

NEWBERG PLAYERS INDIGNANT

Claim is Made That Pacific Grove Students Misrepresented Facts.

TEAM WAS NOT COMPOSED OF COLLEGE PERFORMERS

Center Saunders of the Newberg Combination States That Game Was Scheduled as a Preparatory Contest.

Newberg, Or., Nov. 12.—To the Sporting Editor of The Journal.—In reading the account of the Newberg-Pacific football game in Sunday's Journal it would seem that the writer was either not present at the game or else had willfully told an untruth.

In the first place, the announcement said that "it (the Newberg team) was made up of college, city and high school men," when, in truth, there was not a college man on the team, but "it" was made up of eight boys from the preparatory department of the college and three from the local public school.

When the game was scheduled it was as Newberg Amateurs vs. Pacific University preparatory team, but when Newberg's players arrived at Forest Grove it was found to their consternation that the game was billed as P. C. vs. P. U. and they went upon the gridiron to battle with the same team which had played O. A. C. one week before; moreover, Newberg's men, who were all new to the game of football, had never lined up as a team until they did so on P. U.'s grounds.

It is readily seen why "all the town is rejoicing over the outcome of the last game of the year"—last year Pacific college defeated Pacific university with a score of 5 to 0, and being afraid to play P. C. again this year, it would be an easy way to "get even," by defeating the "lamb," who were sent to play a preparatory team, and then give the results to the public as a university vs. college game.

The students and faculty of Pacific college are righteously indignant over the way in which Pacific university treated them, and we take this way to highly inform some of the misinformed public.

OREGON BOWLERS CLIP THE GOVERNMENT BONDS

In last night's match on the Oregon alleys the Oregonians outclassed the Government Bonds, each game going over the 900 mark. The numerous splits kept the Bonds' score down, which lost all three for them. Swainey, with 198, showed high average. Reeds rolled the highest single game, 332. The scores:

PACIFIC MEN SELECT BASKETBALL MANAGERS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Forest Grove, Or., Nov. 13.—Haskell E. Ferrin has been elected manager of the Pacific university basketball team and I. D. Aller, captain, for the coming season. Both men are strong players and have been playing for several seasons. Haskell Ferrin is the oldest son of President W. N. Ferrin, of Pacific university. Last year he was a star man on the team and the college is proud of his work with the large ball. All the men interested in this sport were given a banquet at the residence of E. E. Williams and great manifestation was brought out in the interest of basketball. As the football season is over, all the time the men have will be turned over to basketball. Several that will be on the team were stars of the football season and are now in fine condition. The men that will fight it out for positions are all experienced men and a strong team will be in the field. They are Ferrin, Aller, Witham, Kirkwood, Logan, Williams, Gwynn and Humphreys. The different classes of the college and academy are bringing about the organization of separate teams, which will contest for honors during the year.

Although football has been proclaimed a thing of the past, for this season, the two literary societies—Gamma Sigma and Alpha Zeta—are contemplating competing for honors on the gridiron. As not much satisfaction has been received from different student elections in which these societies were interested, their troubles and worries will be fought out for good on the football field Saturday. As the feeling is intense the game promises to be a hard one.

Professor Orr of the department of public speaking of the college, who was a noted basketball player while in the east a few years ago, will coach Pacific's men.

FOOTBALL FUMBLES

Hubbard of Amherst is one of the grandest fighters on the football field today. He never knows when he is stopped. In the first 10 football games last year in which Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Carlisle, Brown, Dartmouth, Lafayette and West Point contested, these teams scored 584 points to their opponents' 23. This year, under the new rules, the leaders for the same season in a smaller number of games is 531 to 21.

Here is what Captain Haffoy of Berkeley said after the defeat of his team by Stanford: "We certainly did not get the best end of the refereeing. Stanford was repeatedly favored. There were dozens of Stanford off-side plays which I saw myself, but which were not called. Unmack penalized us at every possible stage. He would declare yards on us, and give Stanford a scrum for the same play. I do not think we were outplayed at all. It is possible for an umpire to show a great deal of favoritism, if he desires.

