

AS CHILDREN'S FRIEND AS LORD MAYOR OF LONDON

With Medieval Pomp and Ceremony Sir William Treloar is Inaugurated.

SEVEN CENTURIES OF CIVIC LIFE IN PARADE

Pictureque Spectacle for Inhabitants of World's Greatest City—Crippled Boys and Girls Participate—Banquet Follows.

(Journal Special Service.) London, Nov. 9.—With all the glitter and pageantry that have marked the ceremony for centuries past, Sir William Treloar, known as the "children's alderman," was today installed as lord mayor of London.

The chief feature of the procession was the representation in costume of seven centuries of the civic life of the city of London.

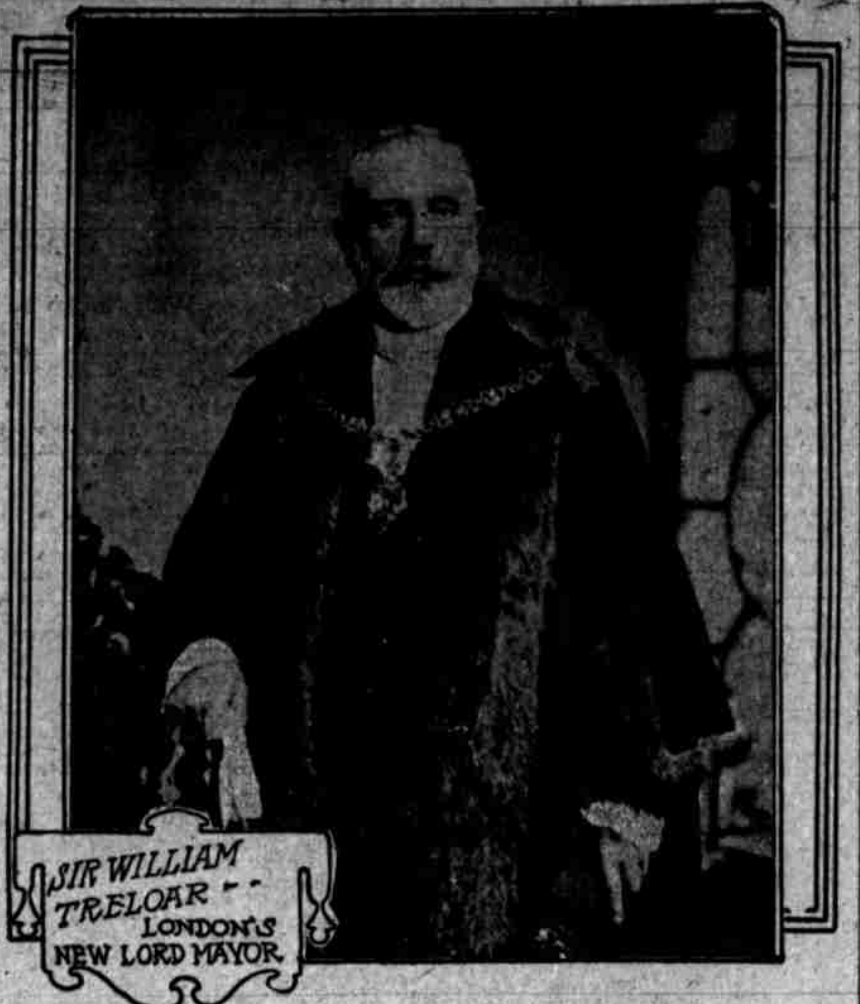

Such historic lords mayors as Fitz Alyn and Dick Whittington were included, but it was only after a long debate that the committee finally decided to include John Wilkes in the pageant.

The procession started from the Guild hall at 10 o'clock. Along the route the usual flags and banners were displayed.

The banquet was of the usual brilliant character and passed off without mishap. Being a success of the oratory of the day, the banquet was a gathering of distinguished guests.

Sir William Treloar, the new lord mayor, is 63 years old and a native of London. It is a quarter of a century since he first came forward for election as common councilman.

In response to a telephone message, Patrolman J. J. Murphy was sent to the home of Mrs. Maxon at 431 West Park street.

SIR WILLIAM TRELOAR, LONDON'S NEW LORD MAYOR.

JURORS TALK STRIKE BECAUSE ONE MAN ALWAYS DISAGREES

Twenty jurymen in the circuit court talked strike today. It wasn't because of any grievance against any of the judges, or against any of the bailiffs, or even any of the clerks.

John Hinterman is a big, broad German, who prides himself on his firmness and combative ways.

