

PORTLAND MILLS SHUT DOWN

Inability to Secure Wheat Causes Large Albina Plant to Close for Awhile.

Principal market features today: More complications in sugar. Egg market is higher. Pork market is mixed. First new barrel seasons in. Hops are quiet and firm. Portland flour mills shut down. Small outside potato shipments.

Portland Flour Mills Shut Down. So serious has the wheat shortage become in this city that the large Albina mill of the Portland Flouring Mills company has been compelled to close for the past week and the present outlook is not for an early resumption of the grinding. The mill which was operated by the interior millers on account of the lack of wheat supplies with the crop shortage growing more acute instead of better everywhere on the Pacific coast flour supplies are getting very low and a famine in supplies is not so far off as some had led to expect.

Local wheat and flour trade shows practically a normal tone. There is no hoarding of wheat at interior mills and they have already purchased heavily and cannot move the supplies to their mills. The flour trade is quiet because there cannot be secured for shipment to tide water by interior millers. Local millers are unable to do business because they cannot get the wheat to grind.

More Complications in Sugar. This morning it transpired that the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining company dropped its quotation for Saturday. The first decline of 5 cents, which was expected to be followed by a decline of 10 cents making the total decline on C. H. sugar 15 cents per hundred pounds for one day. No change was reported by the western refiners and the situation here is getting more complicated every minute. Jobbers are not quoting any lower or higher prices for sugar. Two refineries are not working in harmony. Prices here in the jobbing market are just the same as before the western refinery again placed its 5 cent advance on Saturday at a reduction of 20 cents from the regular price of one cent. That what will be the outcome of the matter jobbers here are unable to say and about four different prices are being quoted in the market by the evening, stretched up in the market by the evening.

Egg Market is Higher. Generally speaking receipts of local ranch eggs are very light. While a few dealers have fair supplies the majority of the trade is without stocks. This morning a few dealers of strictly fresh cracked stock were made up high as 27 1/2 cents from 26 1/2 cents. The price ran down to 25 cents. Eastern eggs are firmer with some again asking an advance in value.

The poultry held over from Saturday by those dealers who did not want to make too cheap prices, is depressing the market today. With an outside business outlook for poultry prices during the present week is not encouraging. Turkey are coming faster and on account of the high prices asked dealers are buying sparingly and most of the arrivals are going into cold storage.

Hops are Quiet but Firmer. Trading in the hop market shows a small volume but the tone of the market is slightly better. The few sales reported during the past 48 hours are within the range of prices quoted in this report.

WHAT DEALERS SAY OF LOCAL MARKETS

By W. B. Gifford Co. Poultry receipts during the past week were unusually heavy. Demand was comparatively light and prices weak. Turkeys, dressed, are selling at 27 1/2 cents, which we presume will be the market for Thanksgiving. There is no probability of an advance over this price. Ducks and geese are in good demand at market prices. Egg receipts are very light and prices range from 23 1/2 to 25 cents. HAMS—Dressed meats this past week were rather weak in price, but with the change of weather at a lower temperature we expect to see a better demand.
