Judge Cleland in the circuit court yesterday afternoon directed a jury to bring a verdict of not guility at the trial of Arihur .oveil on the charge of steal-ing 560 fest of rops from the ship Pro-cyom. Detectives C. R. Hellyer and L. C. Hartman testified that Covell had confessed to them under duress that he had carried away and sold the rope. Under a provision of the Oregon law the confession of an accused person that is obtained under influence of fear in duced by threats is not sufficient to convict the accused without other proof of the orime. Covell's sitorney, John A. Jeffrey, moved the court under this section of the code to direct the jury to bring in a verdict of not guility. As no other evidence had been offered, Judge Cleland allowed the motion, and Covell was released. Covell was released.

A series of debates have been in progress at the Clay street synagogue between the Zionists and the anti-Zion-ists. The cherished hope of the former sect is to some day reunite the Jaws of the earth and to rebuild a state upon the site of the old Jerusalem. The lat-ter division of the Hebrews assert that the Jews are not a distinct nation, have no country and no language that might properly be called their own, and are opposed to the reunion plan. Last Sun-day the principal speakers were H. Ship-perer, an anti-Zionist, and R. Goldstein, president of the Zion Hamsuyoneth so-disty. The debate will be continued next Sunday, September 16, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The public ts welcome to attend.

Mrs. S. May Dismukes, in a suit filed in the circuit court yesterday after-noon, states that she has become tired of earning money for Sanson B. Dis-mukes to granther a divorce. Additional cause for suit is alleged cruelty. The litigants were married at Athens, Geor-gia, in December, 1594, and Mrs. Dis-mukes says that she has had to sup-port herself and child since 1895. Upon his arrival last night Congress-man Ranadeli said that his visit to the potential northwest, while to inspect the government work and more clearly learn the needs of the country, was also to arouse enthusiasm among the ottmess, so that they will unite with the people of other sections and demand of congress a greater appropriation for the improvement of waterways. At present congress allows about $20,000,000 an-ually for river and harbor work but the importance of the waterways is so propriation of about $50,000,000 and with this sum it is believed notable im-provements can be made and waterways established that will in a great measure between the solution of the rate problem.
