

VALPARAISO DESTROYED BY EARTHQUAKE

heavily and that there has been more or less loss of life throughout Chile and Peru as the messengers dispatched received indicates that the entire west coast of South America suffered severely. The earthquake was felt throughout Argentina and other South American countries but no great damage east of the Andes is reported.

REPORTS CONFLICT

The principal buildings of Valparaiso are the government palace, the custom house, the large bonded government warehouses, the hospital, the city hall and two theatres. There is also an immense theological seminary, a naval academy, a lyceum, large government railway shops, foundries, machine shops, sugar refineries and many fine modern business blocks, erected by Englishmen, Germans and Americans. About one-tenth of the population are foreigners.

USED TO 'QUAKES.

Judge Caples, former consul at Valparaiso, says city is prepared. Judge John F. Caples, whose offices are in the Mukey building, Second and Morrison streets, this city, was for four years American consul at Valparaiso, Chile. He returned to Portland from there in the spring of 1901. He was appointed consul by the late President McKinley.

Earthquakes are of frequent occurrence in Valparaiso, Judge Caples says, and consequently every precaution has been taken to prevent serious disaster from them. The houses are chiefly adobe and of low construction. The population, he says, is about 140,000, composed largely of natives and Spaniards.

FELT AT WASHINGTON.

(Journal Special Service.)
Washington, Aug. 17.—North America was shaken by the earthquake which struck South America last night. The seismograph here gives a clear record and shows that at 7:50 o'clock the earth swayed a quarter of an inch.

JURY SAYS

usual, responded promptly, and without looking at either his counsel or his fellow-conspirator, took the witness-stand and resolutely faced the jury. All through his examination he kept his back to Judge Bennett and the defendant.

WATSON TELLS HIS STORY.

Watson told the whole story. Zachary had asked him to file on the honor roll from the time of filing until the time he proved up he had not slept on the land a single night. Whenever he had gone on the claim he had not stayed there more than a minute or two. He told of his wanderings, corroborating the testimony of other government witnesses in every detail. He had spent most of his time in the Willamette valley and had made a trip to Missouri. His absences from Wheeler county varied in duration from a few months to three years, and at no time did he make any effort to comply with the homestead law. Several times while in Wheeler county he had worked for Zachary and at such times had made his home on the Zachary ranch.

The witness talked low but was not depressed. Occasionally he laughed, as if he thought stealing homesteads from the government was a laughing matter. At last the long story ended, leaving the defense without a shot in its locker. "That's all," said Prosecutor Henny. Judge Bennett whispered with Zachary for a few moments and then he, too, said: "That's all."

Prosecutor Henny announced "The government rests." It was 5 o'clock and past and Judge Hunt ordered an adjournment until tomorrow morning.

Defense Crosses Guns.
When court convened today it was apparent that the defense had given up its fight. Zachary sat with his wife and little boy half way across the room from his counsel, looking at the proceedings and said meekly, "That's our case."

United States Attorney Bristol made a brief argument. In half an hour he had reviewed the important testimony, dwelt at length on the clinching evidence given by Watson and pointed out the many incidents tending to prove that Zachary knew that Watson had never lived upon his claim.

Counsel for Zachary followed with a single sentence: "I don't desire to make any argument, your honor." Judge Hunt devoted nearly an hour to charging the jury. The defense had not submitted any list of requested instructions, but had asked that the instructions offered in the Barnard case be considered as a guide. In 10 minutes the jury returned and Foreman Newton Clark handed in a verdict of guilty. Only one ballot was taken.

Prosecutor Henny asked that Zachary's bond be raised to $10,000 and that the time of sentence be set for tomorrow morning. Judge Hunt replied that he would fix the bond tomorrow. Pending sentence Zachary retained his liberty on his old bond of $4,000.

Will Be Sentenced Tomorrow.
Hamilton H. Hendricks, convicted of subornation of perjury last night. The defendant, convicted of perjury, will also be sentenced tomorrow morning. Judgment will be deferred in the case of Charles A. Watson. He may be needed again as a government witness, and if so he will be sentenced to await trial from testifying in any court in the United States—that being one of the penalties of perjury.

The jury that convicted Zachary was made up of Walter E. Bates, Lewis C. Shorne, Amos Beach, William Knotts, W. T. Grinn, L. C. Cavanaugh, Francis Feller, A. H. Birrell, J. G. Malone, Thomas Price and John Egan.

COLONEL SAYS THERE WILL BE NO TROUBLE

(Journal Special Service.)
Washington, Aug. 17.—The war department has received the report from the commander of the troops at Fort Brown, Colorado, advising that the shooting was done by an enlisted man or men whose identity has not yet been ascertained. He declares he is working in perfect harmony with the major commanding the post and has no objection to his men going to town, keeping a full company on guard. "He says there has been no trouble since the shooting and he expects none."