Referee Unmack of the Stanford-Berkeley game on Saturday said that Kenneth Fenton of Portland was the star of the contest. Here is what Unmack says: "Practically one man won the game for Stanford. That was Fenton, who, through his great kicking ability, kicked both goals. Fenton at fullback got his side out of lots of tight places by his long punting. This player ought to cultivate the use of his left foot a little more. It will be of great assistance to him when he is surrounded by opposing players and positively cannot get a kick in with his right. Stott and Chalmers worked splendidly together. They kept the ball cleanly and always got off the mark very fast."

Hill and Columbia will have a great struggle on Friday afternoon on Multnomah field. The match will be witnessed by many followers of both institutions.

Quarterback Blanchard of the Multnomah eleven will not be in Saturday's game against Willamette, having gone to California on a 10 days' trip.

SPORTING GOSSIP

The Dartmouth baseball team is to play the Annapolis naval cadets next season for the first time.

Harry Baker, the little Frisco fighter, is coming to the front at night. His 20-round fight with Abe Attell stamped him a comer.

Will Billy Delaney make a champion of Al Kaufman? In the past Delaney has handled several of the greatest fighters ever, seen in the ring.

If the fight promoters at Chelsea are not careful raw decisions by incompetent referees will queer the club.

Losing the National League pennant was a bitter pill for Manager McGraw to swallow and it's a case of up and doing for John now getting ready for next season.

The baseball fans over both major league circuits would like to see Cincinnati and Cleveland the pennant winners next season, providing their home team is out of the race. Both the Ohio teams are popular everywhere.

The Denver Bowling Tournament association has been formed in the Colorado capital to handle the coming Western Bowling congress.

James Heffernan, manager of the baseball club of Elmira, New York, has been appointed assistant district attorney in his city.

Doyle, the new pitcher of the New York Americans, recently shut out the Pittsburgh Nationals 4 to 0 in an exhibition game at Wheeling, West Virginia.

NEARY AND MEMSIC ARE READY FOR THE CONTEST

(Journal Special Service.) Los Angeles, Nov. 13.—The demand for tickets for tonight's fight between Charlie Neary and George Memsic shows that one of the largest crowds for many months will see the battle. All reports indicate that both men are in good condition. At 8 o'clock this afternoon they weigh in at 131 pounds.

CLUB TEAM FEARS WILLAMETTE

Last Season's Defeats by Salem Have Put the Winged M Players on Alert.

MULTNOMAH PLAYERS ADDICTED TO LAZINESS

Effort Will Be Made in Three Nights to Turn Out an Eleven That Can Make a Satisfactory Showing Against Captain Nace's Team.

The principle topic of discussion this week among the local football devotees is next Saturday's struggle between the Willamette university team and the Multnomah club eleven. There is no getting away from the fact that Salem has a first-class aggregation of players this year, and a bunch that will give the "hubmen" one of the hardest games of the entire season. There is nothing that conduces more to the fighting spirit and confidence of a team than to give it a taste of victory. Last year the Willamette team got the sweet smack of victory here in Portland, when Multnomah was conquered 4 to 0 by a well-directed place kick by Rader. Later All-Salem, which included nearly all of the Willamette team, did a similar trick to Multnomah, and Rader was the player who did the work. In the face of these victories, is there any wonder that Multnomah's players and friends are scared today? Would not these facts put fear into any Multnomah team? Last year Multnomah defeated Oregon. Willamette was beaten by Oregon, yet Multnomah could do nothing with Rader's team in either contest. If Multnomah with a good team couldn't do anything last year with Willamette, why should the club team, with its ragged practices, hope to do more on Saturday?

