Pendleton had a great fair. The at-ance was more than 25,000 in the k, about the same number that at-ed the state fair at Salem. At all hase places I found the people eager trange for their displays for the entown exposition. They no longer to be forced into participating at fairs. They have come to realize value of exploiting their products resources of their country to the d and want to do so at every op-unity. The new spirit over eastern on is to hold fairs." the Allen stock company. The old-time play is staged exceedingly well, and the parts have been assigned with some skill. The revival of this old play has met with popular approval, as was demonstrated yesterday, when the house was filled and a large number of patrons turned away. Not a seat was empty during the evening performance. In this week's production the Allen stock company does better than it has done before. It shows that, instead of being a third-rate stock organization, it is a genuine dramatic company worthy of much consideration. Little Verna Feiton, the child actress; is in the role of Louise, and pleases her many admir-ers. This little woman does great work for her age and puts many older and more experisoned actresses to shame. Henry MoRas does well as the cheva-lier, and Mr. Ashley's Jacques is a faithful character study. Others in the cast are to be complimented on back-ing up so well the work of the princt-pals. "The Two Orphans" will be the bill at the Star all week, with matinees Thursday and Saturday.

The Grand.

Vaudeville gets stale now and then, and likewise now and then the vaude-ville house which thinks anything of its reputation takes a wonderful brace and delivers to its patrons a bill of standard excellence that wakes up the jaded theatre-goer in a surprising man-ner. This is what happens this week at the Grand.

ner. This is what happens this week at the Grand. The feature set is by the Berrys, acro-bats, who do some marvelous stunts and a great many new ones. There are five of the Berrys. From the moment they step on the stage until they leave it they keep up a whirlwind of feats calculated to make the sudiance sit up and take notice. Tom Eck and Lil-lian Chick in their act. termed "Leap the Loop," present a novely that has marely been squaled in local vaudeville circles. John Byrne does a clever mono-logue turn, and the skit snittled "Mar-ried Life" is presented in a capable fashion by the Cliff Dean company. Claire is an operatic soloist of su-perior attainments, and the comedy singing sketch by the Margaret New-ton company makes a hit. Mastor Har-old Hof is at the old stand with an-other pleasing illustrated song, and makes good in huge bunches as usual. The motion picture completes a wonder-fully well-balanced bill of superior merit.
