NEBRASKAN WELCOMED BY FRIENDS

Steamer Princess Irene Sighted Early This Morning-- Democrats Go to Meet Chief

Fearless Leader to Be Kept in Seclusion Until Public Reception Tomorrow, When Fetes Will Begin--No Clash in Committees Over Reception.

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Aug. 29.—Craft of every conceivable kind, from the palatial private yacht to the snorting little tugboat, went down the bay today to meet the North German Lloyd liner Princess Irene, having on board William J. Bryan and his party. The boats carried hundreds of Democrats anxious to greet their idol as the waves of the Atlantic brought him into view. From the time the steamship ties up to her pier in Hoboken until Mr. Bryan lands at the Battery tomorrow, the leader will keep in strict seclusion. He probably will spend the night aboard the yacht of his friend, Mr. Goitra, of St. Louis, where he will confer with those who have closest relations with him, personally and politically. The Princess Irene was sighted off the Nantuxet light at 1:40 o'clock this morning and signaled "All's well." The ship will reach quarantine late this afternoon. Mr. Bryan will go aboard the yacht Illini, thence on board the tug Moran and then return to the Illini to be entertained until landing at the Battery tomorrow afternoon. No Clash Expected. There will be no clash between the Nebraska delegation and officials of the reception committee. James C. Dahlgren, the "cowboy" mayor of Omaha, will not have to "rope" the Nebraskans (Continued on Page Two.)

BIG FORTUNE INHERITED BY TWO WOMEN

Two Million Dollars to Be Divided Between Two Women Living in This City

Wealth Left by Australian Bachelor Mine Owner— Mrs. T. Weteland and Mrs. C. B. Borquist Are the Lucky Ones if Reports Are True.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 29.—To fall heir to an Australian estate valued at $5,000,000 is the fortune which has befallen Mrs. T. Weteland, 234 Tillamook street, and Mrs. C. B. Borquist, 254 Broadway, Portland. There are only three other heirs—one living in Bellingham, one in San Francisco, and the other in Sweden—the Portland women will enjoy between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000. E. M. Dahlstrom, the Bellingham heir, has received word from Melbourne that the estate is about to be divided. He has just returned from Oregon and California after a long search for the heirs, and will soon go to Australia to arrange for the distribution. The estate was left by Charles Johnson, a bachelor cousin of Dahlstrom's father, and an extensive mining operator of the antipodes. Johnson left Sweden when a mere lad and went to Australia, where he toiled in the gold mines. By thrift he became a mineowner and built smelters and mills. Mrs. Borquist and Mrs. Weteland stated today that they had received no official notice that the estate was about to be divided and said that they knew little about Johnson, the dead millionaire. Mr. Dahlstrom was in Portland last week and told the women of (Continued on Page Two.)

ASTORIA READY TO WELCOME ITS REGATTA GUESTS

Buildings Are Decorated, Crews Are Practicing, Program is Prepared and Grandest Event of Kind Ever Held is Assured by Managers.

(Journal's Astoria Bureau, Aug. 29.—The public buildings and places of business are being decorated with the colors of the regatta today. Even to the minor details, all is in readiness for the great event and the weather alone is the only uncertain element that can prevent it from being the greatest in the history of the city by the sea. The water sports will be the principal feature of the regatta and they will excel anything previously attempted, both in point of entries and in general attractiveness. Today the participants are putting the final touches to their work. Around the point in Young's bay a number of boat crews are taking a few sprints while the yachts are sailing over the course they will travel in the contest. Even the small boys who hope to carry off the trophy in the swimming contest is not neglecting his labors, but is industriously training for the event. The officers of the regatta believe the attendance will be a record-breaker this year, should favorable weather prevail. The bench show which will be held Saturday afternoon and evening in the basement of the new court house will be one of the leading attractions of the regatta. Ed Jewell, Max Pohl and Gus Schoenbecker, the committee in charge of this event, are well-known dog fanciers and have spared no efforts to make the affair a creditable one. There are over 50 entries and while the competition is confined to Clatsop county entries, the leading breeds of dogs will be represented. Among the number will be a pair of (Continued on Page Three.)

YOUTHFUL PARICIDE STOICAL

Sydney Sloane Sends for Lawyer to Defend Him—Widow Is Told of Crime—Father Was Eating Supper When Killed

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Spokane, Wash., Aug. 29.—All visitors are refused admission to the cell occupied by Sydney Sloane, the 17-year-old youth who murdered his father yesterday. At his own request Attorney P. C. Robertson, an intimate friend of the family, was sent for. After being closeted with him for an hour, Robertson said: "He has asked me to act as his counsel. I shall do nothing until his mother arrives. If she asks me to serve as counsel, I shall do so. It is too soon for me to form any theory as to the crime or what inspired it. The boy will never be hanged." The boy is stoical and will not talk. Two friends drove to the Sloane ranch yesterday morning to bring the widow home. She met them, expecting to hear of the death of her husband, as he had been ill for some time. She was told that Mr. Sloane had been murdered and his body found on a rock pile. Both she and her other son were found extremely well. On the way to town she planned a separate school run at the expense of the future of Sydney and his brother (Continued on Page Two.)

