Portland Business Man Returns After Delightful Trip of Four Months.

SWITZERLAND AND BOHEMIA VISITED

Splendid Control of Municipal Affairs in European Cities Pleases Him—Tells How Streets Are Kept Neat and Clean.

A. B. Steinbach of A. B. Steinbach & Co. of this city, who with Mrs. Steinbach left Portland May 24 for a tour of Europe, returned home Sunday after the most delightful trip. Mr. Steinbach spent some time in Chicago, New York and other cities before sailing for Europe and although spent an enjoyable summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Steinbach took passage on the Kaiser Wilhelm II June 19. After a pleasant ocean voyage they landed at Bremen, from where they immediately proceeded to Hamburg, where they spent two weeks. After taking the advice of Professor von Norden, M. D., of Frankfurt, they went to Berlin, where they spent a few days. Mr. Steinbach declares the municipal government of Berlin is beyond all description. They ascended several of these mountains, now equipped with electric railways, sometimes climbing as high as 10,000 feet. The scenery along the coast on Lake Geneva and other beautiful mountain lakes and visited the home and workshop of William Tell. Their next move was made in Paris, where they spent only a few days, taking passage from Cherbourg to New York.

FEARED NATIVES WILL SCATTER INTO HILLS

Colorado Prepares to Resist Invasion of Game Preserves—Orders Are Expected Daily From Washington Ordering Natives Back.

(Special Special Service.) Omaha, Oct. 22.—In response to a telegram received from Washington a second detachment of cavalry from Fort Robinson started this morning against the bands of wandering Utes, who for some time past have been making trouble for the settlers in the neighborhood of Gillette, Wyoming. Major-General Greely returned to Omaha today in order that he might personally direct the operations. He believes the Indians will surrender peacefully to the soldiers. The fighting force of the Utes numbers about 150 bucks. With their families there are some 400 Indians in the party. While no resistance on the part of the Indians is expected, it is feared they may scatter and go to the hills. Three hundred cavalrymen are now on the march against them and it is believed this will be ample to run down the scattered bands and gather them in. The Utes have been killing cattle and elk and are believed to be heavily armed and determined not to go back to Utah. The state of Colorado is apprehensive that the Utes will invade the game preserves of the state, and is making preparations to prevent them from entering Colorado. Orders from Washington are expected daily for the cavalry to escort the Indians back to Utah.

GOLDEN EAGLE ENTERTAINS

Thousands of Customers and Friends Attend the Opening Reception of the Golden Eagle Department Store.

The enthusiastic response to the invitation to attend the opening reception held last evening of the enlarged Golden Eagle Department Store made Mr. Lewis, the manager, feel highly pleased. Thousands of people passed through the store and listened to the strains of good music and viewed the well-arranged and beautiful effects of the decorator's art. The occasion for this mid-season opening reception, as announced in a full-page advertisement, was the throwing open of the completed additions to the new department store. Great preparations had been made to accommodate a tremendous crowd, but the most sanguine expectations of the management were exceeded by the thousands that came last night. The store was attired in its party dress for the occasion and the decorations were admired and applauded by every visitor. The store has a competent corps of window and interior decorators, and in the adornment of the aisles and windows for the opening they had done their utmost. The entire store was brilliantly illuminated. The Golden Eagle started in business only a little more than six months ago, and in the very start its success has been phenomenal. The original store occupied by the store was about 25x40 feet, but this was quickly outgrown and more space was added from time to time, and each month saw it using more room than the previous period. About a month ago the Golden Eagle bought the stock and lease of the old White Corner, Second and Yamhill streets, and at once moved in and took possession of the entire block. From Third to Second street on Yamhill, they soon found, though, that even this great addition of space would not be sufficient to meet the needs of their growing business, and they made arrangements for the lease of the two adjoining stores, which up till four weeks ago, had been a part of the Tull & Gibbs store. They remodeled this section for their millinery and suit departments. This room gives the Golden Eagle the largest ground floor showroom in the west. Gus A. Lewis, the president and manager of the store, is a firm believer in the liberal use of printers' ink, and is ever on the alert for the newest ideas in regard to modern merchandising. Last night's reception was a tremendous success. The store was warmly congratulated upon the unprecedented growth of the store and the pains that had been bestowed upon its appearance for last evening's fête.

ELLIS TO BREAK UP SEWER PIPE TRUST

(Special Special Service.) Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 22.—Attorney-General Ellis will now turn his attention to the steel trust. He will probably attack the sewer pipe branch first and endeavor to break up this trust as he did the bridge trust. He is much encouraged by winning his first skirmish against the Standard Oil company at Findlay. Yesterday the circuit court ousted from the state of Ohio all of the bridge companies that failed to surrender at the bridge trust hearing two weeks ago. The companies deprived of their charters are the Iron Substructure company of Columbus and the Columbus Bridge company. John R. Cassidy, William J. Niven and E. P. Chamberlain of Bellefontaine were appointed trustees to wind up the business of these companies.

