corner, came to light this morning, when some papers less than 20 years old, were found among the archives of the Oregon Historical society, protesting against cows being allowed to graze on the vacant property in the vicinity of Washington and Fifth streets. These protests were filed with the council by residents of the neighborhood.

PURSUIT ENDS IN A FAILURE

Cross-Continent Chase After A. M. Caldwell Proves Again That Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction.

For 12 years Mr. Hollingshead has been the senior member of the firm of Hollingshead & Caldwell, of Decatur, which concern conducted a large and successful department store at Decatur for a number of years.

Just 11 months ago Mr. Hollingshead took unto himself a young and beautiful wife, coming from one of the best families of Columbus, Ohio, and one of the belles of the smart set there.

Mrs. Hollingshead amid new surroundings immediately became a favorite in Decatur's best society.

Immediately after their disappearance he notified the police and a certain detective agency after two months' work, located them at the beautiful town of Titusville, in Florida. He at once took measures to apprehend them there, leaving his business and starting on the chase personally, but they seemed to have received information of his coming and went north to New York city one day before his arrival. He then took the next train for New York and upon arriving there found the same disappointment awaiting him, they had gone to Montreal.

From Montreal to Houston, Texas, the husband followed them. Then from Houston to Fresno, California, always arriving just a short time after their departure.

In Fresno he lost track of them for some time, but after waiting what seemed to him years instead of weeks, he received word from the detectives in Portland that they were here, but upon his arrival found that they had taken passage that very morning on a steamer bound for the orient.

His business has been closed and all his wares put in storage and rather than face the disgrace and dishonor of going back to his home town and again opening up his business, he has had all his goods shipped here, intending to dispose of them and continue the chase across the Pacific ocean.

He intends to take passage in two weeks at which time he expects to have closed all his business transactions. Mr. Hollingshead at the hotel last night said: "I will spend my last dollar to bring them to account. I have lost all heart and interest in my business and my only desire is to apprehend Caldwell and bring him to justice even though it follow him to the ends of the earth."

Students rejoice at their long vacation.

Salmon, Dec. 18.—The college of liberal arts of Willamette university closed its doors yesterday and the Christmas vacation began, to continue until January 2. Scores of students left the city yesterday, and more will go today. This is the longest vacation period ever given at the university, and is due to the doing away with the Easter vacation. The innovation is hailed with joy by students from a distance, as they can have a longer stay at their homes. The colleges of law and medicine will close Saturday and will reopen January 2.

HILO BREAKWATER IS INDORSED

Trustees of Chamber of Commerce Vote to Support Hawaiian Movement.

STANDARD INSURANCE POLICY CONSIDERED

Many New Firms Are Admitted to Membership - Chamber Sending Out Great Quantities of Oregon Literature in Response to Inquiries.

At a called meeting of the trustees of the Portland chamber of commerce today, indorsement was given to the request of the commercial bodies of the Hawaiian islands for support of the local organization in securing an appropriation from congress for constructing a breakwater at Hilo, to insure the security of the deep-sea harbor at that point.

A discussion of the question of adoption of the New York standard insurance policy ended in referring the matter back to the committee, which will meet next Friday to consider the desirability of recommending repeal of the $50,000 deposit law. The committee will consider the insurance situation in various phases, and be ready to submit a report and recommendations at the next meeting of the trustees.

The following applicants for membership in the chamber were elected: Oregon Detective Service, Peary Bros., American Cycle company, Bassett & Freeman, Diamond Sand company, William E. Morris, George W. Gates & Co., Elliott & Scoggin, L. W. Baker, Portland hardware company, Thomas Ritchie Lumber company, Liss Bros, the advertising, Columbia Hardware company, the Toke Point Oyster company, Greenland & Grek, Waterhouse & Price company, John C. Baird, Merchants' Express & Transportation company, Frank R. Chambers Jr., Columbia Manufacturing company, Billew & Hirstel, Friberg Bros., W. L. Archambeau, R. S. Greenleaf, J. A. Millon, M. Michael, J. B. C. Lockwood and J. G. Hoyt.

The publicity department of the chamber is sending out an average of 500 answers a week to inquiries in the eastern states concerning resources and opportunities in Oregon. The larger number of the letters of inquiry are from farmers in the middle west who are interested in reports they have heard about Oregon's favored climate and soil, and who want to know about prices of lands, special adaptability of sections of the state and conditions as to schools, transportation, good roads and other important features of modern farm life. Each inquiry is answered with special letters or literature covering the subjects under discussion.

BILLS TO MAKE BETTER STATE SCHOOL SYSTEM

Local officials asserted that the heavy demand for cars to move the crop in the Dakotas was responsible for the local tie-up, but the grain dealers replied that the shipments into Minneapolis from the Dakotas are lighter this year than last.

LINN-FARMERS WANT A GOOD ROADS LAW

Albany, Or., Dec. 18.—At a meeting in Orleans grange hall road matters were discussed by about 40 of the leading farmers and taxpayers of that section. Special addresses were made by Supervisors Ohling and Stelmacher, Joseph Yates, William Bogus, Elias Truax, George Hofflich, James Dyer and others.

NOTABLE HINDOO HERE

Dr. J. F. Jameson, who hails from India, "The Land of Mystery," is a visitor to the city, and intends to remain here for a short time.

Dr. Jameson is the possessor of real occult gifts, and claims to have made startling discoveries through occult power. This wonderful man, who has a personality as unique as it is magnetic, has been a great benefit to no small portion of suffering humanity.

For some time past he has been located at Vancouver, B. C., but upon pressing invitations of many Oregonians he consented to come to Portland for a short period and to here teach and dispense his ailment-relieving power. He is located in rooms 30 and 31, Lewis building, Park and Morrison streets, in the quarters formerly occupied by Dr. N. J. Pifon.

Dr. Jameson is a discoverer of and inventor in electric sciences, and has several new appliances which bring immediate relief and in nearly all cases permanently cures a great many ailments. This strange physician will diagnose one's case free of charge and always refrains from experimenting.

In an interview Dr. Jameson said: "I have power of healing within myself which is unexplainable even to me. This power controls the nervous system of the patient."

He is not a cure all nor does he treat everything. For medical and surgical cases he will refer you to a surgeon or a regular practitioner which may be a benefit to you. He said: "I can cure any disease of the nerves and rheumatics instantly."

GRAIN ROTS WHILE CARS ARE IDLE ON TRACKS

Million Bushels of Wheat is Stacked Along Stations in Washington.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Spokane, Wash., Dec. 18.—In a report made by a committee representing grain dealers of central Washington, it is charged that 1,000,000 bushels of wheat are being permitted to rot on platforms at Northern Pacific stations because the railroad officials refuse to permit the grain to be loaded into empty cars which stand idle on the sidings. The committee asserts that the claim of car shortage has been a mere pretext, manufactured by the railroads to meet the complaints of those suffering the rigors of coal famine, of lumbermen, grain dealers and flour manufacturers. It claims that 350 empty cars are now standing on sidings between Pasco and Sprague, and that the railroad's excuse for not filling them with grain is that it has not the motive power to haul them.

Members of the committee begged that they be permitted to transfer their grain-sacks from the platforms to those cars for more storage purposes, as 20 per cent would thus be saved. They charge that the railroads are in reality discriminating in favor of flour shipments, which pay better, and think it a significant fact that the flour manufacturers, who were invited to join them in the conference, failed to appear.

Local officials asserted that the heavy demand for cars to move the crop in the Dakotas was responsible for the local tie-up, but the grain dealers replied that the shipments into Minneapolis from the Dakotas are lighter this year than last.
