TONIGHT'S AMUSEMENTS.

The last lot of boys to be sent to the camp at Gearhart park for a free outing by the juvenile court was selected at the courtroom this morning. The boys will be taken to the camp tomorrow morning and will stay until August 23. Those who were sent down last week will be brought back tomorrow. The boys who were chosen this morning are: Bert Naylor, Arthur Lukemeir, August Wittlen, Leslie Mugler, Clarence Rhodes, Delbert Turck, Ralph Atkinson, Rdward Atkinson, Albert Fox, Ernest Craft, Thomas Galvin, Clarence Cox, Thomas Burke, Hugh McKenna, Arthur Camp, Glenn Lee, Joe Christmas, Fred Ralphky, Roy Stafford, Scott Bredner, William Laymond, Frank Ferguson, Albert Nelson, John Crosky, Cludie Thomas, and Carl Lacey.

The Nickelodion this week runs another comic film. The Village Mischier Makgr, Peek's Bad Boy in country guise; all kinds of tricks and all kinds of trouble for everybody, from the old maid and her moonlight lover to the denizens of the corner grocery. The scene in the country store is one of the most laughable points of the picture. Three natives are playing checkers, and while they are busy with the game one is tied to his chair and the plug of acider barrel is pulled near by. Earthquake follows the deluge and the store is wrecked. A picture especially appreciated by the children, but enjoyed by the older ones as well. "Nuf ced."

As a result of a fire Monday morning which destroyed the household affects of J. P. Wager, who resided at 131 North Twenty-first street, Mr. and Mrs. Wager are accepting the hospitality of Dr. Fisher, a neighbor, living at 688 Glisan street. When the fire broke out, from a cause not yet determined, Mr. and Mrs. Wager were both away from home. They returned to find that the damage had been confined to goods stored in the front room, which comprised practically all their furniture. The loss is estimated by Mrs. Wager at $1,700, with $500 insurance.

In a suit for a divorce filed in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, Rose Arnaud charges that her husband. Tony Arnaud. while earning $500 a month and owning property valued at $20,000, attempted to force her to earn money for him, and drove her from the house when she refused. They were married October 25, 1905. Mrs. Arnaud says that her husband owns four acres of land, two saloons, and other property worth in all $20,000. She asks to be given one-third of the property and $100 a month all-mony.

OREGONIAN MAKES MISTAKE

It States in This Morning's Losus That a Well-Enowa Dry Goods Firm Is Forced Out of Its Location.

There appeared in this morning's issue of the Oregonian an advertisement of a "Forced Out Bale at 34 North Third Street," and through some mistake the Golden Eagle Dry Goods company's name was placed at the bottom of the ad, and it would indicate that the Golden Eagle was forced out. Those who are familiar with the Golden Eagle department store know that it was a mistake, because the Golden Eagle is not located at 34 North Third street, but at Third and Yamhill streets, which is eight or ten blocks away.

Mr. Lowit, the manager of the Golden Eagle, was considerably annoyed this morning over the mistake and wishes his patrons to understand that the Golden Eagle store has nothing to do with this forced-out sale, and that the Golden Eagle department store has a ten years' lease on its place of business, is in Portland to stay and is very much pleased with business conditions, as the store is daily crowded with shoppers.

BULLS AND BUFFALOES

Experiences Told by Trapper of Forepaugh & Sells Brothers United Shows.

The Adam Forepaugh-Sells Bros.' management have in Africa and in India hunting expeditions under the care of experienced wild animal trappers, which are in continual commission, acquiring attractions for the scological department of the great show which comes here Monday next. One of the trappers recently arrived with a consignment of lions and tigers for the menagerie. In a discussion as to how tigers kill large game he said:

"Some time ago I was asked to come and see a full-grown bullock that had been killed by a tiger. On examining it I found that the animal had its neck I found that the animal had its neck broken and there were claw marks on the nose and shoulder, but nowhere else. There was no doubt that the tiger had jumped at the bull and landed on the shoulder, and when the bull turned his head to gore the tiger he must have put his claw out and with a sudden jerk broken the neck.

