

PORTLAND MINERS HUNTING GOLD

Men From Rose City Developing Properties in Rich Southern Oregon District.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR MAKING BIG FORTUNES

Colorado Springs Company Is Driving Long Tunnel Through Slide to Tap Placer Basin in Silver Creek Canyon.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Grants Pass, Or., Aug. 30.—The Oak Consolidated Mining Company, composed of Portland mining men, has begun operations on its two Josephine county properties. The Hilda Fortune mine, owned by this company and situated on Applegate river near Grants Pass, has been a producer for several years. Recent shipments from this mine gave very flattering returns. The Oak group of claims, owned by this company, is located on Jump-Off-Joe creek. This claim is also under development and will begin shipping soon. Manager Blum hopes to have the properties in shape for a reduction plant by the close of this year.

Another Portland company that is meeting excellent success in the development and operation of Josephine county mines, is the Mount Pitt, of which A. C. Hooper is manager. The properties of this company, which include both quartz and placer, are located on Jump-Off-Joe creek, a few miles from Grants Pass.

Work Quarts Claims. The operations of the company have been conducted principally on the quartz claims, which are well developed, and are now equipped with a new mill. The mill will make its test run early next week. The equipment is very complete, consisting of a 10-stamp mill, compressor, hoist, crusher and dynamo for electrically lighting the mine and camp. Returns from this mine during the past two years have been very flattering. Besides paying the cost of development, the values of the ore have also allowed a fair margin of profit, a record that few mines can claim. The company employs a large crew, and is carrying on operations day and night.

Operations on the Mountain Lion mine, of the Applegate district, which have been suspended for nearly two years on account of litigation, have been resumed again, and day and night crews are employed. The property is under the management of Bailey Brothers and Harmon & Jewell of Grants Pass. The Mountain Lion is equipped with a 13-stamp mill and has an abundance of ore in sight.

P. V. Metz, manager for the Colorado Springs company that has been at work for the past four years driving a long tunnel through a heavy slide in Silver Creek canyon, to tap the rich placer basin beyond, has placed a summer crew at work and hopes to complete the great undertaking this season. The tunnel is now in about 1,300 feet. This was the greatest tunnel ever undertaken in southern Oregon, and is unique in that the desired goal is placer and not quartz ground. It has required the expenditure of much money, but the Colorado men feel confident of success. The driving of the tunnel through the slide will release a lake beyond and uncover a mammoth placer basin, the bed of which has been prospected thoroughly, and its value are a known quantity.

STATE AID FOR CONVICTS OF ILLINOIS

Employment Bureaus Will Find Work for People Who Have Expiated Their Offenses.

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, Aug. 30.—Illinois, through an agency of its own, will start free employment bureaus in Chicago and other cities, beginning next Monday, and will provide employment and give assistance to a thousand-odd men, women and boys released from the various penal, reformatory institutions, each year. Governor Deneen, who has been deeply interested in this problem, has given his approval to a carefully mapped-out plan to instruct, to state employment agencies the duty of securing work for those who have served out the sentences imposed by courts, or who, by good conduct, have had their punishment mitigated.

GREENBACK MINE PRODUCED THREE MILLION FOR OWNERS

Pill of Gold Bullion Worth $30,000, the Result of the Monthly Clean-Up in the Greenback Mine.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Grants Pass, Or., Aug. 30.—Here is a picture of a $30,000 pile of bullion, representing one of the monthly clean-ups of the old Greenback mine of the Grave creek district, Josephine county. During the eight years of its existence this mine has produced about $4,000,000, and has not yet reached its prime. The Greenback is one of the big mines of the Pacific coast, but is the least talked about of any of them, mainly for the reason that its owners are men who "see wood and say nothing." The Greenback claim was discovered in the spring of 1886 by Lew Browning and Ed Hannum. These two miners took out some $35,000 that summer from the prospect by pick and shovel. That fall they sold it to W. H. Brewster of New York, who is still its owner and manager. During those first two years the Greenback made a most remarkable growth. Mr. Brewster put day and night crews to work, and soon placed a five-stamp mill. In 1905 five more stamps were added, and in 1901 five more. After three years' work with the 15 stamps, three drifts were driven, through Browning mountain, on which the mine is located, and the upper levels were pretty well worked out. Then a new mill of 40 stamps, built on the opposite side of the mountain, and on the ninth level, was found necessary. By the side of the new mill a cyanide plant, with a daily capacity of 100 tons, was erected. There are over 14,000 feet of tunnels, upraises and drifts in the Greenback. The veins range from three to six feet in width, and have an average dip of 50 degrees. Values run from $12 to $25 a ton. The country rock is diorite. The entire equipment of the Greenback, and of the Martha, which is operated in conjunction with it, is operated by electricity, energy being derived over a 45-mile aluminum wire from the power plant of the Condor company at Gold Bay, on Rogue river.

