

SHOW TRICKS BY BOSS CROKER

Tammany Boss is Taking an Active Part in Irish Politics.

PAYS ALL EXPENSES OF COMPLETE REGISTRATION

Conducts Investigation Which Discloses Many Fraudulent Practices of Opposition to Nationalist Party in Dublin.

Dublin, Sept. 15.—Richard Croker is taking a hand in Irish politics. To see the way local politicians handled things made the veteran boss "sore," and so he is giving a few lessons in practical politics.

Croker conducted a little private investigation of the situation on his own account. He found that many Nationalists who were entitled to vote were not on the voters' lists and that many Unionists who had no such right were enrolled there.

Then he called on the Nationalist registration committee. "See here," he said, "to win the next fight you must see to it that every one on your side who is entitled to a vote, gets his name on the lists. Then see to it that he votes and votes right. But that's a matter to be attended to later. I'll put you up to a few wrinkles in the way of running an election before the next one comes off. But the first thing to be done is to revise the voters' lists."

"But that costs a lot of money, Mr. Croker," he was told. "And we have no funds at our disposal for the purpose."

"Hang the expense!" was Croker's response. "I'll stand it!"

The result of the revision was that over 2,000 names were added to the Nationalist register, so that Nationalist prospects for carrying the division of South Dublin at the next election, though one may not make a very accurate guess, are decidedly good. The revision, incidentally, disclosed some queer tricks on the other side. Hundreds had been put on the Unionist voters' list as the wives' lodgers and entitled to their franchise under the lodging-house clause. In other instances children who are still being wheeled about in perambulators were returned as full qualified voters.

Richard Croker is undoubtedly popular with Irish folk here, though the Dublin castle swells are disposed to turn up their aristocratic noses at him. He has plenty of money and spends it generously and the question "Where did he get it?" which more than one investigating committee wrestled with in New York, no one bothers about.

TWO ACCIDENTS IN CUP TRIALS

Tail End Collision Between Autos Flying Along at Sixty Miles an Hour.

SIX LIVES IMPERILED BUT NO ONE INJURED

Unlucky Walter Christie Crashes Into Telegraph Pole and Wrecks Hundred Thousand Dollar Machine Beyond Repair.

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) New York, Sept. 15.—A tail-end collision between two automobiles flying along at the rate of 60 miles an hour and a head-end smash-up into a telegraph pole by another machine, which doubled the car's frame up like a jack-knife, contributed to the excitement of the early morning trials on the Vanderbilt cup course today. No one was hurt but six lives were imperiled and one car put out of commission for next Saturday's race.

The most serious accident was the one that befell "Dinky" Walter Christie, whose direct front driver car, on which he has spent more than $100,000, veered from its course, crashed head-on into a telegraph pole and was wrecked beyond repair. Christie, who is driving a steel frame machine, was just leaving a cottage on the road from Albatross to Koenig's Corner when the steering gear and one of the clutches refused to work. The car careened on the gate post and before either Christie or his mechanic could do anything the machine left the highway, whirled like a top and crashed into a telegraph pole on the left side of the road.

While Christie had presence of mind enough to shut off the power, the force of the impact was so terrific that it smashed in the radiator and the steel frame doubled up like a piece of wet macaroni and the rear wheels and axle moved forward to where the front wheels should have been. Christie ducked when he saw that a collision was inevitable and while his head smashed the steering wheel neither he nor his companion were seriously injured. Christie said:

"I was driving my touring car, which showed a speed of 90 miles an hour at Ormond, and enter it in the race in place of my racer."

BRIEF EXPOSITION

be made by a player who was behind the line of scrimmage when the ball, after being kicked forward, does not touch ground before being touched by a player of either side. (For further rules on forward pass see 1906 guide.) Referee shall not rotate ball before kicking it forward.

When the ball has been kicked by a player other than the snapper back, any player on the kicking side shall be on side as soon as the ball touches the ground.

In case a kicked ball goes over goal line on the fly or after striking the ground before being touched by a player of either side, the referee shall declare a touchback.

Exception (1)—A place or drop kick passing over crossbar shall score. Exception (2)—A player may run back a kickoff or a free kick that thus crosses goal line.

In case a kicked ball strikes the ground in the field of play, thus putting the ball in play, it may not be kicked further forward at will on the ground, but shall be bounded to the player of the side that returns the kick may not touch the ball until it has been touched by another of the side that first kicked it.

