

GEBHARD WEDDED TO FLORODORA BEAUTY

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Gebhard.

(Herald News Service.)
New York, Oct. 12.—The announcement of the marriage on January 1 last of Frederic Gebhard, millionaire clubman, society man and capitalist, and Miss Marie L. Gamble, known on the stage as Marie Wilson, one of the original Florodora sextet, created a flutter of excitement at Newport, and especially at Sandy Point, the home of Mr. Gebhard's favorite niece, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt.

The marriage of Mr. Gebhard and the former showgirl took place at the home of the Rev. Dr. Henry Marsh Warren, the hotel chaplain. It was the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Gebhard to keep their marriage a secret for a year, and the notice was not filed with the bureau of vital statistics until August.

The bride gave her age as 24 and said her maiden name was Marie L. Gamble.

Mr. Gebhard has figured before the public for the last 20 years. He is now 55 years old. His first affair which got into the papers connected the name with Miss Leonie Jerome, who afterward became Mrs. Jack Leslie, it being announced that they were engaged. Then Oscar Wilde introduced the young American to Mrs. Langtry, who was at that time in the first flash of her great success upon the stage. From that day Mr. Gebhard was the slave of the Lily, showing presents upon her, racing his stable of horses in conjunction with her thoroughbred and traveling in her company. The rumor that they were married was not contradicted until it had been published from one end of the country to the other.

Gebhard and the sprightly Baltimore beauty, Miss Lulu Morris, were married in March, 1889. They drifted apart, and the wife went to South Dakota in 1891 to secure a divorce. She had already been preceded by her husband, who sought a separation on the ground of desertion. The young wife won, and Mr. Gebhard had to settle a round sum in alimony upon her. Mrs. Gebhard subsequently married Henry Cleva Jr.

The following year it was reported that Miss Drina De Wolf, an actress, who starred in Mrs. Osborne's company four years ago, had married Mr. Gebhard. This was unfounded.

Mr. Gebhard first appeared on the turf as a racing partner of A. W. Hunter in 1881. He owned a half interest in Eola, who won many races for him. He won the Great Metropolitan and Jockey club handicaps at Jamaica, the cup and champion stakes at Monmouth, and the Morrissey handicap at Saratoga and other high stakes.

RING RULE ISSUE IN COLORADO

Picturesque Campaign Being Waged in Centennial State Between Four Candidates.

LINDSEY PLEDGED TO DIRECT PRIMARY LAW

Independent Is Making Headway — Preacher Heads Republican Ticket, Adams the Democratic and Haywood the Socialist.

(Journal Special Service.)
Denver, Colo., Oct. 12.—The most spectacular political campaign ever waged in Colorado is now at its height. Ring rule and the domination of corporations in politics are the chief issues, though there are other questions figuring in to add spice to the campaign.

The fireworks of the campaign and the thing which has tended most to raise it above the ordinary level of political contests in popular interest is the candidacy of Judge Ben B. Lindsey for the governorship on an independent ticket. Judge Lindsey is pretty well known throughout the country as the author of the juvenile court law in Colorado, which has formed the model for similar legislation in 24 states. He is a foe of ring rule and talks as freely of corruption in his own Democratic party as in the opposition party. Judge Lindsey desired the Democratic nomination for governor if he could secure it without giving any pledges or promises. When it became apparent that Senator Patterson and his followers were to control the state convention Judge Lindsey refused to allow his name to go before that body.

Lindsey Makes Headway.
As the campaign has progressed it has become evident that the independent voters are rallying to the Lindsey standard in great numbers. Lindsey is making his campaign practically without money. He has no organization and has refused to accept a single dollar of corporate money. If elected Judge Lindsey will go before the legislature with a demand for the enactment of a primary election law, which will take party machinery out of the hands of corporation money. If elected Judge Lindsey will also ask for other important legislation affecting the judiciary of the state.

The Republicans experienced much difficulty in making up their state ticket. The names of half a dozen party leaders were mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination before the convention met, but no one of them was desirous of entering the contest under existing conditions. Finally, when the convention met, the nomination went to Philip R. Stewart, a Colorado Springs lawyer. But Mr. Stewart declines to make the race unless William H. Gabbert, chief justice of the supreme court, who is running for reelection, withdraw from the ticket. The objection Judge Gabbert was based on the allegation that he favors corporations. After Mr. Stewart's declination the Republicans finally induced Dr. Henry A. Buchtel, chancellor of the University of Denver, to accept the nomination.

Adams Seeks Vindication.
Alva Adams, the Democratic candidate, is one of the most widely known men in Colorado politics. After having filled two terms in the governor's chair he was a candidate again two years ago. On that occasion he defeated James H. Peabody, Republican. In the contest that ensued the supreme court unseated a sufficient number of Democrats in the senate to give the Republicans control of that body. The senate then seated Lieutenant-Governor McDonald. It is as a result of this turn of affairs that Adams seeks a vindication this year.