But the limit came in the Emil Johnson case, the second in which John Hinterman sat. It was one of the most petty cases which ever went to a jury in the circuit court.

COOLNESS OF POLICEMAN SAVES WOMAN FROM MADDENED STEER

To the courage and coolness of Mounted Patrolman H. E. Parker a woman was saved from being gored to death by an infuriated steer this morning.

In some manner the steer escaped from the Union stockyards and with head down and bellowing defiance to those who sought to stop it charged madly down Everett street.

DARING SMUGGLER IN THE TOILS

J. Bunce, Deputy Sheriff of Seattle, Worth Hundred Thousand, Under Arrest.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, Wash., Nov. 9.—J. Bunce, for four years deputy sheriff under Sheriff Cuddehe, and until recently partner of L. W. Nelson, late candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, was arrested this morning on complaint sworn out by W. M. Rice, agent of the treasury department, charged with smuggling.

It is the most sensational case the customs officials have had in years, due to the prominence of the prisoner in political circles and the fact that Bunce is easily worth $100,000.

RETAIL BUTCHERS SEEK TO HAVE MRS. EVANS OUSTED AS INSPECTOR OF MARKETS

It is likely that the council will be called upon at an early date to abolish the office of market inspector and make provision for having the duties of the office performed by a deputy who shall be under the direct supervision of Dr. Wheeler of the health board.

C. B. Merrick, secretary of the Retail Grocers' association, in discussing the matter this morning, said: "The retail grocers have no quarrel with Mrs. Evans. She is conscientious in her work, and has undoubtedly improved the conditions under which food products are sold."

Councilman Kellaher said: "I have found Mrs. Evans faithful and conscientious in the discharge of her duties. Her rulings may sometimes seem a little harsh, but I think they will always be found in the interest of cleanliness in the sale of our food products, and no one ought to object to that."

It is understood that the opposition to Mrs. Evans comes entirely from some of the retail butchers, who are dissatisfied with her efforts to enforce the regulations of the board of health.

WHITTIER WILL GO INTO ADVERTISING BUSINESS

Harry C. Whittier and N. L. Shafer, two of the best known advertising managers in the Pacific northwest, have joined forces under the name of "The Shafer-Whittier Sales and Advertising Bureau."

Mr. Whittier is particularly well known because of having had charge of the advertising of Olds, Wortman & King for the past four years.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS OREGON DELEGATES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., Nov. 9.—Governor Chamberlain appointed yesterday the following delegates to the National Rivers and Harbors congress which will meet in Washington, D. C., December 10 and 11.

REMOVAL OF JUNCTION WILL RUIN TEXICO

(Journal Special Service.) Roswell, N. M., Nov. 9.—A well authenticated report is that the Santa Fe has decided to move the junction of the Pecos Valley system and the Newborn cutoff line from Texico, seven miles west, to a new town called Kelly.

MAYOR SCHMITZ HAS FAILED IN MISSION

(Journal Special Service.) Berlin, Nov. 9.—Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco has failed to reform the German fire insurance companies and make good the earthquake fire losses.

FRIGES SPOUSE WITH BULLETS

Frederick Schaffhauser is Slain by F. Hornberger in Philadelphia City Hall.

(Journal Special Service.) Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—"You killed my wife, I will kill you," shouted Frederick Hornberger, a well-known Philadelphia, this morning, as leveling a revolver at a window in the city water department office.

When arrested Hornberger said that he was not insane and that he was not sorry for what he had done. He said: "I shot Schaffhauser because he broke up my home and blighted my life. My wife died September 18 from worry over criminal assault committed by Schaffhauser. I am glad I shot him."

Schaffhauser was to be the star witness against John W. Hill, accused of conspiracy in the water bond steel, and it was feared that he had been murdered by a hired assassin who was in the employ of some one who feared the effect of his testimony.

Hornberger appeared at the water office with his hands cuffed to his wrists and was taken to the city hall shortly before noon today. He requested that he be allowed to see Schaffhauser, but was informed that the latter was too busy to see him at that time.

Learning that it would be impossible for him to gain access to the man he had evidently intended to slay, Hornberger became excited and rushing to a window of the victim's office he fired upon the man with his revolver, inflicting the five shots into the body of Schaffhauser the slayer quietly submitted to arrest and is now confined in prison.

THINK ROBBERY OF DOCTOR IS CASE OF FAKE

According to the police, Dr. F. J. Reiland, who claims to have been waylaid and robbed at Fourth and Madison streets at an early hour this morning by two footpads, was suffering from an overwrought imagination.

