

SON CLAIMS COIN SUDEN DEATH TO OF DR. BARRY WONLASKI

Man Appears Who Claims Deceased Physician Lived Double Life Twenty Years.

CLAIMANT DEMANDS HE BE GIVEN LION'S SHARE

After Establishing His Identity Legal Proceedings Will Be Commenced to Take Seven Millions From Other Heirs.

(Journal Special Service.)
Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Robert L. Barry, son of Dr. John H. Barry, who died in New York about three years ago, is in this city seeking proof of the validity of his claim to his father's estate in New York, estimated to be worth $7,000,000. He backs up his story with written evidence and corroborative verbal testimony. What appears to have been a double life led by Dr. John H. Barry for nearly 20 years in New York is disclosed. There is also a missing will.

According to young Robert Barry's story, he was born in the Arlington hotel, New York, May 29, 1887. His mother died in New York April, 1899, and was buried in Kensico cemetery. After her death, Robert was sent to a boarding school and his father went to live at 116 West Seventy-third street. It was at this time that Robert first saw the second Mrs. Barry, who now claims, with her son, all of the late Dr. Barry's estate.

By the terms of Dr. Barry's will his entire property is divided equally between the second Mrs. Barry and her son, Robert, who is wholly ignored, Robert says, however. He knows his father made a will which left almost all of his property to him.

The last will was dated about two weeks before Dr. Barry's death, after he had been through several operations and numerous administrations of drugs.

Blood-Spattered Warsaw Sees Another Russian Commander Shot Down.

ASSASSIN KILLS SWIFTLY AND MAKES ESCAPE

Girl Shoots General Min, Whose Wife Springs on the Murderess and Holds Her Until Servants Put Her Under Arrest.

(Journal Special Service.)
Warsaw, Aug. 27.—General Woniarski was shot and killed this afternoon while driving from his residence to his office.

Accompanied by two adjutants on horseback, the general left his home at 3 o'clock and was driven slowly along the street.

When near military headquarters his carriage was stopped by the press of traffic and his adjutants were unable to reach the vehicle.

Just as the driver whipped up his horse, a shot rang out and General Woniarski fell forward. In the excitement caused by the shooting, the assassin, who was plainly seen by hundreds of people, made his escape.

General Woniarski was dead when the adjutants reached his side.

This morning it was stated that a notice was sent to all cabinet members not to drive for any generals today.

Governors Tired of Place.
St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—It is reported that General Kaubars, at whom a girl tried to hurl a bomb yesterday, has resigned and that his example has been followed by the principal military and civil governors.

Girls Nerve Falls.
(Journal Special Service.)
Odessa, Aug. 27.—A girl student tried to kill Governor Kaubars with a bomb, but apparently her nerve failed her as she approached the palace, as when near the palace she let the deadly engine drop. It exploded and blew off her hand. She was the only person injured, although many people were in the neighborhood at the time.

The wounded girl, with a man and woman who accompanied her, were arrested.

Killed in Wife's Presence.
(Journal Special Service.)
St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—In the presence of his wife and personal attendants, General Min was shot to death by a girl on the station platform at Peterhof.

As he sank to the ground his wife rushed at his assassin, caught her by the arm and tried to wrest the pistol from her. The murderess shot again, and then made a fierce struggle for liberty. Madame Min fought bravely, but she was the only person injured, although many people were in the neighborhood at the time.

The girl said: "He was doomed."

This is the third attempt on the life of General Min, who was condemned by the military court for the revolt in Moscow last December. At that time he gave orders for the suppression of the terrorists, which included the arrest and immediate execution of all persons found with arms in their hands.

The general's promotion has been rapid; a year or so ago he had a subordinate position; then he was given command of the Semenovskiy guard, and made adjutant in the personal suite of the emperor.

Woniarski was temporary governor-general and commander of the Fifth army corps.

Bad Shot in the Head.
Disorders are reported at various centers. At Kirov soldiers who are guarding prisoners mutinied and 16 were arrested. At Tamboff the revolutionaries killed three soldiers. At Riga the police discovered 24 bombs. Three robbers attacked the government spirit store and troops killed five of them.

Stolypin's injured daughter is alive, but is still in danger. It is thought that his son will recover.

Rumor Kills Colonel Wismann.
(Journal Special Service.)
St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—Colonel Wismann, Semenovskiy regiment, associate to General Min, is reported to have been assassinated at Luga.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR COON IN PORTLAND

Charles E. Coon, lieutenant-governor of Washington, was in Portland today on his return home from a trip to Wisconsin and Illinois. Lieutenant-Governor Coon was in Chicago the day a great number of prostrations occurred from the excessive heat.

