But for the bravery and prompt action of former First Officer Thomas E. Parker of the O. R. & N. Co.'s steamer Hassalo, an unknown man would have drowned in the river off the Ash street dock Wednesday night as the steamer was about to pull out for Astoria. Parker jumped into the water and reacued the drowning man at the peril of his own life.

The facts were not made public until yesterday afternoon when the steamer returned from Astoria. The unknown man was seized with a fainting spell while standing on the bow of the steamer and rolled over the side into the river. He sank like rock and would probably never have come to the surface again had not Parker made a dive for him. Although after dark, Parker saw the man roel and fall over the side.

The police officers, who made the investigation, do not believe that the thieves who planned to loot the office and subsequently to blow the fron safe had anything to do with sarting the fire.

Boxes on the east side of the theatre are almost a total wreck and the decorations on the east wall, from the stage half way back, are burned and smoked so that all must be removed. All the parquet seats were soaked with water when the celling sprinkler allowed a flood of water to drop. Smoke damaged the entire theatre.

HARRIMAN PLANNING TO CINCH CHICAGO Friday.

(Journal Special Service.)
Chicago, Nov. 24.—The Chronicle states: Plans are being formulated by E. H. Harriman and other eastern financiers for the formation of a gigantic corporation, which is to control practically the commercial life of Chicago by means of a combination of the subway, transportation, freight, express, electric light and power and telephone companies now holding franchises in the city.

The first intimation that such a deal

The first intimation that such a deal was under way came today from an authoritative source. The statement was made that the proposed merger of the Illinois Tunnel company and the Chicago Edison company was the first in the formation of one of the greatest Experienced Office Men Are Going Over System of Auditor's Office.

WILL DETERMINE IF IT IS SAFE ONE

Some Reports Have Already Been Made, but Auditor Will Retain Them Until He Is Ready to Make Public Report.

Men experienced in office systems and management are today going over the books of the city auditor's office. They have been asked to do so by Auditor Devlin, who wishes to make good in his denial of Mayor Lane's charges that the records of his department are kept in a loose and unsafe manner.

A dozen men, mostly representatives of the banks, have finished an examination of the system. No attempt is n of the system. No att counts and learn anything as to their correctness—the auditor simply wishes opinions as to the safety of his system. "I have already received several reports in writing from men who have investigated this system," and Mr. Deviin this morning. "I'm not showing them anything, I simply answer what questions they ask me. No, I'm not rendy to make public the reports I have already received, but that will be done." H. J. Stirling, auditor of the O. R. & N. company: F. W. Skiff, a department manager for Olds, Wortman & King, and B. Lie Paget, secretary and auditor of the Portland Trust company, were at work in the auditor's office at noon today.

Youchers are Examined.

Special attention is being paid to the vouchers for the purchase of articles for municipal use. Mayor Lane has said that the system is weak at both ends, and that he cannot assume responsibility for the validity of claims so long as the present method is in force.

Explanation of System.

Explanation of System.

Following is an explanation of the system gone through with whenever any article, great or small, which is intended for city use, is bought by any department:

A requisition is issued by the head of a department, is approved by the mayor or member of executive board. It is addressed to the dealer as an order to deliver the article purchased. The

the council, the auditor draws a warrant for the amount of the bill, which warrant he and also the mayor must sign. The dealer receipts for the warrant on the claim sheet, certifying that he has been paid in full. The treasure cashes the warrant for the dealer and it is returned to the auditor's office, where it is entered on the claim sheet
as paid. Then fequisition, bill, claim sheet and canceled warrant are fastened together and filed.
