WOMAN IS KILLED BY GOSSIP

At Last Relatives of Late Mrs. Ceell Are Located and Child Finds Home.

DACKLING TONGUES ARE BLAMED FOR HER DEATH

Wife, Deserted by Husband After He Was Publicly Whipped, Finds Every Hand Against Her and Finally Succumbs.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Baker City, Or., Aug. 20.—The closing scene of one of the saddest tragedies ever enacted in the history of Baker City occurred a few days ago, when Undertaker West received a letter from the grandfather of the little boy left an orphan by the death of his mother, Mrs. Sarah F. Ceell. The story of Mrs. Ceell is a sad one. She came to this district with her husband about five years ago and everything seemed bright and happy in the little home. Mr. Ceell worked in the mines, but later secured the appointment of postmaster at Tipton. All was joy and happiness for some time and true love seemed to be taking its natural course. Although they loved each other dearly, they became intensely jealous of each other and because of some supposed breach of faithfulness Mr. Ceell gave his wife a sound beating. Complaint was filed against him and he was brought to Baker City in June, 1895 to be tried for wife-beating. He was found guilty and sentenced to be publicly whipped at the post. He was the third man to be publicly whipped at the post in Oregon and immediately after his disgraceful punishment left the country and has never been heard of since, although it is supposed that he is in Arkansas. Mrs. Ceell then instituted proceedings for a divorce, which was granted without protest. She also secured the appointment of postmistress at Tipton, the position held by her husband at the time of his disgraceful treatment of her. But her troubles had only begun. The neighbors made complaint that she was not properly fulfilling the duties of the office, and did everything in their power to add to her troubles. Her enemies continued to harass her for some time and when the railroad was completed to Austin she secured the position as postmistress at Pliska, the terminus of the road. But with the change in positions came more trouble. First charges were made to the government and her name was connected with that of a mail clerk. An investigation followed and the charges were entirely disproved. Then there was more trouble over the postoffice position, there being an effort made to wipe the Pliska office out of business, as the Austin office was only a mile distant. The next move was the circulating of a petition to have another person appointed postmaster at Pliska. Worrying over her troubles, both real and imaginary, the postmistress at Pliska was brought to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Baker City in a very serious condition, being a nervous wreck and also threatened with brain fever. Four Women Defeated. While Mrs. Ceell hovered between life and death in the hospital as the result of neighborhood broils fostered by the enemies of the woman the government at Washington tired of thrashing out the troubles and discords of the Pliska station and declared that the office should be abandoned for the public good. Only in so much as Mrs. Ceell was deprived of her means of a livelihood as the triumph of the opposition. The department did not uphold the charges brought against her by those who opposed her. But she never knew of the order issued by the government depriving her of her means of livelihood, as she was too ill to be told. For nearly a month the lone woman kept up the unequal struggle, but finally on the evening of July 26, about 4:30 o'clock, death's angels wiped out the cares of the postmistress at Pliska and freed from the burden, the spirit of the suffering woman passed out of this life. Undisclosed by the physician's diagnosis was the story of troubles and cares that broke down the health of Mrs. Ceell and literally worried her to death. At the time of her death Mr. Ceell was but 29 years of age, and was the mother of a little baby boy, left at Austin during her sickness and death in the hospital in Baker City. Body Laid Unclaimed. Without a relative or kindred of any kind to shed a tear or lay a flower on her casket, the body of Mrs. Sarah Ceell, which had lain at the morgue for over two weeks, was to be buried and the funeral announced for Friday afternoon, August 10. It was impossible to locate any of her relatives or her divorced husband and the body was taken charge of by the authorities. The only relative which the unfortunate woman had in this part of the country was the infant which survives her and is now being cared for by friends. Undertaker West searched diligently and faithfully for some relative of the dead woman, but at the time of her funeral was unable to find any. There are scores of people in Baker City who knew the woman intimately, had been well acquainted with her since she first came to this district about five years ago, and yet there is not one of them who knows her maiden name or knows where her people live. It seems that after the trouble Sarah Ceell husband Mrs. Ceell destroyed all papers that would tell who she was, where she came from or throw any light of any kind upon her past life. Relative Discovered. Upon the return to his office Mr. West discovered a clue to the identity of the relatives for whom he has been searching for the last two weeks. In a letter addressed to Mrs. Ceell he discovered that her father was Green Wiley Mercer, a member of Rome Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Dix, Illinois. The family has since removed from Dix, but through the Masonic lodge he hopes to be able to trace the relatives of the unfortunate woman and to inform them of her death. That the orphan boy will not be without a home was announced last Monday, when Undertaker West received a letter from the grandfather of the pretty baby boy, who wants to know about his circumstances and also wants the undertaker to arrange to send the boy to him. He is at present at Quay, New Mexico.

