

DOAN'S EVENTS ON EAST SIDE

Business Man's Club Successful in Important Undertakings for District's Benefit.

BRIDGE QUESTION IS AGAIN DISCUSSED

Agitation for an All-East-Side Car Line Does Not Abate—Old Mount Tabor Landmark Sold—Other East Side Notes.

East Side Department. At last, through the persistent and concerted action on the part of the East Side business men through their organization and the East Side Business Men's club, work on the fill on East Stark street from East Seventh to East Water street is to go ahead at once and already the attention of these bodies is turning to other improvements. These organizations have brought to the East Side nearly everything they have obtained in late years and they contend that they are in a position to judge better than others what is most needed in their districts.

Another concession to East Side interests was obtained yesterday when the East Side Business Men's club secured the issuance of an order by Chief of Police Gritzmacher, causing Captain Sliover to assign Patrolman Sloan to duty as crossing officer at Grand avenue and East Morrison street. Officer Sloan will be on duty at this post from 4 to 7:30 o'clock each afternoon. H. A. Wilson and A. H. Willet were on the committee appointed by the club to request this of the police department last week. It is an important corner and is now the only one on the east side to possess a special crossing officer, although other corners are in need of one during the busy hours.

At their meeting last night they decided to look into the causes for the delay in the building of the Grand avenue bridge over East Side street. The contract for the bridge was let over a month ago and nothing whatever has been done even in preparation for the construction of the bridge. The East Side Business Men's club will also look after the improvement of East Stark street above East Seventh, as that street must be improved, since it is the natural outlet for the whole country which the business men of the district desire to see improved.

Besides these improvements the members of the organization have in mind the immediate filling of the property from Belmont to East Washington. If the property owners will guarantee the Pacific Bridge company enough work they will provide special equipment for the job so that it can be done with dispatch. The bridge company is willing to place an outlay of $50,000 for this equipment if the property owners will signify their willingness to have all this work done at once. Prominent business men of the East Side are very enthusiastic over this revelation that looks like sudden greatness for East Portland.

Wants Reinforced Concrete. Councilman Bennett said that he had presented to the board a resolution asking for a reinforced bridge at East Twenty-eighth street and also announced that steps would be taken to erect steel bridges over Sullivan's gulch on Union avenue and East Second street replacing the wooden structures at those points. The street committee was instructed to call attention to the present condition of East Second street and they will also call attention to the Southern Pacific for the intersection of East Morrison and East First on account of the continual dangers there to persons and traffic from the swiftly passing trains.

Steps were taken for bringing together the business men of the east side, which will probably take the form of a banquet, but the details of the plan so far have not yet been decided upon. John F. Cordray was present and spoke of the feasibility of a plan for an east side theatre and said that with the improvement of Grand avenue he thought such an enterprise would be a paying proposition.

East Side Car Line. An all East Side car line is the favorite measure with the East Side Improvement association and it is being made toward the consummation of the proposition. It is a step that is badly needed, as under present conditions it is impossible to travel from one part of the East Side to the other without an unnecessary amount of riding, crossing two bridges or paying two or more fares. The East Side High school is not at all easy to reach under present conditions and this improvement in the car service would greatly facilitate matters in this respect.

The unusual quiet reigning in St. Johns is to be noted, but the good citizens of the town are glad to see only a customary lull before another storm, and are all busy polishing weapons for the next conflict.

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of Them in Portland, and Good Reason for It

Wouldn't any woman be happy, after years of backache suffering, days of misery, nights of unrest, the distress of urinary troubles, she finds relief and cure? No reason why any Portland reader should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. A. Canavan of 230 Lincoln street, Portland, Oregon, says: "I was led to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills three years ago from the great relief I had found in a case of kidney complaint which had annoyed me for a long time. I tried other remedies previously, but Doan's Kidney Pills were the only remedy that helped me. My trouble had lasted for three years, during which time I suffered from irregular action of the kidneys and backache. At times I was in such misery from the aching and weakness that I could not rest in any position. I suffered from headaches and dizziness, and could hardly attend to the simplest household duties. Doan's Kidney Pills freed me from this miserable existence and I never have had an opportunity to recommend the remedy. In fact, I gave a public testimonial in 1903, which I am glad to repeat and confirm."

