

ATTORNEYS CLASH IN COURT

Fague and Schnabel Have Controversy in Friedlander Bankruptcy Case.

FORTY-FIVE DOLLARS CAUSE OF ARGUMENT

Pague Wants Amount Stricken From List of Assets, While Schnabel Declares Proceeding Is Unfair and Not Strictly Legal.

When B. S. Fague, attorney for Sam H. Friedlander, a petitioner in bankruptcy, appeared in the United States district court this morning and asked that the clause specifying $45 as "cash on hand" be stricken from the list of assets, C. J. Schnabel, representing the creditors, made vigorous objection. A warm discussion between the two attorneys followed. Both made positive statements involving direct contradictions. Judge Wolverson interposed in the argument and ordered the attorneys to appear in the court tomorrow morning with Referee Chester Murphy, before whom the hearings have been held.

Friedlander is manager of amusements at the Oaks and has lived in Portland several years, coming to the Rose City from San Francisco, where most of the creditors scheduled in his petition reside. #### Pullman Car Debt.

The debt of the Pullman Car company against Friedlander amounts to $10,000, and is said to be for private cars engaged by the amusement manager for his trips between Portland and the Bay City. He also is indebted to the Pullman Car company for the services of numerous sleuths, which were worth $300 to the detective agency.

GUARD WINTER GOOSE.

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall I have been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever she coughs troubles her two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to go to bed well." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Woodard, Clarke & Co.

is and has been pending settlement since that time. Attorney Fague insists that all creditors are satisfied with the exception of a few, and that their consent will be forthcoming soon. Attorney Schnabel seems to be one of the few, because he was emphatic in his declarations in court today. He said: "This amendment to the original bill of complaint is but one in a series which have made the methods of Friedlander notorious in his efforts to be adjudged a bankrupt. These $45 should be included in the list of assets and this effort to have them stricken out at this time is but another move on the part of the petitioner to save all he can."

Attorney Fague insisted that the inclusion of the $45 was an error on his part, and that the money had been handed to him by Friedlander the day before the petition was filed. He said the clerk's fees might be paid. He said that he erred in including it in the petition when, as a matter of fact, it was not cash on hand, but money which the petitioner had advanced for the payment of the proceedings for the petition.

LINERS UNABLE TO ENTER NEW YORK HARBOR

New Cunarders' Draft Too Deep for Present Channels, Say Marine Engineers.

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Oct. 3.—There is a strong probability that the two greatest ocean liners, the Cunarders Lusitania and Mauretania, will not be able to enter New York harbor when they arrive off this port a year and a half hence. "To day it would be as impossible for them to reach their piers on the New York water front as it would be for them to reach Buffalo by way of the Erie canal. There is not a channel up the bay deep enough to float them, and according to harbor men and persons in close touch with the situation there is not likely to be one in two or three years. They will not be able to enter in safety until the completion of the new Ambrose channel, which will be finished in about four years, according to the engineers in charge of the work.

Just how much water the new Cunarders will draw it is impossible at this time to say. The builders estimate the load draft at 37 feet 6 inches. This may be 10 feet underestimated, say experienced boat builders and marine engineers. When all the fittings are put aboard they say the probabilities are that the draft will be much greater.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ORGANIZE

Forest Grove, Or., Oct. 3.—The freshman class of Pacific university has organized and elected the following officers for the coming term: Miss Amy Thomas, president; Hankell Perry, vice-president; A. A. Kirkwood, treasurer; Gordon Brown, sergeant at arms, and Paul Abraham, class reporter on the Weekly Index.

"Fine" needs emphasis when describing the Hanan Shoe.

Other shoes have borrowed the word and abused it. Let's say "satisfaction" instead—satisfaction based on fit, comfort, style and service. That's what you get with every pair of Hanan Shoes. Low-priced, we think, for what they offer. $5.00 and up. For men and women.

IRRIGATION DISCUSSED BY BOARD OF TRADE

Number of Speeches Made in Support of Efforts to Raise Funds for Jetty.

At a meeting of the Portland board of trade last evening the question of irrigation investigations and experiments in eastern Oregon was taken up for discussion, and it was the sentiment of the meeting that the state of Oregon should afford sufficient financial aid to warrant the federal government in continuing the irrigation investigations.