A player being off-side is put on-side when a kicked ball touches the ground in the field of play. (See R. 16, Ex. 2.) On place kick, the ball, after being kicked, may touch or adjust the ball in the hands of the holder, so long as ball does not touch the ground.

Roughness Defined. There shall be no striking with the fist or open hand, kicking, meeting with the knee or striking with the locked hands by line men, when they are breaking through, nor shall a player on defense strike in face with the heel of the foot or the opponent who is carrying the ball.

The committee further recommends that a player who is twice disqualified in the same season for the above offenses, or for a deliberate attempt to injure an opponent, shall not be permitted by the authorities of his institution to play again within one year from date of the second disqualification. There shall be no tackling runner when clearly out of bounds, hurdling or any other act of unnecessary roughness.

There shall be no unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of players. This shall include the use of abusive or insulting language to opponents or officials.

There shall be no tackling below knees, except by the men on scrimmage line on defense, and of these, the two men occupying the positions on the ends of the line of scrimmage may not tackle below the knees.

A player who has tackled a runner above the knees shall not be penalized if, after such tackle, his hands or arm slip down below the knees.

TO TEACH INDIAN BOYS TRADE OF BLACKSMITH

(Special Dispatch to The Journal) Chemawa, Or., Sept. 15.—George Melson of Salem has been appointed permanent instructor of blacksmithing and wagonmaking at the Chemawa Indian school. This department of the Indian school has sent out many young Indian men who are making good in the towns of the northwest, some in shops of their own.

The Indian boys like the trade and many avail themselves of the opportunity. In addition to horse shoeing and general blacksmithing, wagons and backs of all descriptions are manufactured, not with the idea of making wagons, but to make wagonmakers and blacksmiths.

Fight Watchman in School. (Special Dispatch to The Journal) Chemawa, Or., Sept. 15.—The position of night watchman at the Chemawa Indian school has been filled by the appointment of Arthur J. Watkins of Wiley, Kansas, who arrived yesterday at the school and entered upon his duties.

THREE DROWN IN COLLISION IN YACHT AT SEA

Woman Has Remarkable Escape—Caught by Automatic Dumper. (Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) New York, Sept. 15.—Two women and a man were drowned today in a mysterious manner in the lower bay near Sandy Hook. The auxiliary steam yacht Susana of Jamaica was capsized by collision with a passing scow in low of the bottom, released by a lever, dropped down and outward in two parts and allowed the load to slide into the ocean. The false, or hinged bottom, is forced back into place automatically by the pressure of the water. Apparently the load of the scow had not been dumped long. As Miss Day dived she was swept under the scow and was caught in the current formed by the gradually closing halves of the bottom.

This had the effect of practically pulling her up out of the ocean into the scow and when the bottom finally closed she was safe. She was weak and hysterical and was unable to climb up the sloping sides. The water in the pocket of the scow where she had been cast was about two feet deep.

From what has been learned, a night of fearful suspense and suffering preceded the capsizing of the yacht. The launch engine broke down early on Friday morning and from that time until the survivors were picked up, clinging to the upset boat, they were at the mercy of the waves.

PIONEERS AND VETERANS TO GATHER AT BANDON (Special Dispatch to The Journal) Bandon, Or., Sept. 15.—The 1897 meeting of the Coos and Curry County Historical society is to be held in Bandon. The following officers have been elected: President, R. H. Ross; secretary, Mrs. Viola Ross; treasurer, E. W. Hermann; historian, Orville Dodge. A new ruling allows children of pioneers or anyone who has lived in the district for 25 years eligible to membership in the society.

On the same dates that the old pioneers meet the G. A. R. reunion will also be held in Bandon. The following are the new officers of this organization: Commander, A. D. Morse; senior vice commander, H. R. Ross; junior vice commander, R. F. Shannon; surgeon, Dr. Tower; chaplain, A. M. Sumner; quartermaster, F. M. Sanderlin. Commander Morse has appointed C. T. Blumenrother adjutant.

