BALLOON SAILS 350 MILES IN 15 HOURS—8,000 FEET IN AIR

Aeronauts Run Into Vast Swarm of Mosquitoes Above New Jersey and Sail Through Thunder Storm.

(Journal Special Service.)

New York, June 29.—The most remarkable flight ever made by an American aeronaut was that made recently by Dr. Julian P. Thomas and Charles Levee in the balloon Nirvana, owned and piloted by Dr. Thomas.

Diagram of Balloon's Flight, showing: A—Start from New York; B—Where balloon was lowered almost to the ground; C—Baloon encounters electrical storms; D—Manner in which party landed.

During their 14½ hours' journey they passed through a blinding thunder storm, reached an altitude of 8,000 feet—the highest ever attained by an aerial vehicle in this country—and traveled 350 miles.

One of the curious features reported by the aeronauts was a vast cloud of mosquitoes encountered 2,000 feet above New Jersey.

Fully 200 miles of their journey was covered above the clouds, which completely veiled the earth from them. Hours were passed in an electrical storm absolutely without parallel in aeronautic annals.

As a climax, the two aeronauts, at an altitude of 8,000 feet, unable to reckon where they were, were nearly frozen.

This is the story of the adventure by Dr. Julian P. Thomas:

Dr. Thomas' Story.

"Now that we are safely back on earth, I candidly admit I never wish to undergo such an experience again. Personally, owing to my small ballooning experience as compared with that of my companion, I never was in fear of the outcome. But Levee has confessed he was badly demoralized during the worst stages of the voyage.

"After casting anchor at the foot of East One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street, we ascended without a hitch, driven by a strong west wind, and were soon above the clouds. Passing over Hackensack or Passaic, though the earth was hidden from us, we could hear distinctly the church bells ringing. Words cannot describe the queer impression on us.

"Directly thereafter we rose to an altitude of 2,000 feet, and there, to our astonishment and discomfort, we encountered a great swarm of mosquitoes.

"Then night fell and for two hours we were among the clouds, unable to determine our bearings definitely.

"It was 10 o'clock, while we were flying before a 50-mile-an-hour gale, when a terrific thunder storm broke about us. It was sublime, though somewhat disquieting. Blinding flashes of lightning began playing about us in the most alarming fashion. Great balls of fire bounded, or seemed to bound, along the upper surface of the clouds in a monstrous game of skip and jump.

Electric Vibrations.

"To increase our discomfort there was imminent danger of the balloon being struck and collapsing. Had that occurred we would have been killed.

"As it was, the electric vibrations were so intense thta sparks flew every time we touched a rope. Then it began to rain—a soaking deluge, more like a tropical storm than anything experienced in this latitude.

"By a strange freak, while we were storm-tossed between layers of clouds, the wind suddenly veered straight around, blowing us eastward, whereas we had been flying westward at express speed.

"Levee became alarmed after an hour of those conditions, fearing we would be blown out to sea.

"Owing to the inky blackness of the night and the furious gale we dared not descend more than a few hundred feet. Then, to make bad worse, we heard water roaring under us. It was then 1 in the morning, and we decided to descend at all hazards.

Lost Five Pounds in Trip.

"Our car landed squarely in a giant tree top. We fastened the anchor and slept until day broke.

"We resumed our flight, going straight up 8,000 feet, the highest ever reached in this country. Our clothes soon froze stiff, our lips became blue and our hands so numb that we could scarcely manipulate the valve rope. By combining strength we succeeded in jerking the rope enough to emit several hundred feet of gas, and dropped swiftly.

"As we neared earth we saw signs of a tremendous commotion. Schools were dismissed and the entire village of Butternut, in Oswego county, flocked to the Miller farm where we landed.

"If we had had more water and provisions we might have remained up for hours longer. I lost five pounds in weight, and have no desire to repeat the experience.

"My next trip will be from some western New York point in an easterly direction, as the west winds usually attain much greater velocity."

Dr. Julian P. Thomas's Balloon, Nirvana, in Which He Made Perilous Trip.

A PUBLIC CALAMITY

By Editor Wood, of Wine and Spirit Review.

Editor Bohannon of the "Town and Country Magazine," in a recent editorial on the discovery in this city of a specific for chronic Bright's disease, declares from personal knowledge that the curability of this hitherto deadly disease is now an established fact. He closes a strong article thus:

"Many broad physicians are using the new diuretic, but in view of the terrible annual death list from this disease the fact that medical ethics prevent them from proclaiming the discovery to the world because the formula is the personal property of individuals, in this instance practically amounts to a public calamity."