"A peculiar thing about it," he said, "was that the thermometer only registered 80 degrees. The terrible humidity, however, is what did the work. Nine people died and hundreds were prostrated. I arrived in the morning and the heat was still very great, but after a breeze blew in from Lake Michigan and cooled the atmosphere. It was the worst day of the summer for the inhabitants of the Windy city so far as prostrations are concerned, but they have had days there when the temperature was much higher."

Lieutenant-Governor Coon said that his trip was partly in the nature of a vacation and partly business, but that there was no political connected with it.

WASP WASTES AS MAKE EVILS IN ITS TRAIN

But It Is Fashionable Again in London and the Women of America Are Laying Plans.

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, Aug. 27.—A cable to the Herald from London says: The wasp waist is coming into vogue again despite the fact that it is regarded by a majority of women with distrust. But fashion's decrees must be obeyed, and many women who are emphatic in protests against the wasp waist suffer much in their efforts to obtain one for themselves.

A physician who was consulted on the subject declared that he issued warnings without number against tight lacing and at last had been up and down the list of evils to obtain one for themselves.

"She will suffer from wrinkles around her eyes, purple cheeks caused by imperfect circulation, red hands, broken veins in the nose, a worried expression, and generally gray hairs from malnutrition."

LEM SHORT KILLED BY BIG DOSE OF MORPHINE

Man Charged With Complicity in Great Northern Holdup Near Seattle Is Dead.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Chehalis, Wash., Aug. 27.—Lem Short died about 5 o'clock this morning from an overdose of morphine. Steve Adams, a dope fiend, who furnished Short the morphine, was jailed pending an investigation. Short was last spring convicted of stealing a horse and buggy near Seattle, it being alleged that he was an accomplice in the Great Northern holdup near Seattle. His case was under appeal to the supreme court. He was out on bail. He worked at a milk condenser here and his parents reside in Chehalis.

SAGE'S MIND WEAK SAYS GRAND-NEPHEW

Will-Breaker Asserts Money-Maker Was Not Competent to Draw Testament.

(Journal Special Service.)
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Revel C. Sage of this city, a grand-nephew of Russell Sage, is about to begin action to break the Sage will on the ground that the testator was incompetent to draw it. This new claimant's grounds were novel and sensational. He says he has ascertained that when Russell Sage drew his will he made a private paper which he gave to his grand-nephew, who should dispose of his millions. He claims that if the contents of this private paper are found to be as he understands they are, they will prove that Sage was incompetent when he made his will.

TELLS HOW PLOT FAILED

lections were afterward canceled by the government.

Honey turned to the group composed of the defendants and their counsel. "You were getting the best timber land in the state then open to entry. For that was worth $100 an acre you were to pay $1.25."

Binger Hermann, one of the alleged conspirators, was commissioner of the general land office at that time. The cancellations were made by his authority on the ground that the reserve not having been created the state had no right to make selections based on unsurveyed school lands within the boundaries.

J. L. Wells, who had been on the witness stand all Saturday afternoon, finished his testimony this morning. Among his latest disclosures was that once when he had gathered a bunch of 14 applicants Jones told him to have them signed and acknowledged by some other notary. This Wells understood to be a precaution. He had received his $5 a head and therefore he did as requested. He took the applications to J. P. Culver, who acknowledged and sealed without the formality of having the applicants appear before him.

Wells Cross-Examined.
W. D. Fenton, attorney for Maya, began the cross-examination of Wells. He brought out that John Kenworthy, one of the applicants who sold his right to the witness, is the "Uncle John" Kenworthy who was a leading member of the Centenary M. E. church. Further questions identified George Williams, another of the applicants, as Congressman Richard Williams. Attorney Fenton also added to the record that Major Williams lost a leg at Gettysburg, that he was well-to-do when he signed the application, that he is still well-to-do and a member of the banking firm of Williams & England.

Ex-Judge M. L. Pipes, attorney for Jones, brought out that Wells once took a flyer in school lands himself, buying up eight or ten cities, but failing to profit by his scheme because hard times came on and he couldn't keep up the interest on his purchases.

REBATE INDICTMENTS NUMBER TWENTY-ONE

(Journal Special Service.)
Chicago, Aug. 27.—Twenty-one indictments have been prepared by the government attorneys in charge of the investigation into the alleged rebates granted the Standard Oil company by the railroads. It is certain a majority of the indictments will be returned when the two grand juries which have been at work report. No individual will be indicted. The corporations alone will be required to make a defense.

