Historic Building in Milwaukee Burns to Ground in Mysterious Manner.

MILWAUKIE GRANGE TO ERECT NEW BUILDING

Olympic Club of That Place Will Also Build Hall and Other Important Structures Are Being Contemplated—Other Notes of East Side.

East Side Department.
An old building worth perhaps $150 or $200, but a landmark in Milwaukee, burned to the ground last Saturday night in a mysterious manner. The building was more of a shack than anything else and has been used for a long time only as a sort of storehouse and blacksmith shop. It was a dilapidated affair and lying in the central part of town, was considered by many as an eyesore and a general discredit to the town, so that the opinion that it was fired by some one is expressed rather freely in Milwaukee.

There had been no fire in the building during the day, but when the alarm was given at 10 o'clock at night it was already completely enveloped in flames. The building had just been bought by Edward Paetsch, the newly elected marshal, and the deed had been transferred to him by Philipp Streib, the former owner, just a few days before the fire occurred. Part of the building was rented to John Schultz, blacksmith, and also contained a small stock of felt shoes. The Olympic club had some apparatus in the building, which is a total loss.

The loss of the building is felt more in Milwaukee because it has a historical interest. It was first built as a dryhouse and was one of the first of such buildings erected in the state. It was then on what is known as the Luelling estate, which was founded by one of the pioneer fruitgrowers of the coast.

Milwaukee Is Active.
Considerable activity is manifest in Milwaukee in all building lines. The Milwaukee grange, Patrons of Husbandry, has completed a deal for a piece of land upon which it will erect a hall at once. A location has been sought for some time and a piece owned by Richard Scott, who not only makes the first payment on the lot, but donates all of the sand and gravel for the basement and foundation, was finally accepted.

The old Milwaukee hotel, another building with an historical significance, is being rented and remodeled. This building is one of the oldest about Portland, and was used long ago by the old Bishop Scott's academy. The lumber for this building was hewn out by hand, the structure having been built before any sawmills were established in the country. The building has been used some time as the office of the Milwaukee Bee, but Isaac Gratton is erecting a new building which will be occupied by Charles Ballard, proprietor of the Milwaukee Bee.

The Milwaukee Evangelical church started the foundation for its new building yesterday and a number of men were engaged excavating for the new church.

C. Kerr will erect a new blacksmith shop off from the main street and will start the work on this building at once.

Will Erect Building.
The members of the Milwaukee Olympic club have started a movement to raise funds with which to purchase a lot and build a hall. Its object is to provide a place where the young men and boys of that place can develop their physical powers and provide a place where they may go that will be interesting enough to keep them off the street. They have now about $200, and will start a movement for a hundred or so more. They will have a physical director, and expect to build a hall 40x60, large enough for any use they might wish to put it to.

A team belonging to H. J. McGee of Gresham became frightened yesterday morning on Grand avenue and started to run. It ran only a short distance when the horses collided with a telephone pole at Hawthorne avenue and one horse was thrown so heavily against the post and in such a way that one leg was broken just above the knee joint. The horse suffered great pain, but a man carrying a revolver put it out of its misery.

The feature that considerably irritated the business men of the locality the most was the fact that the horse was permitted to lie on the street in front of the Sargent hotel from 9 o'clock in the morning until evening before any action was taken to remove it. Two policemen came along, took a look at the horse, but further than that nothing happened. Mr. Sargent called up the police and the health board, both of which promised to have it removed at once, but still it lay all day in the street. Mr. Sargent, who was a rather strongly upon the point, and said: "It is a shame and a disgrace to the city to allow such a thing. No other city that I have ever been in would allow such a thing to happen in such a matter. Yet it happens in Portland."

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS

For 53 years the Bitters has been proving that it cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Costiveness, Biliousness or other Stomach troubles as well as prevents Chills and Colds. Our 1907 Almanac tells more about it. It is free at any drug store. Be sure to get a copy, also try a bottle of the Bitters.

every month or two, even on the most frequented thoroughfares.

East Side Notes.
E. A. Baldwin is negotiating a sale of the corner property adjoining the Sargent hotel on Grand avenue and East Main street. It is reported that a department store will go in a $40,000 building here.

Upon the request of the Midway Improvement association, the police ring the curfew at Midway on the Sellwood line every evening at 8 o'clock, and all small boys must be home after that time.

Councilman A. N. Wills promises to have all streets in Sellwood improved before his term expires, if no remonstrance hinders the improvement.

Progress in the plans for classrooms of the Young Men's association of St. Mary's parish, Albina, is being made, and everything will soon be in readiness for the erection of the building.

The Montavilla Improvement league met last night and listened to encouraging reports from the movement to open a wide country road from Montavilla to Fairview. The farmers are very much in favor of the project. The opera house delegation was not present on account of the cars not being operated last night, so no action was taken regarding the new theatre for the east side.

Albina lodge, A. F. & A. M., has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Worshipful master, P. Venet; senior warden, H. Woodham; junior warden, A. L. Ennis; treasurer, J. C. Jameson; secretary, A. J. Handland. These officers will be installed next Saturday night.

