

500 PICKERS DEPART FOR HOP FIELDS

A Big Special Train Takes Crowd to Krebs Brothers' Yards at Independence.

Nine Coaches Crowded With Jubilant Pickers Who Hail the Opening of Season With Keen Delight—Others to Leave Before End of Present Week.

The largest hop-pickers special train the world ever saw left Portland a few minutes before noon today, bound for Independence, Oregon.

Krebs Brothers' Salem arranged for the train and nearly all of the 500 people on it will go to work this afternoon in their mammoth hopyard near Independence.

Nine cars composed the train and four engines were needed to haul it to the top of the Fourth street grade.

It will reach Independence, 45 miles from Portland, about 6 o'clock and before evening most of the passengers will be at work in the yard.

There are 624 acres in Krebs Brothers' yard and they expect to spend $50,000 on the picking of this year's crop. This is declared to be the largest hop-picking season in the world.

All around Independence are other yards, many of them almost as large as the Krebs Bros'. The owners of these yards made arrangements by which several scores of pickers would be taken to the Krebs train, but will work in the other yards.

The hopyard owners pay the transportation to the yards, but the cost of the ticket will be deducted from the checks turned in by the pickers.

Children were much in evidence at the train this morning. Its departure was delayed several times, and instead of 2 o'clock it was 1:55 when the cars left the union depot.

A crowd of 15 people was on hand at Fourth and Stark streets, and these made a rapid scramble for the remaining seats. When the train started up the hill every seat in each car seemed to be taken.

Fatally the hoppickers had awaited the departure of the special. Long before 9 o'clock a good-sized crowd gathered at the Fourth street depot.

There seemed to be children in every family. Some were mere babies, while a good percentage were old enough to pick hops themselves.

Perhaps Master Zeland Van Fleet, the occupant of the baby carriage in the picture, was the youngest passenger on the train.

It's more of an outing than anything else—this annual season of hop-picking. Hundreds of people who cannot afford to cut off from the city to take a vacation find hop-picking somewhere in the Willamette valley furnishes the solution of the vacation problem.

Hop-pickers are drawn from every walk of life. In the crowd at the depot today a vacation find hop-picking somewhere in the Willamette valley furnishes the solution of the vacation problem.

More pickers will be dispatched tomorrow and at intervals during the next week.

SAILING VESSELS STILL HELD UP FOR CREWS

San Pedro, Cal., Sept. 2.—Sailing vessels ready to get on their way are still held up for crews and the captains are very anxious to get away. A meeting was held by the sailors' union today to consider the matter of sending men aboard these vessels from here at the increased expense, but no conclusion was arrived at.

Enough men have been sent to work all steam schooners which have arrived, but inexperience makes it slow.

An accident to the steering apparatus of the Catalina passenger steamer Cabrillo occurred Saturday morning just after the vessel rounded the big breakwater. There were about 600 passengers aboard. The tug Warrior was sent to the scene and the repairs made so that the steamer went on to the island after a delay of an hour.

SENSIBLE REVIVAL

Doctrine That is Being Preached By the Best People of Portland, Ore.

There are all kinds of revivals, religious, moral and temperance, but today the revival that seems to be a revival for good health, and it seems to be the M-I-O-n-a doctrine that has the most adherents in Portland, Oregon.

Wipe out indigestion and stomach troubles by using M-I-O-n-a tablets and most of the misery and ill health would be blotted out of existence.

Indigestion and stomach weakness cause headache, back ache, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness, pain in the side and limbs, poor appetite and a general unhealthy state. Take one little M-I-O-n-a tablet before each meal for a few days and you will soon find that life is filled with joy and health, that eating is a pleasure and food does not cause distress, and that your digestive organs have become so strengthened that you can almost be credited with the digestion of an ostrich.

A large box of M-I-O-n-a stomach tablets is sold for 50c by Woodard, Clarke & Co. and it is so successful and reliable in curing indigestion and all stomach troubles, with the exception of cancer of the stomach, that they sell it under an absolute guarantee that the money will be refunded unless it does all that is claimed for it.

Rev. Edgar P. Hill, D. D., Who Made a Stirring Address.

THOUSANDS CELEBRATE

usually followed in other cities. Except for a bit of oratory the whole day was given over to jollity and general picnic stunts. At 2 o'clock, however, the regulation literary exercises were held in the open air, the orators speaking from a platform specially arranged for the purpose.

President C. M. Shultz of the Portland Federated Trades and Labor council acted as chairman and the Labor day committee, consisting of W. H. Fitzgerald, T. M. Lebo, Harry Gurr, Carl Frederick, C. V. Walla, Fred Newberger, J. L. Ledwith, George Rodgers, C. H. Gram, Lucy White and Miss Mary Keenan, occupied the platform. The speakers were Mayor Harry Lane, who made a characteristic address; General Organizer Young of the A. F. of L. and Dr. Edgar P. Hill.

Organizer Young delivered a stirring address. His speech was one of instruction rather than of bombast and vain boasting of the accomplishments of labor. He traced the labor movement from its naked beginnings all the way down the centuries, and later, the decades and years, to the present hour.

