IN CHINATOWN PLANNED

FOR SAN FRANCISCO

Tournal Special Service.)

San Prancisco, Oct. 23.—The strent-ous work of part weeks begins to show and the cement bottoms of many basements are becoming visible. The side-walks are slowly getting cleared, the disposition of fallen columns and twisted beams and all the riveted skeletions of great buildings being the cause of much delay. Teo mussive to handle, too crooked to load, this scrap heap must be lifted by derricks, separated, cut into pieces and carted away in fragments. Responding to the call of the board of works, 500 men were armed with long-handled shovels and attacked

(Journal Special Service.)

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—San Francisco is to have a new Chinatown. That much has been definitely settled. A committee from the directors of the Merchants' association of San Francisco has conferred with a similar committee of the Chinase Merchants' association of San Francisco, and the new Chinatown is to size from the ashes of the old Chinatown and flasht the three-cyed pseudock feather and teachest literature from the old site.

The only point at issue was the kind of a Chinatown to build and this decision was reached as quickly as the decision was reached as quickly as the decision to rebuild. The new Chinatown is to be of the oriental type of architecture.

The Merchants' association as for a long time believed that it was possible to have Chinatown not only sanitars but attractive, and in view of the fact that all the old buildings were destroyed, it has seized the opportunity thus offered and decided to build the new Chinatown upon an attractive oriental model.

If the buildings can be rebuilt with a distinctive style of architecture in harmony with the character of the business done there, this will give San Francisco an attractive feature different from that of any city in the United States, but from any American city in China.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 22—No general state Tax will be levied in Wisconsin this year, and even the-mill tax for the schools will be cut in half. Payments on war claims together with increased taxes from corporations, have put the state treasury in such a plethoric condition that there is now more money than is needed.

Had it not been for work on the capitol building it would have been feasible to omit entirely the school tax. Back taxes and increased levies from railroads have added $443,000 to the school fund now in the treasury, after meeting all extraordinary expenses of the state.