RAISE SIXTY-FIVE THOUSAND FOR ROAD

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Baker City, Or., Aug. 20.—The soliciting committee of the Citizens' League, which started to raise $100,000 by subscription to the capital stock of the Eagle Valley railroad, has met with very encouraging success and the indications now are that the money will be raised by the first of September, the date specified in the contract. It is understood from reliable sources that at the last footing up of the subscription list the amount subscribed for had reached approximately $55,000. This leaves only $45,000 more to be raised and this will no doubt be done, as no work has been done along the route of the road but all the soliciting has been done in Baker City.

DIAZ TO BECOME A MYSTIC SHRINER

Austin, Tex., Aug. 20.—A degree team of the Ben Hur temple, Mystic Shrine, of this city, leaves today for the City of Mexico to initiate President Diaz and other members of the Masonic fraternity in the southern republic into the Shrine's order. The party numbers about 15 and will reach the Mexican capital in time to confer the degrees next Friday.

SCHWAB AND CLARK IN DESPERATE FIGHT

Gotham Will Witness Great Battle of New-Made Rich to Compel Recognition From People Whose Fathers Made the Money.

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Aug. 20.—Next winter will see the greatest social war New York has ever known, and in it the complexion of Fifth avenue banquet tables may be changed and Newport may have an influx of new inhabitants. The battle is between Senator W. A. Clark and Charles M. Schwab and their wives, on the one hand, and a large part of the "four hundred" on the other. Arrayed behind Clark and Schwab are dozens of others of great wealth, who for several years have been smarting under the snave; insolence of the set that is satisfied to get along without them. The specific issue of the battle is found in that abode of lyric art, the Grand Opera-house. The possession of the parterre boxes at the Metropolitan opera-house has been carefully guarded by J. Pierpont Morgan, J. J. Astor, Jerry Belmont, Adrien Tselin and others closely allied to the "four hundred."

PERSONAL

Herman Klaber, a large hop grower of Tacoma, is registered at the Balvedere. State Senator N. Wheelon of The Dalles is stopping at the Perkins. He is in Portland on business. Harrison Allen of Astoria, district attorney of Clatsop county, is visiting in the city. He was in the federal court this morning on legal business connected with the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by two Italians serving sentence in the Clatsop county jail for unlawfully fishing in the Columbia river. Walter Seaborn, a canneryman who lives at Ilwaco, is registered at the Portland hotel. A Compromise. "Yes," said the young wife, wedding a strand of seaweed with her parcel. "The last year of our marriage Jim and I squabbled awfully over whether we should buy an auto or a more costly. "And how did you settle it?" asked the girl in the white bathing suit. "We compromised," said the young wife, blushing faintly, "we a baby carriage."

HUBBY IN MISSOURI SUED FOR DIVORCE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Baker City, Or., Aug. 20.—Mrs. Mary Gossett, for years keeper of a boarding-house in Pleasant Valley, this morning filed suit for divorce from her husband, W. A. Gossett, who is now in Missouri. The defendant has been in Missouri since the first of July, and has, through his acts while there, convinced Mrs. Gossett that she does not want him for a husband. He was seriously injured some years ago in a railroad wreck and since that time has been mentally irresponsible, she says. It is because of this trouble, Mrs. Gossett alleges, that he has become so bad in his treatment of her that she cannot longer stand it. She asks custody of the four minor children, and a clear title to property she has bought and paid for with her own money, together with half an interest clear in Mr. Gossett's property, which is in the name of both and consists of valuable mining claims.