SOCKEY FISHERIES WILL BE PRESERVED (Special Dispatch to The Journal) Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 15.—The Canadian fisheries commission is now in session in Vancouver and the international conference will be held next Wednesday in respect to the preservation of the sockeye fisheries of the Fraser river, when the Canadian commission will meet the State of Washington commission. The American commission are: T. J. Gorman, E. B. Deming, R. Kerr, J. C. Woodard, J. Alsworth and Fish Commissioner Reiland.

RULING IS AGAINST THE RAILROADS

Commerce Commission Deny Line's Right to Suspend Notice of Change in Rates. (Special Dispatch to The Journal) Washington, Sept. 15.—As was foretold exclusively in these dispatches, the Interstate Commerce commission today made a decision adverse to the railroads on their petition for suspension of the 30 days' notice of changes in rates. The commission decided against the railroads on all points.

Can Reduce Rates. It is ruled by the commission that no published rate on cotton shall be advanced without 30 days' notice, but that rates may be reduced on three days' notice until March 1, next. From this date till November 1 carriers may continue to equalize cotton export rates by applying through all ports the lowest combination rates without publication and filing, but provided that the rate thus made be conspicuously posted in two places at all stations and copies to be mailed to the commission.

In effect this ruling gives the companies the right to reduce but not increase their cotton rates. Interstates Commerce Commissioners Knapp, Lane, Clements, Clark and Prouty left tonight for Chicago where they will begin on Monday their hearing on the petition of the trans-continental railroads and probably the Harriman and Hill roads for permission to make import and export rates from interior points to oriental destinations by way of the Pacific without the 30 days' notice required by law. It is expected that two or three days will be required to hear the cases.

The Pacific coast roads which own their steamship lines on the Pacific, that is, the Hill and Harriman lines, all make joint rates from practically the whole United States to China and India. They claim that they are compelled to meet constantly in this traffic the competition of the other routes to the orient, that is, one direction around the world competes with the other direction around it, and that if they must give the 30 days' notice they will be unable to keep up with the shifting situation and will lose much of the business. It is believed that the commission will not grant the petition.

Some years ago, in a similar case, the commission in an opinion written by Commissioner Prouty indicated that it considered this a rather fantastic and unreasonable claim and not of sufficient weight to warrant suspension of the notice of change in rates. Moreover, it is now charged by competing roads which do not own their own steamships that the Hill and Harriman systems would, if this permission were granted, soon drive all competition off the Pacific and then raise rates at an excessive point. The case in Chicago is certain to be sharply fought and will be one of the most important of the early decisions under the new law.

Hill-Harriman Controversy to Be Probed at Chicago Coming Week—Combination of Two Systems for Commerce Alleged. (Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) Medford, Or., Sept. 15.—Tonight witnessed the greatest round-up of braves of the Improved Order of Red Men ever witnessed in Medford or Southern Oregon. The occasion was the "Big Adoption" of palefaces by Westonska Tribe No. 39 of Medford, which was assisted in the work by dozens of teams from Jackson, Ashland, Grants Pass and Roseburg.

MEDFORD RED MEN WELCOME MANY NEW MEMBERS

Largest Initiation Ever Held by the Organization in Oregon and Many Take Part. (Special Dispatch to The Journal) Medford, Or., Sept. 15.—Tonight witnessed the greatest round-up of braves of the Improved Order of Red Men ever witnessed in Medford or Southern Oregon. The occasion was the "Big Adoption" of palefaces by Westonska Tribe No. 39 of Medford, which was assisted in the work by dozens of teams from Jackson, Ashland, Grants Pass and Roseburg.

It was by far the largest initiation of Red Men ever seen in Oregon, there being no less than 150 braves taken into the Medford wigwam. The visiting braves and the novitiates participated in a street parade before the ceremony of adoption, which was held in Angle's opera house, and after the exercises and addresses by local and visiting members dinner was served at Haskin's hall, covers being laid for 450.

The town was painted red from the base of Bear creek bridge to the weather vane on Dr. Reddy's hotel. The big adoption was the result of the efforts of J. H. Fitzgerald, who conducted the ceremony of adoption and delivered an address, giving the history of the organization, which is the descendant of the Sons of Liberty, of pre-revolutionary days, and is first cousin to Saint Tammany. It was organized in 1832 at Baltimore and it has become one of the most popular fraternal organizations of the Northwest.