MOST BRUTAL OF THUGS.

To the left is Louis Dabner, to the right John Siemson, known as the "gas-pipe" murderers who have caused a reign of terror in San Francisco, who have confessed to having committed six murders. Dabner is the son of respectable farmers and Siemson, a half breed Kanaka, son of a wealthy Hawaiian planter.

by the council was that the present charter of the St. Johns ferry company was revoked and another charter given to the St. Johns Transportation company of which E. J. Peterson and J. H. Smith are the controlling figures. J. H. Brink, the proprietor of the old ferry, will also be connected with the new corporation on account of his numerous holdings in landings and other equipment.

The new company will build another ferry which is to be put on the St. Johns-Linton run within 90 days and which will be able to carry eight wagons and will be built after the style of the Vancouver ferry, only that it will not be so large as the Columbia required. The new craft will be known as the James John in honor of the founder of the city of St. Johns.

The reasons for revoking the old charter were that the agreements were violated and the old ferry allowed to fall into great need of repair, so much so, in fact, that it was almost useless. It sometimes required two hours to make the trip across the river at St. Johns and many preferred to go to the Albina ferry. The boat was pronounced by many to be dangerous.

Old Landmark Sold. The residence of H. S. Fields, an old landmark of Mount Tabor, was sold this week to Joseph Roebuck for $3,500. The house was built in Mount Tabor many years ago and gradually has seen the city grow toward the hill until at last it encompassed the little village of Mount Tabor and made it the part of a large city.

The property holders along Hubbard street from the Base Line road to Casson street in Montavilla are anxious to see that street improved. They only desire that the street be put into the condition of a good country road so that it will bear the traffic since in its present poor condition it can hardly be utilized at all by teamsters who haul heavier freight. Positions have been sent to the council, but delay has been the result until the continued rains of the past three weeks have succeeded in bringing about the present condition of the street.

The Montavilla postal station is being enlarged and generally improved. It is being painted within and without and the carriers have been given more room. The business of the Montavilla station has increased a good deal and the work of the carriers is assuming such large proportions that another carrier will have to be added soon.

Miss Notes. Mrs. James Moore, the wife of Rev. Moore of Mount Tabor, who has been seriously ill, is slowly recuperating.

The contract for the finishing touches for the new city hall was let this week by the St. Johns council. Mr. J. C. Bardett, who was injured by the cars on the west approach of the Morrison street bridge last May, is recovering slowly and will be crippled for life. The street car company has yet made no settlement, although many offers have been made much below the expenses of the accident even, according to Mr. Bardett.

Mount Scott people are at last being reimbursed for more than a year's loss of lights along the Mount Scott line, as they attribute the accident of last week to this deficiency in the service.

The volunteer fire company of Arleta has incorporated and will endeavor to raise funds to purchase apparatus. They will try to secure a twin-tank chemical engine, but more funds are needed. They also are having difficulty in finding a site for the building from which to work the large district.

J. C. Pinekey is building a large residence on Hubbard street in Montavilla.

The large pipe line from Mount Tabor to the peninsula is giving perfect satisfaction and it seems to be the general opinion that the work was well done. Patrons along the line are now conjecturing on the kind of service each will receive from the new supply.

SENSATIONAL DIVORCE TRIAL IN WASHINGTON

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—The suit for divorce brought by Charles E. Bassett against the geological survey, against his wife, Fanny Rice Bassett, the daughter of former Senator Rice of Arkansas, in which the Rev. Lawrence Hunt, pastor of the Noble Street Presbyterian church in Brooklyn is named as co-respondent, was called for trial today before Judge Gould. The trial promises to be sensational, for it will involve in one way or another several persons conspicuous in the social and official life of the capital.

Mrs. Bassett, who is now living in Omaha, where she has brought a suit against her husband, will not contest the present suit, it is said. It will be fought solely by the co-respondent. His Brooklyn congregation, it is understood, has agreed to suspend judgment on him until the conclusion of the case. Bassett asks for the custody of four children, but makes no claim regarding a fifth child, which bears the name of Lawrence Hunt Bassett.