The Boston, the Cheapest Store in the United States.

THE GREAT SALES at the BOSTON STORE

Imitated by many and equaled by no other store in the Great West, The Boston is positively the only concern having direct New York connections, buying for spot cash Bankrupt or Distress stocks of all kinds and selling them at retail and wholesale on their own premises. The Boston owns and sells goods at least One Third Lower than any concern in Oregon, Washington or California, and many of the so-called great special sales of distress stocks of clothing, etc., have been bought at this store from us by smaller merchants. We offer you the goods at the same prices that we sell to the small merchants or fakers, as they are better known. So why pay them a profit? Come direct to headquarters—The Boston Store, Corner First and Salmon.

My Lady's Toilet.

The hair can be kept in curl longer if dampened with the white of an egg, diluted with one third water, before wrapping on keds.

Applications of the cut side of a cucumber, to be followed later by bathing with oatmeal water, will help to remove the discoloration left from sunburn and tan.

When sunburn is very painful, here is a true and tried recipe, which will relieve almost immediately. Dissolve one third of a teaspoonful of baking soda and soap (preferably green) the size of a pea in each ounce of water or rosewater, and shake in a bottle with one ounce of olive oil.

Veils should be cleaned or thrown away within a reasonable time, if not cleanable. The more expensive the veils the longer they are worn, and the combination of collected dirt with moisture from the woman's breast soon makes the veil anything but a suitable article to come in contact with the face.

Education and Marriage.

Did you ever hear of a man who had too much education to do his work well—providing he was not a fool? Would it be possible to so educate a woman that she would cease to be a companion to her husband and properly look after the best welfare of her children? If such a thing were possible then Mr. Daniel Webster was very much mistaken and the word education does not mean development, but deterioration. In almost any magazine you chance to pick up will be found an article by some learned gentleman on "The Disadvantages of Higher Education for Women," and yet they declare with great unctiousness that "women are the mothers of men."

To Cook Corn.

Corn pudding is one of the entrees expected this month. Mix two cupfuls of corn cut from the cob with two beaten eggs and two cupfuls of hot milk. Season with salt, pepper and butter, turn into a buttered dish and bake until of the consistency of custard.

Use for Dresden Ribbon.

The Dresden and flowered ribbons shown in the stores are especially beautiful this season and many pretty things may be made of them.

Exquisite waists are made of wide Dresden ribbon and cluny or other soft lace. The lace is dyed to match the prevailing color in the ribbon.

An attractive blouse was made of the Dresden ribbon, in delicate greens and old rose, and silk and cluny lace dyed the exact shade of old rose as that in the ribbon.

If you tie the handle of your parasol with a bow of Dresden ribbon, make an envelope card case to match it and bind it with narrow gilt braids. Put an ornamental button on top of the flap and a good stout snapper for the real fastening underneath.

Dainty economical girdles are also made of the ribbon. The fad at present is to make them with ruffles and long ends to hang down the back.

Said of Women.

Auld Nature swears, the lovely dears Her noblest work she classes, Her practice her she tried on man, An' then she made the lassies.

"Women wish to be loved without a why or a wherefore; not because they are pretty, or good, or well bred, or graceful, or intelligent, but because they are themselves."

The happiest women, like the happiest men, have no history.—George Elliot.

"Women fascinate the hearts but do not affect the destinies of determined men."

"When a man does good work out of all proportion to his pay, in seven cases out of nine there is a woman at the back of the virtue."