He pointed out the possibilities of the labor movement, of achievements yet unborn, as well as those past. He pointed a high ideal for unionists, absorbing that the labor movement is in its essence a movement for the uplifting of humanity. Through a bettering of physical conditions the mental processes are given an opportunity to unfold and attain to fruition.

Organizer Young pointed out the things which organized labor has to contend with and argued away the specious sentences with which its enemies are wont to disguise the subject. He referred to the fact that the eyes of the world are focusing on the labor movement; that the magazines are taking up the labor questions; that the pulpits are doing likewise. This proved, said he, the importance of unionism. The preachers and editors were thanked for the interest they are taking, as their criticisms, favorable or adverse, are good in that they are a part of the general work of educating the people to a knowledge of the true purport of unionism. The interest that all elements of the interest that all elements of society are taking in unionism Organizer Young characterized as a "writing on the wall" which presaged a magnificent future for the organized workers of the world.

Dr. Edgar P. Hill, in a stirring address on "The Rights of Labor," urged the workingmen to demand all their rights, and included the right to a happy home, the right to live in a decent city, and the right to religious privileges as being as important to the laborer as the right to fair hours and wages.

Dr. Hill's Address.

A few months ago, while in the city of London, it was my privilege to meet the well-known labor leader, Mr. Will Crooks. Mr. Crooks was born in a workshop and his childhood was spent amidst the severest poverty. I heard him tell how, when his mother sent his brother to the store to buy 5 cents' worth of butter, the lad was so surprised at the large amount of money to be invested in one article that he exclaimed: "Why, mother, are you going to start in the grocery business?"

"Not many years ago such a man as Will Crooks had no other place to air his views than the public parks, and when he spoke of the oppression of capital he was looked upon as an anarchist and a disturber of the peace. But today Will Crooks is a member of parliament, along with 59 other labor leaders, and at this very hour the English Labor party is dictating the policies of the nation.

"As I have sat for more than a year in the councils of the labor men of Portland I have learned at least one of your battle cries. It is the 'Rights of Labor.' You contend that there has not been a square deal. You are saying that the man who employs labor is getting more than his share of the profits. Your position is that the men who control the railroads and the various means of production and the necessities of life are by their unscrupulous combinations and manipulations depriving the common people of their rights. In order to gain your ends you are asking that laws be passed to restrain the aggressions of capital and to protect the man who toils with his hands. You are asking for shorter hours of labor and for an increase in your wages. Northern railroads, many things during the past 15 years, and you are to be congratulated on the splendid work that has been accomplished. But my friends, I see the language of selfishness when I say that you are not asking half enough. You are too cheap. You are asking for a wilderness when you should be asking for an empire.

"Some of you will turn away in impatience when I explain my meaning, for there are some men so blind that they can see nothing worth having in this world except money. There are thousands of workingmen whose only ideal of success is the captain of industry whom they so roundly condemn. The greatest teacher this world ever knew uttered a profound truth when he said: 'A man's life cannot be measured by the abundance of things which he possesseth.' He taught also that life is more than meat. Therefore, if the laboring man should succeed in getting such short hours that he was obliged to work only in the forenoon and could visit the Oaks every afternoon; if he could push up his wages until his part included all of the profits, even then he would be in possession of only a small measure of his rights.

Some Rights of Labor.

"I name as one of the rights of labor which every man should demand the possession of a good wife. You sometimes call yourself poor, as you think of some man in New York city who counts his fortune by the millions while you work for only $2.50 a day. But stop and think a moment. The New York millionaire with all his wealth cannot keep the same wife more than a year or two, and she is not worth keeping longer than that, while your little wife is as true as steel and you would not part with her for a dozen fortunes.

"And your wife has a right to a good husband just as much as you have a right to higher wages. Last week when pay day came around a workman from this city pocketed his wages, went out to his little home, where his wife met him with a kiss and the children threw their arms about his neck, and refused to let go until he told them what he had brought for them. When all were seated at the table the husband and father looked into the faces of his dear ones and said: 'There is not a happier home on earth than ours.' But last week three laboring men—and this is no story of the fancy—took their week's wages and on the way home stopped at a saloon, where they proceeded to load up

MUSICAL STRAINS BACK HAND BAND'S SUBDUED TO KILL HIMSELF

Popular Boy of The Dalles Starts Phonograph and Makes Elaborate Preparations Before Firing Fatal Shot Which Ended His Life.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) The Dalles, Or., Sept. 2.—Guy Sexton, son of F. C. Sexton, formerly sheriff of this county, a member of the firm of Sexton, Walker & Co., committed suicide last night at 7:30 o'clock by shooting himself over the right ear. He lived one hour, but never regained consciousness.

His wife at home at 8:30 o'clock went upstairs and took a bath. He then laid down on a bed, started a phonograph and shot himself. His mother heard the report of the pistol between the stairs and the music of the phonograph hurried upstairs and found Guy in the agonies of death. He lived an hour, but never said one word.

