

DAY'S EVENTS ON EAST SIDE

Number of Important Sales of Residence Property in Suburban Districts.

MULTNOMAH AND HIGHLAND DEMAND FIRE PROTECTION

Improvements on Belmont Street Are Now Under Way, and Two Mills Will Be Made—Milwaukee Beginning to Put on Municipal Airs.

East Side Department.

A number of important sales of east side residence property that have been in negotiation for some days were closed up during the latter part of last week. The slightly quarter block owned by W. M. Killingsworth, at the corner of Alameda street and Williams avenue, was bought by Mrs. Lucy Lumsden for $1,500. It is understood that this property will be immediately improved. Goodenough & Stearns sold to A. Lumsden the quarter block at the southwest corner of Alberta street and Williams avenue for $1,000. Mrs. P. V. Holstrom became the purchaser of the fractional lots at Broadway and Victoria for $3,350, on which she will build a modern residence.

Frank Malquist, purser of the steamer Union, disposed of his Crook county timber holdings for $10,000.

The elevated residence district on Union avenue, between Highland and Woodlawn, is attracting the attention of home builders. Deals for several lots in that district were closed up in the past few days, on which it is announced residences of the better class will be erected.

The concrete foundation for George Bantz' bank, at Williams avenue and Knott street, has been completed. The bank building is to be a three-story brick with an attractive front.

The foundation for the four-story mill belonging to the Ames Mill company, on Railroad street and Albina avenue, is about finished. This building will, when completed, represent an outlay of $40,000.

The Mississippi Avenue Congregational church has about decided not to remove its church from the present location to the lot bought some time ago for that purpose. The church owns nearly half a block when the building now stands, and it is believed that it would be better to build a large, handsome church there and dispose of the new lot, which can be done at a profit.

Councilman Kelaber has promised the residents of Multnomah addition and Highland that he will make every effort to secure better fire protection for these two localities. It appears that what the last city budget was being made up, both Multnomah addition and Highland were promised fire apparatus, but reductions had to be made and these places were cut out. Chief Campbell says that Highland is an excellent place to station a fire engine, as it would have a down-hill run in every direction, and could cover the rapidly-growing districts of Vernon and Woodlawn. The chief thinks a chemical engine and company ought to be stationed on upper Mississippi avenue. It is generally agreed that Multnomah addition is no longer to be denied fire protection.

The long-delayed improvement of Belmont street is under way. The first work being done is the removal of the worn-out plank between Union avenue and East Eighth street. Two fills are to be made, one between Union avenue and East Water street and the other at Hawthorne slough, between Ninth and Tenth streets. Part of these fills have already been made by the abutting property-owners, who bought the dirt from contractors excavating for the large west side buildings. From East Tenth to East Fortieth street the street will be graded, while beyond East Fortieth to the city limits Belmont is to be widened to a full 60-foot street.

The proposition to move the Central Methodist church from Central to Upper Albina at the close of the present conference year is taking shape. The church is now at the corner of Russell and Kirby streets, which is considered a very good business location. An effort will be made to trade this site for one on the hill, or sell it and buy elsewhere. The committee having the matter in charge has made no definite arrangements, but has several locations in view.

The Catholic Young Men's club of St. Mary's parish, Albina, has completed its organization with a large and enthusiastic membership. It is proposed to erect a handsome clubhouse adjoining St. Mary's church at a cost of $10,000. Plans for the building have been prepared by Architect Valguth. The young men, business men and prominent residents of the parish have taken hold of the idea with enthusiasm and promise

GOGORZA SONG RECITAL TONIGHT AT THE HEILIG

The Gogorza song recital bids fair to become one of the most successful concerts of the year. The lineup at the box office Saturday when the seats were put on sale was most gratifying to everybody, especially to the local music lovers, for they like to have an artist appreciated by the general public as well as by the home musician. The program for the concert is especially fine and carefully selected, and will afford real delight to students, as well as to lovers of the beautiful in art and literature. The words will be printed in full, and that fact alone will please a great many people who like to follow the sense as well as the beauty of a song. The recital is under the direction of Louis Stearns-Wynn Coman, and begins at 8:30.

recreation and play ground of rare natural beauty.

