

OREGON IS CHESTY OVER OUTLOOK

First Practice Yesterday Creates Impression That Lemon Yellow Eleven Will Be Fast.

STUDENTS SAY THAT MULTNOMAH IS DOOMED

Captain Chandler Assembles His Squad for First Time in Kincaid Field—Dud Clark of Portland, Promising Player, Returns.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) University of Oregon, Eugene, Sept. 24.—Last night a small squad of men opened their acquaintance with Kincaid field under Coach Beadeck. Only light practice was tried, but in that little Beadeck showed that he, at least, is as good as any coach that ever trod Kincaid field. Moreover, he is not of the crabbed kind, and is bound to gain the respect of every football aspirant.

Though few were out yesterday, the outlook for a championship team was never so bright. Two well-built, experienced freshmen, Hawley and Dodson, from Baker City, and Dudley Clark, a player of note in Portland, arrived. Other freshmen of ability are expected soon, with the old men, will furnish material enough for two winning teams.

Oregon will be up in every department of the game this year, having plenty of speed, and with her 60-yard punter, Fred Moulton, back. In fact as bright is the outlook that every variety man feels that Multnomah is doomed.

Don Kelley back. In track work the outlook is just as bright, though success is a little farther off. For Don Kelley is to be back. Several other men of great track ability are either here or are coming. These circumstances coupled with the fact that "Bill" Hayward will be here to develop Oregon's material as never before, make every outlook in athletics of the brightest hue, and puts every supporter of the lemon on his toes.

Delmont vs. Moody. (Journal Special Service.) Providence, R. I., Sept. 23.—Al Delmont and Willie Moody are reported in fine trim for their 16-round bout at Lymanville tonight. The same two fighters met in a six-round bout at Philadelphia recently when Moody had the better of it. Delmont expresses confidence in his ability to defeat Moody at the longer distance.

Joe Walcott and Billy Rhodes are expected to fight for a $2,500 purse near Leavenworth, Kansas, next Sunday.

BOWLERS BEGIN TO ROLL THE FESTIVE BALL

First Rolling of the Season Was Enjoyed Last Night on the Oregon Alleys.

The first practice games of the coming bowling season, which opens October 1, took place on the Oregon bowling alleys last night. The Oregon and Government Bond teams played three games, the latter winning the odd game by steady playing. The first game was won by the Oregon, who made the first total of 992. Swinney and Keating of this team were the shining lights of the evening, the former securing the high average of 206 and the latter the highest single game, 216. Stammers was the pin getter for the Bonds and his steady rolling piloted the winners to victory. The scores are as follows:

Player	(1)	(2)	(3)	Ave.
Capen	180	191	177	182
Keating	216	191	190	199

Rowe	148	144	141	144
Totals	876	848	876

Thursday night there will be a practice roll, two out of three games, Portland vs. Gold Leaf teams. Game called at 8:15.

MAROONS WILL TACKLE THE TRUNK MAKERS

The Brainerd Maroons and the Trunk-makers will cross bats next Sunday afternoon at Recreation Park for the so-called amateur championship. The contest should be a fast one as both teams have been playing a good article of ball all summer.

Hamilton Race Meeting. Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 23.—The prospects for the fall meeting of the Hamilton Jockey club, which began today, are for one of the very best race meetings ever held here. Though new stables have been built during the summer the accommodations are scarcely adequate for the unusually large number of entries. The horses have come back to the autumn race thoroughly seasoned after the summer's campaign and the quality of the thoroughbreds will make the contention for the stakes and purses the keenest in the history of the local track. The meeting will continue until October 3.

According to a dispatch from Eugene this morning, the football outlook at the state university is so bright that Multnomah's chances for winning this year's game have gone a-glimmering. A forecast of such importance at this time will certainly drive fear and trembling into the hearts of Captain Jordan's club and his supporters. Still it is no reason why Oregon shouldn't beat Multnomah if Williamette can turn the trick. All hail to Captain Chandler's star eleven. May glory crown their efforts.

Richard Munson and Walter Robinson engaged in a prizefight near Buffalo, New York, on Saturday night. A blow behind the ear knocked Robinson out and he died yesterday. Robinson is under arrest.

