Fruit Canners Are Still Holding Back Opening Figures on Canned Goods—Prices to Be Rather High.

OPENING PRICES HELD BACK

Packers Still Refuse to Name Figures on Canned Fruits Despite Lateness of Season.

POULTRY SEEMS ABOUT READY TO GO LOWER

Eggs Are Coming to Market in Very Bad Shape on Account of Hot Weather—Old Potatoes Are Moving at Former Price.

Front Street, July 3.—The principal features of the Portland wholesale markets today are:
Holiday tomorrow on street.
Local peaches coming lively.
Eggs are coming in bad shape.
Poultry seems ready to break.
Dressed meat markets slower.
Old potatoes moving at price.
Loganberries have heavy demand.
Raspberry market is glutted.
Cucumbers are going lower.
Canned goods market very firm.
Fruit trade very heavy.
Salmon run increases fast.

Opening Prices Are Held Back.

Opening prices on canned fruits are still being held back by canners on account of the mixed condition of the crop. It is very seldom that canned fruit prices are not opened before May 1, but this year's climatic conditions were so greatly changed from those normally ruling that the packers hardly knew where they were at when the usual time came for naming the opening figures. In most lines of canned goods the prices were very high last season, but they promise to be several points higher on all lines this year. The greatest shortage, perhaps, was in the California apricot crop. The production there was all but a failure this season and it is not likely that more than a nominal amount will be packed this year. There is also a shortage apparent in the peach crop.

Eggs Are Coming in Bad Shape.

On account of the extreme hot weather the present arrivals of eggs are not of best quality. It does not take more than 48 hours of unseasonable weather to put eggs in as "seconds," and not much longer to put them entirely out of commission.

Poultry Seems Ready to Break.

While no changes are today shown in the poultry market as regards prices, there is not so firm a tone noted along the street today. Receipts are not liberal and this is all that is keeping the market from showing a bad break in prices.

The creamery butter market is unchanged, the tone being rather slow along the street, while city creameries report a fair demand. Country store product retains former good tone.

Dressed Meats Are Slower.

The dressed meat market is already beginning to feel the effects of a much higher temperature. Some of today's arrivals were of poor quality and sold under the printed values. Even at the lower figures stocks were hard to move.

Salmon is in very heavy supply in the local markets today. The catch along the Columbia still shows signs of increasing and packing plants are being run to their capacity. Values on fresh fish unchanged.

Fruit Trade Very Heavy.

All through the fruit market there was a heavy trade again today. Orders from the country continue to pile up and it will be late this evening before all of them are cleaned up.

Loganberries were in better supply today but some of the arrivals arrived in a "leaky" condition. Demand was very good, however.

Raspberries were in an oversupply in the markets today and somewhat lower prices were named by the trade.

Tomatoes were in heavy demand, with supplies somewhat scarce and the prices a trifle higher.

So great are supplies of cucumbers that the trade is getting overstocked. Lower prices named by some, in consequence.

There continues a very good demand for old potatoes but the present hot weather will soon put them beyond a saleable condition.

Lemons are moving faster and supplies of cheap stocks are getting low. Values unchanged.

The trade pays the following prices to Front street. Prices paid shippers are less regular commissions:

*Holiday.

Chicago, July 3.—After a lot of seesawing wheat closed a fraction higher for the early months and ⅜c higher for the December. Because the northwest messages indicated brighter weather and a safer condition for the spring crops there was some early selling by belated holders and this encouraged enough short selling to give the market considerable weakness for a time. The price level is now so near an export basis that there will be a good fight made on the buying side at any further decline. At the same time bright weather in the northwest and southwest over the holiday is likely to bring a fresh bear attack.
In corn the local receipts were much lower than estimated. In the break there was replacing of May corn by bull interest and good commission houses buying in the early months. As in wheat, shorts were quick to cover and bring about a strong rally.
In oats there was excellent buying by a group of local traders on the break and the market had every appearance of real strength late in the day.
In provisions there is some talk of strength as the result of a short run of hogs.

EPIDEMIC OF CHOLERA RAGING IN PHILIPPINES

(Journal Special Service.)
Manila, July 3.—Twenty-one new cases and 16 deaths from cholera are reported today in this city. The provinces report 26 cases and 25 deaths.
The disease is of the deadliest type. The earliest victims are among the natives in the vicinity of the city. Four Americans are stricken and one is dead, named Charles Sheehan. The territory about Fort McKinley is quarantined.
C. Dwight Cook of company C is among the dead. The health authorities think there will be no epidemic. There is great difficulty to get the natives to report cases.

Wall Street, New York, July 3.—With tomorrow a holiday there was but small trading in the stock market today. The bears seemed willing to give the bulls a Fourth-of-July present and the general advance in the market was made without trouble. The bears, however, are still in control of the market and let prices off whenever they want. The figure of 120 for New York Central is predicted in uptown financial circles. It is said that the heavy holders of the new stock issues have induced investment selling by individuals and corporations. It is said that Union Pacific will soon give rights worth about $30 a share.

WALTER WELLMAN READY TO START FOR NOTH POLE

Five Men to Accompany Explorer on His Airship Cruise in Arctic Regions.

(Journal Special Service.)
Chicago, July 3.—A cablegram from Tromsoe, Norway, says Walter Wellman and his party have landed the first section of men and equipment at Spitsbergen. Wellman said:
"I have no intention of delaying the expedition until next year. I will make a determined effort to reach the north pole this summer if possible."
The full complement attached to the airship is 40 men but only five will be on board when the huge craft starts on its northward flight. There will be Mr. Wellman, Major Hearsy, who represents the National Government and Geographic society; Gaston Herviou, a celebrated French aeronaut; M. J. Smith, wireless telegrapher expert, and Paul Colardeau, who will have charge of the motors.
Three of these will always be on duty, one will be stationed in the navigating deck to work the rudder and to watch the instruments, another will be in the engine-room and a third will be occupied in working the windlass that operates the drag anchor and guide rope. It is calculated that none of the crew will be able to get more than three or four hours' sleep a day.
