MULTNOMAH PLAYERS ROUNDING TO FORM

Captain Jordan and His Men Will Hold Their Last Practice This Evening in Preparation for the An nual Struggle on Thursday.

The only event that is engaging the stemtion of everybody these days is the annual Thankegiving day footbail game stween the elevens of the Multinomah mateur Athletic club and the University of Oregon. This game is always coked upon as the real event of the sear, and, judging from the past, the natch on Thursday will be as great, if out a greater affair, than ever before. The all absorbing question is, "Is this bregon's year?" Those who have followed the fortunes of the Oregon team or years are of the opinion that Multinomah is doomed this year. They even to farther and say that they will back bregon against Multinomah at odds if secessary. This is strong talk.

While all the discussions and predictions of the Oregon men are going the ounds, poor old Multinomah appears to have been overlooked by plenty of the counds, poor old Multinomah appears to have been overlooked by plenty of the sports who usually pick the club to come out on top.

"Let them back Oregon all they like," says Hiram Keller, "we will show those Sugene guys what we can do." Keller at the center in the club equad and has been a close student of the game for even years, and while his predictions to not always come true, yet there are always come true, yet there are who will give them fair consideration.

The fact that Bud James is suffering from a very bad leg that may keep him out of the game too has worried the club men considerably. Should James be not able to play, Dolph will be sent in as fullback, and another haifback placed in Dolph's position. How this change at such a late hour would work is a matter of conjecture.

Last evening the club boys went through a long signal practice and everything went off in fairly good style. This evening the final workout will be

This evening the final workout will be held and after it is over it will be pretty well known what men will line up against Oregon.

The M. A. A. C. rooters are out repting and from the present noise that is being made, they will outroot the band.

mud and a few stones at the team and insulting Oregon's girls and women by jeers and gross insults, the Corvallis people are accused by Oregon students of flooding the field to make it so muddy that the Agrics could not be scored against. A Corvailis atudent before the game stated that something had been done to the field so that Moulien could not kick any place kicks. One said: "Well, Moulien won't be able to use his iron foot today." After the game several others, whose names have not yet been obtained, are said to have openly stated that the field had been flooded.

In regard to the treatment that Ore-gon received. Umpire Abbot, the fa-mous Wisconsin end, said: "Well, once I saw as bad, when Minnesota stoned hold their little to the northwest championship.

The clubmen will also do well not to take the tie at Corvallis too seriously, for no team can be certain of scoring when the mud is so thick that the ball is stuck three times during the game so that the center cannot pull it out, and the game has to be stopped to twist or pull the pigskin from the soil. When Moullen went into the game in the last six minutes and tried to pull, he let the ball drop and tried to pull his foot from the mud to kick, but could not move his member. Oregon made on plays, excluding kicks and forward passes, 165 yards, while Corvallis netted 30 yards. Oregon made yardage 15 times while Corvallis did so once on a quarterback kick. Only twice did O. A. C. make gains on plays, one for a distance of four yards, the other for three yards. It was true that Wolff of O. A. C. outpunted Moores of Oregon, but when Multnomah meets Oregon, Moullen and Clarke will be there with their 40-yard kicks.

Oragon came out of the game without a man being injured. The men state, that the mud was so deep that they couldn't move fast enough to hurt anyorie, and it is very nearly true.
