Girls' Glee Club Renders Music and Makes Hit-Miss Lucile Payne Receives Three Scholarship Prizes -Greek Prize for Miss Cameron.

Relatives and friends of the pupils of Portland academy gathered in large numbers last night to attend the commencement exercises of the class of 1996. The program was an elaborate one. Enthusiasm marked the proceedings, every feature and even every announcement being cheered to the echo. The class is the largest ever graduated by Portland academy, the number of members being 54. The leading feature of the program was an eratorical prize contest open to members of the class. The contestants were Miss Margaret Virginia Merges, Vernon Walter Cooke. The contestants were Miss Mangaret Virginia Merges, Vernon Walter Cooke, William V. Dolph Miss Georgia Mand Newbury and Cecil Jefferson Espy. W. D. Wheelwright, representing the judges, awarded the prizes, the first going to Miss Merges and the second to Walter Cooke.

The music of the evening was furnished by the girls' glee club, which was directed by Edward Coursen. The soloist was Miss Vida Reed. Of the scholarship prizes Miss Lucile Payne received three, the Corbett prize for scholarship in the graduating class, the Selling prize for English scholarship and the Livingstone prize for Latin. All three were first prizes. Both the Selling and Corbett second prizes went to Miss Helen Barber. The Nichols first prize for excellence in mathematics was ing and Corbett second prizes went to Miss Helen Barber. The Nichols first prize for excellence in mathematics was awarded to Miss Virginia Merges, the Nichols second prize to George Wood. Miss Anna Cameron won the prize for superiority in Greek. parties were arrived at and a new lease was signed covering a period of five years.

The new arrangement does not cover the old retail warerooms, but instead of this the entire second floor of the block will be occupied, together with the upper or western corner of the building, where formerly Acclian Recital hall and the general offices of the concern were located. This, while securing to the firm a saving in rent amounting to exactly $43,000 for the five years' term of the new lease, will eventually give Ellers Plano House a larger display than ever before. The second floor of the building is now occupied by the Portland Business college, which popular institution has made arrangements for fine quarters in the new building to be erected at the corner of Tenth and Morrison streets. It is figured that this building will be finished by October I, at which time possession can be given to Ellers Plano House. Many changes decidedly for the better will then be made in the building.

Many afterations are contemplated, and the firm will spare no expense to make this building the finest and most convenient musical instrument house in the United States. Meanwhile, of course, and until these changes are completed, Ellers Plano House retires from the retail field.

ing the Saving of $39,000 in Rent.

Notwithstanding the numerous rumors which have been circulated during the past few days to the effect that Ellers Piano House will not retire from the retail business nor vacate their present quarters, the doors of the famous "quarter block" of fine pianos will close tonight insofar as active retailing is concerned.

To Be Entirely Remodeled.

To Be Entirely Remodeled.

It is planned entirely to remodel the lower floor, putting in a solid plate-glass front in the south and western portion of the building. Famous little Asolian hall will be revived in the extreme eastern second-floor portion of the block, and will be made exactly twice the size of the former one. A considerable portion of the second floor will be arranged in a series of well appointed music studies, handsomely and conveniently arranged and beautifully decorated.

The general offices will be removed to a mezzanine floor that will be provided in the northwestern part of the building, affording an airy and well lighted accounting department. On the second floor will be located the main sales-rooms. In addition to converting a large portion upstairs for use as the recital hall, referred to above, there will be located also the Aeolian circulating library and parlors for talking machines and records. It is needless to say that every attention will be paid to the arrangement of the hall with regard to acoustics, ventilation, furnishings, including a concert pipe organ and grand plano on the stage.

Modern electric elevators, together with broad and convenient stairs, will be provided, as well as a fireproof vault with a special interior, furnishings and equipment.

Decide to Hold Celebration at Lewis and Clark Exposition Grounds on That Day.

Fifty Catholics gathered last night at the nome of Archbishop Christie and decided that the members of that religious sect were patriotic enough to hold a celebration of Independence day, even if the city of Portland and its public bodies are not. Plans were made for a celebration in the form of a picule to be held in the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds, admission to be charged and the public invited.

The gathering included most of the Catholic clergy of this city, as well as many leading laymen. J. E. Courtney acted as chairman and Frank Barrett acted as chairman and Frank Barrett was secretary. A number of committees were appointed and were instructed to get busy at once. A discussion was held as to the features which might appeal to the public, though most of the details were left to the committees.

It was definitely decided to give a patriotic program in the Government building. The Whale piano house donated a $400 piano, which will be presented to the young lady selling the largest number of tickets to the grounds. Among other features of the picnic will be a voting contest on the grounds to determine the most popular grounds to determine the most popular priest in the city. W. Jower, whose brick business block at St. Johns is undergoing investigation by the council of that city, has threatened that if his building is condemned he will bring to the notice of the council several other buildings whose construction is of a filmsy character. Members of the council, however, say that such talk will not influence their action in making a thorough examination of the building, and that the decision will be in accord with what they find to be the facts. Jower, the Chinaman, is much stirred up over the prospect of having his building condemned and razed. There is more or less sympathy expressed for him by the residents of St. Johns, who believe that he was probably imposed upon.

The members of the Mississippi Avenue Congregational church are aroused over the prospect of a saloon being established across the street from their church, and are preparing to make a strong resistance. It is known that a corner lot on the opposite side of the street was recently purchased for $6,000 by a saloonkeeper on Mississippi avenue, in precinct No. 60, who was put out of business by local option winning in his district. The fear is that this man will transfer his business to the new location, which is just outside of precinct No. 60. The only way to prevent opening this saloon is by an appeal to the city council, as there is no law to prevent establishing a saloon near a The members of the Mississippi Aveto prevent establishing a saloon church.

"To Whom It May Concern:
"I suffered a long time with serious stomach trouble, the disasse having progressed so far that I was unable to retain my food, and finally found water to cause names; in short, my entire system was in a seriously depleted constitution. On or about July 15 last I advised with Dr. Nancy J. Fulion, of this city, and was induced to take treatments from her, and after taking the twelfth I was discharged. I can now eat anything I desire, feel perfectly well and am constantly gaining strength. This marvelous change I can truthfully say is due to Dr. Fulton. "Home, Jefferson, Or."
