NAUGHTON WRITES ON PUGDOM

O'Brien Says That He Was a Goat for Not Fighting Sam Berger.

SAM IS SORE OVER HIS RECENT DEFEAT

Jimmy Britt Is Worried Because Battering Nelson Refuses to Talk Fight—Bill Squires of Australia May Visit This Country.

By W. W. Naughton.

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) San Francisco, Nov. 3.—Jack O'Brien sat at the Berger-Kaufmann ringside and thought and thought and thought. That the Philadelphia's gray matter was in an unusual state of undulation was suggested by his washboard forehead. Jack's alabaster brow was corrugated to such an extent that you could have used it for a nutting grate.

"Now, I am thinking what a goat I was to break off a match with Berger because he wanted straight rules and a free arm privilege. Why, the fellow couldn't do anyone harm at close quarters."

Jack was impelled to this view of the situation by the manner in which Kaufmann took care of Berger in the breast to breast work. This was Kaufmann's one particular specialty. When both men were tired and Berger, in a spirit of self-preservation, tried to grapple, Al used his blacksmith's arm to good purpose. He tore down Berger's hold and guard and sent a flat-iron up Berger's chest and sending his right fist with a jarring thug to a point beneath Berger's chin.

It was a tantalizing punch and the only time Berger baffled it was when he leaned his chin across Kaufmann's shoulder in clinches.

"It was no use," said Sam the next day. "The strength that fellow has in his forearm is something fierce. He pulled my arms aside or thrust them away just as he pleased and he nailed me with that uppercut until my tongue was like a hamburger steak."

And Jack O'Brien, who would not sign on the "protect yourself" basis with Berger, fearing that the burly San Franciscan would rough handle him as a prizey bear mauls a calf, looked on and felt that he had made a grand mistake.

Condolence for Berger. After the contest O'Brien visited both fighters in their dressing rooms. It was a case of condolence for Berger and congratulations for Kaufmann.

"Al, you put up a clever, gritty fight," said Jack.

"Yes, put in Billy Delaney, he whipped Berger the way I planned for him to beat you. He took a punching and then wore his man down. The only thing in your case was that you were getting stronger when I figured you ought to be weakening."

"Do you think the knowledge you gained would be of any use in future affairs?" said O'Brien, who thought he felt a nibble.

"Possibly," said Delaney, "but in the meantime Al is going to cut out boxing and go back to school for a year."

"That was the nearest O'Brien and Kaufmann came to talking fight."

They say Jimmy Britt was comforted in chief in Berger's dressing room after the fight.

"Cheer up," said Jimmy. "You made a brave show and you'll find your self popular in defeat. And don't forget that the greatest fighters living suffer reverses occasionally. Why man, I've been beaten myself."

Mike Williams, Squires' next opponent, is quite a character. He is of Irish birth and has all the wit of his race. He is a bit of ring lawyer and on one occasion delayed a fight while he argued a point with the referee. "You are not to hit in the clinches," said the referee when warning the men. "Say, do you know that it takes two to make a clinch?" asked Mike.

"What of it?" said the referee. "Only that if one man is hitting there can be no clinch."

HUNT CLUB MEMBERS ON A FINE PAPER CHASE

Seven-Mile Course, Full of Blinds and Jumps, Pleasied the Local Sportsmen.

The second open paper chase of the fall season yesterday was the best that has ever been run locally. It started at the Clinton-Kelley school and finished on the Vancouver boulevard. The winner was Mrs. Dr. Wood, while William Walters finished second. During the chase there were 14 jumps and a number of well placed blinds. The hares were Dr. Emmett Drake and J. N. Davis. Others who participated in the chase besides the winners were: Mrs. F. O. Downing, Mrs. John Latta, Mrs. S. C. Spencer, L. L. Leadbetter, John Latta, T. S. McGrath, Robert Eldridge, J. N. Chapman and Miss Maud Hahn.

The course covered a distance of seven miles, and the chase is said to have been one of the best that has been run.

not think of hooking up with anyone before having it out with Kaufmann. "It may sound ambiguous," said Sam, "but if I can't lick Kaufmann, I am any use of me keeping along at the game. Mind you, I'm not saying that I am eager to box him again. I am working over the way my stamina deteriorated on the other night and I am bent on finding out what is wrong. If it is that there is some weak spot in my physical make-up I want to know about it and will consult a doctor when I get around to it. If it was simply a case of insufficient training and I can be convinced to that effect, I may want to fight again. But it will rest with Kaufmann to say whether I shall fight or not."

With Berger and Kaufmann in temporary retirement and with Jack O'Brien and Tommy Burns mired in Los Angeles, it is very evident that the November contest in San Francisco will not be between heavyweights. Under the circumstances the fight trust is inclined to arrange a bout between Joe Thomas and the best available welterweight, and Morris Levy, who is matchmaker for this month, has been instructed to proceed along the line mentioned.

Jimmy Britt, who has trained steadily in the expectation of being called upon to box in December, is puzzled because hitting Nelson steadfastly refuses to talk fight.

