

PORTLAND, OREGON, SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 18, 1906.

UMATILLA BELLE IS QUITE WEALTHY

Kash Kash is Highly Educated and Taking Post Graduate Course in East.

By Lulu R. Lorenz.

Anna Kash Kash.

Anna Kash Kash, the Indian maid of whom the above is a very true representation, is the daughter of one of the leading Indians of the Umatilla tribe, and is the best educated Indian girl on the reservation. 'Kash Kash' means speckle bird, says the red man.

She is liked among the members of the tribe, and such a noble, loving heart as hers, say the Umatillas makes beautiful and fair the most uncouth. She is termed the Umatilla belle, and is now taking a post graduate course in Philadelphia, having graduated at the Carlisle Indian school in the spring 1906.

Quite wealthy to the east with several Umatilla girls who have entered the Carlisle school. She has 40 acres of excellent land in her own right on the reservation, and her father has quite large holdings. Kash Kash is one of the few Indians still living who were converts of Dr. and Mrs. Whitman, the missionaries who were massacred near Walla Walla in 1847. He was a mere boy at that time, but after the death of Whitman the mission on the reservation was kept up by the few Indian converts, and a native Indian would preach, there the old church stands on the reservation today. A white man, Rev. J. M. Connelson, now has charge of the Presbyterian mission on the reservation, and Kash Kash is a devout member of this church and an elder.

He uses the name of Minthorn among the whites and Anna is known as Miss Anna Minthorn at school. They live in a comfortable home such as used by the white men on the reservation, and have not lived in a tepee since Anna was a little papoose, 20 years ago.

Anna clothes herself as the white girls do and only when having a photo taken is she seen in the most gorgeous Indian gowns, decorated in some of the most beautiful bead work done by the women of the tribe.

Education of Indians. The education of the Indians is becoming almost marvelous among most of the tribes. From generation to generation the tradition of the white man's God was handed down, until in 1823 four Flatheads were sent by the tribe to St. Louis to ask that teachers be given them.

Every student of history knows how that appeal stirred the heart of the east, and caused the sending of the first missionaries to Oregon, and from the movement then inaugurated have since sprung all the missions to the Indians of the west.

Thus he who gave his life to the Indians, and died seemingly in vain, sowed seed that sprang up and bore a harvest long after his death.

The gravity, fixed attention, and decorum of these sons of the forest calculated to make for them a most favorable impression.

Tools Are Stolen. C. F. Squibb, 425 East Morrison street, and E. J. Finley, 123 Grover street, complained to the police yesterday that thieves had carried away a number of valuable tools belonging to them from two new houses at Park and Ford streets. The police have no clue to the culprits. An unusually large number of reports of the theft of tools from buildings throughout the city have been received during the past week, but the detectives have been unable to apprehend any of the thieves.

BEST LIMENT ON MARKET. Henry D. Baldwin, Supt. City Water Works, Shillaburg, Wis., writes: 'I have tried many kinds of liment, but I have never received much benefit until I used Ballard's Snow Liment for rheumatism and pains. I think it is the best liment on earth.' 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Woodard, Clarke & Co.