From a communication received from A. P. Stover, who is conducting the experiments, it was learned that he is about to retire from the field because of lack of interest shown by the state. "I regret very much this turn of affairs, for just at this stage of eastern Oregon's development the need is very great for experimental studies, and for actual field demonstrations in the preparation of land and use application of water."

Under a cooperative plan between national and state governments it is necessary for a strike to appropriate $5,000 or more, and the national government augments this with a similar amount. The board passed a resolution urging the Oregon legislature to appropriate a sum necessary to continue the irrigation experiments.

ARMED MEN

(Continued from Page One.) "ha" from the strikers—yes, and the unambiguous fiat of Chief Gritzmacher. The exporters got a "hunch" last night, according to W. J. Burns, Albat Thomas, president; Hankell Perry, vice-president; A. A. Kirkwood, treasurer; Gordon Brown, sergeant at arms, and Paul Abraham, class reporter on the Weekly Index.

Harbormaster Opens Battle. Biglin and Garner cruised up and down in front of Montgomery No. 3 some time. At 10 o'clock they approached within a few feet of the dock. Biglin saw a light under the dock and immediately jumped at the conclusion that it was a strike who ought to be shot. The harbormaster whipped out his revolver and fired at the light. What was his surprise to be answered by a volley from above. "Detectives" Edward and McFontes, thinking they were being attacked by strikers, began emptying their revolvers as fast as they could pull the triggers. Biglin set up a loud outcry and Policemen Ellis and Roberts came on the run, calling upon the frightened watchmen to stop firing. But the watchmen did not stop until they had discharged seven revolver bullets into the hull of the Palmer, one of them grazing Garner's face and leaving a scratch three inches long upon his cheek. Had the "detectives" not been too panic-stricken to take careful aim, they would have killed both Biglin and Garner, for they were only a few yards distant, and evidently shot to kill.

When the battle was over and congratulations had been exchanged on the fact that no one was seriously hurt, the policemen reported the occurrence to headquarters. The result was that in a few minutes Sergeant Cole and a squad of seven patrolmen were on their way to the dock to disarm the detectives. A revolver of large caliber was taken from both Debord and MacMonies, as well as from each of the five other guards stationed at other points about the dock. These guns were taken to police headquarters, where they still remain. Charges were not preferred against any of the parties to the affair, but Chief Gritzmacher declares that he will tolerate no more of such business. The strikers are jubilant over the incident of last night, and they believe that the disarming of the guards will mark the beginning of a series which will leave only a handful of the 40 or 50 strikebreakers now in the employ of the exporters.

COUPLES NEW LAW REGULATING ALL INSURANCE BUSINESS STATE

P. A. MacPherson Has Proposed Bill Which He Hopes Legislature Will Act Upon.

MEASURE PROVIDES FOR VERY COMPLETE REPORT

Demands Additional Information Concerning Property Held by Companies, Expenditures for All Purposes, List of Officers, Etc.

P. A. MacPherson, past president of the Order of Washington with headquarters in the Marquam building, has been studying the insurance laws of the state, and as a result has compiled the draft of a law which he thinks it would be well for the coming legislature to consider and, if possible, adopt. In the proposed bill he stipulates in brief that the entire business of the companies should be open to the inspection of the public, through the annual reports to be made by each company.

Mr. MacPherson in his bill provides that "additional information should be incorporated in the annual reports of life insurance companies doing business in this state, the nature and publication of an abstract thereof by such companies." In section 1 of the proposed law the writer provides that all real property held by any corporation shall be noted in the report with the dates of acquisition, the names of the vendors, the actual cost, the value at which it is carried on the company's books, the market value, the amount expended during the year for repairs and improvements, the gross and net income from each parcel.

Records of All Loans.

It is also provided that the amount of loans on real property shall be set forth and also whether the loan was made in the state or to a foreign company or person.

It is further provided that all other property, including securities, whether they are recognized by the law as regular in shape and has some detached acres, but comprises in all about 800,000 acres.

RESERVE CREATED AT GOOSE LAKE

Inhabitants of Region on Oregon-California Border Approve President's Act.

WILL END RANGE WARS CAUSED BY STOCKMEN

Overstocking and Invasion by Foreign Flocks Stopped—Country Included Is of Rough Volcanic Character.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—The Goose Lake forest reserve was created in Oregon recently by presidential proclamation. This reserve, as its name implies, is situated near Goose Lake, which extends into Oregon from the northern border of California.

