WEATHER REPORT.

The Alberta disturbance has advanced east to the Dakotas and a high pressure area has made its appearance over western Washington. The barometer continues relatively low over Arizona. This pressure distribution has caused light to moderately heavy showers in the Rocky mountain states and also at scattered places in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska and the Dakotas. The high pressure area over the upper Mississippi valley is now central over the lower lake region and fair weather prevails in the Atlantic states except along the coast from Norfolk to Jacksonville, where local rains have fallen. It is cooler in the Columbia river valley, the lake region, New England and the middle Atlantic states. The temperatures have risen in Nebraska and the Dakotas.

The indications are for fair weather in this district tonight and Sunday. It will be cooler tonight east of the Cascade mountains and warmer Sunday in Oregon, Washington and northern Idaho.
