LAMP EXPLOSION CREMATES MAN

Conflagration on Scow at Astoria Waterfront Was of Accidental Origin.

MAN WHO DISAPPEARED HAS LOCATED HIMSELF

Elias Cole Returns Home After Short Trip in Search of Work, but Henry Nickett Has Not Yet Been Discovered.

The Journal has opened a news and subscription bureau at 430 Commercial street, Astoria, where any business with the paper may be transacted. Phone Main 2501.

Journal's Astoria Bureau, July 12.—An examination of the premises today by the authorities warrants the supposition that the fire which consumed the scow of William Wilson on the waterfront at an early hour yesterday morning and cremated the old man was the result of an accident, probably the explosion of a kerosene lamp. There are no indications that the building was deliberately fired by Wilson with suicidal intent.

When the fire department reached the scene, after responding to an alarm that was turned in shortly after midnight, the scow was found enveloped in flames. Agonizing screams were heard within. The fire had then reached such a stage that it was impossible to enter the place and when extinguished and the place examined the body of Wilson was found lying on the floor in a partially nude condition and badly charred. The fire was first noticed by neighbors, who were attracted by the screams of the old man, but the flames were then so far advanced that rescue was impossible.

Wilson was about 60 years of age and feeble from long sickness. He has been a county charge for a number of years and the day before the terrible occurrence it was decided to send him to the county hospital for treatment. He had resided in Astoria for many years.

Simply Looking for Work.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Elias Cole, the young married man who so suddenly dropped from view, after telling his wife that he was going to the stable to feed his horses, has been cleared up. Yesterday Cole walked into his home with the explanation that he had been to Goble looking for work. Henry Nickett, the other man who disappeared, is still missing, but it is believed that he emigrated to escape his bills.

Good Game Anticipated.

Much interest is manifested in sporting circles in the baseball game that is to take place next Sunday between the Shamrocks of this city, the recognized champions of the lower river, and the Schiller team of Portland, which claims the championship of that city. The visiting team is known to be a strong aggregation, but the home team will be on the long end here with the sporting fraternity.

Says Island Has Moved.

The hearing of testimony in the Washington-Oregon boundary dispute suit pending before the United States supreme ckourt was resumed before the commission in this city today. Yesterday a number of maps were introduced and several witnesses testified regarding the changes that have taken place at the mouth of the river since the boundary law was framed a number of years ago. Captain M. D. Staples, who has piloted ships in and out over the bar for the last 40 years, stated that Sand island is now fully three miles north of where it was when the north channel was in use.

ELKS' CONVENTION AT DENVER

Preparations Complete to Receive Grand Lodge and Fifty Thousand Members.

CITY GAILY DRESSED IN PURPLE AND WHITE

Electrical Display on Streets at Night —Governor McDonald to Welcome Antlered Herd—Grand Parade to Take Place on Thursday.

(Journal Special Service.)

Denver, Colo., July 14.—Although the grand lodge of Elks does not meet here until Monday, all previous records are already broken in attendance. Up to noon today fully 10,000 had registered, not including those accompanying the members of the order. The local committee expects fully 50,000 visitors in the city by the first of the week.

The business section of the city is gorgeously dressed in purple and white, the official colors of the Elks. The electrical display at night is said to surpass anything of the kind attempted before in this country. While trips to the mountains and other diversions are furnished the visitors, the delegates already here are canvassing the situation in regard to the election of grand exalted ruler and grand exalted secretary.

The formal opening of the convention will take place Monday evening in the Tabor opera house. Governor McDonald will make an address of welcome, as will also Mayor Speer. Grand Exalted Ruler Robert W. Brown of Louisville will deliver a short address, and Perry Clay, one of the most eloquent Elks of Colorado, will deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the reunion committee, and there will be an elaborate musical program. It will be the first time that the Elks have held their convention opening in the evening.

The parade comes on Thursday. The parade will probably be the grandest pageant of its kind that ever has moved through the streets of an American city. Scores of bands have been engaged and another feature will be the natty uniforms of the marchers. Beautiful and costly prizes will be given for the best appearing delegation, the largest delegation in line, the lodge bringing the largest number of ladies. The prizes will be paid in gold and silver bricks, secured from the mines in the vicinity of Denver and melted in the new mint here. While the delegates are engaged in their business sessions many entertainments have been arranged for other visiting Elks and their ladies.

HEIR OF HAWARDEN CELEBRATES MAJORITY

(Journal Special Service.)

London, July 14.—Hawarden was on fete today in celebration of the coming of age of William Charles Gladstone, the favorite grandson and heir of the famous statesman, William Ewart Gladstone. The birthday festivities will extend over several days and will include a tenants' dinner, a garden party for friends and a children's treat.

Young Gladstone is the possessor of a considerable fortune, inherited from his mother's family. The historic Hawarden castle was captured by Dafydd, brother of Llewelyn, Prince of Wales, as far back as 1282. Centuries later it was dismantled by parliament during the civil war, when it became the property of Sergeant Glynne, from whom it descended to the late William E. Gladstone through his wife.

Young Gladstone has been finishing his education at Oxford, where he has achieved distinction as one of the best speakers of the famous Oxford union. Although he is master of Hawarden castle, he is not the chief of the Gladstone family. This is a dignity which belongs to the famous statesman's nephew, Sir John Gladstone, a retired officer of the guards.

REGULARS AND MILITIA IN CAMP AT LEBANON

(Journal Special Service.)

Lebanon, Pa., July 14.—The camp at Mt. Greta, one of the six summer camps to be maintained in various parts of the country this year for the practical training of both the regular army and the militia of the several states, was opened today and will continue for three months or more. The Mt. Greta camp is regarded as one of the most important of the six as it includes the states embodied in the vast territory known as the department of the east and which embraces 60 per cent of the entire citizen soldiery of the country.

General Frederick D. Grant, commander of the department of the east, is in command of the camp and will conduct the maneuvers. The regular troops from the various army posts throughout the east will assist in the training of the state militia. The maneuvers will in many respects partake of the features of the United States army maneuvers formerly held at Manassas, Virginia. Rifle, cannon and carbine practice will receive more than usual attention and the state rifle range will be used for that purpose.

MILITARY CAMP AT INDIANAPOLIS OPENED

(Journal Special Service.)

Indianapolis, July 14.—All arrangements have been completed for the great military camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, the new military post near this city. Under orders from the war department the regular troops which are to take part in the maneuvers are to leave their present quarters tomorrow under orders to march at least 250 miles of the way. During the summer the maneuvers will be participated in by the regular troops from Fort Sheridan, Fort Thomas, Fort Wayne, Fort Brady, Fort Omaha and Jefferson barracks. In addition the states of West Virginia, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky have been invited to send their state militia to take part.

La Grande, Or., July 14.—Six high bred trotting horses belonging to N. K. West of this city were shipped to Salem last evening where they will be put in training for the coming state fair. These horses are all young and well bred. They will be on the tracks in training from now until the fair opens.
