

EDUCATIONAL PRIZES

Ambitious Young People Striving to Win Scholarships and Money for School Expenses—Contestants Beginning to Get Busy—Everybody Has a Chance to Help Them.

The boys and girls of Oregon are walking up to the fact that the opportunity afforded them by The Oregon Journal to earn their school expenses for the next year or two during the summer vacation is one not to be despised, and many of them are taking advantage of it. Some have already made a good start in the work of gathering in the votes needed to make them prizewinners, but others are postponing active operations until school work for the summer is over. Final examinations and commencement exercises have kept most of them very busy for the last few weeks.

1. A purse of $200 to be used in the same manner as the above.
2. A purse of $100 for incidental expenses to supplement a scholarship selected from the following list.
3. A purse of $75 in addition to one of the following scholarships.
4. A purse of $50 in addition to one of the following scholarships.
5. A purse of $25 in addition to one of the following scholarships.
6. A purse of $15 in addition to one of the following scholarships.

CONDITIONS OF CONTEST.

First choice of scholarships, or grand capital prize, to go to the contestant having the highest score at the close of the contest; second choice to the one having the next highest score, and so on to the end of the list, the number of prizes, however, to be limited to 20 unless a greater number of contestants shall have achieved results justifying a liberal award.

Contestants will be limited in their choice of scholarships to such as they can make personal use of, the scholarships being non-transferable, except with the consent of the management of the schools.

CONTESTANTS ENROLLED.

The following named young people have already made application or been nominated by friends for enrollment as contestants. There is room for many more—the more the merrier and the more interesting the contest will be.

CHARLES GROSS	Y. M. C. A., Portland, Oregon.
MISS MARY E. POWELL	Salmon street, Portland, Oregon.
MISS MILDRED L. CLEMONS	University Park, Portland, Oregon.
MISS AILEEN HACKMAN	Myrtle Park, Astoria, Oregon.

CLARENCE HERRICK	Clatskanie, Oregon.
MISS TERESA GRAMMS	290 Grand avenue, Astoria, Oregon.

and some of them will not be prepared to take up the scholarship contest work earnestly before the end of the present month. It is well for all the competitors to let their friends know, however, that they are in the race to win, and that they will need their votes. The early bird still has the reputation of being the one that catches the worm. Fortunately there is more than one "worm" to be caught in this contest, but the contestants who keep after them early and late are the ones most likely to get the largest and juiciest morsels. Be an early bird.

Any young person of school age who can furnish satisfactory references as to character and worthiness of assistance in the endeavor to secure a good education may enter the contest at any time before the close, September 1.

The business of contestants will be to induce people to subscribe for The Oregon Journal, if they are not already taking the paper, and to renew their subscriptions by paying for as long a period in advance as convenient, thereby giving the contestants the benefit of the votes allowed on advance payments.

Votes will be allowed on all advance payments on subscriptions, whether solicited by the contestants themselves or paid or remitted directly to The Journal office, or through any of the regular agents or collectors, but in all cases the money must be in The Journal office before credit will be given for the votes.

MONEY FOR ALL.

A cash donation will be paid contestants on all new subscriptions secured by them personally, or procured directly through their influence. Thus every contestant will have a chance to earn some pocket money, in addition to the opportunity of winning $100 or $200 or a scholarship worth from $100 to $250, supplemented with a purse of $100 for incidental expenses.

Blank voting certificates or ballots will be furnished on request to contestants or others who may have use for them. For each subscription prepaid one of these ballots may be filled out to correspond with the amount and length of time paid for, the number of votes due, the name of the contestant favored, etc., to be voted at the convenience of the subscriber or contestant.

VOTING SCHEDULE.

The voting power of subscriptions will be in accordance with the following schedule:

GUY GRAHAM.

We herewith present the photo of Guy Graham, the active and promising young candidate entered from Troutdale, Oregon. He is, so far, the youngest candidate and was born at Marshfield, Oregon, thirteen years ago, but removed to Troutdale some two years ago, where he is at present a pupil in the seventh grade of the Huriberg school.

Master Graham has a preference for music and desires to win one of the scholarships offered by the Oregon Conservatory of Music. He has many friends in and near Troutdale and intends to devote all his spare time during the coming vacation to hustling for subscriptions and feels sure of becoming one of the winners.

CASH PRIZES.

Cash prizes of a total of $750 will be awarded to contestants as follows:

1. A purse of $200 for the general expenses of the winner while attending any public or private institution providing free tuition.

From the Chicago Evening Post. Qualitative Bander—You are wrong in supposing that "animus" is a new kind of meat preservative. It is a packing-tow invention, but it is intended solely for political purposes, and is a sort of Watch Vermont's Vote.

Vermont, the first eastern state to hold an election this year, will vote on September 4, six days ahead of Maine.

AN IMITATION OF CHINESE

German Ambassador Says That Roosevelt Is Reincarnation of Oriental Emperor.

PRESIDENT RESEMBLES CONFUCIAN PHILOSOPHER

Second Monarch of Present Dynasty Who Lived Two Hundred Years Ago Prototype of Executive, Says Speck von Sternburg.