At Portland, Maine, last night, Terry Martin and Jack McKensie were engaged in a boxing match, and in the fifth round McKensie received a blow over his heart and died within 10 minutes.

President Tip O'Neill of the Western league is credited with giving expression to extreme views on rowdism in baseball.

"I'd rather see a ball game end in a prizefight than in a love-fest," says O'Neill. "Give me rowdism. This brings the men work and wages. This brings the jingles and the pleased smile to the faces of the magnates. Let people go home as long as the team's winning games and drawing crowds. Build me the umpire. You've got to do it to get a square deal. Umpires don't know any too much about the game, and they've got to be coaxed along. I like to see players do this. I used to do it myself. I know umpires aren't the most competent men in the business. But I want to say that I'm no nurse for umpires. I don't believe in feeding them from a bottle."

YESTERDAY'S RACING AT SPOKANE FAIR
Spokane, Sept. 25.—Yesterday's races were:

2:30 class, trotting—Gebbie won, Mayo second, Black Diamond third; time, 2:12.
One-half mile, ranchers' team race—Tom and Frits won, Rosy 3rd, and Daisy F. second, Moxie and Dandy third; best time, 1:30.
Six furlongs—Beautiful and Best won, Golden Buck second, Glendinning third; time, 1:16 1/4.
Four furlongs—Soundly won, Miss Provo second, Peter J. third; time, 0:50.
One mile—Charles Green won, Golden Leaf second, Major Tenny third; time, 1:44.

Injured By Fall. Brownville, Or., Sept. 24.—J. W. Mallow, a farmer, living about six miles northwest of town, fell about 10 feet Friday, striking a pole and breaking one rib.

SPORTING GOSSIP OF THE DAY

Jim Jeffries Decides to Reenter the Ring, Just for the Sport.

WILL TAKE ON WINNER OF O'BRIEN-BERGER CO

Portland Will Lose Some of Its Best Men Through Sale and Drafting—Two Fighters Die as the Result of Blows Received in Bouts.

And now comes the big bear out of hibernation. At last Champion Jeffries has thrown off the cloak of retirement and announces that he will take another try at the ring. Jeff says that it isn't money that prompts him back to his favorite game, but his love for fighting. He says he is stronger than ever and, if this is true, it is hard to how he can find an opponent worthy of a fight. The assumption is that Jeff will try to meet the winner of the O'Brien-Berger fight, scheduled for Thanksgiving.

Gans is going on the stage at $1,000 a week. Is there any reason to suppose this can be "faked" in any way?

Those who read that the O'Brien-Hackenschmidt match is off will be surprised to know it was over.

Within a few days the shrill thud of the booted leather, the shrieks of the coaches and the groans of the players will resound on many a gridiron as the teams prepare for the big conflicts later on. This year will be an eventful one in the history of American football on account of the changes in the rules. Some say the game will be faster and less dangerous, and that there will be more accidents than ever before. All agree the game will be as interesting as of yore. It is a hazardous year for captains and coaches, for upon them will devolve the duty of discovering every possible play under the new rules, which include the punning forward pass.

Jim Corbett said Nelson should win. This may have caused Nolan to believe that filer sold out to Gans.

One year Portland builds up a winning ball team and before the season is half over there is a mad rush on to sell the best men. Capable players are difficult to secure out here, and that there will be more accidents than ever before. All agree the game will be as interesting as of yore. It is a hazardous year for captains and coaches, for upon them will devolve the duty of discovering every possible play under the new rules, which include the punning forward pass.

A Denver man 79 years old plays golf. Second childhood sure.

It looks like the straightjacket for Battling Nelson and his manager.

Ronald Bert, Multnomah's star guard of last season, made his first appearance on the club Friday. He is in fine condition, weighs 200 pounds, and showed up in capital style. Bert will make an enviable mark for himself this year.

Boston has great anticipations of its post-season series. Every fan in Beantown is crazy to know which team draws the cellar and which the sub-cellar.

CARDINALS ORGANIZE FOR FOOTBALL SEASON

Local Independents Have a Husky Squad and Are Seeking Gridiron Contests.

