Steamer Wynerio Comes into Port After Having Battled for Days With Storm.

HAD TO RUN FOR SAFETY WHEN NEAR DESTINATION

Will Load Lumber Here for Port in China—Assistant Engineers Leave Vessel at Victoria and New Men Have to Be Imported.

An interesting account of the big storm that swept the coast during the early part of the week and washed the ocean into a roaring mass of foam was brought here this morning by the officers and crew of the British steamer Wynerio, which arrived at the mills of Inman, Poulson & Co. at 10 o'clock for the purpose of taking a cargo of lumber to China.

The Wynerio was outside for three days and during that time had to run for the open sea several times in order to have play room.

"We certainly ran into a good strong bit of the blow," said one of the officers in speaking of the voyage from Seattle to the Columbia river, "and the steamer rolled fearfully from being light and high out of the water. She is a fine sea boat, but the mountain-high seas seemed to almost toss her clean out of the water at times."

"We dropped anchor Monday night between North Head and the lights, but soon the chain parted and we got under way quickly and stood out to sea. All that night and Tuesday we became about, keeping well from shore because of the heavy velocity of the wind. We ran in Tuesday night again, but found the sea breaking violently and so hung around outside till yesterday morning, when the wind died down to about 10 miles an hour.

J. J. Gibson and John Vent, assistant engineers, will leave the Wynerio today and return to their homes in Victoria, B. C. The brought this steamer down the coast merely for recommendation that anything else, a couple of assistants brought out from England having quit. Two new men are now on the way from the old country to join the steamer here.

The Wynerio is in command of Captain Niven. She is under charter to the Pacific Export Lumber company and will carry away about 4,000,000 feet of lumber. She commenced loading immediately after her arrival.

TRADE IS INCREASING

Big Orders Come in From Honolulu for Cargo for Hilonian.

The steamer Hilonian will carry a full cargo of goods from Honolulu, according to orders for goods having come in yesterday afternoon as a result of recent advertising by Portland firms in the islands. Among other things, the Hilonian will carry a cargo of 2,000,000 feet of lumber, which in itself will occupy a good deal of the cargo space.

The Hilonian will have completed her cargo trip between Portland and the Hawaiian islands upon her arrival tonight or tomorrow, and it is now stated positively that she will remain permanently on the route.

"We are doing all right," said Mr. Neary, head trader in the harbor, "and the islands is steadily growing. Yesterday I received a number of orders for goods and from what I know the steamer will go out with practically a full cargo and yet this will only be her third voyage."

BARRACOUTA ARRIVES

Old Harriman Liner Sides Out Storm in Perfect Safety.

The Harriman liner Barracouta, Captain Doran, arrived at the harbor yesterday afternoon after the fog lifted this morning and went to the Almsworth dock with the biggest cargo of general merchandise ever brought to this city from San Francisco. She commenced discharging this afternoon and will probably be ready to sail for the Bay City by Monday night.

FOR NOVEMBER LOADING

Mark Formosa Chartered by the Portland Flouring Mills Company.

The Portland Flouring Mills company chartered the British bark Formosa to load wheat at this port for the United Kingdom. She is now on the coast of South America, but will receive orders to proceed north at once so as to be here if possible for November loading.
