

With First Days of December Comes the Christmas Season

The demand for Christmas goods thus far this season indicates an unusually large holiday trade this year. This being the case, the wisdom of buying gifts now is obvious. The last few days before Christmas the store is sure to be crowded, and notwithstanding added facilities for serving shoppers, it will be impossible for people to make selections with as much comfort as now. You will find our holiday stocks remarkably complete and especially attractive in novelties that cannot be bought elsewhere. Acceptable gifts for both sexes, and all ages from babyhood to grandparentage are here in a profusion that leaves nothing to be desired. Our prices are the very lowest possible to quote. If you have set aside a certain sum for holiday shopping you will find that you can secure more and better gifts here for your expenditures than elsewhere. From every point of view this store is the best place in Portland to do your Christmas shopping.