FRANK CASTER GIVEN RESPITE FROM CHAIR

(Journal Special Service.) Columbus, O., Nov. 22.—Tonight was the time fixed for the electrocution of Frank Caster in the penitentiary annex, but thanks to the strong efforts made in his behalf by his family and friends in Flint, Michigan, he condemned man has secured a new lease of life. The pardon board is to be asked to commute the sentence to life imprisonment. If this fails, the case probably will be appealed to the United States supreme court.

Why is it that a woman in an unexpected place is always an attraction? I never had this truth more suddenly thrust upon me than when I stepped into the large department store of McAllen & McDonnell, where I was met and my wants courteously attended to by an attractive young woman floor-walker. I never thought of it before, but why shouldn't this be woman's natural occupation? The courtesy and cordiality of a hostess, inborn in most women, is here given an opportunity for expression. The woman floor-walker—answering questions and directing shoppers to various departments with the kindly manner of personal interest that she would show to guests at her home—is certainly an alluring innovation. By the way, this store is showing an extremely handsome line of dress goods in the popular reds—garnet, wine, magenta and ruby; one window combines these richly colored fabrics in a display that forms a glorious touch of color against the grayness of the street.

Speaking of red, what a reminder is this season's color preference of that old saying of Eugene Field's: "Any color so it's red!" In one of Ben Selling's windows is a most beautiful display of boys' suits—for the little fellows, from two and a half years up to the predominating color being the popular bright red. I followed this suit display to its center, and found on the second floor an entire department given over to juvenile clothing. This is one of the best equipped departments for children's clothing I ever entered, and I believe the largest in the northwest. The suits are made of the finest material, with wide sleeves, handsome capers, with wide collars, a rest room for tired mothers, with every convenience—free telephone, couches and easy chairs—makes shopping with restless children a comfort and pleasure rather than a burden. And how nice it is—at the children's clothes can all be bought; that sewing machine slavery can—and is, in very many cases—a thing of the past! And how nice it is to see the old clothes are on the little total! There is also a large variety of head gear: college caps, golf caps, Napoleon caps, colonial caps and a novel little hat called a French. The children, that would look very jaunty topping a rough curly head.

I knew of one man who had his sister-in-law forget-me-nots on his smoking jacket lapels, but I believe he was the notable exception; men as a rule do not seem to be possessed with a desire for feminine styles of apparel. The rule, however, work the other way, however. Women—large portions of them—have an especial fondness for clothing bought at a man's clothing store. A season or so ago, so I learned at A. B. Steinhach & Co.'s, women were heavy purchasers of men's embroidered-lisle-thread socks; and now there is as great a demand for men's ties and hats. A very jaunty sailor shaped felt hat with telescope crown, notable in vivid red, is taking the place, with the school girls, of the small soft hat known as a "crusher." The large corner window is, entirely lined with these pretty hats, which are called the "Skidos," a name given them possibly, because they are designed to put all other school hats out of business. In the window is also a large variety of hat bands representing the colors of all the educational institutions of the northwest. This display is not only attractive but informative, as few of us perhaps have realized that we have so many different educational centers.

GETS HEAVY DAMAGES FROM LUMBER COMPANY

D. C. Elliott was awarded $5,500 damages for personal injuries from the North Pacific Lumber company by a jury in Judge Gantenbein's department of the state circuit court yesterday afternoon. Suit was brought by J. E. Elliott, guardian of the plaintiff, who is under 21 years of age, for $10,058 damages. The injuries were alleged to have been received May 4, 1905, while young Elliott was employed as a hook tender on the lumber deck at the North Pacific mill. It was alleged that a heavy piece of timber was thrown a distance of 85 feet from the top of a derrick striking Elliott behind the knee of his left leg. It was stated that the injuries sustained would cripple the youth for life. The lumber company contested the payment of damages, charging Elliott with contributory negligence. Attorneys Spencer, Davis & Farrell appeared for Elliott. The lumber company was represented by Attorney R. W. Wilbur, who announced that he would appeal to the supreme court.