The Mount Tabor Push club will energetically push the park enterprise. A committee of 15 from the club will attend the meeting of the Initiative One Hundred, October 19, and urge the council to aid in securing Mount Tabor for park and reservoir purposes.

Frank Insley, who lives at 221 Tenth street, was the victim of a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon on a Hawthorne avenue car. He was standing on the rear platform when the trolley rope in some way became wound around his neck. The trolley jumping the wire jerked Insley against the window, cutting a deep gash just above his eye. The young man was carried to his home, where Dr. Rockey, the company physician, dressed the wound.

A young man named Stephens, an expressman, living at 290 Twentieth street north, fell from a St. Johns car Saturday night and struck his head on a stone, causing a slight fracture of the skull. He was taken to an Albina drug store, where Dr. A. B. Stone dressed his wound. Stephens was on the rear step of the trolley when he lost his balance and was pitched from the car.

Estacada is trying on a few municipal garments, just to see how they fit. The council has ordered the main street (Broadway) macadamized. A sewer is to be laid on the street before the pavement work is started. The council has under consideration the offer of $150 for a city hall and engine-house. A fire district will be created in which no permits for wooden buildings will be issued. Al Haven has been elected marshal at a salary of $50 per month.

A committee of councilmen and several members of the Mount Tabor Push club escorted Superintendent Monthie, the new head of the city park, to Mount Tabor yesterday. The new superintendent was favorably impressed with the site.

"I think," said he, "Mount Tabor is an ideal place for a park and the cost of developing it would be comparatively small. Portland should by all means secure this spot before it is too late. Here can be made one of the finest parks in the United States. The main cost of such an enterprise is always in getting started. After that the expense of maintenance would not be great. In developing this hill as a park I would retain as much of the natural beauty of the spot as possible, destroy none of the trees and cut out the underbrush only where necessary. Not many years hence Portland will have half a million people; then they would have a park right in their midst that can be reached in a few minutes, and that is what the people need."

The stockholders of the Le Roy Mining company held the annual meeting on October 7 in Cottage Grove. The former board of directors was re-elected, namely: J. L. Le Roy, Dr. L. W. Brown, C. O. Tober, W. A. Wann, R. M. Veatch and Henry Veatch. The board of directors afterward held a meeting and elected J. L. Le Roy president; R. M. Veatch, vice-president; and Henry Veatch, secretary and treasurer.

MRS. CROKER TO TAKE OLD NEW YORK HOME

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Richard Croker, after four months' absence, has returned to New York and will take possession of her old home on Seventy-fourth street.

For more than a year the doors and windows of the house have been boarded up and "For Sale" signs displayed. A few days ago the neighbors were astonished to see signs of life about the place. The boarding was removed and several workmen and renovators took possession. The housekeeper engaged servants and the rooms are being made ready for Mrs. Croker. The rift in the domestic relations of the Crokers is known to have been bridged over by the mutual sorrow of the mother and father for the loss of their two sons. Whether this has led to a reconstruction of Croker's life and change of his residence to this side of the water is a topic of much conjecture among his friends.

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, chronic kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Lydia E. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney derangements by it. Derangements of the feminine organs quickly affect the kidneys, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weight in the loins, backache, bearing-down pains, scalding or burning sensations or deposits in the urine, unusual thirst, swelling of hands and feet, swelling under the eyes or sharp pains in the back, running through the groin, she may infer that her kidneys are affected and should lose no time in combating the disease with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's remedy for woman's ills.

The following letters show how remarkably successful it is.