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, June 23.—No speech made by any diplomat this year has attracted as much attention as that of Baron Speck von Sternburg, German ambassador to the United States, made at the commencement exercises of the University of Illinois at Urbana. The speech was an exaltation of President Roosevelt.

Speck von Sternburg.

ident Roosevelt, the dear personal friend of the ambassador. The president is no fond of the baron he calls him "Speck" and has him for his constant companion in walks, rides and in the confidential half hours over a cigar when the affairs of state are laid aside for the day. No one has had a better opportunity to study the president.

Imitation of Chinese.

With this in mind it was almost startling to his hearers when Baron Speck von Sternburg said in effect that the president is the reincarnation, in his thoughts, ideals and purposes as the head of the nation, of the Emperor Kang-Hi, a Confucian scholar who reigned as emperor of China 200 years ago.

In the beginning of his address Baron von Sternburg told the graduating students of their duty to society, and added: "Kang-Hi was the second emperor of the present dynasty, the Ching, which overthrew the corrupt and degenerated Ming. He, like Frederick the Great, was not only a highly successful warrior, but a statesman and artist of great renown. He published his famous edict in the latter part of his glorious reign, during which China reached her highest power and prosperity. This edict contained 18 maxims.

Ancient Maxims Quoted.

Baron von Sternburg, in concluding his comparison of the Chinese emperor of 200 years ago and the president, said: "The style of Kang-Hi's maxims shows the conventional character of the orthodox Confucian and naturally may appear pedantic to you. But I think you will agree that it is a remarkable document, which reveals the inmost thought of a great Chinese ruler and runs closely on the lines of thought of President Roosevelt."

Some of those who heard the address and knew of President Roosevelt's great love of the west, recalled that it used to be a fighting term to call a man a Chinaman out there, and wonder if Baron von Sternburg has made a mistake.

ALLEN SCHOOL HOLDS GRADUATING EXERCISES

The Allen preparatory school held commencement exercises last night in the Hawthorne Park Presbyterian church on East Twelfth street. The graduates are Alfred Henry Clarke, Harold Everett Hint, Jessie Laurina Hurley and Ada Chenoweth McCown. Rev. Edgar P. Hill delivered the address to the graduates, encouraging them to live out of doors, and declaring that a boy who loves flowers is more to be envied than the son of a millionaire. Other features of the program were as follows: Vocal solo, "Turkey Song," John Claire Monteith; vocal solo, "Douglas Gordon" and "The Danza," Miss M. Evelyn Hurley; presentation of diplomas, Mrs. C. A. Coburn; vocal solo, "Four Leaf Clover" and "A Birthday," John Claire Monteith.

Why the Bread Came Back.

From the Dundee Advertiser. A boy who had been working in a baker's shop for some time was just about to finish his trade. One night when the boss was gone he broke the marble slab he molded his loaves on, so he went to the marble yard to secure another, but could not find one. On the way back he passed a graveyard, and, as it was very dark, he jumped over and pulled up a small headstone about the right size and took it back and finished his job. The next day, after the bread had been delivered, nearly all of it was sent back. The baker looked at it and broke several loaves open but found nothing wrong. Then he happened to turn one of the loaves over, and found on the upper side of every loaf the inscription: "Here lies the body of Mrs. Horn A. D. 1812. Died A. D. 1740."

BAND OF ARABIAN HORSES RUNS WILD ON HILLS OF WASHINGTON

Band of Wild Arabian Horses. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Wilson Creek, Wash., June 23.—Several unsuccessful attempts to round up what is known as the Wild Goose band of Arabian horses, which roam in the vicinity of Crab Creek mountains, have been made. Each time they were driven a short distance and then would break away. Riders must get out of their way or be trampled to death. The band, which numbers several hundred, when in full flight has been described by those who know like a buffalo stampede. Nothing will stop them, and fleet as a deer and sure of foot they dash over hills and mountains and through the valleys like mountain sheep. They have been seen in places where it is impossible for a man to go through.

Originally a small band of cayuses grazed in this locality. About 12 years ago a number of stockmen purchased two Arabian stallions which were turned loose in this band and from that day to this no other horses will join that band; they have increased in size, beauty and speed as well as in numbers and if they can ever be captured will bring wealth to their owners. It is the intention of the owners to organize a company of relay riders and run them down next year if possible, and it is doubtful if they will be captured in that way as the country is very rough and broken and riders would risk their lives to follow them.

WORKING TO HELP SALESPeople

Consumers' League Would Close Department Stores to Close on Saturday Afternoons.

WOULD GIVE CLERKS BREATHING SPELL

Also Suggested That Wednesday Afternoons Be Made Half Holiday During Hot Summer Months—Store Proprietors Object.

The Consumers' league wants the department stores closed Saturday afternoons during August.

The members who are working with this aim in view say they are meeting with much opposition from the proprietors of the stores, and it is expected that a meeting will be called within a week to formulate new plans and stronger arguments.

Wednesday afternoon has also been suggested as a good time to give the employees a brief breathing spell. This is the custom of many English cities, and there it has proved a beneficial thing for all concerned.