The country which it embraces is very rough, except along the water courses, and is a volcanic region, with a surface of broken lava rocks or solid basaltic escarpments or "rim rock." Climate, physical structure and soil conditions are such as to preclude development as an agricultural area, though there are some small valleys where fruit and vegetables for home use can be successfully grown. The principal industry of the region is stock raising, and this will be the case until the demand for lumber increases in the district.

There are two main types of forest— that represented by the lodgepole pine areas, and that of the western yellow (bull) pine and sugar pine areas. Much of the latter has been cut for local use, and the cut-over lands almost invariably come up to the inferior lodgepole pine. Says Chief Forester Pinchot:

"The creation of the reserve will serve three very beneficial purposes, and local conditions are such that the region is preponderantly in favor of reserve administration. In the first place, the important grazing rights of the inhabitants will be protected against the inroads of foreign bands of sheep that overrun the range to the detriment of the sheep and cattle owned in the neighborhood of the reserve. Moreover, the reserve will be carefully allotted to prevent overstocking, and to eliminate all differences between sheep and cattle owners, to the immense advantage of both. In a second place, the restrictions in the cutting of timber will tend toward a preservation and reproduction of the valuable species until the timber of the region will have a much greater commercial value and a greater usefulness. In the third place, forest preservation will be of great benefit to the various irrigation projects, the most important of which is the Klamath project of the United States reclamation service, which draws a large portion of its supply from the watershed enclosed in the reserve."

TEDDY JR. SUMMONED BEFORE GRAND JURY

(Journal Special Service.) Boston, Oct. 3.—Shaun Kelley, the roommate of Theodore Roosevelt Jr., was arraigned in the municipal court today and pleaded guilty to an assault on a police officer during a student's fracas on the commons recently. The case was continued to October 10 and Roosevelt was summoned to testify, the president's name and another witness summoned to testify in the investigation of the same case by the grand jury tomorrow.

ENDED LIFE BY A JUMP IN FRONT OF A TRAIN

Chehalis, Wash., Oct. 3.—No inquest will be held on the stranger killed here by the train last night. It is believed his name was not Taylor, but that the book he carried belonged to a saloon-keeper at Gate City. Further investigation substantiates the theory that the man got on the track with suicidal intent.

"The Greatest Family Medicine Ever Discovered Is Pe-ru-na"

SO SAYS

The Hon. Wm. G. Hunter, Ex-Member of the North Carolina Legislature.

"The greatest family medicine ever discovered, in my opinion, which comes from experience as well as observation, is Pe-ru-na. The most common affliction to humankind is a bad cold. Pe-ru-na drives it out of doors, wards off catarrh, invigorates and gives fresh strength to mind and body. I give Pe-ru-na my unqualified endorsement."—Wm. G. Hunter, Census Office Bldg., Washington, D. C.

October the Beautiful.
In spite of the chilly evenings and cold nights of October, this month is the most beautiful month of the whole season. There is one liability, however, which constantly hangs over the month of October—the liability to catch cold at night.

Catching Cold in October.
It is very unfortunate indeed to get a cold during the month of October. Any cold more or less undermines the system, and a great many colds lay the foundation for chronic catarrh, pneumonia and other diseases of the winter season. The watershed of October is to guard against cold, so as to make the most of this beautiful and healthful month.

Pe-ru-na, a Convenient Remedy.
Pe-ru-na kept in the house is a convenient remedy against colds. At the appearance of the first symptoms of cold, a few doses of Pe-ru-na will often mitigate the attack entirely. Pe-ru-na is the recognized family medicine in over a million homes, and its value cannot be overestimated when it is properly used.

COURT STOPS SEIZURE OF DECAYED POULTRY

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, Oct. 3.—The circuit court today issued an injunction restraining the city from interfering with the conduct of the business of F. A. Becker & Co. and the North American Cold Storage company, these firms being the objects of attack by health department officers, who seized for destruction tons of decayed meat and poultry. The case will be argued Saturday. The firms claim the city has no right to seize such property.

GEORGIA IS ELECTING HOKE SMITH GOVERNOR

(Journal Special Service.) Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 3.—Georgia's biennial election for governor and other state officers is in progress today. The election of Hoke Smith as governor and the election of other Democratic candidates decided upon at the recent state primary is, of course, assured. The opposition ticket in the field is that of the Socialists, which is headed by J. B. Osborne as candidate for governor.
