Fire! Fire! Fire! Fire! ANOTHER BIG BUY FOR THE GOLDEN EAGLE

MORE STARTLING NEWS FOR THE PUBLIC—GREAT FIRE SALE OF GROCERIES

We purchased for cash the balance of the grocery stock from the well known firm of Wadhams, Kerr & Co. Bought these goods for a mere fraction of their value, and now a gigantic fire sale of groceries starts Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. This stock will be sold at ridiculous prices. These goods are PERFECT, the only damage the fire did was to scorch the labels. For instance, the bottled goods had the labels spoiled; heat was not enough to affect the taste or quality of the goods in the least. Canned goods of all sorts, perfect in every way, except that the labels are marred by fire or water. All these goods are guaranteed to be perfect in every shape and form. An itemized list of part of the goods we offer follows. Counters will be crammed with thousands of cans and bottles that we have no room to mention here; must be sold. Extra salespeople to wait on you. Come early:

HERMANN HAS NEW LEASE OF LIFE

(General Special Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—United States attorney for the District of Columbia has informed the department of justice that the Hyde-Benson land fraud criminal cases cannot be heard before December. They were set down for hearing during the October term, but no action will be taken by the government in civil suits to cancel land patents until the criminal cases are tried.

Dinger Hermann, it appears is about to have another lease on life, and the Hyde-Benson land fraudsters are in all probability to enjoy a longer period before the strenuous days of the Washington trials come. The Oregon land cases, however, in the opinion of United States District Attorney Bristol, will not be delayed longer than has already been announced, by the new turn in the Hyde-Benson cases in Washington. Judge Arthur B. Fugh, special assistant attorney general for the interior department, who has been in Portland for some time investigating various Oregon phases of the Hyde-Benson frauds, does not think that the cases mentioned in the dispatch will be tried before the first of the year. Investigations are now being conducted and work being done which will preclude the consideration of the cases before that time. Judge Fugh has been in Portland, looking into the cases here. Francis J. Heney has been working with W. J. Burns, the detective, in San Francisco and California for some time preparing testimony and finding witnesses who will testify before the court at Washington. All this work, and other departments of the same task will delay the trial until December at the earliest date with January as the more probable time.

Civil Cases Not Abandoned.

The consideration of the civil cases growing out of the Hyde-Benson cases will not be entirely abandoned, however, on account of the postponement. While it is true that the trials of the civil cases may not be heard, it is also certain that all preliminary work will be finished with his Oregon business, as he is to try both the Oregon and the Washington cases.

The only person who seems to have benefited by the postponement is Dinger Hermann, whose Washington case is to be tried first, and yet by stipulation after the conclusion of the Hyde-Benson cases in Washington. If this program is followed out it will be well into spring before Mr. Hermann will face the jury to answer the allegations made against his conduct while commissioner of the land office at Washington.

Lostine is to have an open court.

HOOD RIVER FRUIT FAIR

O. B. & N. Make Reduced Rate to Hood River.

From October 11 to 15 the Hood River Biennial Fruit Fair and Oregon Irrigation Association meeting will be held at Hood River, and for this occasion the O. B. & N. will make a round-trip rate from Portland of $2.50. Tickets may be secured at the city ticket office, corner Third and Washington streets.

Shoppers' security business are wanted for all the Hood River stores.