DEER JOURNEYS DOWN TOWN

Animal Belonging to J. E. Blazier Escapes and Wanders Into Business District Inspecting All There Is to See

A bandy-legged, ungainly fawn, happy in the joy of a first summer, frisked its way down Washington street this morning, dodging streetcars, staring in blank amazement at telegraph poles, attracting the attention of a large crowd of people en route to their day's work, and finally came to ignominious imprisonment in a plumbing shop. The deer was the property of J. E. Blazier of Fourteenth and Morrison streets, and escaped from his pen on the lawn. H. W. Fries, of Wakefield, Fries & Co., was the principal actor in the Washington-street comedy. He was the hero who caught the deer. While Mr. Fries was on his way down Washington street to his office he saw the deer trotting leisurely along Fourteenth street, and stopping to study the architecture of the High school. At Washington street the deer crossed to the Heilig theatre, stopping to read the billboards, and then it took it into its head to follow Mr. Fries and several young ladies down Washington street. Once or twice the deer gave a start when a passing motorman rang a gong. Between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets several persons joined Mr. Fries in watching the deer, and in the next block the crowd grew until there were about 35 persons around the animal, who did not seem to mind in the least the attention it was attracting. At Twelfth street a dog hove into sight, and Mr. Fries, fearing that it would attack the deer and injure it, made bold to capture the animal. He knew that if the dog once started for the deer there would be one of the liveliest chases ever seen in Portland. Coming the deer close to him, Mr. Fries grasped it by a hind leg, and that was the signal for a terrific struggle. For three or four minutes the real estate man and the deer gave one of the greatest exhibitions of catch-an-ounce-a-wrestling ever seen in Portland. Then a bystander came to his assistance, and between them they carried the deer to a near-by plumbing shop. It was soon discovered that the animal belonged to J. E. Blazier.

TEN DAYS' BUTCHERS' BILL IN RUSSIA

Hundred and One Policemen Killed, Seventy-Two Wounded, Nearly Three Hundred Private Citizens Dead or Injured—Hundreds of Thousands of Roubles Stolen.

(Journal Special Service.) St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—The Hetch has compiled the following "ten days' butchers' bill" in Russia, not including Caucasus and Finland, between August 20 and August 29: Policemen, gendarmes and soldiers killed, while on police duty, 101; wounded, 71; private persons killed and wounded, 251; crown mills, shops looted, 34; carried off from private individual firms by robbers, $16,621; roubles; from government institutions, 158,942 roubles; armed assaults, over 150. The list is far from complete as it only includes crimes reported by the telegraph agency. Russian secret police are seeking plotters representing high families in Russia who aim to abduct the czar and place a certain grand duke on the throne. It is said that terrorists plan to attack the foreign consulates in order to force intervention. Rumors of a dictatorship are still current, but Premier Stolypin is throwing his whole strength into opposing the plan. In order to decide the matter an extraordinary conference has been called for Friday. Reactionists are urging that Trepoft be made dictator.

A TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

Portland Women Would Found One to Teach Things Wives and Mothers Should Know

A training school in Portland to teach girls what wives and mothers should know. A place where girls will be taught not only to cook and sew, but how to make a man's cast-off shirt into a pair of linen trousers for a small boy; how to pacify the man of the house when he comes home cross and tired from the office; how to make a simple dinner taste like a sumptuous banquet by shedding happiness and cheer—all this and more is planned for the children of the Rose City. Cleveland and Chicago were early movers in the scheme. Portland may excel them in working it out. The Oregon Congress of Mothers is taking up the question, and it remains to be seen whether the state or city will be asked to maintain the work, or whether it will finally be maintained on an independent basis. Workers in the Y. W. C. A. advocate the introduction of the work there in connection with its domestic science department. Mrs. C. M. Wood, president of the Oregon Congress of Mothers, says that such a course has long been the desire of her heart, and the congress has been planning the work as soon as there can be found the proper reception for it. "The work as laid out by the Cleveland school is exactly what we have talked of for our young people," she said. "For a year we have been discussing the importance of trained motherhood. Portland is not ready to be launched full blast into this new enterprise, and it is our work to prepare the town. During the past year we have organized mothers' clubs in seven of the schools of the city, and we have invitations from many of the other schools both in the city and in other parts of the state. These circles are organized to present the practical side of mothers' problems." Plan of the Congress. The plan of the congress is to interest the mothers who have children still in the grammar schools, that they may carry out the ideas at home. By the time these children reach the high school it is hoped that they will be ready to receive instruction themselves. Only the most beginnings of training for proper home-making will be given in the early grades, such as elementary sewing, and as the children advance more will be given. It is thought that by the time they reach the last year in high school they will be ready for instruction in the higher offices of motherhood and wifehood that cannot be imparted to them in early childhood. Mrs. R. H. Tate, vice-president of the Home Training association and treasurer of the State Congress of Mothers, has practically the same ideas only she thinks it a better plan to have a separate school for the work. Many girls, she thinks, are not in a position to take a high school course, and that course would only be accessible in the last year when the girls are old enough for such instruction. But if it were made a separate school run at the expense of the city, many could take a year's work in it without difficulty and reap the benefit. Advocates the Idea. "I was delighted to read about the Cleveland school," she said. "For I have been talking and thinking about such work for a long time. I advocated having it brought up at the next congress meeting as did some of the other (Continued on Page Two.)