"On another occasion I went to see a young buffalo which had been killed by a tiger, and found the same thing had happened. There were similar marks on the nose and also on the near shoulder, which clearly indicated that this animal had been killed in the same way. Malays who have actually seen a tiger kill a buffalo told me they saw the same thing happen, also that in dragging off a heavy carcass, such as buffalo or bull, he gets most of the weight across his shoulder.

"The idea of a tiger killing large game by a blow from his paw is non-sense; besides in India a tiger never faces his prey, but attacks him on the flank, unless charged."

HARBORMASTER PLANS WHOLESALE ROUNDUP

Watchman at Foot of Stark Street Gets Good Look at Thieves Who Rifle Launches and He Says He Can Identify Them.

Harbormaster Ben Biglin is in posses-sion of evidence that will lead to the arrest, this afternoon or tomorrow morn-ing of a number of waterfront thieves arrest, this afternoon or tomorrow morning of a number of waterfront thieves and so many property-owners are ready to appear against them in court that conviction is practically assured. The thieves have been plying their trade with a high hand recently and they have grown so bold of late that during the past few days they fell into traps carefully laid for them. One man says he will be able to identify positively a couple of the thieves and he is anxious to assist in sending them over the road because they have given him much trouble of late.

F. B. Coldwell, watchman for Anderson & Crowe at the foot of Stark street, had to get up three times between midnight and 2 o'clock this morning to drive thieves away from the launches moored alongside the floats between Stark and Oak streets. The thieves got away in a boat, but Mr. Coldwell got a good look at them and he says he will easily be able to establish their identity. They are oldtimers here and have been before the courts upon various occasions and their latest work will probably result in their going into confinement for a good long term.

The waterfront thieves will steal anything from the brass trimming on gasoline launches to pieces of rope. Their booty is sold to junk dealers at bargain-counter prices and consequently they have to keep busy in order to get enough to exist on, although their cost of living is kept down to the minimum. One of the old pioneers in the business is said to have organized a gang of thieves and his subordinates are said to be boys not old enough to realize the chances they are taking.

LOST IN THE ATLANTIC.

LOST IN THE ATLANTIC.

Well Enown Prench Barks Vanban and Cassard Total Wrecks

In a letter to Captain Guriec, master of the French bark Laennec, which arrived here a few days ago from Antwerp, Captain Le Dantee, master of the French Vauban, writes that his vessel was wrecked on the Azores in mid-Atlantic a couple of months ago while on her way from London to the Pacific coast. The letter states that the vessel was bound for Portland, but shipping registers have her listed for San Francisco.

registers have her listed for San Francisco.

According to the letter the ship went ashore in a fierce storm, but nevertheless all of her crew were saved, managing to reach shore in the ship's boats. Some of them were quite seriously injured, but all recovered. There were 28 in the crew all told.

The Vauban is well known to the shipping fraternity of this port, for she was here last fall and took a cargo of wheat to Europe. During her stay here Captain Le Dantec had considerable trouble with his crew and they were finally discharged upon advice of French Consul Labbe. The tars alleged shat they were starved the entire leged that they were starved the entire way from Europe to the Columbia river and they said they were given Willam-ette water instead of claret for their daily bracer.

The letter received by Captain Guriec also gistes that the French bark Cassard, which plied out of Portland in the wheat trade in former years, was also lost in one of the recent storms on the Atlantic. When last reported the Cassard was on her way from Sydney, N. S. W., to Falmouth. She was of about the same dimensions as the Vauban, her net register being 1,719 tons.

RAN INTO THICK FOG.

Bay City and Coos Bay.

Heavy fogs enveloped the steamer F. A. Kilburn all the way from San Fran-cisco to the mouth of the Columbia river but, this fact notwithstanding, she arrived on time, reaching Greenwich dock at 10:45 last night. She brought 74 passengers and about 400 tons of passengers and about 400 tons of freight.