"Can't understand the Dane's tactics," said Britt. "If he gives any study to public demand in the boxing line he must see that a Britt-Nelson would be a big money maker right now. Anyhow, he still has a week or two to think it over; but if he doesn't display signs of life by that time I'll have to turn my back on the Britt-Nelson fight, and go to fight again before the year closes, and pretty soon it will be a case of first come first served."

Squires May Visit Fresno. It is believed that Bill Squires, the Australian champion, will be seen coming ashore with his luggage before many weeks have passed. Squires has about closed up the heavyweight situation in Australia and as the American heavyweights will not go to him he must come to them. Moreover, it is understood that a measure preventing public exhibitions of boxing is about to become a law in that country, and that it will be necessary for Squires to go abroad in search of employment.

"Squires, who doesn't weigh more than 170 pounds, is a rushing fighter, and according to Australian sporting men, who have passed through the United States recently, is qualified to try conclusions with any of the big fellows at present operating in this country. He is to meet Mike Williams, a South African heavyweight, a few days from now, and if he is successful there is good reason for supposing he will visit America on fighting bent."

Mike Williams, Squires' next opponent, is quite a character. He is of Irish birth and has all the wit of his race. He is a bit of ring lawyer and on one occasion delayed a fight while he argued a point with the referee. "You are not to hit in the clinches," said the referee when warning the men. "Say, do you know that it takes two to make a clinch?" asked Mike.

"What of it?" said the referee. "Only that if one man is hitting there can be no clinch."

The referee failed to agree with Mike and after a few rounds the Irish-African was disqualified.

BIG RUGBY GAME ONE WEEK OFF

Berkeley and Stanford Will Meet in Annual Contest Next Saturday Afternoon.

CONTEST WILL BE PLAYED ON BERKELEY OVAL

Cardinal and Blue and Gold Followers Are at a Loss How to Pick the Winner of This Year's Interscholastic Match—Status of Teams.

(Journal Special Service.) Stanford University, Cal., Nov. 3.—The annual "variety game between the universities of Stanford and California is but a week distant, and all is preparation for the big event. The game will be played on the Berkeley campus on the new California field, which has been considerably widened to meet the requirements of the new game.

In the meanwhile speculation as to the outcome is rife. The man with the dope sheet, of course, has the result figured out to a nicety. Ordinarily, comparative scores and figures might be of some value in speculating upon the result, but here we have a new game to be reckoned with—a game which has proved itself so uncertain that even the most competent writers hesitate to pick a winner.

Owing to the scarcity of outside teams with which practice games could be secured Stanford and California have met practically the same teams this season. Among these have been fifteen from Nevada, Pomona, Santa Cruz and Vancouver, B. C. The games with Pomona and Vancouver having been played late in the season, form a most interesting comparison with the others. Week before last the California team defeated the fifteen from Pomona colleges 6 to 0.

Where Stanford Shone. Under very similar conditions the Stanford team proved its superiority over the southern boys. The northern team to last week. Both games were played in Los Angeles. The best games of the season, however, have been those with the Vancouver team. Of the two games with the Brits, the first was a 6 to 0, and lost the second 3 to 0, but with a slightly inferior team. Last Wednesday Stanford defeated the same aggregation 5 to 3. This afternoon, Stanford will meet the northern team for a second time. While these figures seem to give the cardinal team a slight advantage over their opponents across the bay, yet the element of uncertainty which shrouds the northern team renders this speculation mere guesswork.

With such a heady trio as Chalmers, Stott and Fenton in the lineup, men who can be relied upon under any circumstances, it is difficult for a Stanford man to figure Berkeley out at the end of the score. There is a feeling that Stanford cannot lose—the men know their strength and yet their hopes have not reached the point of over-confidence, which proved California's undoing last year.

Lanagan Will Pick Team. Coach Lanagan will not pick his team until the evening before the big game. This keeps the competition among the men keen to the highest pitch. No one has a place on the team absolutely cinched, and no one is willing to give up until the final lineup is announced. The squad has been narrowed down to about 30 men. Of these it is easy to pick the 20 most promising candidates, but not until Friday will the lucky 15 be known. After the team is announced it is likely, as was the case last year, that Coach Lanagan will take the men off the campus to some quiet place in the mountains where they may have a good night's rest prior to the great struggle.

Both at California and Stanford the usual preparations are being made by the supporters of the respective teams for the game. Thursday night a grand send-off will be given to the Stanford team. The rally will end with a big bonfire and serpentine on the baseball field. Each college will have an organized rooting section of 700 at the game. The railroad companies will run special excursions to Berkeley and it is expected that a crowd of fully 30,000 will gather on California field for the big event.

SEATTLE HIGH SCHOOL BEATS TACOMA TEAM

Puget Sounders Are Too Strong for the Lads From the City of Destiny.

(Journal Special Service.) Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 3.—By a score of 4 to 3 the Seattle high school football team defeated Tacoma high school team in the last game that the teams will play with one another this season.