Guy was aged 35, a very popular young man, and had many friends. The cause of his death is supposed to be disappointment in a love affair. He had been keeping company with a young lady for some time. Some interference broke off the courtship. The boy took it to heart and lately became morbid, brooding over the matter. He was of a poetical temperament and such a disappointment weighed heavily on him.

SUBJECT OF KAISER SETS PRISON AFIRE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Little Falls, Wash., Sept. 2.—Will Hammer, a native of Germany, became intoxicated Friday and was arrested by Marshal Spangler for being drunk and disorderly. He was taken to the city jail, where he succeeded in a short time in getting the bed clothes afire. Smoke was seen issuing from the building and a general alarm was given. When the men cleared in bringing in the door and getting the prisoner out, he was unconscious.

The cell was badly scorched, but not much damage done to the building. He has refused to eat a mouthful of food on the present occasion. The warden of Little Falls with Kaiser Wilhelm's wrath.

CITY RESERVOIR FULL OF DEAD SPARROWS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) John Day, Sept. 2.—The case of an epidemic of typhoid fever at this place was discovered Saturday when a member of the board of health climbed to the top of the waterworks standpipes and found the dead bodies of the several thousand sparrows in various stages of decomposition covering the surface of the water.

During the big freeze in eastern Oregon in the spring thousands of sparrows and birds were killed by the cold and found in piles in different places since.

WIDOW FIGHTING FOR DEAD HUSBAND'S GOLD

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Spokane, Sept. 2.—A fight is on over the estate of Charles Danner, the postal clerk who was killed in the recent Great Northern railroad accident at Chain lake. Danner's family recovered $12,000 from the railroad and the postal department gave $5,000. Mrs. Danner had herself appointed guardian of her husband's children in the state of Indiana. She told her brother-in-law what she had done, and the latter at once had himself appointed administrator of the estate.

SHAW STEEL PLANT BURNED TO GROUND

Aberdeen, Wash., Sept. 2.—The Shaw crucible steel plant at Damon point, North Beach, burned to the ground Saturday night and only the big smokestack remains standing. The loss will probably be $10,000 or more.

LA GRANDE BOOSTERS AFTER GOOD ROADS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) La Grande, Or., Sept. 2.—The La Grande Commercial club is taking up the good roads movement. It is planned to construct a mile of good road on one of the highest mountains in the city, and this mile of good road to be a working model for a good roads campaign. The county court will also take up the matter of better roads. The court favors the early purchase of a grading machine and rock crusher.

WELCHING COMPANIES IN POOR VALPARAISO

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Sept. 2.—The cable to the Herald from Valparaiso says: Foreign and national fire insurance companies here have united in a declaration that they will not pay damages caused by the fire during and after the earthquake. In an announcement made a few days ago several foreign companies made it known that their policies contain an "exclusion clause" and that no damages caused by shocks will be paid by them. Tests will instantly be made of the companies' liability in both cases.

ITALIANS SURROUNDED AND STRONGHOLD BURNED

Bloody Battle Between Troops and Outlaws Results in the Death of Seven.

(Journal Special Service.) Punksatunway, Pa., Sept. 2.—At 4 o'clock this morning the battle between the constabulary and the "Black Hand" Italians ended when the stronghold of the latter was dynamited and burned to the ground. The Italians continued to fire until the house was shattered. The troopers rushed in and found only two foreigners left and one dead Italian was also found. As the constabulary laid the burning house the noise was heard of an attack. The police fired several shots and later when the house was burned to a shell two bodies were seen to fall into the ruins. Five Italians are dead.

The "Black Hand" band, which has terrorized this neighborhood for months, had a deadly pitched battle with state troops, and as a result two militiamen are dead, two are fatally injured and one is slightly hurt.

The list of casualties among the troops as far as known. The dead are: Private Francis Springer, aged 30. Private Frank Henry, aged 24. Fatally wounded: First Sergeant Joseph Logan and Private William A. Mullen of Harrisburg.

George Faltay, aged 13, was shot but will recover.

RUSSIAN JEWS FLEE TO ESCAPE NEW MASSACRE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) St. Petersburg, Sept. 2.—Jews in the district of Biolak are fleeing in terror in fear of another program of murder. Scheremetieff, the notorious organizer of the Biaystok Pogroms, after his guilt was established by the government's own inquiry, was discharged and went unpunished.

Instead he recently was appointed superintendent of police of a neighboring district, Biolak, where there are 60,000 Jews. The Jews fear his appointment will be followed by a massacre, hence the wealthy are fleeing in the district. Scheremetieff was recently ordered to be tried for the embarrassment of government funds, but his influence and powerful protectors and the advocates of the Pogroms saved him and precluded his new appointment.

WILL FACE CHARGE OF STEALING PORKERS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., Sept. 2.—Martin Baker, who was held in the county jail at this place for some time, was taken from here Friday night by Sheriff William G. Copp of Deane, Ohio, where he is charged on a charge of grand larceny. The Bucksy sheriff arrived in the city yesterday after receiving requisition papers from Governor Chamberlain.

According to the sheriff the particular crime with which Baker is charged is having stolen a large bunch of hogs. He had left the state a month or more before being indicted.