Captain Merriam reports business booming at Coos Bay and says that San Francisco is drawing almost as heavy a share of the business as Portland. That there would be room for more steamers on the Portland-Coos Bay run is evident from the heavy traffic, but the companies now covering the route declarethey are unable to secure suitable craft. Bhippers are anxious to see the steamer Breakwater return to the run which she abandoned when the sallors strike was declared several months ago, for with her and the Alliance and Kilburn on the run, business was handled with quite satisfactory dispatch. No word has been received from the owners of the Breakwater since she was taken off the routs, but now that some of the steam schooners are giving in to the strikers, the presumption is that many of the steamers will resume operations.

The F. A. Kilburn is scheduled to sail for San Francisco and way ports tofor San Francisco and way ports to-morrow night. The new addition to the cabins was completed this morning and she will now be able to accommodate nearly 100 passengers.

Season in Asiatio Waters.

On her way out from Portland to Hongkong the steamer Numantia of the Portland-Asiatic liner will probably run into some severe weather because her to course will bring her directly in the path of the typhoons that occur so frequently during the month of September.

According to the monthly pilot chart of the North Pacific ocean issued by the hydrographic department September is the month of typhoons in Asiatic waters and navigators are warned to be on the lookout for danger. In this connection the chart says:

"Mariners in the east Asiatic waters of the Pacific should not fall to remember that the approaching season marks the period of maximum frequency of typhoons, and that extra precautions should be taken to guard against the risk of damage and disaster which almost invariably result from conflict with one of these storms.

"With regard to the frequency of these storms, the following table, covering the 12 years 1854-1896, and including in all 244 typhoons, has been complied by Dr. W. Dobreck, director of the Hong-

LINER NUMANTIA ARRIVES.

Makes Astoria on Time and Will More This Evening.

The big oriental liner Numantia of the Portland-Asiatic line made the run across the Pasific on schedule time, for she arrived at Astoria early this morning, as expected. She will be in the harbor this evening to discharge one of the heaviest cargoes ever brought here from oriental ports. According to advance information received at the local office of the company the Numantia carries 2,000 bales of gunnies, 6,000 barrels of cement and 1,000 tons of overland freight besides a lot of general merchandise for local consigness. In view of the fact that heavy ororal merchandise for local consignees.

In view of the fact that heavy orders have come in from Japan and China recently for flour the Numantia will also depart with one of the most valuable cargoes ever set afloat from this port for the orient. It is understood that in the neighborhood of 55,000 barrels of flour will be stored away beneath her hatches when she sails, in addition to a considerable quantity of lumber and machinery.

She will be in the harbor about 16 days and several gangs of longshoremen

WARNING TO MARINERS.

Dangerous Cape Beals.

Word was received this morning by the local lighthouse department from James Gandin, agent for British Columbia at Victoria, asking the focal officials to inform navigators of the fact that pending the rebuilding of the lighthouse at Cape Beals, on Vancouver island, where the steamer Valencia met her fate not long ago, the revolving light will be discontinued and replaced temporarily by a fixed white light of the seventh order. The light will be exhibited from a pole 100 feet south of the present lighthouse.

The work of demolishing the old building, which is said to be in dangerous condition, will begin on the twentieth of this month and the intention is to have the new building ready for operation in two months. Agent Gandin states in his letter that the old probably proceed to Rainier to receive a cargo there.

Harbormaster Biglin was called upon last night to settle a dispute between the captains of the British steamer Beckenham and the Harriman steamer Costa Rica. The Beckenham was coaling at the bunkers of the Independent Coal company and her bow overlapped the dock of the Pacific Coast company's bunkers. The Costa Rica came along to coal at the last-mentioned bunkers but could not get into a desirable position because of the bow of the Beckenham. The harbormaster finally ordered the Beckenham to drop down a few feet and then both steamers found plenty of room. The controversy would probably not have occurred had the steamers not been coaling at opposition bunkers.

The schooners W. F. Garms and William Olsen arrived up this morning. The Garms went to the mills of the Portland Lumber company near St. Johns, taking the berth recently vacated by the schooner Carrier Dove.