The attendance was larger than at any high school football match ever played in Tacoma. The only scoring was done at the end of the first half. There were but five minutes to play when Tacoma was forced to kick near her goal. Johns, who had been kicking splendidly, made a short punt. Coyle of the Seattle team heeled the ball on the 35-yard line giving the visitors a free kick. Coyle kicked the ball between the goal posts.

The playing throughout the game was near the center of the field. In the second half the Tacoma team tried hard to rally but could not make good. At the close of the half they forced the ball to the 16-yard line and there tried a drop kick, but failed.

The playing was a good demonstration of the new rules, it being mostly open work and end running with little line bucking.

The game was played in Brewer's hall before a good crowd.

OREGON DEFEATS WILLAMETTE

Best That Bezdek's Men Could Do Was to Make One Place Kick.

GOAL KICKED IN THE LAST STAGE OF GAME

Contest Was Played on Slippery Field and the Penalties Were Many—Chandler and Moores Play First Game in the Backfield.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Or., Nov. 3.—This afternoon Oregon beat Willamette 4 to 0 on a place kick booted from the 18-yard line in the last 10 minutes of the last half by Moulten. The game was slow and uninteresting because of the wet and slippery field.

The first half was a miserable punting contest in the Methodists' territory. Moulten failed to make two long place kicks. Both teams played slowly, Oregon making yardage three times and Salem not once. Kuykendall's running is punts was the main feature of the half. On one of these he made a 35-yard recovery and ran the punt to the seven-yard line, but Oregon fumbled.

The second half, though slow, was better. Oregon soon after the kickoff had an easy chance to score on the seven-yard line, where Chandler carried the ball on a short punt play, but Oregon fumbled. Nace and Rader by some fine offensive work took the ball 35 yards. Both teams were forced to punt several times. Willamette recovered a long punt, gaining the ball on Oregon's 40-yard line. Oregon suffered one of the many penalties inflicted, and Thomas of Willamette tried a drop kick, but failed. Oregon was given the ball on her 30-yard line for holding on Willamette's part.

She then punted, Willamette failing in yardage punted and was blocked. Oregon recovering the ball, tried a drop kick, but failed. Oregon was given the ball on her 30-yard line for holding on Willamette's part.

Oregon outplayed her opponents, especially in handling punts by Chandler and Kuykendall and through Moulten's punting. These two features kept the ball in Willamette's territory the entire first half and a large part of the second. In the last half Rader and Nace, both teams played a yardage in frequent line bucks and short runs. The yardage made in short punts was: Oregon 88 yards, Willamette 70 yards. Oregon's defense was stronger than Willamette's. In the main both teams played a successful game and were penalized often. Oregon, Hug, Gillies, center; Nelson, Scott, R. G. L., McNight, Pinkham, L. Now that we are sure that the Angels will never wiggle out of third place, it seems easy for them to win games. They beat the great Garvin. This does not mean that they hammered him to death, but they did manage to push one tally across the bar, and that was more than the Pirates could do.

SULLIVAN'S HORSE BRINGS HOME THE MONEY

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) Aqueduct, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Christy Sullivan, the senatorial nominee, and his bowery followers hit the ring an awful wallop today when Rye won the Aqueduct handicap. Sullivan alone bet $5,000 on his horse at odds of 6 to 1, and every one else who follows the play of the Sullivan clan got down as much as they could afford. All told, they won about $100,000.

CALIFORNIA VARSITY IS BEATEN BY NEVADA

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal) Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 3.—The University of California's varsity team, which will play Stanford a week from today, was defeated today by the team from the Nevada State University. Score 3 to 0.

ANOTHER TIE FOR WASHINGTON

Whitman Eleven Proves Sturdy Opponent for the Seattle University Eleven.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, Wash., Nov. 3.—Whitman college and the University of Washington will have to wait another year to determine which institution can muster the better football eleven. A 50-minute struggle on the campus gridiron this afternoon failed to break the deadlock which has existed between Washington and Whitman football for two years. Neither team was able to score, and for the second consecutive time this season the varsity aggregation left the field with a score of 0 to 0.

Neither eleven had much the better of the contest, although in some departments of the game the visitors were slightly superior. They played with more vim and determination than their opponents. Washington's playing was a marked improvement over that shown in former games this season, and Whitman proved themselves to be a much better team than the Oregon farmers who held the university down to a zero score a week ago.

Tegmeyer, having adjusted his troubles with the faculty, was in the game at center and Captain Grim was again behind the line, where he did great work, carrying the ball many times for substantial gains. But Fitzbrook, Perringer and Dutcher concentrated their efforts on the Washington captain with the result he was hampered in endeavors at times when gains were most needed. The "varsity" lacked interference at crucial times.

The game was practically featureless unless for the frequent penalties administered with an almost equally lavish hand to both teams.

The longest run of the day was made by Whitman in the second half when Captain Stagle circled Washington's right end for 30 yards. This sprint was only the glimmer of sensationalism shown through a comparatively uninteresting contest.
