ON THESE MOST LIBERAL TERMS WE WILL INSTALL IN YOUR HOME

"THE BUCK'S" OR "THE MALLEABLE" RANGE

The world's foremost stove and range products—sold by the leading dealers in this and other countries—built by men who are thoroughly skilled in their trade—whose work from one year's end to another is the building of scientific ranges. In their construction none but the very best materials are used, and there are many exclusive features in the construction of both the Buck's and "The Malleable" that serve to distinguish them from all others, features which combine for economy in fuel, that make cooking a pleasure. In hundreds of Portland and suburban homes are to be found ranges that bear the trademarks of "Buck's" and "The Malleable"—marks of quality—and it is with a great deal of pride that we refer to this host of satisfied users. We guarantee both of these splendid ranges—every part of them—guarantee them to be perfect bakers, to be economical in fuel. To those who have in mind the selection of a satisfactory range, who would have none but the best, one that will last a lifetime, we offer to install in your home either "The Buck's" or "The Malleable," on the above easy payments. And we will take in-exchange your old stove or range and give liberal allowance for same.

WANT THIRD TERM FOR ROOSEVELT

Washington State Republican Convention Demands Renomination of President.

(Journal Special Service.) Seattle, Sept. 29.—The state Republican convention last night unanimously adopted a resolution declaring it "necessary to the good of the people that Theodore Roosevelt be re-elected president," demanding his renomination at the hands of the next Republican national convention and requesting him to "lay aside personal wishes" and accept renomination. The following ticket was recommended by acclamation: For Congress—Will E. Humphrey, Seattle; Francis W. Cushman, Tacoma; Wesley L. Jones, North Yakima. For justices of the Supreme Court—Wallace Mount, of Spokane, six-year term; R. O. Dunbar, of Olympia, six-year term; Herman D. Crow, of Spokane, two-year term; Miles A. Root, of Seattle, two-year term. Ellis DeBuler, named by Congressman Humphrey as the King county committeeman, was made state chairman of the campaign committee and J. W. Lysons and James D. Hoge were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Ralph D. Nichols, of Seattle, succeeded Thomas H. Carvane, of Prosser, as president of the state league of Republican clubs. Congressman Wesley L. Jones defied President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor and defended his own vote against extending the eight-hour to Panama on the ground that it would be criminal to send American laborers to the isthmus because of the danger of fever, and that the canal work must be done by foreigners, who ought to be compelled to work long enough to do the equivalent of an American day's work. Senator Files, who was temporary chairman, made a "stand-pat" speech, congratulating everybody and everything because of Republican wisdom. E. G. Cosgrove was made permanent chairman and advocated larger appropriation for the Seattle-Yukon expedition. The platform points with pride to the party's record, endorses Seattle-Yukon expedition, favors direct primary law, demands higher salaries for the judiciary, favors state bank examinations, division of states into congressional districts, manufacture of jute bags at state prison and geodetic survey of state.

DONNER CASE TO BE INVESTIGATED

Coroner at Greenwich Will Inquire Into Death of the Actress' Mother.

RELATIVES IN PORTLAND DOUBT INSANITY THEORY

Family Formerly Prominent in Social Life of This City—Aged Woman Had Many Reverses—Cheerful Letter Recently Received.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 29.—An investigation is to be made into the death of Mrs. Luella Donner of Portland, Oregon, mother of the actress Diamond Donner. Saturday is the date set by the probate court to make the inquiry. It is reported that the woman, who was 59 years old, committed suicide. At the Ardendale sanitarium where she was confined for treatment, the cause of her death was refused. Mrs. Donner was sent to the asylum by her daughter, Diamond Donner, a month ago, the mother having awakened the actress one night with a blow from a club, and having chloroformed at hand ready to kill her. Mrs. Donner attempted on September 8 to kill herself by jumping from a window.

Prominent Socially.

The Donner family was very prominent in social life in Portland some years ago. They built and owned the pretty Portland Heights home now owned by Dr. Byron E. Miller and were very happy in their life there up to the time their troubles began. Mrs. Donner was a sister of E. J. Haight of this city, and his family thinks that if there is any foundation for the charge of insanity it must have been temporary and was brought on by her troubles. She lost three children in their childhood, and about 10 years ago her husband was injured in moving a stove and the peculiar form of his injury resulted in his death the next day. Two years later her eldest daughter, Pearl, died after a long fight with consumption, in New Mexico, where her mother attended her constantly. She returned from

NEGLECTED COLDS.

