

Witness in Land and Fraud Case Severs That Hermann's Resignation Was Requested by Secretary Hitchcock

When Blinger Hermann was running for congress in 1902, the Journal charged that he had been forced to resign his position as commissioner of the general land office. The charge was vigorously denied at that time by the Oregonian and other allies of the candidate, but now comes official proof that Hermann was practically kicked out.

W. Scott Smith, private secretary of Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock, went on the witness stand late yesterday afternoon in the federal court, having been called to testify for the government in the Blue mountain land fraud case, and swore that Hermann's resignation was requested in his presence by Secretary Hitchcock, with the approval of President Roosevelt.

Following this revelation Special Assistant Attorney-General Henny asked: "Is it not true that Hermann was let go because he suppressed a confession by a man named Nichols, who came to Oregon and fraudulently acquired lands in a proposed preserve, information regarding which had been obtained by Hyde and Benson by bribing a forest superintendent?"

The defense objects to the question, and it was withdrawn. The story that was not told was to the effect that J. H. Schneider came from California in the interest of Hyde and Benson, and by fraudulent means obtained about 200 school lands in the federal court, having afterward included in the Warlike Mountain reserve. When Schneider confessed the fraud, the document containing his story was pigeonholed by Commissioner Hermann, and the secretary of the interior did not hear of it until long afterward.

Hyde and Benson are now under indictment for land frauds perpetrated in California, and are to be tried in Washington, D. C. in November. Francis J. Henny, who has successfully defended these indictments against all attacks, will conduct the prosecution. It was the Hyde-Benson method of obtaining school lands for scripping purposes that was followed by many Oregon landgrabbers until the Blue Mountain exposure put a stop to their operations.

COUNTY PRISONERS ARE FED FIRST MEAL BY NEW COOK

A breakfast that cost the county 114 cents for each prisoner was served this morning by Louis Ebeling, the restaurant man who was awarded the contract for feeding the prisoners for the ensuing year.

Ebeling encountered no opposition from Sheriff Stevens in serving breakfast to the prisoners this morning. Yesterday afternoon Ebeling and the sheriff held a conference and Stevens told Ebeling that every facility would be afforded in feeding the prisoners. The meals are carried across the street from Ebeling's restaurant, where they are prepared. It is reported that Sheriff Stevens will continue to use his kitchen in the jail to prepare food for the jailer and the federal prisoners who are in his custody. The cost of feeding the federal prisoners is paid by the government.

RAILROAD FIGHT IS CONTINUED

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

The principal complaint made by the terminal company is that the Northern Pacific and Seattle railroad in the United States circuit court today asking that the temporary restraining order issued by the court several weeks ago prohibiting the railroad from prosecuting its condemnation suits, filed in the state courts, against the Portland and Seattle road, be dissolved.

DEATH CLOSURE OF PORTLAND ENGLISH APPROVE BY AN PROGRAM

Recorded by an Idaho delegation composed of W. E. Borah and Colonel Jud Spofford, Oregon and California delegations will leave this evening at 8:15 o'clock over the O. R. & N. line for Boise, to attend the National Irrigation congress in session at the Idaho Falls and Wednesday. A special car attached to the regular Southern Pacific train this morning brought the California irrigators, headed by Governor Pardee.

Today the visitors were entertained with trolley rides and an afternoon reception by the Portland Commercial club. The Portland Railway, Light & Power company supplied cars, which were held at the Union station to meet the Californians at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, when the five sections of the overland train from the south began to arrive. The Los Angeles Times' special excursion party arrived in a special train. There were about 150 in the party. The California irrigators, headed by Governor George C. Pardee, numbered about 80 and came in a special car attached to one of the regular sections. The entire delegation was taken for a trolley ride that included a visit to the Oaks. At 5 o'clock they will be given a luncheon at the Commercial club.