The Sellwood board of trade are contemplating the purchase of some property along the river at the foot of Spokane avenue, and which they will convert to park purposes.

Property owners of Kenilworth will hold a meeting this week to consider the widening of Gladstone avenue through that addition. Some wish a 60-foot street and others an 80-foot thoroughfare.

WEEK'S NEW BILLS AT STOCK THEATRES

"Faust" at the Lyric.

With Frank Fanning as Mephisto, wearing the shoes and feather that the famous Lewis Morrison wore while playing the part, the Lyric stock company has brought out a production of Goethe's immortal "Faust." The opening performance of the new bill was given yesterday matinee. It created a sensation. The stage settings, the costumes, the electrical effects and the manner in which the company handled the production stamped it as by far the best and most gorgeous thing the Lyric people have yet done. Much credit is due to Managers Keating and Flood for attempting such a production, and great credit is due Herbert Ashton for succeeding in giving such a realistic presentation of the bill.

Fanning is at his best as Mephisto, using a multitude of the little tricks that made Morrison famous. He facilities with the role in a splendid manner with much fidelity to the rules laid down by the lamented Morrison, with whose company Fanning was for many years. The Marguerite of Miss and was used long ago by the old Bishop Scott's academy. The lumber for this building was hewn out by hand, the structure having been built before any sawmills were established in the country. The building has been used some time as the office of the Milwaukee Bee, but Isaac Gratton is erecting a new building which will be occupied by Charles Ballard, proprietor of the Milwaukee Bee.

"Faust" will be the bill at the Lyric all week, with a matinee each day. It is distinctly worth seeing.

"The Heritage of the Red."

"The Heritage of the Red," a play written specially for Miss Vera Felton, a charming girl, actress at the Star, is the bill of that company for the current week. It opened last night to a crowded house and seemed to please immensely. It also serves to introduce Taylor Bennett, the new leading man at the Star.

"The Heritage of the Red" tells a story of a girl supposed to have a strain of Indian blood in her veins and because of this the ensuing complications give a chance for Miss Felton to do some effective emotional work. Forrest Seabury does well as the hero, Zeb Downey and Irving Kennedy scores as Algy Poppleton. Loring Kelley is exceptionally good this week. But Miss Felton captures the blue ribbon.

The scores of the play are in the state of Washington, on the shores of Puget sound and in Olympia. Stage effects are good and the production is a satisfactory one. Same bill all week, with matinee Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

AT THE VAUDEVILLE THEATRES

At the Pantages.

There are no "fillers" on the bill at Pantages this week. For the evening there has been raked the country for good people and seems to have found them. Jeanette Laurelle, the dancer, justly heads the program. She is seen in a spectacular act, "The Crowned One," her work justifies the extravagant things that have been said about her in other cities. The Four Mangans, acrobats, are also worthy of special mention, and yesterday proved favorites with the audiences. La Mar is a monologist of unusual originality and charm. He springs some jokes that are really new. Pollard, eccentric juggler, is good. The Regals are comedians worthy of notice. Leo White sings another song and the motion pictures complete a strong bill.

At the Grand.

There is another good bill at the Grand this week, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher in Ezra Kendall's sketch, "The Halfway House." It is about the best sketch ever sprung in a local vaudeville house. There is a fountain of laughter in it. Cheverel is a stick violinist who has been seen in Portland before. He was given kind greeting by yesterday's audiences. Beauchamp, eccentric acrobat, has a turn that is worth seeing and in part original. The Three Hiltoms are fancy bicyclists who create laughter and excite wonder also. Teggs and Daniels do a sketch that is good. Joe Belmont is the "human bird" when it comes to whistling. Harold Hoff has a new song and the motion pictures complete the bill.

Mrs. Phirman Dead at The Dalles.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., Dec. 15.—Mrs. Martha Phirman, who had lived in The Dalles since 1886, died Saturday night, and was buried yesterday afternoon.

The above trade-mark, "The Old Chemist," which is blown in every bottle containing Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is your guarantee against fraudulent imitations and substitutes.

Mr. G. I. Partridge, of Franklin, Mass., who is in his 84th year, led his famous band through the streets of Cambridge at the head of the Knights Templar Parade.

In an interview a few days ago, Mr. Partridge, the veteran band-master, said: "Last April I took a sudden cold, and I was laid up with neuralgia in my shoulder, which brought on fever and took away my appetite, but by using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey I came out all right, and on Memorial Day I was leading my band and playing as well. I think your Malt Whiskey is just the medicine to tone up and keep up the strength of old people. Hoping your medicine will prove beneficial to others, I can truly recommend it as a valuable help."

Despite his advanced age, Mr. Partridge can still do as good work as men two score years younger.

This is one of the thousands of cases where Duffy's Malt Whiskey drives out the germs of decay, and renders the system as healthy as that of a boy of twenty. This great tonic stimulant and elixir of life has been the means of prolonging the lives of thousands of men and women who cannot say too much in praise of it.

CAUTION.—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the one absolutely pure medicinal whiskey and is sold only in sealed bottles; never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal-over the cork is unbroken. For sale by druggists, grocers and dealers. Price $1.00. Illustrated medical booklet and doctor's advice free. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.