GENERAL ORLOFF TO SLAUGHTER TERRORISTS

(Journal Special Service.) St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—General Orloff, who "pacified" the Baltic provinces, will be sent to Warsaw to exterminate the terrorists. The situation in Russia is worse than any time since Alexander II, following whose assassination it was necessary to create a committee of public security. Premier Stolypin makes the statement in secret to his friends. A dispatch says a whole town-ship of the government of Tamboff was burned by revolutionists.

HIPPLE IS ATTACKED BY CROWD

"Down With Son of Pious Fraud" Shouts Mob of Angry Depositors of Bank

Authoritatively Announced by Other Bankers That Funds Have Been Secured to Enable Collapsed Institution to Resume Within Two Days.

(Journal Special Service.) Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—Thousands of depositors, including women, gathered this morning in front of the Real Estate Trust company, whose failure was announced yesterday, and blocked the city's busiest corner, Broad and Chestnut streets. The mob threatened officers amid the tears of the women. A special detail of police was sent for as reinforcements. A member of the crowd started the cry, "Kill the officers, now, investigate later." Detectives arrested the man and kept a close watch on the others. Shortly before noon Warden Hipple, son of the dead president, tried to leave the building. The crowd rushed toward him shouting, "There's the son of the pious rogue who said he wouldn't have faith in tobacco users." Hipple was badly frightened, but was rescued by the police and carried on officers' shoulders to a cab. The Hipple will be filed today. It leaves personal property worth $100,000 and upward; realty valued at $30,000. The brief is in the testator's handwriting and is witnessed. Frank W. Hipple, the son, is named as executor. It is stated authoritatively that at a meeting late this afternoon at the office of the leading national banks arrangements had been completed to secure sufficient funds to enable the collapsed Real Estate Trust company (Continued on Page Two.)

WATERMELONS TO SIBERIA

Commission Man Prepares to Ship Cargo to Vladivostok Where They Have Never Been Seen or Eaten

Eight thousand miles away in Siberia—Vladivostok, to be exact—the lips of the Russians are puckering and smacking in anticipation of a new delicacy which will be sent there from far-away Oregon. The shipment will consist of Oregon watermelons. The first melons to be sent to that country from any part of the world. In Vladivostok they don't know how delightful is the taste of a watermelon when the day is warm and the fruit has been cooled in an ice chest. The experiment is to be made at once and if successful a new fruit trade will spring up between Portland and the Russian city. D. S. Yodjoglof, of Yodjoglof Brothers of Siberia, whose name in English is given as Angel, will be the angel who will endeavor to give Russians the fruit that causes more joy and misery to educated stomachs than perhaps any other. In the wholesale house of the W. B. Glafke company on Front street Mr. Yodjoglof has superintended the task of packing the melons for their long journey across the Pacific. The melons are packed in what are known as banana crates, about 47 inches in length and about the size of a big apple box in breadth. The crate is divided into three compartments, each of them being just long enough to hold a watermelon when packed snugly in straw to secure it against breakage. Another shipment which is being prepared by Mr. Yodjoglof, or Mr. Angel, will be 400 pounds of Oregon honey, the first to be made to that point from America. Japanese honey is the only kind to be secured at this time in the Siberian city, and according to Mr. Yodjoglof it isn't worth eating, although expensive. Five hundred and fifty boxes of Hood River apples, including Gravenstein, Kings and Alexanders, will be sent forth to the same destination in special packages in order to insure their arrival in good condition. Then there'll be 50 boxes of Oregon onions and 75 barrels of Oregon grapes—a regular Oregon shipment to delight the subjects of the czar of all the Russians.

JEWISH RABBIS PUNISH PUBLISHER

Chicago Muck-Raker Must Crawl Bars-Footed and Bare-Headed, on His Knees, Into Jewish Synagogue to Crave Church Officials' Pardon for Calling Them Names.

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, Aug. 29.—In atonement for his offense in stigmatizing the orthodox Jewish priests of the Ghetto, who prepare "Kosher" meat, as "thieves and grafters," J. Leibling, editor of the Jewish Daily Press, must come bare-footed and bare-headed, crawling on his knees into the Jewish synagogue in the presence of 2,000 members of the faith and crave the church officials' pardon. This was the decree of the rabbis handed down today after, it is said, Leibling made overtures for reinstatement in the church. Leibling was communicated from and pronounced a renegade of the Jewish faith at a mass meeting held in the synagogue of Agassiz Park last Sunday. Previous bitter have been his attacks upon Rabbi L. Anzeler. He brought reproach upon his head when he disclosed a few weeks ago that Rabbi Anzeler was a drunkard and a renegade. This publication was the direct cause of his expulsion from the synagogue. Leibling finally decided to make public apology the resolutions of the communication will be sent to the rabbi and thence to synagogues all over the world. The ban does not extend to Leibling's wife and children, who are innocent of participation in his sin, laid at his door.