SHIPPERS FAIL TO LOCK OUT SAILORS

(Journal Special Service.)
San Francisco, Aug. 17.—The anticipated action on the part of the members of the United Shipping & Transportation association, ordering the shippers to lock out the sailors, has failed in a general lockout against the union forces, is still in abeyance, and it may be that such action will be deferred for several days.

TROOPS QUELL MOB THEN ATTACK JEWS

(Journal Special Service.)
London, Aug. 17.—The Jewish Chronicle correspondent says after the disturbances in Warsaw were quelled yesterday the soldiers attacked the Jews and that the casualties among the latter number 250.

AT THE THEATRES.

Pantages.
The Pantages usually good show is attracting many people. Its principal number is "The Old Guard," as presented by Henry McCray and his company, showing and exciting scenes are the great Melinote, who acts so cleverly that you could almost imagine he is a woman; Jeanette Fletcher, singing everywhere with her charming singing; Merritt sisters in a novelty act, and many other attractive numbers.

At the Lyric.
A military drama is always intensely interesting to the majority of people, embracing, as it does, those stirring and exciting scenes calculated to inspire and to spur mankind to action in the defense of some great principle. The current week's bill at the Lyric, "The Marching Orders," has a very beautiful sentiment on the part of some of its characters.

Coming to the Star.
Only a few more days remain before the Star opens as a dramatic stock house of popular prices. The opening is set for next Monday. "Caught in the Web," a stirring detective drama in four acts, will be the bill.

At the Grand.
Bright and cheerful is the vaudeville entertainment at the Grand this week. It is in harmony with the renovation of the theatre and is a pleasant entertainment in every respect. Edward Kelly, the humorist, with his affectionate and single-handed delus screw and squashes from

Thousands of Women ARE MADE WELL AND STRONG

Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Proves the Fact that It Really Does Make Sick Women Well.

Thousands upon thousands of American women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact and not a mere boast.

Overhauling indeed is the success of this great medicine, and compared with all other medicines and treatments for women are experiments. Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such widespread results for good?

Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine in the world so good for women's ills.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womanhood is not because it is a stimulant—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and restorer ever discovered to act directly upon the female system, positively curing disease and displacements and restoring health and vigor.

Marvellous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due.

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it will effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), weakness, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Any way write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It's free and always helpful.

SAYS MRS. JARVIS IS NOT INSANE

Neighbor Woman Says Patient's Daughter Had Mother Placed in the Asylum.

JUDGE WEBSTER DENIES THAT SUCH IS THE CASE

Declares He Did Not Say Woman Was Not Insane and Says County Court Is Not in Habit of Railroad-ing People to Asylum.

Though Dr. E. E. Joseph, one of the foremost insanity specialists of the northwest, pronounced Mrs. A. W. Jarvis insane after a careful examination, Mrs. G. W. Stewart, a dressmaker living at 632 East Twenty-first street, takes it upon herself to announce that she is firmly convinced that Mrs. Jarvis is not insane.

Mrs. Stewart is reported to have said that she thought Mrs. Jarvis did not deserve to be in the asylum, and that Mrs. Jarvis' daughter, Ida Cooper, had sent her there to get rid of her.

"I talked with Judge Webster regarding the condition of Mrs. Jarvis," said Mrs. Stewart. "He says that she is not insane, but that she is in the asylum because she is a nuisance to her neighbors."

Judge Webster was asked this morning about his alleged interview with Mrs. Stewart. He said: "I told Mrs. Stewart that I was firmly convinced that Mrs. Jarvis was insane, as was Dr. Joseph, or she would never have been committed to the asylum."

Mrs. Stewart's husband committed suicide in Los Angeles in January, by jumping off a five-story building after fasting seven days. Mrs. Jarvis came to see her daughter, Mrs. Ida Cooper, Mrs. Cooper's husband is a bartender in Astoria and she works in the saloon with her husband, according to the story told this morning by Mrs. Botsford, who is Cooper's mother.

Mrs. Jarvis had newspaper accounts of her husband's death, and it is said she read these constantly, and frequently spoke of committing suicide. Shortly before her commitment to the asylum she refused to eat, and it was feared she would kill herself.

"The fact that the physicians at the asylum will promptly discharge Mrs. Jarvis should she be cured seems to make Mrs. Stewart's efforts rather unnecessary," said Judge Webster.

COMPETITORS ARE COMPLETELY CONFOUNDED

DO YOU ASK WHY? Here's the Answer: Because All Competitors Know Three Things:

- 1 That they have no such stock in either quality or values to offer. Here's a $75,000.00 stock. Think of it.
- 2 They cannot make such low prices; never have, cannot now, and never will. The St. Louis Salvage Co. challenges the coast.
- 3 They dare not offer such a guarantee and back it up. We have the stocks and the prices both.

We Will Discount Any Price Made on Any Article by Anybody

The people of Portland know these things well; that's why this big store will be crowded from morning till night. Portland merchants never saw such a sale. Seeing is believing; look for yourself; be convinced beyond a doubt; we will back every statement.
