SUMMER RESORTS

MINERAL SPRINGS, WASH.

From 3 o'clock Sunday until midnight last night the men at the city crematory were at work incoherating the 35 horses burned in the stable fire Saturday morning. It was an unpleasant job, and one which showed up how inadequate is the capacity of the city's garbage plant. The crematory is supposed to have a capacity of 25 tons every 24 hours. Between 55 and 50 tons, including the dead horses, were received yesterday, and the furnaces were worked beyond their capacity. Only eight of the carcasses could be placed in the large furnaces, and the other 21 had to be cut up and burned in the smaller furnaces.

Those who remembered the colipse of the sun that was scheduled to occur yesterday afternoon armed themselves with smoked glasses and gased carefully through the blue atmosphere to see the shadow as it passed across the sun's orbit. No shadow was seen, and there are many who assert vigorously today that the astronomers were wrong about the colipse. The colipse did take place, but such a small part of the shadow was visible from Portland that the aid of a powerful telescope was necessary to see it. The eclipse was more plainly visible from Canada and the extreme northern part of this continent.

From the circumstances surrounding the incipient blase in the storeroom of the Olympic Warshouse & Milling company, at East Front and Stark streets at 3 o'clock this morning. It is believed that an incendiary attempted to fire the building and an investigation is in progress. The fire was discovered by Patrolman Teevin, who telephoned for engine company No. 7, and the flames were quickly extinguished. A number of letters found on the railroad track near the building lead the police to believe that the firebug broke into the office of the establishment before starting the fire.

Lieutenant Thomas B. Lee, who was to have been in Portland today to instruct the members of the First battery in the use of the new three-inch guns recently received from the Rock Island arsenal, telephoned to Captain Welch this morning from American Lake that he would be unable to be here until the end of the week, stating that he would set the date definitely in time for the men to be ready when he arrived. The new guns arrived last week and are of the latest approved pattern. There are four of them and together with the caissons and rest of the equipage took up the space of four large furniture cars. He says he believes there is little opposition to the wider street among the property holders who will have to donate land for it; that it will add greatly to the value of property in that section and would open a large area of country now hardly accessible to settlement.

Dr. William Deveny has been ceaseless in his efforts to interest the people of Montavilla and vicinity in the proposed boulevard.

Residents of Mount Tabor are having trouble getting their stock and pound limit laws in operation. A portion of the district voted at the last election to put the stock law in operation there, but it has never been enforced. Cows still have free range of the lawns, and when not busy devastating some pretty flower garden, they stand in the door of the Mount Tabor justice court chewing their cuds. The residents want the stock law enforced in all the newly acquired territory and will appeal to the acquired territory and will appeal to the

It looks as if the effort to save the old East Side hotel and adjoining buildings, on Union avenue where the fill is being made, is doomed to failure. The plan is for the young woman to get on one rail and her "steady" on the other and then they go walking up or down the new line, each balancing the other. Of course in this game there are no rules how tight you must hold your partner's hand. Yesterday afternoon there were an unusually large number of visitors to Council Crest, nearly all of them following the line of the new railway, because it is so much shorter than the old route by the Patton road or the Mountain boulevard.

Charles Cherry of Mount Tabor, who was near by when the accident took place, says that two young men from the city while hunting became separated in the dense undergrowth, and that one of them received nearly a full charge of shot in his breast at close range. Mr. Cherry is of the opinion that the wounded man was badly hurt. He refused to tell his name, replying, when asked to his identity, that "that was his own bustness."

BY GRAVEL TRAIN

Stevenson, Wash., Aug. 20.—A very serious accident occurred here Saturday when Gustave Lawson, of the firm of Johnson & Lawson, railroad contractors, was standing on a trestle and the man in charge of an approaching dirt train lost control, allowing it to run away and strike Mr. Lawson with such force as to break one of his hips and precipitate him to the rocks below, about 12 feet, but very fortunately the following cars fell to one side of him. He is recovering from the effects nicely, although suffering intense pain.