West Saturday's game will be the turning point in the local football season. Multnomah's prestige demands a victory. It is true that the clubmen have defeated Albany, Whitman and Astoria this year, and while the scores were decisive enough, the playing of the clubmen was not fast nor accurate enough to satisfy the club management. Multnomah has good material, but some of the players are proverbially lazy. This year's rules will not permit post-mortems after every scrimmage or after every run. The ball must be followed with great precision and speed, and the team that can do this will emerge a victor many times.

Of course, one thing that has not yet been settled is what men will play in the Thanksgiving game against Oregon. It has been decided, however, to make the selections after the Willamette game. In this way the men who make the best showing next Saturday will be the first in the line-up against Oregon. That there will be a number of surprises in the line-ups is not denied at the club.

Multnomah has but three nights in which to turn out a team, beginning this evening, and if the boys do not get in and do the work there will be a loss in the air next Saturday evening.

OREGON WORRIES ABOUT THE WASHINGTON GAME

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 13.—As a result of the Washington-Willamette game when neither team scored, considerable anxiety is being expressed by the Oregon men as to the outcome of the same, Saturday, with the Washingtonians on Kincaid field here. Washington, however, will be on a strange field, and that will surely do something toward breaking the hoodoo which hangs over the scoreless career of the Seattle institution.

Cocher Bealek was very serious before Oregon met Willamette and is even more so now. The following week will show some changes in Oregon's line-up in all probability, though shakeup is apprehended. Oregon has been very strong on defense and in her line, but when it comes to advancing the ball she has not been successful. Her supporters do not go much afraid of being beaten, as of being unable to win, which would lower every claim that they hope to be able to put forth to the Northwest college championship.

Pullman is another source of anxiety, for she won against Idaho by a touchdown, and if Oregon does not beat Washington, Pullman might become the logical winner of the honors of the northwest. The game here is considered the biggest college event of the season in the northwest.

ROWING CLUB MEMBERS SELECT DIRECTORS

At the annual meeting of the Portland Rowing club last evening R. W. Wilbur, P. E. Stowell, E. C. Hays, W. A. King, A. R. Stringer, E. O. Glos, and A. C. McMicken were elected directors for the coming year. The committee reports showed that the club is in fine condition, having passed through a season of financial and sporting successes. On next Tuesday the directors will meet and elect officers.

The Buck's Hot-Blast Heater

Is the model of perfection in heater construction—something entirely different from all others—a heater that in ordinary tests has proven its wonderful economy in fuel. This is made possible by two things: First, through the scientific construction of the draft, and second, through the fact that they burn the cheapest grade of coal slack or screenings with as much satisfaction as with high grade lump coal. Actual tests have demonstrated that these two combine to effect a saving of no less than 38 per cent—a feature worthy of consideration when selecting a heater. The draft of the Buck's Hot Blast is its most wonderful constructive feature. It is so arranged that the cold air is drawn from the floor into the heater through the hot-blast ring, coming in directly over the fire, instead of below, and passing downward, compels all gas, soot and smoke to be consumed. In the ordinary straight-draft heater this is lost by being permitted to escape through the chimney. A Buck's Hot-Blast will easily hold fire for thirty-six hours. They are made in many sizes and are richly ornamented. The complete line of Buck's wood and coal heaters now on display in our stove and range department—Basement. Terms on all styles and sizes.

ERSTWHILE SOCIAL LION ON TRIAL FOR SLAYING SWEETHEART

Chester Gillette Defended by Great Array of Legal Talent at Herkimer.

MURDER A CRUEL ONE IF ALLEGATIONS ARE TRUE

Former Seattle Boy Engaged to Another Girl at Time He Killed Pretty Grace Brown by Striking Her Over the Head With Oar.

ROWING CLUB MEMBERS SELECT DIRECTORS

(Journal Special Service.) Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Preliminary remarks by counsel for the state were heard at the opening of the second day of the trial of Chester Gillette, who is accused of murdering his sweetheart, Grace Brown, today.