OPERA PLAYERS WILL TACKLE THE MAROONS

Local Amateurs Will Endeavor to Take the Scalps of the Stage Professionals. Tomorrow (Monday) what promises to be one of the most interesting games of baseball of the year will be played at League park. The contesting teams will be the Brainard Maroons and the Stewart Opera company.

The Stewart Opera company, issued a challenge a few days ago to any local amateur team in the city, to play his team a game at League park, a small admission to be charged and the receipts to be placed in the hands of some local charitable institution to be disposed of as the institution should see fit. The challenge was accepted by the Brainard Maroons, one of the crack teams of the city, and the game will be played tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Stewart team have been playing a number of games since their opening season began, the latter part of July, and have won a good share of them. William G. Stewart is an old-time college athlete and a great admirer of the national game.

Mabel Day, the prima donna of the Stewart Opera company, is their mascot, and she and the other principals of the company, will be in the game to help it, no matter what teams are playing. The entire company are red-hot rooters and always attend the games in which their team participates, in full force.

Following is the line-up of the Stewart team: W. Williams, c.; William G. Stewart, p.; H. L. Williams, ss.; F. Codding, 2b.; W. Gordon, 1b.; A. Daly, r. f.; D. Hall, 3b.; R. Cushing, l. f.

LOS ANGELES MAGNATE LOOKS FOR O'BRIEN Philadelphia Boxer Falls to Show Up at Tom McCarrey's Boxing Emporium. (Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) Los Angeles, Sept. 15.—Where is Philadelphia Jack O'Brien? For some reason unknown to Manager McCarrey of the Pacific Athletic club, Joseph Magan, alias P. J. O'Brien, failed to arrive on either one of the morning trains from San Francisco.

SULLIVAN IS READY TO TAKE ON GANS. (Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) Boston, Mass., Sept. 15.—Mike "Twin" Sullivan, the American league champion, said today that he would meet Joe Gans at Goldfield at 183 pounds for any purse the club may name.

BASEBALL CHATTER. The old question as to whether the National or American league plays the faster and better ball is still a topic for discussion among all who are interested in the national game. The chances are that it never will be answered satisfactorily, as both bodies have thousands of players who can see by one look at the ball.

There never has been eight evenly-balanced teams in one league, but there is no doubt that the American league for this year has its playing strength more evenly distributed than the National league. The recent 24-inning game between the tall-end Boston and the champion Athletics shows this conclusively. To the unbiased fan—if such exists—it is perfectly clear that the National league has only three good clubs, and that the Brooklyn-Boston National games recently played in Brooklyn.

Here are a few of the Irishmen who are playing baseball today: Portland—Brennan, Mitchell, Donahue, Kerr, McHale. New York has McGraw, Breamhan, McGinn, Gilbert, Devlin, Mike Shannon, Mike Donlin, Danny Shuy and Joe McGinn. With Pittsburgh the Irish players are Fred Clarke, Joe Nealon, Tommy Shesahan, Bob Ganley, Mike Lynch and Gibson.

Philadelphia has Kid Gleason, Kirby Bransfield, Marge, Doolin, Courtney, Donovan, Doolin, Dugleby and Pittinger. Even Cincinnati has a few Irish players. Kelly, the leader, is an Irishman, and Ewing and Mowray and John Montgomery McLean are also Celtic. Brooklyn has Pat Donovan, Harry Lumley, Tom, Jerome Casey, Maloney, McCarty, Bergen and other Irishmen.

St. Louis has Burch, Barry, Murray, Grady and Noonan and its manager, McCloskey, all Harps. Boston, the poorest team in the National league, has only one Irishman, Coby Dolan. In the American league the Irish players are strong. New York has Jim McGuire and Thomas as catchers, Clarkson, Doc Newton, Billy Huger, Jimmy Williams, Will Conroy, Delahanty and the great Kautz. Chicago has Billy Sullivan, Dr. White, Frank Owen, Walsh, Tiger, Donahue, George Davis and Pat Dougherty. Cleveland has Conington, Clarke and Moore and Ray and Bradway. Philadelphia has Pat Powers, Tommy Murphy, Lark, Knight, Dyson and Connelly. St. Louis has Jack O'Connor, Jack Powell, Bobby Wallace, Peter Graham and Harry Hill. With Detroit are Fred Coughlin, Donovan, Bob and Ed Bradley and Mally Maloney. Washington has Pat Powers, Dr. White, Conroy and Carrigan.
