DOCTOR FORCED INTO MARRYING MRS. DIXON

Showed Child She Claimed Was His Just as She Now Claims Damages Against Brooklyn Political Boss in Her Suit.

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) New York, Aug. 18.—Senator Patrick McCarren's plaudits in the action for $200,000 for breach of promise brought by Mrs. Mary A. Dixon, was explained today by an order from Justice Dickey of the supreme court showing that Dr. William Allen Dixon, the husband, is alive and living in Manhattan. The court's order directs Dr. Dixon, whose address is given as No. 172 St. Nicholas avenue, to appear before Referee Graham, chief clerk of the court, and give testimony in the McCarren-Dixon suit. Samuel S. Whitehouse, attorney for Senator McCarren, made the motion upon presentation of an affidavit from Dr. Dixon.

In this affidavit the husband recites that he married Mrs. Mary A. Dixon in Canada in 1895 and that she pretended to be a widow, showing papers purporting to be a marriage certificate, the will of her late husband and his death certificate.

She also exhibited a child which she claimed to be her son by the former marriage.

After their marriage Dr. Dixon claims that his wife admitted she had prepared the papers herself and said she had never been married.

Owing to extravagant habits Dr. Dixon claims he was forced to leave his wife within two years of their marriage and had not heard or heard from her since, but he affirms that no action for divorce was ever brought and that it is still the husband of Mrs. Mary A. Dixon.

HOT FIGHT ON FOR WELCH'S SENATE SEAT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Iiwaco, Wash., Aug. 18.—Pacific and Wahkiakum counties, Washington, are in the throes of one of the hottest political scraps of recent years. The trouble is over the Republican nomination for the joint state senatorship, a position at present held by Hon. John T. Welch of South Bend. To date there are no less than eight or nine candidates for the honor, and thus far it is anybody's fight.

John T. Welch of South Bend, the present incumbent, is probably the leading candidate with the best chances to land the plum.

Among the candidates are J. W. Elsieh of South Bend, a former miller, and W. R. Williams of Chinook, present representative from Pacific county, and E. A. Seaborg of Skamokawa, a salmon packer.

TURKISH DIPLOMAT WEDS FAIR AMERICAN COUNTESS

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) Colorado Springs, Aug. 18.—News has just been received of the secret marriage in Washington, D. C., a month ago, of Countess de La Chausse, nee Miss Madeline Desmond, a former stenographer of this city, to Djelal Bey, first secretary to the Turkish embassy in Washington. Mrs. Bey and her present husband met on a steamship en route from Paris to America.

The Turk fell in love with the countess and sought an introduction. After a brief but ardent courtship on his part the ceremony was performed first according to American usage and then according to the Turkish ritual and they are now spending their honeymoon at one of the eastern watering places.

RUSHING RAILROAD TO INDIAN SCHOOL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., Aug. 18.—The engine purchased by the Willamette Traction company to use in the work of construction of the new line from Salem to Portland arrived here yesterday afternoon under its own steam and was put to work this morning. Two ballasting wagons were received yesterday by boat and the pile-driver was at work this morning at the site of the bridge to span Mill creek. The work of grading and ballasting the track on High street and Broadway is proceeding at a lively pace, and poles are being set to support the trolley line. More teams have been added to the construction gang, and Contractor Fitzgibbon says there is not the slightest doubt but what the cars will be running to the Indian school by September 10.

RUSSIAN POLICE IN STATE OF PANIC

Outrages at Warsaw Causes Men to Refuse to Report for Duty in Many Cities.

TRY TO ASSASSINATE GOVERNOR OF WARSAW

Great Hole Torn in Pavement by Bomb and Windows Shattered by Blocks—Still Shooting Mutineers at Three Strongholds.

(Copyright, Hearst News Service, by Leased Wire to The Journal.) St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—A daring but unsuccessful attempt was made today to assassinate the governor of Warsaw. As he was driving through the street early in the afternoon three bombs were hurled from a window, two of them exploding with great violence.

They were badly aimed, however, and the governor's carriage was not injured. Instead a great hole was torn in the pavement and windows shattered by nearly a block. The would-be assassin escaped.

Many of the soldiers implicated in the recent mutinies in Revel, Sverdlovsk and Cronstadt have been shot and many more are awaiting sentence. This morning three were taken out in Reval and shot at daybreak. The authorities refused to turn their bodies over to their relatives.

A dispatch from Kishineff today reports the discovery of a bomb factory in the home of Prof. Tyerdocheff of Odessa university. Several arrests have been made.

It is evident that the police in parts of the empire are in a state of alarm because of the recent outbreak in Warsaw. Hundreds have resigned and in many places it has been found necessary to utilize the troops for ordinary patrol duty.

A number of local chiefs have telegraphed the government that their men are in a state of panic and refuse to report for duty. In the meantime troops are being poured into Poland to reinforce the garrisons there.

SHEPHERD FIGHTS WITH MONSTER BEAR

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., Aug. 18.—A shepherd, Jack McEwen had a narrow escape from death by a bear yesterday in the mountains southeast of this city. Bruin was of ponderous size. Although the herder had a gun with him, the bear was on him so quick he could not use it, was run down and thought his time had come. At that juncture a sheep came to his rescue, and by barking and snapping at the bear attracted his attention so that the herder managed to escape far enough to get his gun and shoot the bear down, killing him.