The Brainerd Cardinals have reorganized for the season of 1906 and are ready for games. Last season the Cardinals were known as one of the strongest of the independent amateur football teams in the state and took games from teams outdistancing them by 20 pounds to the man. The men composing the team are all husky young fellows employed in different business houses of the city and are in the game for the sport. Next Sunday they go to The Dalles to play Manager Stubling's colts, and on New Year's they will be the big attraction at the same place. Tommy Corbett, last year's captain, full-back, will captain the team again and play his old position. The personnel of the team includes some of the fastest local football talent—Jameson, J. O. centers; Butler, right guard; Shadd, left guard; Carson, right tackle; Bailey, left tackle; Hurst, right end; Beltrana, left end; Callavan, quarter; Kerry, left half; W. J. Odon, right half; Corbett, fullback.

The team issues an open challenge to any organization in the state and is not herring and would like to hear from managers with open dates. Address Tom Corbett, 112 Grand avenue.

DETROIT'S NEW MANAGER BELONGED TO THE ONCE FAMOUS BALTIMORE BIG FOUR.

WAS EDUCATED UNDER NED HANLON'S EYE

(General Special Service.) Baltimore, Sept. 25.—"Hughes" Jennings, the new Detroit manager, was born in Pittsburg 35 years ago. When a mere boy he displayed great talent as a ball player, and played for several years with amateur and semi-professional clubs of his native city. His first big league engagement was with the Louisville club when it was under the management of Billy Barnie, who went from Baltimore to Louisville, being succeeded in the Monumental City by Edward Hanlon. Hughes was never given a fair show with the Louisville club, but Barnie predicted from the first that the young man was a wonderful fielder, but said he would never make a batter. Just when things looked rather blue for Jennings' career as a major leaguer, Ned Hanlon took a fancy to him, or at least to the money Barnie offered to give with Jennings and Harry Taylor, as first baseman, for Tim O'Rourke, who was at that time starting the baseball fans with his work in Baltimore's right garden. Hanlon finally completed the deal and Jennings went to Baltimore.

Hanlon did not know what to do with Jennings for some time, as McGraw was playing a great game at short, and Jennings warmed the bench for a good while. At length he was given an opportunity, and he made good immediately. Not only did he field, but he soon learned to bat the ball. He steadily forged ahead until he stood at the top of the list and is recognized as the best shortstop that the national game has ever known.

One of Big Four. During those days with the Baltimore pennant winners Jennings, with Kelly, Keeler and McGraw, made up what was known as the "Big Four," which made the Orioles famous. Not only did he become a great hitter, but he was an apt pupil, and under "Toxy" Ned Hanlon's direction, he became one of the trickiest, as well as one of the brainiest, ball players that ever stood on the diamond. His greatest feat—that of getting hit by a pitched ball without sustaining injury—made him a great run-getter, and was responsible in a way for training up the "foul strike" rule now in use.

During the winter months Jennings, with McGraw, studied at Bonaventure college until he prepared himself for Cornell university. He coached the baseball team of that "varity every season and obtained excellent results. He took the law degree two years ago. After leaving Baltimore Jennings went to Brooklyn, but there he met with a misfortune. His arm went back on him and he was unable to play for some time. Finally he played in right field and went to first base. He was warming the bench three years ago when Wilbert Robinson tired of the management of the Baltimore Eastern league team and Hughes was placed in charge. As manager of Baltimore he was very successful. Although he did not land a pennant, his team was well up in the race. Last season Jennings' Orioles were beaten by Jack Dunn's Providence team.

Jennings has been saving while in baseball and is reputed to be wealthy.

TO TAKE LINERS TO JAPAN FOR REPAIR WORK

Manchuria and Mongolia Will Probably Be Made Seaworthy in Orient.

(Journal Special Service.) San Francisco, Sept. 25.—Instead of being brought to San Francisco for repairs necessitated by the accident which has recently befallen them there is a likelihood that the liners Manchuria and Mongolia of the Pacific Mail Steamship company will be taken to Japan and placed in a dry dock there. The question of selecting a port for repairs is now under consideration by the officers of the company and their decision will depend largely on the report of the temporary board of survey, which will examine into the condition of the vessels upon their arrival at Honolulu.</