WALKER APPOINTED TO LONDON POSITION

(Special Special Service.) Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 22.—J. Bruce Walker has been appointed to take charge of the Canadian government immigration service in London, England, replacing W. H. Preston, who has undertaken a commercial mission to the far east to promote Canadian trade interests.

IRISH HOME RULE IS BEFORE PARLIAMENT

(Special Special Service.) London, Oct. 22.—Parliament met today. The Irish home rule bill is expected to pass by a narrow margin of a big majority.

VERMONTERS PLANNING CHAMPLAIN CELEBRATION

(Special Special Service.) Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 22.—The patriotic and historical societies of Vermont are foremost in a movement which may result in legislation by the legislature, now in session here, for the celebration of the 80th anniversary of the discovery by Samuel de Champlain of the lake which bears his name. This anniversary falls on July 4, 1606. It is suggested that the anniversary be commemorated neither by a monument nor by an exposition, but by a program of exercises in which Canada and France, as well as the United States, might officially take part.

SILENCE OF MRS. SNYDER STANDS ON RECORD

reference to the bank robbery and the murder of her husband. Officers have for weeks been in possession of evidence which convinced them that the widow knew far more than she would tell, but to them her lips were sealed.

Long Search for Motive.

Barred in every effort to force her to divulge what she knew of the two crimes, the widow was secured from further disclosure by her attorney, who has since her father-in-law and ultimately disapproved. Still searching for a motive for her silence they questioned her concerning her father-in-law and her husband. She said she believed to be good reasons why he should desire to withhold facts in connection with the double crime. They freely express their belief that Perry was not a murderer, but the silence of the widow and explain his boldness by his knowledge of the old man's influence with the widow of his son. The elder Snyder is under indictment for robbery in the case of the Official wrote to R. M. Snyder urging him to use his influence with the widow in inducing her to disclose what she knew. She stated on several occasions—once while under oath before District Attorney Allen sitting as a grand jury—that she would tell all she knew if the elder Snyder gave his consent.

Anticipated Letter Comes.

They waited patiently for the reply from the old man. At last it came in the form of a letter to the widow. In it the elder Snyder expressed his hope that she would aid the officers in every way she could add tell them unhesitatingly all she knew. He was sure, he said in the letter, that they did not understand his daughter-in-law, and that there must have been a misunderstanding.

This letter she immediately flashed on the officials and on the public. It proved what she contended, she insisted triumphantly, that she had told all she knew of the crime. But the officials were not to be misled. The letter continued to harass and follow her.

With the letter she showed the officials and the public came another letter, so officers have since learned by her own confession. The letter was written by R. M. Snyder, and was learned, but was intended only for his daughter-in-law. In it, she declared, the old man stated that he could not endure the disgrace of having his name connected with the robbery robbery made public. He would care for her and supply her wants as the wants of his son's widow should be supplied, he said, if she refused to tell what she knew of the crime. She was to be continued and she must seek financial relief from other quarters. She followed his advice, so the officers declare.

Her Silence Broken.

Suspecting that her silence was the result of a bribe, the officers, they charged the elder Snyder, Washington county officials called upon her Saturday at the Portland hotel. District Attorney Allen, his deputy, E. B. Tongue, and Detective Vaughn were present. They talked with her until she finally lost her temper and made the startling confession of her motive for silence.

Mr. Allen denies positively that he attempted to force the letter from her possession and refuses to discuss the affair. Mr. Tongue is even more reticent, declaring that he knows nothing whatever about any letter the widow received from the elder Snyder except the one she showed to the officials.

Mrs. Snyder has been subpoenaed to appear before Judge McBride of the circuit court at Hillsboro on Saturday. She will at that time be called upon to explain an interesting feature of her connection with the crime and also to relate what private advice she received from R. M. Snyder.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills. Have cured women here in Portland. This is one Portland woman's testimony.

Mrs. Captain C. G. Groves of 824 Raleigh street, Portland, Oregon, says: "I have had the confidence I have had in Doan's Kidney Pills since February, 1905, when I published an account of the cure they gave me in treating kidney trouble of several years' standing. I originally started with dull aching in the small of my back over the kidneys. Cold aggravated the trouble and made the pain sharp and acute. My extra exertion would bring on a prostrating attack. I had tried various remedies for the trouble without avail, but Doan's Kidney Pills began to help me. They gradually banished the backache and pain in the loins, strengthened the kidneys and helped me in every way. I can conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to any sufferer from kidney complaint.

GOING IT BLIND

clude stock in the As-You-Like-It claim. The Journal publishes today in its advertising columns a paid advertisement embodying the offer. It is the ostensible object of the Sullivan Trust company to buy back as much as possible of the stock sold in the two companies mentioned in the advertisement.

That this is not the real object seems apparent; first, because the same breath in which they make the offer they declare that the present market price of the stock is higher than the price which they are willing to pay, and secondly, because the company has in its office the name of every stockholder and could negotiate with each individually if it saw fit, thereby recovering the stock without boosting the price.

