"Lion and Mouse" Seats Selling.

The advance seat sale began this morning at the boxoffice of the Heilig theatre for the much-talked shout American society drama. "The Lion and the Mouse," which comes to the above theatre next Monday and Tuesday sights, November 12 and 13, with a matines Tuesday. The boxoffice will be open all day tomorrow for sale of "Lion and Mouse" tickets.

"Under Southern Skies" Coming.

Lottle Blair Parker, who wrote "Way Down East," is also the author of "Under Southern Saies," which comes to the Heilig theatre next Wednesday and Thursday nights, November 14 and 15. This pretty play of southern life made a most decided hit when here last year at the Marquam. The advance sale of sents will open next Monday at the boxofice of the theatre.

New Bill at the Baker.

A day is a peculiar thing to lose and it may seem funny, but it may also be vestly serious. That this is true will be shown next week at the Baker, beginning tomorrow matinee, when "Lost-Twenty-four Hours." will be the bill. It is a screaming farce having to do with the adventures of a young husband who starts out to have a gay time while his wife is away from home. Donald Bowles does the young husband. Lillian Lawrence appears in a role which will be new, for her, on the stage of the Baker; she will be a naughty adventures.

Last Time Tonight.

Tonight is the last chance to see the Baker stock company in "At Piney Ridge," the great David Higgins play which has been causing comment all week because of the excellent acting and the pretty stage pictures. This is likewise the last performance of Richard Thornton as leading man at the Baker. You ought to see "At Piney Ridge," It pulses with real life. There is heart interest, humor, pathos and good, wholesome sentiment in it. Last time tonight. New bill tomorrow matines.

"A Royal Slave" Tonight.

The last performance of the beautiful play. "A Royal Slave." will be given at the Empire tonight. At Empire prices a production like this is simply a reveletion. The wealth of scenery, the capable acting company and the outtre performance shows the greatest care and expenditure of much money: It must be seen to be appreciated.

"As Told in the Hills."

Tomorrow afternoon "As Told in the Hills" will open the week at the Empire. This is a play of western life and one that for the last two seasons has been most highly successful in the east. This is its first trip west of the Mississippi and it carries one of the best companies in the entire western circuit this year. Everyone who attends the Empire next week will be more than pleased. There are several big nets on the program at the Grand this week and tomorrow will be the last day the current bill will be presented. Nellie Andrews and her grand opera associates are giving selections from "The Bohemian Girl." This is the greatest singing act ever heard in Portland outside of a high-priced opera. On the bill are many comedians and akuten artists, but what will be found of especial interest are the moving pictures of the recent automobile race for the Vanderbilt cup.

There will be two performances of "The ectoroon" tonight at the Lyric, and besides ber the agitation against the meat trust, the revelation of 'The Jungie' and other reports. The canned meat trade in England of United States' firms was almost ruined. English canners gained. There was a project then of forming a meat trust in England. But it fell through. The influence here was not sufficiently strong.

"But when the English soapmakers had their pockets touched by the sudden riss in tailow they began to listen to the suggestions from America. I personally know that Sir Thomas Lipton brought Mr. Armour of Chicago and Mr. Lever together at Claridge's hotel during the American's visit here at the end of the past summer.

"It was soon after this that Mr. Lever began buying up soap companies. Buying, mind you, not merely amalgamating them under one management for husiness purposes. Lever bought outright more than half the companies now in the trust. Those he couisn't buy outright he has amalgamated.

"After the papers had all been signed and the trust became a fact, Sir Thomas Lipton was sent across the ocean empowered to make the deal with the mest trust for the formation of an English holding company for the meat trust. Lipton has long been tile only man anxious to have such a trust here. Now he has the soap men and other capitalists behind him."

FOOTBALL BUCKING STRAP

London, Nov. 16.—"American com-mercial methods are being adopted more and more in England. Take, for in-stance, the soap trust which at the moment is agitating the whole country."

moment is agitating the whole country.

The speaker, an American whose interests and business in England are of the largest, knows more of the soap business probably than any man outside of the new trust magnate, W. H. Lever, M. P. But he refused to be interviewed if his name was mentioned. He has reasons.

'In a nutshell," he said, "this soap trust is the opening gun of the American trust system in England. If it succeeds—and there is little doubt that it will—this country will be as honeycombed with trusts as is the United States. John Bull is as wise' to the dollar as the American business man. But he is old-fashioned, conservative and travels in a rut hoary with the age of centuries. He hates to acknowledge the adoption of American methods. Yet in less than a decade this country will be thoroughly Americanized after the most approved trust methods, and the trusts will be backed up by the tons upon tons of British gold, which now. comparatively, are lying idle at 2 and 1 per cent. In using the contrivance the player takes his position as in an actual game, and the ball is put in play in exactly the same manner as in a game. The player receives the bail and dives into the strap. He pushes his head through the aperture, the weights resisting his attempted gain. The collar is of sufficient width to admit the head only, giving free play to the shoulders.

Football practice is already in full swing. One of the latest contrivances used for teaching the players being a liter of the East Oregonian and learning or the the paper in the luthre, is the city elitor of the East Oregonian, and hereafter the Sanator will be published from the office of that paper in Pendiston. The size of the Senator will be enlarged at once and a strong effort made to make it of even more value to the order of Knights of Pythias than it has been in the past.

JUROR SAYS HE WILL DO AS HE PLEASES

John Hinterman, the man who nearly John Hintermin, the man who nearly caused a strike among the circuit jurors yesterday because he held out so stubbornly against the rest of the 12 in the case of the city against Emil Johnson, threatens to "do it again, and worse."

"I'm nobody's dummy." said Hinterman today. "I have a right to my own oplaion and I'm going to stand by it next time, even if they never get their het lunch. If I can't see my way clear to convict a man I'll hold out for him until the judgment day."

Hinterman explained that he was in favor of the acquittal of Johnson because he did not believe the testimeny of Policeman Ksy, one of the leading of Policeman Kay, one of the leading witnesses against Johnson.

FINED FOR CARRYING BIG, BLACK REVOLVER

G. Serravelle, an Italian arrested last night by Patrolman Ellis at Fourth and Davis streets on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, was fined $10 this morning by Judge Cameron. Serravelle amused himself during the evening by brandishing a huge revolver in the Paris house to the great terror of the immates. When apprehended by the Paris house to the great terror of the inmates. When apprehended by the policeman the gun, fully loaded, and a sack of cartridges were found in his pockets. Owing to the fact that Serravelle was intoxicated and no damage had been done Judge Cameron imposed the minimum fine.

From the Philadelphia Record.

"Ours is one business in which there are no women shoplifters," said a book-seller yesterday. "We are troubled with shoplifters, but they are all men. Women don't seem to have any time for book stealing. It's remarkable how many thefit we detect in the course of a week.

many thefts we detect in the course of a week.

"Visitors who look prosperous enough to buy whole libraries are often caught abstracting a 25-cent book. I figure that this is due to the great temptation. You see, in book stores callers are given the run of the place, and are at liberty to examine the stock at their leisure. A man picks up some little volume he may want, and seeing no one at hand, the temptation to get something for nothing is too much for him. He slips the coveted article into his pocket, but we have wary salesmen, and most of such offenders are tripped up. Then they have to pay for the purioined volumes, and are warned that many exploration of the shopliftine."