Will Benefit Chicago.
(Journal Special Service.)
Chicago, Aug. 27.—Chicago in its effort to become a milling center has secured a considerable advantage. On and after today the Western roads will not accept a lower rate for the transportation of flour than they get for hauling wheat. This action removes one discrimination against Chicago, and Minneapolis, Kansas City and other western milling cities lose an advantage which they have heretofore had.

COGNAC AFTER WHISKEY TRADE IS WANNING

Rumor Has Him Negotiating for the Purchase of All the Distilleries.

THINKS HE HAS NEW USE FOR HIS ALCOHOL

Portland Dealers Declare They Do Not Fear His Competition, and Say They Will Give Him a Merry Battle If He Enters Liquor Business.

(Journal Special Service.)
Peoria, Ill., Aug. 27.—The Standard Oil company has taken steps toward acquiring the ownership of all principal distilling plants in the United States. This announcement made in distilling circles here yesterday comes as a surprise to those who were unaware that a conference had been held in Chicago between representatives of the distilling interests and the Standard company for the purpose of trying to agree on terms.

A price has been set on every distillery in the Peoria trust and present indications are that the deal will be effected and the plants pass into the hands of the Standard Oil company within 10 days.

The chief reason for this activity on the part of Standard Oil is the "denatured alcohol" act recently passed by congress. When this bill was passed surprise was occasioned because the Standard Oil company did not fight the measure that was destined to afford relief from high-priced gasoline, one of the chief products of the Standard Oil company. Now it is said they deliberately allowed the bill to go through, confident that they would speedily gain control of this threatening competition.

The Rockefeller interests have engaged expert chemists who find that the product can be manufactured cheaply enough to make it a serious competitor of gasoline, but have discovered also that the liquor could be used in the manufacture of mercerized cotton and other fabrics and that it would be an extremely valuable product to control.

LET HIM TRY IT.

Portland Wholesalers Say the Oil Man Would Sell at Wholesale Prices.

Portland wholesalers liquor dealers did not express any great alarm when informed of the action of the Standard Oil company. They are of the unanimous opinion that it would be impossible for the oil trust to secure a controlling interest in the manufacture of whiskey in the United States. E. E. Cohen, of the Oregon Importing company, when asked about the situation, said: "There is nothing to it. It would require a vast amount of money to gain a controlling interest in the whiskey production. Then independent distilleries would be able to harass them to an extent that the oil people would not be able to boost the price of the stock. It can't be done."

We are independent of any action that may be taken by the Standard people," said Fred J. Rothchild, of Rothchild Bros. "All the spirits bought in this part of the country come from California. Nothing could be done that would need to scare Portland dealers. Every farmer could manufacture his denatured alcohol, and an attempt on the part of the Standard to gain control would only result in failure."

W. J. Van Schuyver did not entertain any fear as to the result of such a deal so far as it affected his firm.

Eugene Hoch, of Blumauer & Hoch, expressed more feeling than any of the other dealers interviewed. He said: "I hope the Standard is beaten at this game. They have already bought the price of gasoline to 21 cents a gallon when it is only worth 13, and the people stand by and let them go ahead. They will wait only so long as their patience holds out and then we can expect to see the middle classes taking a hand in the government of such corporations. If they force the price of whiskey up as they have the price of oil there will be no more whiskey for people who will not stand for such power in the hands of corporations, and we will find our country in the same condition as many of the European countries—revolution."

SILER WILL REFEREE—SULLIVAN IS ROASTED

Goldfield, Nev., Aug. 27.—Sporting Editor of The Journal—Siler will referee the fight which will come off as per schedule. Larry Sullivan, Gans' manager, was severely toasted by the Goldfield Athletic club for objecting at the last moment. There is talk of running him out of town if he continues. Rickard maintains that Siler himself is a sufficient guarantee of a square deal. Gans will do no more boxing until the time of the fight. Nelson will do much of his sparring out of doors to get used to the glare of the sun, which is strong here. Siler will arrive tonight. (Signed) M'GEEHAN.

AGGIE MEYERS NOT TO HANG ON LABOR DAY

(Journal Special Service.)
Jefferson City, Aug. 27.—The governor has granted another respite to Aggie Meyers, who was sentenced to hang on Labor day for complicity in the murder of her husband at Kansas City. The labor organizations objected to desecrating their holiday by a hanging.

