Young English Remittance Man, Who Betrayed Friend, Ostracized in Jail.

DECAMPED WITH MONEY GIVEN BY ACQUAINTANCE

Son of Clergyman Incarcerated for Nine Months for Filching Coin Intended for Lawyer to Defend His Benefactor in Trouble.

(Journal Special Service.)
Victoria, B. C., Aug. 11.—Deported from his home in England, ostracized by society and an outcast in every sense of the word, the last drop was added to the already brimming cup of sorrow of William Rausman, B. A., Oxford graduate and son of an English clergyman, when after being incarcerated in the provincial prison here for nine months for theft, he was shunned and completely boycotted by his fellow jailbirds.

Rausman deserves his fate. He has committed a crime which makes him despicable to even the occupants of a prison. After accepting favors at the hands of his best friend, he turned traitor to him and is now reaping the reward of his perfidy.

Some weeks ago Rausman, who is a typical remittance man, received his allowance and went upon a protracted spree. He ended, as usual in such cases, in the city streets with a fine for drunkenness hanging over his head and no funds with which to meet it, every cent having been expended by him for intoxicants.

When Rausman was incarcerated T. M. Bowerman was held in the jail awaiting a preliminary examination upon a charge of forgery. He pitied Rausman and finally provided money with which to pay the fine and gain his liberty for the remittance man. In return Bowerman asked that Rausman take money enough to retain a lawyer and engaged one to defend the man accused of forgery. This Rausman promised to do.

He accepted Bowerman's money, but instead of retaining the lawyer he decamped, intending to convert the money to his own personal use. Bowerman notified the authorities of the traitor's act and Rausman was apprehended. He was tried on the charge of theft and sentenced to nine months in the provincial jail, upon his conviction.

It was stated before the hearing began that the suit of Isakson against Pat Bruin would be dismissed, as Bruin has not acquiesced, the suit is still pending.

Isakson took a technically illegal examination, as well as Bruin, and therefore the commissioners believe they have no right to hear any appeal from him.

Julius Kruttschnitt Declares 'Frisco Citizens Have Accomplished Much.

BELIEVES IN FUTURE OF THE BAY CITY

Harriman Official Says He Is on Annual Inspection and Investigation Trip and Is in Portland for No Special Purpose.

"The people of San Francisco have accomplished wonders during the past three months," said Julius Kruttschnitt today, "and I don't see any reason why that city should not become as great in the future as it was before the earthquake."

Julius Kruttschnitt, whose headquarters are in Chicago, and whose official title is division manager of the Harriman lines, arrived in Portland last night in his private car "Guadalupe." He is accompanied by his secretary, Hugh Neal. Last night he took apartments at the Portland hotel, and today he spent in conference with General Manager O'Brien, Counsel Cotton and other local officials of the Harriman lines.

He is here in the interests of the Southern Pacific, O. R. & N. and subsidiary lines simply to post himself on the requirements of the companies for next year's busy season. I shall be here several days; I don't know exactly how long."

Mr. Kruttschnitt emphatically stated that he did not intend to meddle with such questions as the Fourth street franchise matter or the Northern Pacific terminal. Those things, he said, would be dealt with by Mr. O'Brien, the local head of the company. When asked if Harriman was behind Wiley in his proposed railroad from Humboldt up the coast or behind Lytle in his railroad from Hillsboro to Tillamook, he said: "I'd give a good deal to know that myself."

The Chicago official met Judge W. D. Cornish, vice-president of the Southern Pacific, at the Portland last night. Mr. Cornish's headquarters are in New York. "We, we are the veterans and listened to the music together," said Kruttschnitt, but he declined to say whether or not the two discussed official business of the corporation.

The Chicago official left San Francisco four days ago, making several stops on the way. He spent nearly two weeks in San Francisco, doing what he could to put the operating department of the coast line in shape. He says that the Southern Pacific is doing everything it can to relieve the congestion in San Francisco. This congestion, he said, began with the earthquake and fire. Identifying cars carrying relief supplies began pouring in to the company-made relief of the stricken city the paramount issue and all freight was taken to points as near the destination as possible. The cars kept rolling in until on July 25 the blockades reached its height, 5,845 cars being stalled in the yards. In a week this number was reduced to 4,875 and in another 10 days to 3,684, the present number.

