Whether he began with the foot or the hat of the French woman in drawing his comparisons is not known, but thar he observed both is quite beyond dis-cussion, for this is what he has to say on the subject, or at least what Dr. H. Under existing conditions all heavy machinery and supplies for the lower Rogue mines have to be carried in by pack pony from West Fork, making it very tedious and expensive. The Rogue offers opportunity to carry machinery and supplies to these mines at very low cost. The river is swift and treaction the set of the set of the swift of the set of the set of the from the set of terday, "for what other women can John D. Rockefeller draw comparisons with? That means we have pretty, well-formed feet, doesn't it?" she ar-gued. On the other hand, the acting French consul-general, Monsieur Lucien Bon-zom, laughed heartily at Mr. Rockelow cost. The river is swift and treach-erous, with rapids and falls; but barr-ing one fall—that at the base of Mount Reuben, which is 10 feet high—where a portage would needs be built, a few tons of dynamite properly applied would open up the river and make it navigable to powerful light-draft boats the whole way from Grants Pass to Mule creek, a distance of 55 miles.

Mr. Conser was born in Knox county, Illinois, December 20, 1841. While a small boy he came west and settled in this county and has lived in this county ever since. He leaves a wife and two sons to mourn his death. He was a brother of Shan Conser, who for years was a conductor on the train running through Albany into Portland; Lou Conser, Mrs. M. Thomas of Portland, George Conser of Heppner, Mrs. Phoebe Watson of Chehalis, Washington, and Henry and George Conser of this county. He was one of the best known and highly respected citisans of the county, occupying a high position as to integ-rity and the esteem in which he was held by his large circle of acquaint-ances. The funeral was held from the family home at 12:30 o'clock yesterday.

A famous woman, whose name need not be mentioned, but who was once a royal favorite and the taik of London, is said to be at the bottom of the trouble. When she puts her eyes on any man, he has but little chance of escape, and woe betide his flances or even his wife, once the lady has fas-chasted him. But she only puts her eyes on men who have money. They know this, yet they fall into the trap. The seems incredible that a woman who is gotting on for 60 and with such a record should still have if in her power to oust young and pretty women, but there it is. Câidwell, Agt. M. K. & T. R. R. Checotah, Ind. Ter., writes, April 18: "I was sick for over two years with en-iargement of the liver and spicen. The doctors did me uo good and I had to give up all hope of being cured, when my druggist advised me to use Harbina. It has made me sound and well." See Woodard, Clarks & Co.

nearly every photograph of the ex-royal favorite taken at Ascot and Newmarket showed Nicholas Wood in attendance; and her friends declare that poor little Pauline Chase is inconsolable. CHILDREN Got Queensberry's Gems. There is one remarkable story connect-ed with this woman which has never got into print, yet it is absolutely true. Some years ago she got hold of the Marquis of Queensberry, a weak, good-natured person, and having got from him all the money possible she then in-sisted that he must give her the family jeweis which, of course, were in the possession of his wife. "No," he said, 'I cannot possibly give you Lady Queensberry's jewels." "Oh, but I never take 'No' from any-one," she said. "You have got to get them and, what is more, you must bring them at once." Nora S. Tharp was 17 years old and Frank Shalek could boast of an addi-tional year. He had just rounded out them and, what is more, you must bring them at once." The marquis did not dare refuse—he was then under her sway absolutely— and in good time the jewels arrived. Lady Queensberry missed them and ac-cused her husband of having given them to the womdn who was then the sensa-tion of London. He did not deny it. In-stead of flying into a rage, she took it quite calmly and said very little. "Try to find out where she has depos-tied them," she remarked. Grateful for his wife's calm in the matter, the mar-quis decided that he would find out and moreover so unutterably disgusted did he grow with himself and with the other woman that he determined he was fin-ished with her. Lady Torged Order. 18. Their fathers would not permit of the children getting married, so last Saturday they eloped and came to Sa-lem. They found that Otto was out of iem. They found that Otto was out of the asylum on parole, and they in-duced him to make affidavits that the ages were all the law requires. The li-cense was issued and the marriage per-formed by Justice Daniel Webster. Messra, Tharp and Shalek, parents of the children, came to Salem last even-ing to investigate the affair, but will make no further attempt at prosecu-tion.

RAN FIRST TROLLEY CAR IN THE WORLD

Berlin, Aug. 15.—An interesting fes-tivity has just taken place at Lichter-felde, near Berlin, where Inspector Beyer celebrated the day when, 25 years ago, he ran the first electric railroad in the world. It was in the year 1881 that Herr Werner von Siemens, the founder of the great Berlin firm of Siemens & Halske, built the first electric road from the Anhalt railway station to Lichter-felde. Herr Beyer was the first man in charge of the new conveyance, unit-ing in his person the function of motor-man and conductor. He afterward rose gradually to the post of chief inspector of the now enormously increased elec-tric railway system of that part of Ber-(Resciet Dispatch to The Journal.)