Well said. It is a public calamity. Here is a disease that is supposed to be fatal that is carrying off 60,000 to 70,000 people annually, according to the census, and yet actual tests in this city show that nearly nine-tenths of the cases can and do recover under the new treatment. And if the question of the curability of chronic Bright's disease was on trial before the superior court, hundreds of citizens of this city, including capitalists, professional and business men, could go into the witness-box to swear to their recoveries, and among them would be the editor of this publication. Five years ago I was believed to be beyond further help—a clear case of Bright's disease in the chronic stage. I was sent south to prolong life. Recovery seemed as impossible as a bolt of lightning from a cloudless sky. The new diuretic was brought into the case. In six months I was as well as I ever was in my life. I told several others. They got the same results.

It is greatly to be regretted that unscrupulous medical advertisers have brought almost universal discredit upon their announcements, for with the usual channels of publicity distrusted and the hands of the medical profession tied by ethics, there appears to be no open channel through which the people of the whole country can be at once apprised of the convincing way of the profound results of Fulton's memorable struggle with this disease.

There is one way, and that would be for congress to make an appropriation and procure the formula and give it to the Associated Press to be telegraphed, all over the United States. It would in this way be at once universally available and would save tens of thousands of lives that would otherwise be sacrificed before it is generally known. With over 60,000 deaths a year from Bright's disease in the United States alone, is it possible that the saving of a majority of this vast army can be measured by any reasonable consideration?

I understand that a relative of Senator Perkins by marriage, a 32-degree Mason and a prominent citizen of Philadelphia, was saved by the new diuretic, and am also advised that a relative of one of Senator Flint's valued friends has likewise recovered—in both cases after the finest professional services to be had had been exhausted. This should carry it directly home to them. As one of the survivors of chronic Bright's disease and representing many more whom I know personally, I respectfully present the matter to United States Senators Perkins and Flint for their serious consideration.—San Francisco Wine and Spirit Review.

If anyone having knowledge of a case of Bright's Disease or Diabetes will send us the name and address, we will see that they are sent full literature concerning this remarkable discovery.

HARVARD MEN DELIGHTED OVER THEIR VICTORY

Superior Form Was the Secret of Harvard's Success in Annual Race.

(Journal Special Service.)

New London, Conn., June 29.—Harvard students and followers celebrated their victory over the Yale oarsmen yesterday in a style befitting the occasion. The greatest crowd that ever turned out to witness a boat race was on hand to cheer the struggling oarsmen, and not until the last did the supporters of the blue know that their favorites were beaten. Harvard won on superior form and strength, but in winning the crimson men had to put forth their greatest efforts, being compelled to by the gallant work of a fast tiring but game crew.

The victory was very gratifying to Harvard men as it was the second time in 10 years that the Cambridge oarsmen had beaten the men from New Haven, the first time being in 1899.

The official time for the eight-oared race was 23:02.

The other races resulted as follows:

Freshman eights—Half mile, Yale, 2:24; Harvard, 2:26. One mile, Yale, 5:05; Harvard, 5:10. One mile and one half, Yale, 8:20; Harvard, 8:33. Two miles, Yale, 10:39 2-5; Harvard, 10:41. Yale's winning distance was half a length.

Four-oared, two miles—Yale, by eight lengths. Yale, 11:46 3-5; Harvard, 12:14.

Last night Robert Noyes was elected captain of the Yale crew for 1907 and Robert Bacon was chosen to lead the crimson crew.

JEALOUS HUSBAND IS TO LOSE HIS SPOUSE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Eugene, Or., June 29.—Mrs. Cora A. Collins has instituted suit in the circuit court against John T. Collins for divorce and the custody of three minor children. Cruel and inhuman treatment is alleged. Several weeks ago Collins was arrested for beating his wife. Later he attempted to commit suicide by swallowing corrosive sublimate and was pronounced insane and sent to the asylum. Jealousy is said to be the cause of his losing his mind.

The couple resided at Wendling at the time of their last trouble.

WHY SO MANY HAVE FAILED TO GET CURED.

Many specialists use unscientific methods and resort to guesswork in treating their patients, which results in the many there are who are not only disappointed, but lose their money. Have you made a great mistake in not getting skilled treatment, being attracted by "liberal" offers of payment, "bargain cures" and "low prices" of unscientific specialists, instead of seeking a cure by scientific methods, only by which you will likely ever be cured?

CONSTIPATION, PILES, AND FISTULA

Cured by up-to-date methods. Not temporary relief, but a positive, permanent cure guaranteed.

Constipation is the cause of a large majority of rectal troubles and many other ailments. When the bowels do not move it interferes with the proper action of the different organs of the body. Have the constipation cured and you will have more energy and feel much better in every way.

Strength is necessary to success. No man can give the strength of his mind and body to the strenuous work of building a future for himself unless he has a reserve force to back him up. You can't build success without spending a great deal of nervous energy, and you can't spend nervous energy unless you have it.