She was sentenced to hang on October 26. Frank Hottel, the woman's accomplice, is given a respite to the same date. The governor says he was relieved because a writ of error to the supreme court was ordered.

MINING DISTRICT IS WANNING

Thunder Mountain Not as Painted, Says John Troweek, Promoter.

MANY TONS OF HIGH-PAY ORE NOW IN SIGHT

Width of Gold-Bearing Ledge Is 24 Feet, Averaging $5 Per Ton in Values—Development Is Just Beginning.

It is said the combined efforts of the optimists of Portland are constantly required to counteract the influence of a certain humor that is wielded in this city. Industries that are developing throughout the inland empire, including the mining industry of Idaho, are far from a large commercial center and the optimists of Portland are determined that the industries shall look to Portland as their headquarters and source of supplies.

"Contrary to the damaging and unwarranted statements published in a Portland newspaper, the Thunder mountain mining district is a rich one, and has a great future," said John Troweek, superintendent of the Sunnyside Mining company, who is in Portland to test a lot of ore at the Garvin Cyanide Extraction company's plant and negotiate for a cyanide plant to be operated in connection with a 40-stamp mill now at the mine. "There are 400,000 tons of pay ore at a low estimate, now sitting in this district, and the work of development is just begun. Two mines are working and others are being opened up. The Dewey mine, a free milling proposition, is working a 10-stamp mill and making a good profit. The mine is being developed and the ore is being shipped to the Boise assay office. The Standard mine has a large ore body, but is not yet ready to operate."

The Sunnyside company has for eight months been shipping large quantities of powder, machinery and provisions for 40 men into the district. A carload of powder has just been shipped from Salt Lake. The management has 400 tons of ore stacked out and now available. The ore resembles that at Goldfield, Nevada, a quartz porphyry highly oxidized. The width of the gold-bearing ledge is about 24 feet, and it averages $5 per ton in values. The Homestead mine in the Black Hills, one of the most profitable in the world, is working in ore that averages only $3 and $3 per ton. The Sunnyside company has 40 claims in its group. Development work is being pushed with all possible speed.

Mr. Troweek came to Portland to do business because he was able to find here one of the best cyanide testing plants in the country. He is an experienced miner, and has worked in nearly all parts of the world. Prior to his connection with the Sunnyside mine he was manager and consulting engineer for the Mines of Pierre Fitts, at Hautes Pyrenees, on the French frontier. He mined eight years in Australia, at Coolgardie, Kalgoorlie and other places. In New Zealand he had charge of the Great Nations and Long Drive mines. He was superintendent of the Guster and Lucky Boy, in Idaho. As manager of the Mercur Gold Mining company near Salt Lake he placed the mine in the dividend-paying list.

Receipts of ore for tests at the Garvin Cyanide Extraction company's plant show a steady increase of activity in mining operations throughout the northwest. The miners of southern Oregon, northern California, Idaho, eastern Washington and Montana find Portland a convenient place for testing ore. Recently the plant has been greatly enlarged and several thousand dollars invested in the installation of the most modern laboratory, furnaces and grinding machinery, in charge of a trained force of assayers and chemists.

NEW KING NOW REIGNS IN LOCAL POLICE COURT

Acting Municipal—Magistrate Strode Believes in Tempering Justice With Mercy.

"I believe in tempering justice with mercy. A police magistrate is called upon to listen to the misfortunes of the poor unfortunate who pass in review before him and where it is evident that there is no criminal tendency on the part of the offender I am sure that justice can be best subverted in giving him a chance. In all my 25 years' practice at the bar this is the first time that I have ever sat on the bench in a criminal court and I am endeavoring to follow the same rule of fairness and right which have characterized my legal career."—Extract from an interview with Victor K. Strode, acting municipal judge.

For a time this morning it appeared as if for the first time in the history of the municipality there would be no magistrate to preside over the destinies of the police court. Judge Cameron left Saturday on his annual vacation to visit the regatta at Astoria and he developed upon Mayor Lane to appoint some one temporarily in his place. The executive head of the city undoubtedly had some difficulty in securing a temporary appointee, for it was 10 o'clock before Judge V. K. Strode put in an appearance and took his place on the bench.

Without any delay and in a businesslike manner Judge Strode called the first case and the mill of justice took up its accustomed grinding. Decourcy resigned throughout the court proceedings, and for once Attorney Walter Wolf, the jumping-jack of the police court attorneys, sought a chair and remained passive.

Dputy City Attorney Fitzgerald in commenting upon Judge Strode's first day in court declared that he handled the cases in a most creditable and able manner.