Gillette is defended by a great array of legal talent and is apparently unconcerned as to the outcome of the trial. He places supreme confidence in his attorneys and wears a carefree and light-hearted manner in the courtroom.

It is charged that July 21 of this year the youth murdered Miss Brown while the couple were rowing a boat at Big Moose, hitting her over the head with an oar or tennis racket and then throwing her body into the water. The girl's body showed the mark of the blow and an oarlock to which a clot of matted hair and blood still clung was discovered.

The police will endeavor to prove that Gillette made another attempt to take Miss Brown's life in the shirt factory, and bolster up their circumstantial evidence in every way.

Was Social Lion. Apart from the legal complications involved, the case is an extraordinarily interesting one. The accused is a young man of wealthy family and high social position. His victim was a remarkably pretty, popular and charming girl of highly respectable family, though of less social prominence than he. The crime was an extraordinarily cruel one, if all the circumstances took place as alleged. Gillette was free to marry the girl as he ought to have done, and as it is said he had promised to do, but he was paying attention to another young woman, who had wealth and high social position. It is believed that he wanted to marry her, and that this was his motive for getting rid of Miss Brown.

The other young woman is Miss Nettie Benedict, daughter of the most prominent lawyer in Utica, Miss Benedict has denied that there was any engagement, but he was certainly a frequent visitor to the house.

Lived at Seattle. Chester Gillette is the nephew of N. H. Gillette, the millionaire shirt manufacturer of Portland. His own home was in Seattle, Washington, but he came to Portland to enter his uncle's business. Grace Brown was the fourth child of Frank B. Brown, a respectable farmer at South Ostle, and was exactly 19 years old. She was known to her friends as "Billy" Brown.

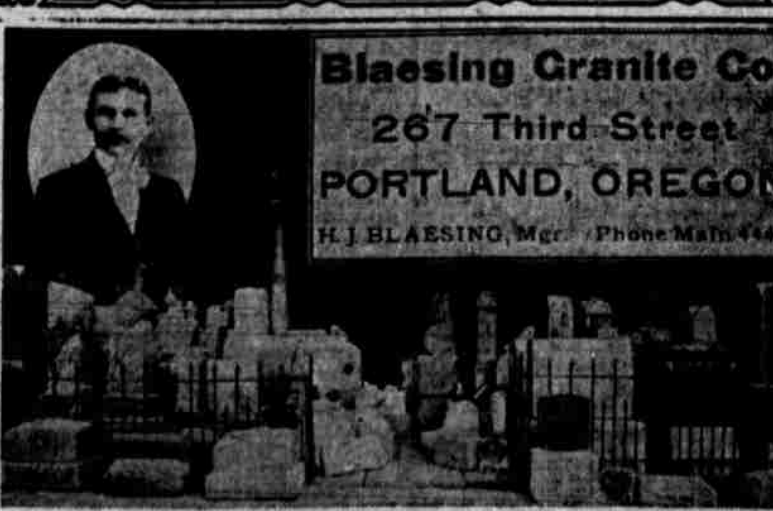

On Wednesday, July 11, the body of Grace Brown was picked up in Big Moose lake by some fishermen. After the post-mortem it was said that she was alive when she entered the water, although she may have been stunned.

District Attorney Ward, Under Sheriff Austin B. Klock and Deputy Sheriff Ingraham of Herkimer county, went to work with great energy and soon put together a chain of clues that led to the arrest of young Gillette. On Friday they took the train to Big Moose, went to the Hotel Glenmore and there learned by wire that Gillette had ordered a package of laundry sent to Eagle Bay. They spent the night riding over there, and at 7 o'clock on Saturday morning they identified Gillette sitting on the piazza of the Arrowhead hotel house, on Fourth lake. Klock approached him and said:

"Have you noticed that Billy Brown has been drowned in Big Moose?" "No," he shouted. "Is that so?" "Yes," said the sheriff quietly, placing his hand on his shoulder, "and you are under arrest for her murder."