Every part of the mucous membrane, the nose, throat, ears, head and lungs, etc., are subjected to disease and blight from neglected colds. Ballard's Eucalypti Syrup is a pleasant and effective remedy.

W. Akendrick, Valley Mills, Texas, writes: "I have used Ballard's Eucalypti Syrup for coughs and throat troubles; it is a pleasant and most effective remedy." Sold by Woodard, Clarke & Co.

THAT BROKEN HEARTED AND WITH POOR HEALTH.

Her next disappointment came in the loss of all her property during a real estate depression and on top of this came the blow of her youngest and now only remaining daughter's decision to go on the stage. This daughter had been well educated, finishing first at the Portland academy and then graduating with honors from Wellesley college. The mother had prepared her for a life which she thought better suited for her and the stage fever came as a great blow. However, there was no quarrel, for Mrs. Donner was a kind, sweet-natured woman, and she told Mrs. Haight at the time: "Of course it is a great disappointment and I would rather she would not go on the stage, but if it is her decision I will stand by her."

From that time she went about with her daughter, traveling with her and accompanying her to and from the theatres and going on all but her longest journeys. That there could have been a quarrel between them at any time seems impossible to her relatives who loved her, and they were absolutely devoted to each other.

Always Cheerful.

"Her sorrow may have acted on her mind," said Mrs. Haight, "but in any case it could not have been anything but temporary. She never showed any signs of a weak mind and we have known her constantly up to four years ago when she went east to be with her daughter. On the contrary, she was very bright and accomplished, taking easily to painting, music and literature, and always cheerful about the home. Anything else must have come up very recently. We had a letter from her written August 25, which was one of the most beautiful I ever read. She spoke of her daughter fondly and wished to see her brother and said that next year she would come out to visit him and they would enjoy themselves. She may have been under a high nervous strain and overworked with her exertions in going about with her daughter so much and having to be alone when her daughter was away on long trips, but I can't believe that there was any violent or established insanity. She was a beautiful, patient character."

Diamond Donner, the only living child of the family, was prominent in music while at Wellesley and sang as first soprano of the glee club for four years. It is possible that she strained her voice there, for after going into opera at the earnest encouragement of her friends, she lost her voice temporarily. While here last year with "The Billionaire" she was doing dancing specialties, but this was only while resting her voice, and she declared it her intention to go into legitimate drama before long. Many other friends here testify to the fine character of Mrs. Donner and the absence of any signs of insanity or even high emotionality while she lived here.

NEW CHARTER WANTED BY BAKER CITY COUNCIL.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Baker City, Sept. 29.—Baker City is to have a new charter. That step was decided upon at the meeting of the council Monday evening.

W. H. Brown, the popular pension attorney of Pittsburg, Va., says: "Next to a pension, the best thing to get in this war is only while filling her shoes. 'They keep my family in splendid health.' Quick cure for Headache, Constipation and Biliousness. 25c. Guaranteed at G. H. Adams Co. drug store."

NUDE MAN ATTACKS HOOD RIVER WOMAN

(Journal Special Service.) Hood River, Sept. 29.—Miss Nellie Hickox, who lives at the home of J. W. Koberg, a rancher along the O. R. & N. railroad track near the Columbia river, reported to the city marshal at Hood River today that she was attacked by an unknown man while out walking and forced to run to escape him. Miss Hickox says she was passing a clump of bushes when the man jumped out and attempted to grab her, but that she evaded him and managed to reach the Koberg home in safety. The man, she says, was nude with the exception of shoes and socks, and followed her some distance, but finally turned and disappeared in the brush. She describes her assailant as having a dark complexion and brown mustache. She says that Mrs. Koberg's brother took a gun and endeavored to find the man, but was unable to do so. So far the local authorities have not been able to locate Miss Hickox' assailant.

BAKER CITY TO HOLD MUNICIPAL ELECTION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Baker City, Sept. 29.—At the meeting of the city council Monday night the battle cry of municipal politics was sounded by the council ordering a municipal election for November 3 next. The ordinance provides for the election of a mayor and five councilmen, one from each of the four wards, and an additional one from the second ward to fill the chair of Mr. Haskell, who is now holding his office by appointment. Some of the present incumbents say that they could not be persuaded to accept the office again under any consideration, while others are willing to dispense laws to the citizens of Baker, but at all events there will be no lack of candidates for the places to be filled.
