon session were George W. Smith of St. Louis, Horace C. Starr of Richmond, Indiana, and W. A. Ryan of Terre Haute, Indiana.

The afternoon session was short and at its conclusion the delegates were given a carriage ride through the city.

The reports of the several officers show that the association continues to grow at a gratifying rate. It has increased its membership threefold in the past decade. There are now 180 branches in the United States, with an aggregate membership of 25,000. It is primarily a commercial travelers' organization, but includes in its membership a large number of employers of commercial travelers among wholesale dealers and manufacturers, and this combination gives it a most powerful influence.

Who'll Buy Our Organs?
You can still secure one of the fine and almost new parlor organs which we agreed to sell for customers who bought new pianos of us. These people effected a great saving in the purchase price of the piano, and are willing to let these parlor organs go for what they will bring. You will also find a large and almost complete assortment of beautiful new ones—Kimball, Burdette, Crown, etc., also one fine self-playing Aeolian, a couple of piano-cased organs, two Victrolas and several fine church organs. Everything must go by Saturday next or we forfeit $1,000. See advertisement on page 3, this issue. We simply have to get out, and must close out everything at what it will bring. Remember, any reasonable terms will now be accepted—$5, $6 or $8 down and $5, $4 and, yes, even as low as $2 a month, secure the best of them. Come the first thing tomorrow morning. They're bound to go quickly. Eilers Piano House, 151 Washington street.

FIRE AGAIN PREVAILS IN RED LODGE MINES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Helena, Mont., June 11.—A special from Red Lodge states that the fire has again broken out in the mines of the Rocky Fork Coal company, but as there are no men in the mines, last week's disaster, whereby eight men lost their lives through being cut off and suffocated by flames, will not be repeated.

Gas is heavy in the workings and smoke issues from a number of places. The remainder of the victims were buried Sunday, the town turning out en masse to attend the funeral.
