Diamonds valued at $1,000 were stolen from the safe in the Astoria Loan office, 581 Commercial street, at noon yesterday. While the proprietor of the place, Mrs. Tillie Grossman, was at dinner in her rooms in the rear the large safe was left unlocked and it is supposed that the thief then sneaked into the place and committed the crime. There is no clue to the identity of the thief, but the job is believed to be the work of a gang of professionals, as numerous robberies have been reported in the last few weeks.

In the last few weeks.

The safe is located at the rear of the room, directly in front of the front door, and it is believed that the thief noticed it open and the absence of every one from the room and decided on his bold game. The small drawer in which the diamonds were kept was also taken and this fact sustains this theory.

While the Grossman family was at dinner the hand of a man was noticed on the top of the safe door by one of the little children through a window from the room at the rear. He did not tell his mother at the time, but recalled the incident after the robbery was discovered.

Jailor Grafton. Allen Hendricks, age 15, at 7 o'clock last night made the first successful attempt to escape from the county Jail that has occurred since October, 1904.

Young Hendricks was held in the fail on a charge of stealing a bicycle, awaiting trial in the juvenile court. On account of his youth, he was not locked up with the other prisoners, but was in a separate cell for which it is said there was no key. While Jailor Grafton was seeing that the other prisoners had been properly fed, Hendricks crept out of his cell and made a break for freedom.

Grafton, who was alone in the jail, heard him going and pursued his fiee ing prisoner, but Hendricks was younger and not so heavy, and sprinted merrily down Fourth street, while Grafton, seeing that the boy was outrunning him, called in vain for some of the grinning bystanders to assist in the capture. Grafton pursued the boy to First and Morrison streets, where he was lost in the crowd.

Hendricks was arrested several days ago for stealing a bicycle belonging to John Wagoner. He was placed in the county Jail, but after a couple of days was sent to ;the detention home. Mr. Nisley, who has charge of the detention home.