He had brown eyes and thin brown hair. Conditions do not indicate he was killed by a train. His back was broken and also his left hip.

ROMAN CATHOLICS WANT SCHOOL

Archbishop Walsh Denounces Proposed Compromise on Religious Question.

PILGRIMS GATHER UPON ST. PATRICK'S MOUNTAIN

From the United States, as Well as the British Colonies, Irishmen Came to Make Journey to the Little Chapel.

(Copyright in the United States and Great Britain by Curtis Brown. All Rights Strictly Reserved.) Dublin, Aug. 18.—The government and administration of Trinity college, Dublin, as a university school for all Ireland is exciting renewed controversy. There appears to be little hope that the royal commission, which is to inquire into the subject in October next, can do much that will satisfy the advocates of a totally distinct university for the Roman Catholic youth of Ireland. A certain section of Catholic laymen, it is true, think that Trinity can be remodelled so as to make it acceptable to all, but Archbishop Walsh of Dublin is quite of the opposite opinion.

Interviewed on the proposals of these Catholic laymen, the archbishop said: "The project is a senseless one. No government could think of proposing to parliament a bill embodying such a scheme. There is to be a Catholic chapel in the college as well as a Protestant one. Then there is to be a faculty of theology, and all this not merely in the same university, but in the same college. The inquisitorial spirit which has evolved all this out of their inner consciousness have evidently left out of account not only the Irish Catholic bishops, but the holy see. These people have perhaps some confused idea of the double faculty of theology in some of the universities of Germany. Such a scheme will not do for Ireland."

Pilgrimage Revived. A few years ago, when the archbishop of Tuam suggested an annual revival of the ancient pilgrimage to the summit of Croagh Patrick, the lofty mountain in Mayo where St. Patrick prayed for the welfare of the Irish nation, the idea was enthusiastically taken up throughout the country, but it was not then thought that it would appeal to Irishmen and women outside of Ireland.

The pilgrimage this year, however, has furnished one of the most remarkable scenes in the history of the country, for not only was every province of Ireland represented, but many men and women were present from the United States, as well as from the British colonies. Withered, worn and poverty-stricken many of the throng of pilgrims looked, but they were determined to pray in the little chapel built on the summit of the mountain. The most pathetic feature of the pilgrimage was, perhaps, the presence of an aged couple from Boston who had come over to make the ascent but who were constrained to descend when within two miles of the summit. They sat down on the mountainside and cried when they saw that it was physically impossible for them to proceed.

While the Irish people generally are pleased with the action of the government in relation to the Transvaal problem and the methods proposed to solve it, there is feeling of dissatisfaction among the advanced section of Nationalists that Campbell-Bannerman and his cabinet have not seen their way to grapple with the Irish problem in the same vigorous manner.

CALIFORNIANS RENOMINATE JAMES M'CLACHLAN

Congressman Pleads for Stand-patism and Warns Fruit-growers of Danger.

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal.) Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 18.—Pleading his renomination by the Republican congressional convention for the Seventh California district today, Congressman James McLachlan in a brief address before the convention declared his allegiance to the "stand pat" wing of the Republican party and threatened California with a substantial reduction in the tariff on fruit in the event of a tariff revision. Mr. McLachlan did not mince matters. He said in effect that any revision of the tariff would bring with it troubles for the fruit industry and warned his hearers to let the Dingley schedules stand.

Mr. McLachlan's nomination was a cut and dried affair and made unanimously without any formal poll of the convention. Dr. Walter Lindley was made chairman of the convention and expressed his gratitude at being chosen to preside over a body assembled as he expressed it, for the purpose of nominating to congress a man who now is serving this district and who undoubtedly will continue to serve it.

United States District Attorney Lawler then placed McLachlan in nomination. No other nominations were made and Mr. McLachlan was unanimously selected.

We have made a contract with the largest factory in Michigan to handle their office desks. The first carload arrived last Thursday. Prices and descriptions follow, the prices are those of cheap desks—the quality is standard—the best Grand Rapids make.

RIVER PIRATES' DEN IS FOUND AT ST. JOHNS

Robbers' Roost Unearthed by Detectives on Shore of Willamette River in Two Huts Screened by Foliage and Underbrush and Booty Recovered

In a secluded spot on the east bank of the Willamette river, within the limits of the city of St. Johns, detectives yesterday unearthed veritable "robbers' roost," where the plunder of the juvenile gang of river pirates that has infested the waterfront for months was discovered in large numbers. Two of the youthful buccaners were captured in the raid, but were released on custody for the reason, it is said, that the officials of St. Johns feared legal complications.

Their arrest was accomplished by Robert Gray of the St. Johns Iron & Brass foundry and the marshal of the town. They were taken to the city hall and left in the custody of officials while Mr. Gray proceeded to Portland to procure a warrant. On his return he took with him Constable Lou Wagner, who swore in a deputy especially for the occasion. When the party reached St. Johns their prey had flown, the officials explaining, it is said, that they feared to detain the prisoners further because of a possibility of legal complications.
