FLOOD DAMAGE AT CASTLE ROCK NEARLY MILLION

Conditions Assuming Brighter Aspect—Business Being Resumed—Forty Houses Swept Away—Town Presents Most Forlorn Appearance.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Castle Rock, Wash., Nov. 20.—Conditions are assuming a rather brighter aspect here. People who lost their homes in the flood are getting temporarily quartered and business is resumed.

The whole south half of town presents a dilapidated appearance. About 40 houses were swept entirely away and half a score of others are either tilted over or removed from the lots on which they stood.

Articles of household effects and wearing apparel are being picked up along the river for miles below, but nearly everything found so far is so badly damaged that it is practically useless.

FRAGMENT OF STEEL CAUSES LOSS OF EYE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Barlow, Or., Nov. 20.—A piece of steel from a sledge-hammer flew into U. S. Armstrong's eye Saturday. He was taken to Portland to a hospital, and it was found necessary to take the eye out in order to save the other eye.

MOTION TO RECEDE IS DEFEATED

Judge Northup Makes Attempt Before Oregon Bar Association and Fails

The Oregon Bar association elected the following officers this afternoon: President—R. T. Platt. Secretary—R. A. Lester. Treasurer—Charles J. Schnabel.

Contention and disagreement marked the course of the sixteenth annual meeting of the Oregon Bar association this morning. The storm swirled about a resolution introduced by Judge H. H. Northup asking that the grievance committee of the association be instructed to recall the disbarment proceedings instituted against Judge A. H. Tanner, providing that the supreme court be willing to allow the charges which are now pending to be withdrawn.

Routine matters had occupied the attention of the association up to the time when Judge Northup introduced his resolution. He stated to the association that he wished to present a resolution which was of importance, and then read to the members a resolution directing the grievance committee to nullify its work in the Tanner case by asking the supreme court to allow the charges to be withdrawn and the disbarment proceedings to be dismissed.

Judge Northup, in supporting his resolution, which had been emphatically seconded by R. S. Pogue, said he believed in Judge Tanner, and yet did so, in spite of the charges lodged against him. He had known the accused man as a man of sterling worth, and he esteemed him as an ornament to the Oregon bar. His trouble had come as the result of unfortunate conditions where he had been forced to fall through the bonds of an old and lasting friendship for a man who was in deep trouble and legal danger. He thought it was fitting to have the charges against him withdrawn if the supreme court was willing to do so.

E. V. Holman followed Judge Northup with a motion to indefinitely postpone the resolution. He held that such action would not be fair to Judge Tanner. It was not fair for so few of the Oregon bar to quash the proceedings, for it would not carry absolute force in the state of the charges. If the resolution failed, the speaker contended, it would mean that the association had condemned Judge Tanner.

D. Chamberlain followed Mr. Holman and said he was with the former speaker. He was a friend of Judge Tanner, had visited in his house, enjoyed his hospitality, but he intended to vote against the resolution. The case had been argued before the supreme court and was in their hands. If they dismissed it Tanner was vindicated. If it was found that he had been guilty he should suffer and be disbarred.

Judge Webster Talks. Judge L. R. Webster came into the breach at this juncture and made a forceful plea for action to be taken. He contended that while the Bar association had done things which perhaps should not have been done, still it could point to the work of its investigating or grievance committee with pride. The committee had done a great work in the past and should not be interfered with. He said that if he was a member of the committee and such an arbitrary order was issued as the resolution called for he would resign and tell the association to do its own investigating.

S. H. Gruber asked Judge Northup to withdraw his resolution and let the supreme court take its course with the complaint.

Mayor Gives His Opinion. Oscar Hayter of Dallas, a member of the grievance committee, followed Mr. Gruber. The resolution, he said, was most unfortunate. If it prevailed he gave it as his opinion that in the future

WANTS COUNTY TO PURCHASE FALSE TEETH

F. W. Mulkey.

Pat White, Prisoner at Kelly Butte, Says He Can't Eat Jail Fare Unless He is Provided With a New Set of Artificial Grinders.

False teeth are demanded of the county by Pat White, a prisoner serving a nine months' sentence at the county health resort and good roads institute at Kelly Butte. White has been at the rockpile 10 days, but has already shown himself to be such a willing and efficient wielder of the hammer that the guards believe his requests ought to be considered, and have recommended him to the county court.

White has not a tooth in his head. Sunday Commissioner Lightner visited the sub jail with Assistant County Physician C. C. McCormack. White explained himself of the opportunity to eat his meals with, and Judge Webster finally stated that the false teeth would be purchased for White if he would agree to work for the county after the expiration of his sentence and pay for the teeth which will cost $10.