The effect of the Socialistic campaign, with William D. Haywood at the head of the ticket, is problematical. The Socialists do not expect to elect their candidates, but they will draw votes from both the old parties. They will have the strong backing of the Western Federation of Miners and of labor organizations in general.

Tennessee Republicans.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 12.—Republicans of the western half of Tennessee have rallied here in considerable force for the opening of the Republican campaign tonight. The Lyceum theatre has been engaged for the demonstration, which will consist of speeches by H. Clay Evans, the gubernatorial candidate, and other party leaders.

INSOMNIA CURED

RESTFUL SLEEP OBTAINED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Nerves Wrecked by Anxiously Rostered to Normal Condition and Good Health Followed.

The sufferer from sleeplessness too often resorts to habit-forming drugs in order to secure the coveted rest. But sleep obtained by the use of opiates is not refreshing and the benefit is but temporary. Dr. E. B. Lee.

Mrs. H. A. Fletcher of 59 Blodgett street, Manchester, New Hampshire, is living evidence of the truth of this statement. She says: "I received a shock of an apoplectic character. It was so severe that the sight of my right eye was affected, causing me to see objects double. I was confined to my bed about four weeks, at one time being told by the doctor that I could not get well. When I could leave my bed I was in such a nervous state that I could not sleep at night. I would get up and sit on a chair until completely tired out and then go back to bed and sleep from exhaustion."

"I had been under the doctor's care for six weeks when my sister, Mrs. Loveland of Everett, persuaded me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I began taking the pills with the result that I soon experienced relief. One night soon after taking them I lay awake only a short time and the next night I rested well. From that time I slept well every night and soon got well and strong. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a number of times, and my niece has taken them for weak nerves and poor blood and found them very beneficial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not a cure-all, but a blood-builder. They do one thing and they do it well—they actually make new blood. They cure nervous disorders because the condition of the nerves depends upon the number of red corpuscles in the blood, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills increase the number of these red corpuscles. By this action on the nerves, through the blood, they have cured many severe nervous troubles, headache, neuralgia, and sciatica as well as diseases of the blood such as anemia, rheumatism, pale and sallow complexions and many forms of weakness. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or they will be sent by mail postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, six boxes for $3.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, New York.

STATUE TO VERDI IS UNVEILED

Italians of New York City Honor Memory of Great Composer.

Money for Monument Raised by Popular Subscription in Little Italy and From His Countrymen Throughout America.

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, Oct. 12.—This was a gala day for the Italians of New York metropolis. The occasion was the unveiling of the monument to Giuseppe Verdi, the Italian composer, which has been set up on the triangle made by the intersection of the Boulevard, Tenth avenue and Seventy-third street. For weeks past the influential leaders in "Little Italy" have been preparing for today's function, with the result that the outpouring of Italians was the largest New York has witnessed since the dedication of the monument to America's discoverer located in Columbus circle at the entrance to Central park. Added brilliance was given to the unveiling today by the presence of the officers and crew of the Italian warship Ettore Fierascuca, which King Emmanuel sent to New York especially for the occasion. The speakers included prominent Americans and Italians, brought together by the bond of their love for the great operatic genius. Another feature of the unveiling program was a children's chorus of 5,000 voices.

The Verdi memorial is the work of Chevalier Pasquale Civiletti, a well-known sculptor of Palermo, Sicily. The monument is about 25 feet in height and is composed entirely of fine Carrara marble and dark-tinted granite. On top of a round granite shaft, which is capped by a laurel wreath, stands the imposing figure of Verdi as he looked in the heyday of his career. The granite shaft on which the figure of the composer stands rests on a square base of the same dark granite, and surrounding the central column are four smaller figures, in Carrara marble, representing operatic creations of Verdi. They are "Otello," "Aida," "Falstaff" and "La Forza del Destino."

The money for the monument was raised by popular subscription. Soon after the death of Verdi, on January 25, 1901, Signor Barsotti, the editor of an Italian newspaper, conceived the idea of collecting a subscription to perpetuate in marble the memory of Italy's favorite composer and the man whose operas were loved by the whole world. Contributions poured in from all parts of the United States from Italians who recently emigrated to this country and from those who have become American citizens. In the end $20,000 was subscribed to the monument.

EIGHTEEN TEACHERS IN MEDFORD SCHOOLS
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Medford, Or., Oct. 12.—Reports circulated, based upon last year's statistics, give the number of teachers employed in the Medford schools as 18. This report is at fault, as this year's work requires the employment of 18 teachers, the four additional instructors having been added at the first of the school year.

For the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of a piano for the high school the following lyceum course will be given this season:

Lulu Tyler Gates Concert company.
Midland Opera Quintet.
Welbourn, Wizard of Elmstrilly.
Dr. John Merritt Driver.
Royal Mile Quartet.
Rogers and Griley Recitals.
Mrs. William Calvin Chilton, Shakespeare Recitals.
Moro.