JURY DISAGREES IN BARRELL DAMAGE SUIT

The damage suit of W. C. Barrell against the Oregon Auto-Despatch company will have to be tried again, unless the case be compromised.

KELLY BUTTE JAIL IS CROWDED BY PRISONERS

So many defendants have received recent sentences in the police court since the arrangement made with the county authorities to commit city prisoners to Kelly's Butte that it has become necessary to provide additional sleeping quarters.

POPE WASTING AWAY FROM CONFINEMENT

(Journal Special Service.) Rome, Nov. 9.—The pope is gradually wasting away on account of the unaccustomed confinement of the Vatican. This opinion was expressed today by Dr. Lazzari, the first official announcement regarding the pontiff's health.

REVISION OF WATER RATES SUBJECT MAY BE BROUGHT UP FOR DISCUSSION AT NEXT MEETING OF THE BOARD—COUNCIL PRACTICALLY DEMANDS CHANGE OF SYSTEM

At its next meeting it is probable that the water board will take up the question of revision of the water rates, which are declared by Mayor Lane as well as thousands of citizens to be absolutely unjust.

More than one member of the council has threatened to put an obstacle in the way of the operation of the water department next year if the rates are not made more equitable.

Now let a block of the same size be occupied by eight dwellings, one for each lot, at average number. According to the rules of the water board, a minimum sprinkling charge of $1.50 must be paid for each lot.

What the City Uses. If the city, whose revenues are derived by general taxation, would pay over to the water department what it owes for water furnished the fire, police, health and other city departments, as well as the city buildings, it is declared that the movement for payment of all water rates by taxation would fall of its own weight.

SWEETHEART GOT HIM PARDON BUT MAN FAILED TO REFORM

Pardoned from the county jail, where he was serving a sentence of one year for larceny, through the intercession of his sweetheart with the chief executive of the state, Alex. Stephens betrayed the confidence of his friends and the woman he loved within a month after regaining his liberty by again lapsing into his evil ways.

Prior to the commission of his former crime, which consisted of the theft of a quantity of old rope and sacks from the foot of Thurman street, Stephens had met and won the love of a respectable woman. Her faith in him was not shattered by his conviction and the doors of the county jail had hardly closed behind him when she sought to secure his release.

BAY CITY GRAND JURY IS PREPARING FOR WORK

(Journal Special Service.) San Francisco, Nov. 9.—The grand jury impaneled to investigate the charges of municipal grafting met at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Judge Graham's court. A foreman has been appointed and plan of action outlined.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Corvallis, Or., Nov. 9.—The Home Telephone company of Portland has just closed a deal with a Kansas City company to purchase the Corvallis independent telephone plant, including the owned locally and the farmers' interests.

RICH FARMER TRIED AND FINED BY PHONE

(Journal Special Service.) Tarrant, Wis., Nov. 9.—John Hendricks, a rich farmer, came to town on election day and shipped the town marshal. On recovering the officer swore out a warrant. The justice of the peace called up Hendricks and told him to come to town for trial.

TO CONSIDER THE WATER RATES

At its next meeting it is probable that the water board will take up the question of revision of the water rates, which are declared by Mayor Lane as well as thousands of citizens to be absolutely unjust.

More than one member of the council has threatened to put an obstacle in the way of the operation of the water department next year if the rates are not made more equitable.

Now let a block of the same size be occupied by eight dwellings, one for each lot, at average number. According to the rules of the water board, a minimum sprinkling charge of $1.50 must be paid for each lot.

MANY MISSING IN HOTEL RUNS

Shifting Sands Beneath Foundation Believed to Have Caused Collapse. Long Beach, Cal., Nov. 9.—Among the bodies recovered from the ruins of the Bibble hotel which collapsed this morning was that of Dick Perkins, a workman. Among the seriously injured are Ira Zee, James Parker, a mason, and an unknown workman.

AND NOW SHE WANTS ALL HER MONEY BACK

Mary E. Clay, a fortune-teller, has begun suit in Justice Reid's court to recover $50,000, which she says was lost out of her purse while it was in care of the management of the Merchants' hotel.

REFUSES TO TELL WHO TRIED TO KILL HIM

Bleeding profusely from an ugly gash on the neck and weakened from loss of blood, A. W. Martin was taken to the hospital on November 5, the purse was returned to her there was only $4.40 in it. William H. Weber, who with his father is the owner of the Merchants' hotel, declares he is in no manner responsible for the money, as it was tossed in the clerk's hands by Mrs. Clay asking a receipt. Hayes & Brand have filed the suit for Mrs. Clay.