It is unquestionably true that many valuable mining properties are being developed in the new mining districts of Nevada. Many claims that are now mere prospect holes or virgin wilderness will eventually pay immense profits to those who invest in them. But since wild catting and stock gambling is being carried on upon an enormous scale and the initiators of Leflore Hell are numerous great care must be exercised by investors.

STRIKERS FOR STRIKERS

Electrical Workers Receive Funds With Which to Fight Home Telephone Company.

TROUBLE EXTENDS ALL THROUGH NORTHWEST

Sixteen Thousand Dollars and Expert Organizer for the Fight Promised by Pacific Council of Electrical Workers.

Sixteen thousand dollars in cash and an organizer have been promised the local Electrical Workers' union to aid in its fight against the Home Telephone company, against which a strike and boycott was declared about two months ago.

The main part of the money are expected to arrive in Portland within the next few days. The order is the Pacific Council of the International Brotherhood, whose headquarters are located at Oakland, California. The telegram announcing the move was received by the local union last Saturday. It reads as follows:

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 15, 1906.—W. L. Trullinger, Dear Sir, my brother: Pacific council will send one man and $5,000 to fight all trouble in the northwest—$10,000 to follow in 30 days.

The local unionists explain that the electrical workers all over the northwest are having trouble with the Home Telephone company, as the company refuses to recognize their organization. The money will be used to advertise the strike and boycott and to pay the expenses of agitation meetings to be held to arouse union men generally to back the electrical workers in their fight.

HILL PLANS

In the period that Mr. Wiley has carried on his operations he has surveyed about 250 miles of railroad and spent about $25,000. A claim investigation fails to show any debts left behind these operations. The work has been clean and well considered. It is certain that Wiley is not spending money for amusement, nor are his keepers men employed. The further fact that Jacob L. Greavesinger of New York, who is one of the promoters, is well known to be one of J. J. Hill's particular intimates, is significant, as is also the fact that the surveyors for the Oregon Coast & Eastern have carried their lines to the coast, within two miles of the Northern Pacific's present track into Portland, and there ceased work.

OTHER SIGNIFICANT FACTS

It is also significant that E. W. Lytle, president of the Pacific Railway & Navigation company, who inherited the Hillboro-Nehalem project from H. L. Pitcock of the Oregonian and associates, is making a determined fight for territorial rights in Tillamook and Clatsop counties. Mr. Lytle's railroad is supposed to have been financed by Harriman interests at San Francisco, and it is said the Harriman people have for some time been aware of the Hill plans for coastwise and interior routes into Oregon and California. At least they have suspected the origin of these projects, and since early this year there has been tremendous activity in the Harriman camp toward securing advantageous routes and rights of way in advance of the threatened invasion.

obvious to the raging storms and lowering temperature.

Yesterday James Sped, a teamster, met the couple near Fly camp. He offered the girl a blanket, but her husband refused it for fear and then, in a fit of pique, he turned the girl's back on the world's impending doom.

On all other matters the couple talked rationally. They explained that God was displeased with the churches of man's making, which have become houses of vanity, and he and his wife had sought the mountains crags and places to worship. As Sped drove off, the teamer shouted to him:

"Keep your lamp trimmed and burning, for you know not when the bridegroom cometh."

Weight Increased 32 Lbs.

Thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Plenty of Fresh Air

Mr. Meyer Britwitz, who was completely broken down in health and failed until he weighed only 120 pounds, recovered his health and increased his weight 32 pounds, and now has no difficulty in maintaining his weight at 152 pounds.

Meyer Britwitz, in his last at Liberty, N. Y., where he lived one year, taking no medicine except DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY.

A constantly growing law practice necessitated my working quite hard and assiduously. My health began to fail, but I could not neglect the interests of my clients and properly care for myself. I began to lose weight and developed a distressing hacking cough, which was extremely severe and violent, especially when arising in the morning, and these procyonisms usually left me weak and with a feeling of lassitude. My whole system was broken down, and after consulting with a number of eminent physicians, I decided to take drastic measures, and accordingly abandoned my law practice entirely and took up my residence in Liberty, N. Y., where I lived for one year in a canvas tent.

Early in my stay in Liberty I was advised by a friend of mine to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a tonic. This I did twice daily, and found it effective in invigorating and bracing, with none of the after effects or cravings usually produced by intoxicants. I found it sharpened my appetite considerably, enabling me to eat heartily.

While, of course, by recovery was due in a measure to my method of living at the same time I feel certain that the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was a material factor in my speedy recovery. My cure was complete, as is evidenced by the fact that I have again resumed the practice of law, and where, as before my illness I never weighed above 120 pounds, today I easily tip the scale at 152 pounds, and find that I have no difficulty in maintaining that weight.—MEYER BRITWITZ, Attorney-at-Law, 38 Nassau St., New York City, N. Y., July 15, '06.
