FOREST FIRES THREATER

Hundreds of Men Are Fighting Flames Which Are Raging in the Forests.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Hood River, Or., Aug. 6.—Forest fires which have been burning for several days in the vicinity of Green Point and the Bull Run forest reserve have already destroyed some and are threatening the Joss of much timber.

The fires have so far been confined to a point several miles from Green Point and as forces of men are engaged in staying the flames it is not expected that they will reach that point. In the Bull Run reserve, which is several miles south, a force of more than 100 men is fighting the fire. The high winds which have prevailed for several days is making it difficult for them to accomplish much, but reports from there are to the effect that they are making some headway. Old timbermen say that it is many years since the forests were in such an inflammable condition as af present and men in the logging camps are being warned to use extra precaution in starting and putting out camp fires. They claim that most forest fires are the result of carciers campers.

EASTERN OREGON COWBOY LASSOS WILD DEER

Puncher on Swift Pony Overtakes Big Buck and Captures Him Alive.

(Journal Special Service.)

Los Angeles, Aug. 6.—Miss Fay Smith. living at 1511 Fifteenth street, was the victim of a most peculiar accident Saturday. While she was passing Levy's cafe at Third and Main streets a drayman dropped a case of champagne on the sidewalk. One of the bottles exploded and a ragged segment of glass struck Miss Smith's hand with great force, lacerating it severely. The young woman was removed to the hospital at police headquarters, where nine slitches were required to close the wound.

PACIFIC COAST AGENT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

John Day, Or., Aug. 6.—Grant county can boast of one person who can rope a deer. Al Gibson of Mount Vernen, while riding for stock on the head of Dey Hollow near Mount Vernen, saw a big buck leisurely cropping the grass from a point or headland just shead of him. He moved up as cautiously as possible until the deer took fright and started to run away, when he put apure to the horse and gave chase. Gibson had a good horse and gained so rapidly on the deer that he began uncolling and whirling the rope, and soon he had the loop anug over the Norns. He was a fine specimen, bearing four points on the horns.
