Nellie May Shannon, after 25 days of desperate contest, has passed Horace Allen Wilson, who has led for that length of time, and now sits in the curule chair as ruler of the contest.

Miss Shannon had led the contest from July 10 to August 1. Even before that date she had enjoyed a brief spell of power. But the leadership was wrested from her on July 9 and 10 by Horace Wilson.

Both contestants are indefatigable workers. They are making a systematic and general canvass for subscribers.

Besides the scholarship at stake both are anxious to win the $300 in gold coin which goes to the contestant who finishes the race in the lead.

Lines up on new.

With regard to securing new subscribers the contestants have earned honors in the following order, in the work of the last few days:

- Louise Serra, Astoria, Oregon.
- Nellie Shannon, 553 Tenino street, Portland, Oregon.
- Mildred Clemens, University Park, Portland, Oregon.
- Guy Graham, Troutdale, Oregon.
- Horace Wilson, 255 Halsey street, Portland, Oregon.
- Lillian McVicker, St. Johns, Oregon.
- Roy Johnson, 74 Division street, Portland, Oregon.
- Mabel Magnus, Amity, Oregon.
- Bertie Chan, 282 Clay street, Portland, Oregon.
- Edith Harris, 416 Oxford street, Portland, Oregon.
- Mary Powell, 437 Salmon street, Portland, Oregon.
- John Benson, Chemawa, Oregon.
- Alleen Hackman, Myrtle Park, Portland, Oregon.

News Notes of Albany College.

Charles Duncan Monteith, one of the popular students of Albany college, has just returned from Princeton, where he has been applying principles of surveying learned in the classroom during the past year. "Dunc," as he is familiarly known, is a grandson of the Rev. W. J. Monteith, who with his brother deeded the college site to the presbytery of Oregon. He has been with a surveying party doing contract work for the government.

The Albany college students working in the lumber mill at Mill City have recently had experience as fire-fighters. During the forest fire near Detroit the Albany crowd did brilliant service. The boys who have not lost a day's work in the mill, except to fight fire, since commencement are Ralph Knotts, Harry Merrill, Ralph Stewart, Irwin Schultz, Hiram Torbet, Roy Morgan, Robert L. Jones and Grover Birchett. For the ordinary boy such work would be irksome enough, but as a year's college life depends on it, the proverbial light-heartedness of the college student still characterizes these embryo lumbermen.

GUMBI SCIENZA.

Rex W. L. Riley, L. D. Cuns, New York, writes: "After fifteen days of excruciating pain from sciatic rheumatism, under various treatments, I was induced to try Bullard's Gummi. The first application giving me great relief and the second entire cure. I can now do all my work. Charles J. C. 255 1/2 W. 42nd Street, New York."

person of character is the product of natural conditions kept sweet and pure, and that a characterless person is the product of conditions which are artificial, theoretical and unreal to life. Co-education is natural conditions stimulating to character building, kept healthful, moral and pure. If a girl wants to build character, what is true to nature and what is real to life is imperative. Such conditions denied her will thwart the true design and warp the beauty and nobility of her being. Co-education does not mean training a girl or boy where the objectionable in life prevails but rather where the horizons are pure and the atmosphere broadening and sweetening and strengthening. It is the opposite of cloister training with the same care and attention."

Large and Able Faculty.

Whitworth has 20 professors and assistants on its faculty. Professor Henry H. Armstrong, Ph. D., a well-known archaeologist from the University of Michigan, and a fellow of the American School of Classical Studies at Rome; Professor F. T. Voria, A. M., a graduate student of the University of Wisconsin; University of Chicago and Columbia university; Professor W. E. Boardley, A. B., a successful teacher of German, French, Italian and Spanish in Fort Worth university; Miss Mary M. Egle, A. B., formerly dean of women of Blackburn college, Illinois, and a graduate student of Yale, and Professor A. H. Heath, A. M., head master for 10 years of Lowestoff college, England.

The fall term opens September 18. Literature and catalogue will be sent upon application to the president, B. H. Kroese, D. D. Tacoma, Washington, Whitworth Station.

CONTEST GIRL VERSATILE.

Bertie Chan Acquits Herself Creditably in Entertainment at Grace Church.

Bertie Chan, the Chinese girl in the educational contest seeking one of The Journal's scholarships, took a preliminary part in an entertainment yesterday evening at the Grace M. E. church, Portland, and acquitted herself creditably.

Miss Chan recited "The Shadow on the Blind" with good expression and suitable gesture and responded to an encore with a humorous selection with good effect. She was heard in a vocal duet with Mrs. Margaret Hawley, in which she exhibited a trained alto voice and excellent enunciation. She showed versatility by playing mandolin and piano selections; also entertaining the audience with a lecture upon the education of Chinese girls.

Miss Chan appeared in American costume in which she showed few Chinese characteristics, and then in Chinese royal costume, in which she looked very Chinese. The program included music, recitations and addresses by other members of the Chan family. This family includes Seld Back Jr., who married one of the Chan girls.

Whitworth College stands for what is best in education. It has attained a position of pre-eminence in the state of Washington. It is located in the north residence section of Tacoma, Washington, and thus has the advantages of a large city and the quiet and refinement of home life. Its scholastic status is recognized by the leading universities and colleges of the east and west, and its graduates are admitted upon the presentation of diploma to graduate and professional study everywhere. Scholarships are held in the University of Chicago, and Whitworth was awarded the Cecil Rhodes scholarship for the successful student in 1928. This scholarship will entitle the recipient to three years in Oxford at $1,600 per year. Eastern culture, refinement and training are aimed at.

The school is high class. Only students of certified character are admitted. The growth in five years has been from 20 students to 176. There are five large commodious buildings, with an environment that is exquisite, and a view that is superb.

Comprehensive Curriculum.

The college curriculum this fall will include a complete course in civil engineering under the direct supervision of Professor Amos Fox. The college now provides four years instruction in physics, chemistry, biology, geology, mathematics, history, economics, English, literature, philosophy, psychology, logic, ethics, Greek, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian, music, art, oratory and Biblical literature. There is also a commercial school affiliated with the college where typewriting, stenography, bookkeeping, commercial law and English can be had at half the usual cost of such subjects. There is also an academy connected with the college where a preparatory course can be had to fit a person for college course.

For Both Boys and Girls.

Three degrees are offered by the college proper, viz.: A. B., B. S., and Ph. D. It is co-educational with superintendents in charge of both the boys and the girls. President Kroese has positive ideas upon the mixing of the sexes in schools. He writes upon this subject as follows: "Whitworth college believes that the

CHILDREN'S PLAY AT OAKS SATURDAY

The spectacular production of the beautiful fairy play "Aladdin, or the Wonderful Lamp," which is to be given its first production at the Oaks on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, promises to rival anything of its kind yet seen on the coast. A large and unique open-air stage is to be constructed among the oak trees on the lawns of the grounds that will look as if nature had grown it there.

About 100 children will participate in the performance. The cast includes many well-known professional children, who will introduce the popular nursery rhymes in the play. The costumes will be all new and there are many surprises in store for both old and young. The children are being rehearsed by Mrs. Ada Dow Currier, the well-known professional stage director. The performance at the open-air theatre will be free to all who come to the Oaks on Saturday afternoon.

Manager Friedlander has arranged for a great cake walk by 25 colored ladies and gentlemen, which will be led by the famous Bing Henderson of Omaha, Nebraska, known as the most celebrated leader of cake walk in America. Various couples will represent the leading cities of Oregon and a prize will be awarded to the couple voted as the champions. This cake walk will be open for the first time on Monday night, during the Labor day celebration.