FIELD IDENTIFIED MINERS FLOCKING TO FLORENCE

Picks Man Accused of Assaulting Child From Crowd of Men in City Prison.

POLICE GATHERING VALUABLE EVIDENCE

Statements of Important Witnesses Make It Look Bad for Woodchopper Accused of Horrible Crime—Father Fears to Look at Criminal.

John Peterson, the woodchopper, arrested Thursday afternoon at Third and Mill streets by Detective Hartman, is alleged to have been positively identified as the fiend who carried away the 4-year-old daughter of Harry Lavery on June 14. A woman residing at Hall and First streets without hesitation picked out Peterson from a crowd of prisoners in the city prison yesterday as the man she had seen leading the little girl away from home.

This identification, coupled with the declaration of Alice Brady and Mrs. Lavery that he is the man employed by them to chop wood on the day in question and Peterson's own admission to that effect, leaves but little doubt that he is the brute the police have been seeking.

It was due entirely to Miss Brady's foresight in immediately notifying the police after finding Peterson working at Third and Mill streets that the authorities were able to apprehend him.

Detective Hartman is working on the case and is now endeavoring to locate two youths who claim to have seen Peterson take the girl to the hills. Percy Wells, who will be able to identify the man, has been asked by the police to return from Tillamook, and he is expected here tomorrow. It is understood that Peterson told a bartender employed in a saloon near the Laverys shortly before the child disappeared, that "there is a little baby up the street who I would like to have."

The testimony of this misologist will prove an important link in the chain of evidence the police are fastening about the accused man.

Lavery, the father of the child, called at police headquarters yesterday, but declined not to see the man accused of the assault, as he feared that he would be unable to control himself.

CONTESTED EVIDENCE LET IN BY JUDGE HUNT

Court Admits Commissioner Stewart's Testimony in Land Fraud Case.

Argument as to whether United States Commissioner James B. Stewart's testimony that Cos. D. Barnard bears a good general reputation can be attacked by presenting Barnard's affidavit on final proof on his own homestead claim began when the trial of Barnard for perjury was resumed this afternoon in the federal court.

United States Attorney Bristol presented authorities in the affirmative, while Judge Bennett, attorney to the defendant, contended himself with declaring again that the government must confine itself to questions concerning Stewart's knowledge of Barnard's general reputation.

Judge Hunt ruled that the government had the right to go into the matter of Barnard's homestead proof in order to learn the basis of Stewart's estimate. The ruling was in line with decisions of high courts in half a dozen states. An exception was noted by the defense, and the cross-examination of Stewart went on.

VEIN TRACED DISPROVING THEORY OF RICH POCKET

One Is So Decomposed That Four Dollars and Twenty Cents' Worth Is Panned Out of Twenty Pounds Before Crushing.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Grangeville, Idaho, Aug. 11.—The report of the wonderful gold strike last Saturday night in an old abandoned tunnel half a mile from Florence, famous as the greatest placer ground ever discovered, was confirmed today upon the arrival here of O. L. Benson and James E. Mosher, who with Harry Hinkson, made the discovery. They brought out a large number of samples which show great splashes of free gold, and which old miners pronounce the richest ever discovered in Idaho, if not in the west.

So decomposed is the ore which carries the gold that a pan containing about 20 pounds was put through the washing process without having previously been crushed in a mortar, and $4.20 worth of gold retained in the pan.

The report of the strike has caused great excitement in central Idaho mining camps wherever the news has been received and large numbers of prospectors and miners are now flocking to Florence. No less than 20 well known miners residing here have quickly left the city with Florence as their objective point.

Others have given out that they were going on an outing, but many of these are believed to be bound for Florence. Mr. Benson stated that the ledge had been traced on the mountain for a distance of 3,000 feet, thus dissipating the theory that the discovery is a pocket or blowout.

So decomposed is the pay streak that it can be picked down, making shooting unnecessary. Mr. Benson confirmed the report that about $60,000 worth of ore had been sacked at the mine and would be ready to ship in a practicable method had been established.