White says he is the victim of unfortunate circumstances. Only a short time ago he was released from the Washington state penitentiary at Walla Walla, after serving eight years. He came to Portland and had his teeth pulled, then to kill the pain drank liquor. He took too much, and while intoxicated he threw a pair of trousers and forgot to return them. Before he could arrange for a set of false teeth he was sentenced to nine months on the rock pile, and now he has to look to the county for teeth.

Sausage-Grinder May Do. Commissioner Barnes suggested that it would be cheaper to buy a sausage-grinder for White to chew his rations with. Judge Webster thought of instructing the cook to make soup for his benefit. All agreed after some discussion that the best workman at the rockpile ought to be afforded facilities to eat his meals with, and Judge Webster finally stated that the false teeth would be purchased for White if he would agree to work for the county after the expiration of his sentence and pay for the teeth which will cost $10.

COYOTE BILL AGAIN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

(Journal Special Service.) Helena, Mont., Nov. 20.—K. F. W. Beeskove, known as "Coyote Bill," is on trial here for the alleged murder of William Birrig, of Missoula county, last June. Beeskove was convicted of murder in the first degree, but a new trial was granted by the supreme court, and it was sent here on a change of venue.

"Coyote Bill," who owns a ranch in Rattlesnake valley, has for years been a noted character, and has been more or less involved in the courts for a number of years. A jury had not been secured up to a late hour.

WE WELCOME CONGRESS

President Francis Delivers Annual Address This Afternoon, Alderson to Speak for Western Federation and Loveland for San Francisco Sufferers.

(Journal Special Service.) Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 20.—A thousand delegates filled Convention hall today at the opening of the seventeenth annual convention of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress. The largest and most notable delegations represented California, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, Utah, Iowa, Missouri, Colorado, Arizona, Washington, Oregon, Wyoming and the Dakotas.

Every state and territory in the Union was represented today. The Auditorium was crowded. Delegates were arranged by states in a national political convention. All sessions will be public. The flags of the five Latin-American countries, the representatives of which speak tonight, were mingled with the stars and stripes.

J. B. Case of the executive committee called the meeting to order. Addresses of welcome were made by Colonel Fred Fleming, Governor Folk, Francis Hoch and Mlekety, Senators Stone and Warner, David R. Francis, president, will deliver his annual address this afternoon. Victor Alderson, president of the Colorado School of Mines, is authorized to speak for the Western Federation of Miners. Colonel H. D. Loveland this afternoon will express the gratitude of the Pacific coast earthquake sufferers to the country for relief.

At the beginning of the afternoon session the committees were appointed, credentials examined and the convention regularly organized. These preliminaries occupied the greater part of the session.

The program for the congress is only partially outlined. Following the procedure of former years the executive committee has decided that it would not fix any set time for the discussion of various topics. They will be taken up as they come. A preliminary program of regular organization has been introduced. In

"BE GOOD BOY," SHE SAYS, THEN TAKES HER LIFE

Suicide of Mrs. Timothy Collins in Presence of Her Young Son Makes a Record of Four Self-Inflicted Deaths During Past Twenty-Four Hours.

"Be a good little boy." With these words, addressed to her 8-year-old son, Mrs. Timothy Collins poured a quantity of carbolic acid into a cup of coffee, swallowed the concoction, and, throwing herself on a sofa, passed into a state of unconsciousness which ended in death this morning at 3:50 o'clock.

Mrs. Collins' suicide was the fourth which took place in Portland yesterday. Three took their lives by drinking car-

OREGONIAN HAS BAD FRIGHT AND MAKES APOLOGY

Threatened With Libel Suit, the Morning Paper Loses No Time in Assuring Senator Fulton and the Public That It Was All a Big Mistake.

Yes, there's a vast difference between an outraged man—in Washington, and an indignant brother—in Portland.

That's the whyfore of the apology to Senator Fulton that the "only" newspaper made this morning. A demand for retraction went with preliminary steps for criminal libel proceedings, and the white flag went up in a hurry.

On November 12 the Oregonian printed a local news story bearing the headline "Suspects Fulton of Land Frauds." Government agents were given as the authority for the statements that the senator would be implicated in the conspiracy to obtain fraudulent entries on the Umatilla Indian reservation.

Senator Fulton—in Washington—said he would demand an explanation and that he had instructed his attorneys here to learn the source of the "Only's" information. To this the worthy editor replied that his paper would always and forever print the news, "let the chips fall where they may."

But yesterday, Clyde G. Fulton, a lawyer and the "brother" of the senator, came to town. He had informed a number of his friends that he had instructions to go to the bottom of the case. He did it. So did the Oregonian—it says. This morning, in the course of an abrupt apology to Senator Fulton, it blames a reporter for "imposing" on the paper and says that no government agent is trying to implicate the senator.

