

FEAR AND DREAD OF WEALTH CONTROL

Financial Circles Much Interested in Roosevelt's Forthcoming Message.

MAY DRAW IT STRONG FOR AN INCOME TAX

Temper of Country Responsive to Anti-Capitalist Appeals of Bryan and La Follette—Roosevelt Expected to Follow Their Path.

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Oct. 27.—Financial circles in this city are very much interested in that portion of President Roosevelt's forthcoming message to congress which is expected to deal with the subject of taxation of incomes, inheritances, etc., and the general question of control of wealth amassed from public privileges.

It is in his public utterances and writings for nearly a year past Mr. Roosevelt has approached the question tentatively. In his Pennsylvania speech a short time ago he elaborated somewhat his views, and it is said by those who have talked with him recently that he will be prepared to address congress still more definitely. He may not lay down the actual lines of proposed legislation, but the short test of congress could hardly deal with questions of such far-reaching importance, but it is quite generally believed that he will arouse the country, and set the senators and representatives to thinking and talking.

Legislation upon these questions must conform to past decisions of the supreme court, in substance and spirit, unless, indeed, the reorganizing court may be thought dependable to give broader interpretation. The president is authority for the statement that the court has been wrong in some instances in the past, and it may be that the filling of one present and another prospective vacancy by his appointment may alter the opinion of that august body.

Since the president's success with railway rate legislation, Wall street will not believe anything too hard for him to accomplish. Consequently there is a great deal of interest to know how far he will go in his recommendations to the approaching session.

There are many who are in today's financial circles who would like to see a

Woman Says Husband is Demented and Crased From Overstudy—Doped With High Balls When Looks Fall to Vanquish.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chicago, Oct. 26.—Attributing to his wife the powers of a sorceress, declaring her to be possessed of the "evil eye" in its most malignant form, and alleging finally that she forced him to the altar by the exertion of an irresistible hypnotic spell, Felix Rybski, 31 years old, of 1215 Fifty-first street, and the son of a Polish manufacturer, appeared before Justice Claverly at the Harrison street police station in answer to a charge of abandonment recently and begged the court to protect him from the woman under whose influence he claims to have been for many weeks.

Had Rybski and his wife lived one century ago his story would have not improbably resulted in her being burned as a witch. Were she a resident of Italy, the birthplace of the dreaded "evil eye," she would be shunned as one more to be dreaded than the most poisonous disease.

Mrs. Rybski brands one and all of his charges as false. She charges him with inhuman cruelty, abandonment of herself and baby, and finally alleges that she believes him to be insane and that she will have him examined by a physician.

Rybski is the inventor of a patent shingle, and it was while working on the roof of his home during the fall of 1905, he says, that he first came under her influence. In telling his story at the station he seemed half crazed with fear, and from time to time glanced furtively at his wife as if he expected to be again cast under a "spell."

"One day I was shingling the roof of my home," he said, "when she waved her arms at me and with a shriek that caused me to start, she told me to go down. I did not obey, and in a moment I felt myself sliding off the roof. Continuing, he stated that the woman since that time has been endeavoring to get at him in one way or another, and that he has been doped with high balls for nearly a week. Then, one day, after a walk which he remembered only in a hazy way, he says he was informed that they were married, and that the woman he dreaded was his lawfully wedded wife.

Glare Quagwed Him. From this time on, until he finally regained possession of his will power and returned to his family, he declares he was forced to lead a life of silence as a dog. According to his statement, he was engaged to marry Mary Runklowka, a girl of his own age, but that when with his wife he forgot even her name. When he was released from his wife, she would glare at him and he would feel his faculties slipping away. A glance falling, intoxicants would be given him, and as a last resort she would sting him with needles, or else she would stab through his fear. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Hoff, of 4751 Lattin street, and Mrs. James Runklowka bore out his testimony that Mrs. Rybski was a "witch."