The principal argument advanced by the department store men is that the smaller stores will remain open. If the department store has a grocery department it is claimed that every shoe store in town which keeps open Saturday afternoon will draw business from the larger place.

League Members Working.

But the members of the Consumers' league are determined to better the conditions under which store employees are working. The fact that drug stores have at last found it is entirely practicable for them to keep open but a short time on Sunday is advanced as a strong argument. For years the proprietors of the drug stores contended that this could never be done, that the streets must remain open as long on Sundays as on any other day.

The purpose of the Consumers' league is to educate the shopping public. A "white list," giving the names of stores selling goods bearing the league's label, has been published by the Portland association, which is a branch of the national league, and a few suggestions to shoppers are included as follows: "Do your shopping early in the day, if possible. "Do not shop after 5 o'clock or on Saturday afternoons or evenings. "Do your Christmas shopping early in the season. "Do not wait until the last week. "Do not receive packages delivered after 6 o'clock. "Do not give your address carelessly to salespeople. "Do not accuse the salespeople of inattention without sufficient cause. "Remember they are in the noise and confusion all day."

Miss Mary Montgomery is the president of the Portland league and Miss Helen Wilson the treasurer.

Roosevelt the Issue.

Republican state leaders of Ohio are said to be planning to make Roosevelt the issue in the Ohio campaign this fall. Lined up against the president will be Senators Dick and Foraker, who will fight to prevent the Republican state convention from giving unqualified endorsement to his administration. The Ohio congressmen, it is said, will back up Roosevelt.

AT THE THEATRES.

Last Time Henrietta Crossman.

The last performance of America's foremost actress, Henrietta Crossman, in the merry comedy "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" will be given tonight at the Helbig theatre, Fourth and Washington. Curtain at 8:15 o'clock.

"Madame Sans-Gene" Tomorrow.

Sardou's great comedy "Madame Sans-Gene" (Madame Devil-May-Care), is to be the bill for the seventh week of the Baker stock season, opening at the regular Sunday matinee, June 24. It is an appropriate companion piece to the "Du Barry" of David Belasco, in which Mrs. Leslie Carter starred.

The scene is laid in France at the time of Napoleon's supremacy.

Closing Performance Tonight.

Tonight ends the banner run at the Baker theatre of the present stock season. "When We Were Swains" acknowledged by nearly everybody to be the sweetest play they ever saw, has drawn nearly the whole town to the Baker theatre, and night after night this week there has been nothing but standing room left at the time the curtain was raised.

"The Telephone Girl" Tomorrow.

Tomorrow night, June 24, the Kendall Musical company will present the unusual musical comedy success, "The Telephone Girl," at the Helbig theatre, Fourth and Washington streets. This excellent company have made a most decided hit, and "The Telephone Girl" will be given with the same attention to detail that has marked the past two offerings. Seats are now selling at the box office of the Helbig.

Last Performance "Said Pasha."

The closing performance of "Said Pasha" at the Empire theatre by the Kendall Musical company will take place tonight. They had to move over to the Empire from the Helbig the last two days of this week to make room for Henrietta Crossman, who was booked for the Helbig Friday and Saturday, but the Kendall company resumes the regular third week of the musical comedy season Sunday night at the opening of "The Telephone Girl."

VAUDEVILLE AND STOCK

Comedy at Pantages.

Grace Huntington and troupe, in an uproarious farce comedy, "A Matrimonial Mix-Up," have the center of the stage at Pantages this week. Today and tomorrow this week's bill will be shown from the last time. Other good features are: George and Allen, novel comedy sketch artists; McFee and Carlton, music kings; the Zantrelas, daring acrobats; Billy Evans, comedian; Jean Wilson, popular burlesque and moving picture comedienne.

At the Star.

At the Star tomorrow the shows will be from 2 to 5 and from 7:30 to 10:30. Those who have not yet seen the musical farce, "A Good-Natured Man" have a treat in store when they visit the Star tonight or tomorrow. It is filled with comedy and music.

At the Grand.

Do not forget that Hugh J. Emmett, the best of ventriloquists, will close his engagement at the Grand as headliner with the performance tomorrow, Friday, June 23, at the Grand, a big vaudeville entertainment, and the acts associated with him on the program are interesting and amusing.

This evening and tomorrow afternoon with continuous performance, will witness the last performance of that very interesting and amusing of the mime, "The Serpent's Sting." This play is one of merit, and judging from the large attendance the offering has attracted to the Lyric during the current week, one is forced to the conclusion that the bill has been one of more than usual interest.

EASTERN EXCURSION RATES

Your Food

must be properly digested and assimilated to be of any value to you, otherwise it is a source of harm instead of good.

If not digested, it ferments and decays, causing "sour stomach," "heart burn," nausea, headache, flatulence, bad breath and other discomforts.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

compels proper digestion of the food and sends the food nutriment through the blood into all parts of the body.

The tissues are thus built up and every organ is restored to health and strength and put in perfect condition.

Disease is driven out to stay out—the cause is removed.

Plantersville, Miss. I have prescribed Kodol quite often in my practice, and have found it a very efficient remedy for all stomach ailments. It has always given the best of results. J. T. MAY, M. D.