APPREHENSION IS FELT CONCERNING CUBAN TROUBLE

Washington, Nov. 20.—Apprehension in Washington over the Cuban situation has increased rapidly within the last few days. Secretary Taft created a condition of peace when he visited Havana, but there was small evidence of pacification.

Cabinet officials know that the present trouble has been made graver because there was not proper time for this government to formulate any definite plan for the conduct of Cuban affairs. Governor Magoon, practically without preparation, was sent into a very heart of a game of revengeful cross purposes and full of possibilities, even probabilities, of dire difficulties.

If Governor Magoon is able to prevent violence until the election he will accomplish that which it is feared cannot be accomplished.

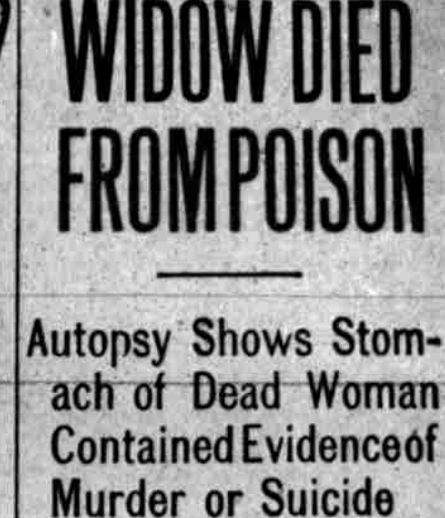

President Roosevelt and Secretary Root are determined that orderly government shall exist in Cuba, and that under it there shall be safeguarded free elections, independent courts and self-government.

CHINA'S FIRST JUDGE SAILS FOR THE ORIENT

CREFFIELD'S WIDOW DIED FROM POISON

Autopsy Shows Stomach of Dead Woman Contained Evidence of Murder or Suicide

Probably Killed Herself to Prevent Trial, as She Had Often Threatened to Do in Past—Esther Mitchell Supposed to Have Known Cause of Death.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, Wash., Nov. 20.—The coroner's physicians who analyzed the stomach of Mrs. Maud Hurt Creffield, the widow of the late Edmund "Joshua" Creffield, the Holy Roller leader, reported this afternoon that enough poison was found in the stomach of the dead woman to kill several persons. It is therefore evident that the woman was either murdered or committed suicide, probably the latter.

Mrs. Creffield was the daughter of O. V. Hurt of Corvallis. At the time of her death she was in prison with Esther Mitchell, both charged with the murder of Esther's brother, George Mitchell, who was killed by his sister in revenge for the murder of Creffield. She died suddenly about midnight last Friday night, supposedly from heart disease. She was buried yesterday beside the body of her husband, Esther Mitchell, who attended, exhibited the first sign of emotion she has shown since her husband's death. It is believed that the hypnotic spell under which Esther had been held by the elder woman was broken.

Suicide was threatened by both women when first arrested and a close watch kept over them to prevent them from carrying out their threats. Both expressed a desire to die frequently. Lately, however, officials have been off their guard by the changed demeanor of the woman which is believed now to have only been a ruse to secure the poison.

How the poison was smuggled in is a mystery. It is believed, however, that Esther Mitchell is in the secret. The closest kind of a watch is being kept upon her to prevent her following in the footsteps of her friend the mentor.

ASKS BRIDE TO PROVE HER LOVE THEN KILLS SELF

Wealthy Cousin of Millionaire Corey Throws Wife to Floor and Tries to Stab Her—She Pleads for Life, He Bids Farewell and Commits Suicide.

(Journal Special Service.) Braddock, Pa., Nov. 20.—"If I thought you did not love me I would kill myself." This was the burden of jealous fear expressed by Andrew Carnegie Baldrige, a wealthy cousin of William Ellis Corey, and the youngest son of John Baldrige, a wealthy property owner and financier, one of the trio of Braddock's richest men, when he committed suicide.

For two hours previous to midnight Baldrige pleaded with his wife to prove her love for him, and she reassured him.

It is alleged that brooding over the attitude of relatives caused Baldrige to be seized with a mania, and he threw his bride of six weeks to the floor, drew a hunting knife and tried to kill her. They were alone in the house of Baldrige's sister, Mrs. Julia Smith, on Kirkpatrick avenue.

The bride pleaded desperately for her life and the husband lifted her to her feet; then, sitting at a table, he told her he would leave her all he had. He rose from the table, embraced her, and then before she could comprehend what he was about to do, placed the muzzle of a Remington rifle in his mouth, pulled the trigger with his foot and blew off his head.

A moment before he had told his bride he was only testing her when he threatened to kill her.