Mrs. Samuel Frake, of Prospect Plains, N. J., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I cannot praise your enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a Woman's Remedy for Woman's ills.

think that he is paid to listen to wholly irrelevant tales of domestic woe. Attorneys are paid to settle questions of law, not to listen for an hour to evidence which has been given to them over on the case. Women are not businesslike in business, and as a consequence waste both the lawyer's time and their own besides, probably so disgusting the man of law that he is not inclined to take any extra pains with the case in question. It is best if you intend to consult an attorney to call him up by phone and give him the engagement, but do not engage him in a long telephone conversation unless you wish all the neighbors to know of your affairs and the attorney to plead numerous engagements rather than bother with you. If you would inspire respect say what you have to say and quit—state your case briefly and then answer whatever question he may think fit to ask.

Women on the witness stand are more foolish still, and often their evidence is used against them simply because they became confused and their next breath refutes it. If they would only tell the truth in the most simple way and leave out everything that has no direct bearing on the case their evidence would be much more valuable.

Black and White Lace Waists. The white lace waists with black handwork run in have become very smart. Indeed, one does not know where they will end, for their vogue has become so great. One sees them everywhere; yet they are costly. "If I wanted a handsome white lace shirtwaist and could not afford to pay $60 for one of French origin," said a modiste, "I would buy a plain white lace one and embroider it. I would choose a novelty lace, for the Irish lace waists are rather difficult to embroider. And I would run the black silk threads through the pattern in such a manner as to bring it out nicely, without making it too conspicuous."

"If I were trying to embroider an Irish lace waist I would make tiny wheels of black silk and of chiffon, and would set them into the lace between the heavy figures of Irish handwork. In this manner one gets an effective waist to wear under an Eton."

Black chiffon waists are made over white and are very attractive and new looking. One waist of great beauty was made of black chiffon, plaited in very tiny plaits. The yoke was especially beautiful, being made entirely of heavy Irish lace embroidered in the shades of old rose, and the high girle was made of old rose panne velvet.

Novelty materials in black and white are charming and are even newer than the black over white. The black and white plaid chiffons make up well and have a very smart appearance when worn with a white skirt. In fact, it is quite a fad to wear black and white waists with white skirts; of course, the skirts are made very elaborately and sometimes have a touch of black in the trimming.

Advice About Walking. No woman wants to walk like an old woman. Therefore, her head, her feet, her shabby old shoes are compelled to hold their chins down. It is a matter of balance. If they were to lift the head high they would fall. Sick people always walk with the chin down. The valids watch their feet when they walk. A woman whose heart is weak will bow her head and cast her eyes upon her feet as she moves. It is a mark of invalidism.

Don't walk nor look nor act like an old person. There are no old people these days.

A store or place of business which is not lighted by Electricity has "let down the bars" to the inroads of its competitors.

Artloom Tapestries

THE PARLOR is the room where coolness and repose should prevail. Gobelin patterns in Artloom Tapestries at doors and windows cannot be anything but refined and tasteful. Their charm lies in the harmonious effects in the softest sort of colors. There are delightful possibilities also in French, Louis XV and Empire styles.

Suppose the home contains a living-room instead of parlor; have it so cozy everyone will make it a rendezvous for chat and relaxation. Good taste suggests that the hangings be in restful, solid colors.

THE VERY NEXT TIME YOU GO SHOPPING make it a point to see the Artloom Tapestries—curtains, table and couch covers. Their artistic beauty and wearing qualities are out of all proportion to their modest prices.

Curtains—Solid colors, Mercerized, Duplex, Oriental, Silk, Bagdad, Brocade and Velour, $5 to $20. Wide diversity of designs and colorings.

Couch Covers—Bagdad, Oriental, Turkish, Gobelin, Daghestan, figured Brocade and Velour, $1 and up. Each an actual counterpart of the masterpieces of foreign looms.

Table Covers—Tapestry, Oriental and Gobelin, $1.50 and up. Remarkable for artistic qualities and originality.

Always look for the Artloom label. It is on every piece.