Seen at her home, 4395 Lyman street, last evening, Mrs. Rybski, a short, sweet-faced motherly looking woman, about 45 years old, denied each of the charges as the workings of a diseased brain. She is an educated woman. Before her marriage she was Miss Julia Murphy, and was employed as a telephone operator at the stock yards. Since her husband had deserted her, she had gone back to her old position, where she finds it necessary to work two hours overtime nightly in order to make enough to support herself and her baby. "The talk of being a witch is absurd. Did I possess any unnatural powers I would exert them only to such an extent that it would be unnecessary for me to work 10 or more hours daily in order to support myself and my baby, toward who keep his father has never given one penny."

Whipped Severely for Benefit of Their Souls (Journal Special Service.) Geneva, Oct. 26.—An extraordinary anecdotal report from the isolated Alpine village of Obervas, in the Canton of Grisons.

The young unmarried women of the village between the ages of 15 and 30 recently received an order by a letter commanding them to appear before the village sexton, an elderly man, to undergo the punishment of flagellation until the blood flows. For the great benefit of their souls. The letter was written by the sexton, who forged the signature of the pastor.

Woman Says Husband is Demented and Crased From Overstudy—Doped With High Balls When Looks Fall to Vanquish.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Klamath Falls, Or., Oct. 27.—The board of the reclamation service, consisting of Charles D. Walcott, director of the geological survey, F. H. Newell, chief engineer of the reclamation service, C. E. Grunsky, consulting engineer, D. C. Henry, supervising engineer, and his assistant, E. G. Hopsen, of the Klamath project, in fact, all the heads of departments except the secretary of the interior, were here this week looking over the project and determining what to recommend to the secretary of the interior as to the progress and methods to be pursued. While these gentlemen do not tell all they know or intend to recommend, it is apparent by their chief, yet the impression was gained that the work would be pushed forward as fast as labor and transportation conditions would permit.

It is confident is expected that during the winter months will be let for the canal on the west side of the river, taking the water towards Keno, and for the Clear Lake reservoir, which will water the upper reservoir. The second unit of the main canal and necessary laterals is being constructed by the reclamation service; sections being sublet whenever men can be secured, but the labor problem is a serious one and especially here where both reclamation service and railroad contractors are competitors in the same vicinity, so that while the project is determining what to recommend to the secretary of the interior as to the progress and methods to be pursued.

Men Are Needed. Construction Engineer Hooey, of the California & Northeastern railroad, now part of the Southern Pacific, is in the city and gives the assurance that no winter work need be idle as they take on all available men. Forces are working on 18 miles of new road this side of Grass Lake, and heavy grades are being cut, but with present forces it is not likely the new road will reach the lower lake this winter, though if sufficient men could be secured the road could easily be rushed to the city in time to claim the $100,000 bonus subscribed on condition that it be here by next March.

Wood Is High. The weather continues fine and farmers are rushing the newly threshed grain to market, and one wonders where it is all being shipped, for the price paid is a cent a pound and there is a demand because of the vast construction forces in the county, the price is likely to remain there. Hay is rapidly advancing, and in fact everything commands the best prices which have prevailed in plentiful years, and those are fortunate who have their year's supply in hand.

The bridge over Link river at the entrance to the city is receiving much-needed repairs and there has been a general cleanup of the city, but a complete sewage system will be necessary before all waste matter can be properly cared for. The impression that there is an epidemic of typhoid fever here is entirely erroneous. Several cases there have been, and an unusual number of deaths have occurred, but a small percentage of those have been from fever. Several small children and a few adults have died, but the proportion of deaths from fever has been little if any greater than usual. Several who died did not receive proper care in the home or tent, which is the most impossible to secure house help.

The burning of the laundry worked a hardship upon many, but the new and greatly enlarged laundry will start up next Monday, and great relief of many overworked households.

The Rev. Mr. Quick had been married to Mary A. Quick about one year when the divorce suit was filed. She had been divorced from Edward Young a few months before she married Quick.