It is said Oregon will be represented by about 100 delegates at the Boise congress. The city of Portland will send upward of 80 men and every section of the state will be well represented by delegates numbering from two to a dozen from various cities and counties. The Portland party will include Governor Chamberlain, Senator Fulton, Jefferson Myers, H. M. Calk, Tom Richardson, William McDermott, E. G. Reed, G. E. Hegardt, A. H. Boyton, W. W. Williams, Frank C. Baker, F. E. Manchester, G. M. McDowell, C. C. Hutchinson, Fred S. Stanley, A. King Wilson and many others. From Coos Bay will go Peter Loggie and Carl Albrecht. George T. Baldwin, Elmer I. Applegate, Frank I. White and H. H. Holgate of Klamath Falls; Judge John R. Scott and a party from Salem; F. B. Baker, Astoria; A. H. Boyton, Lewis Manly, A. M. Drake, The Dalles; Charles H. Dye, Linn E. Jones, L. L. Porter, John C. Bradley, John Adams, Oregon City; L. A. Wright, W. T. Wright, Astoria; E. H. Peterson, Albany; C. S. Hamilton, Salem; William Jones, Medford.

William Haggblom, the 3-year-old son of John Haggblom, master of the launch S. Schmidt, was drowned shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning off the dock adjoining the grandstand.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

William Haggblom, the 3-year-old son of John Haggblom, master of the launch S. Schmidt, was drowned shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning off the dock adjoining the grandstand.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

The boy was on his way to the launch in company with his father. The latter stopped to converse with a friend and the child continued toward the dock. The arrival of the father at the boat the child's hat and father's overcoat, which the boy was carrying, were found, but the boy was missing. The body was recovered at 1 o'clock near the place where it went down.

With Exception of Public Ownership of Railroads, British Indorse Speech.

Edwin W. Reynolds Takes Prussiaic Acid and Expires Within Short Time.

My Dear Wife Maggie—I do this for your good. Read my book. Remember me always, and kiss them all for me. Do not let them bury me until I am sure dead. I shall be with you always. Good-bye, my love, good-bye. EDWIN.

Handing his wife a note containing the above, Edwin W. Reynolds hurried into a bedroom, lay down upon a bed this morning and expired as the result of a dose of prussic acid, administered with suicidal intent. Reynolds was 49 years of age and had been a prominent agent for the Wells-Fargo Express company at Baker City.

Dependancy resulting from ill health is supposed to have caused the old man to decide upon self-destruction. He went to the Scott hotel this morning, where he met his daughter and a number of friends, who noticed nothing peculiar about his actions.

It is believed that while down town he secured the drug which he used to end his life. With his wife and family he had lived for the past two months at the Iris apartment house, Third and Mill streets.

He came down from town he walked into the pantry, remained a few moments and hastily emerged. As he emerged he handed the note to his wife and went into another room. He expired almost instantly.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Dr. Hollister was summoned, but found the man dead. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley conducted an examination and discovered a bottle in which the old man had placed the fatal poison. Reynolds is survived by a widow and three children. He has been in ailing health for several months.

Systems Used in Other Cities May Be Inspected by the Board of Health.

SITUATION AT PRESENT SUBJECT TO COMPLAINT

Petition Prepared Asking City Council for Additional Expenditure Next Year Sufficient to Cover Expense of Constructing Crematory.

Systems of garbage disposal of other cities will be investigated by the board of health as a preliminary to the construction of a plant that will be adequate to the needs of the city.

One hundred tons of garbage was thrown out on the open street last month because the furnaces were too small to incinerate it.

Complaints of the odor of the crematory on the bank of Guild's lake have troubled the officials for years.

This morning the health board prepared a petition to the council for an additional expenditure for next year, sufficient to cover the expense of constructing a crematory that will consume all the city's wastes. A proposal has been made by private individuals that they will burn all the garbage for the sake of the heat and consequent power generated. The officials, however, are opposed to such a contract.

The petition briefly calls the attention of the council to the miserable condition of the present plant and of its small capacity. With the money in sight to build a suitable incinerating plant, the board of health will probably dispatch some one to other cities of the coast and possibly of the east to study the methods of collection and disposal in force there.

"Make it just as strong as we can," said Mayor Lane as he signed a petition. "I'll explain to the council what we need and the condition of things generally."

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.

Health Officer Wheeler reported that he had found no such condition near the crematory as that made in a complaint by C. J. Schnabel for Frank Selger of 878 Lake street. Superintendent of the crematory, who is a discharged employee of the crematory, is persistently trying to make trouble for him.