I was never so convinced that advertising in newspapers was such a paying proposition until I inserted an ad in The Journal's Special $1.00 Page which was issued Wednesday, Dec. 19th. The results were more than gratifying, and I now know that it takes newspaper advertising to boom a business.

Yours very truly,

KLAMATH LAND KINGS YIELDING TO DESTINY

At Same Time Huge Obstacle to Government Reclamation Project Removed—Klamath Falls Business Property Advancing.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., Dec. 24.—The past week has been one of great activity in real estate, the largest transfer being that of the widely discussed Kern tract of 4,280 acres situated between this city and Keno, which occasioned wide comment because its owner positively refused to sign it up to the Water Users' association under the federal reclamation project, and penalties and assessments to the amount of $7 cents per acre now stand against it, but the new owners are in full accord with the irrigation project, and will make a fortune by selling in small tracts. The purchase price was $12.50 per acre, and in from 10-acre to 150-acre tracts it will probably realize $50 and upwards per acre.

Abel A. J. the "Swamp Land King," has both bought and sold heavily, having purchased about 1,400 acres at $12.50 and sold 1,073 acres at $20 per acre to Leo S. Robinson of Alameda.

California. Men who have talked about these lands, drained and irrigated, bringing an annual cash rental of from $10 to $14 per acre were considered wild in their estimates, but this heavy purchaser says similar lands in California have actually brought as high as $50 rental. While a few small lots are still being offered at $20 per acre, the advance will be rapid from this time on.

Well located property is also advancing. A Seattle man was so favorably impressed with the extensive C. D. Wilson property on Main street that he followed the owner to Portland to close the deal at $150 per front foot.

The fourth of four brick blocks, involving an aggregate outlay of $100,000, is almost completed, the Witherow-Melrose block, adjoining the courthouse block on Main street. The others, in the order of their completion, are the Baldwin, four stories, the Murdock, and the American Bank & Trust company's, two stories. These vast expenditures, by residents, have inspired confidence, and insure the substantial values of well-located property, but the "booster" are here and addition after addition has been platted.

In spite of the mud the work on the new railroad and irrigation project is moving as fast as possible under the stringent labor conditions. Mr. Mason, superintendent of the Mason-Davis company, is rushing the outside concrete work and if the present open weather continues a short time he is sure of completing his nine-mile ditch, including the big tunnel, on contract time.

IN THIRTY FEET OF WATER VALISE SAVED HIM

Truly Remarkable Experience of Myopic Mr. Pearce at Hood River.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., Dec. 24.—While on his way to Hood River O. N. Pearce, postmaster at Galer, Washington, stepped off the ferryboat and was rescued with difficulty. Mr. Pearce's eyesight is defective and he walked off the end of the boat with a valise in his hand. The water where the accident took place is 30 feet deep and he would have been drowned had it not been for the fact that the valise acted as a life preserver and held him up. Clutching it, he floundered in the river, calling for help until the attention of the ferryman, who were on shore, was attracted and they went to his assistance. With the aid of ropes he was drawn from the water and brought to this city, none the wiser for his adventure.

ATHEISTS RULE IN FRANCE

Archbishop Ireland Explains the Cause of Trouble in the Republic.

PEOPLE DO NOT DO THEIR OWN THINKING

Party in Paris Bent on the Destruction of All Religions and for That Reason Wars Bitterly on the Catholic Church.

(Journal Special Service.)

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 24.—Church and State in France" was discussed by Archbishop Ireland in his sermon at the Cathedral. He was heard with close attention and the sacred edifice contained a remarkably large number of people who do not hold the archbishop's religious beliefs.

"Americans," said his grace, "should not be misled by words which have a totally different significance in their land from what is allowed them in France. Separation of the church from the state in America means liberty and justice; there it means servitude and oppression."

"Speaking Friday last to the cardinals present in the Vatican, Pius X said of the French situation: 'We are ready to submit to separation from the state, but it must be a fair separation—such as obtains in the United States, in Brazil, in Great Britain, in Holland—and not a subtraction. No Catholic in the United States makes objection to separation, for there separation means exactly what it purports to mean.'"

"Under advice from the head of the church the bishops of France refused the associations offered by the law of separation. They acted from principle. In the interest of religion they could not approve such associations; they cannot by tolerating them appear to approve them. They are not rebels against the laws of the country."

Pope and bishops knew well the consequences that were to follow; the spirit of the government was not hidden from their eyes; it was an era of oppression; but if no other escape from persecution were possible, than the acceptance of the law of associations, they were ready to welcome persecution.

"It is a lamentable fact that there is in France a party bent on the destruction of religion. The war is made on the Catholic church because she in France represents religion. In reality, in intent, and in fact, the war is against Christianity under any form, against religion of any kind, against the idea itself of a God reigning over men."

Infidels in Power.
"The party of infidelity and atheism has grasped the helm of power and it steers the ship of state into the darkest depths of unbelief and irreligion. Yesterday it was Combes, the most brutal of all; today it is Clemenceau, somewhat more subdued in his hatred, but yet a leader in the fight."

"With such men, and with others dividing with them particular views, even less violent adepts of irreligion, there reigns another idea—the omnipotence of the state. There was ever the plague of France, even when her rulers were devout Christians. The state must control all agencies of power; it must brook no rival. Even the church must be in the hands of the government."

"So was it with Louis XIV and with Napoleon; and so it is with the republic. The republic is a name in France; it has been well said of it that it sleeps on the bed of Louis XIV. France has never understood the meaning of a republic."

"The state is the first power and all must think and act as the state wills and as we will."
"This is certainly the spirit of the infidels who now rule the country; and I am not at all sure it is not, to some degree at least, the spirit of good Catholics, who, were they to be tomorrow in the ascendancy, should believe it their duty to make every one go to mass, as the present deputies assume it their duty to let no one go to mass."

dependence enough to obtain true universal suffrage, a true expression of national will.
"There is no other country where a well-organized and stirring fraction of the population can sway so easily the masses and impose upon them its will."
"No one understood France better than Leo XIII. He had all Catholics seek the welfare of country and of church within the ranks of loyal adherents to the republic. Had Leo been listened to, France in all probability would have escaped the religious persecution of the present day. Monarchical ideas and plottings have done dreadful injury to the church in France."

CLUB AT KLAMATH FALLS TO GO AFTER THINGS

Has One Railroad Coming and is Out for Other Large Enterprises.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., Dec. 24.—The Inland Empire club, a new social and commercial organization, has been launched with 90 charter members, an initiation fee of $10 and dues of $1 per month. When the chamber of commerce leased half of the second floor of the new Murdock block there was a suite of rooms in connection which the chamber did not need, and some of the members proposed organizing a club, within the membership of the chamber, which would take and furnish this suite, but many sought membership because of the social features proposed which were not interested in the chamber of commerce, so it was decided to organize entirely separate, which has been done, about half the club members also holding membership in the chamber, the membership of the latter being 100 and increasing constantly. This organization, which was an offshoot of the original Klamath Promotion club, was first organized for the purpose of hastening the building of a railroad to the city by raising a bonus of $100,000 to be paid the first road reaching the city, and was pledged to the California & Northwestern on condition that it be completed by March, 1907. The bonus having been raised, this organization looked to further industrial development and has continued to do good work, and just now, while the speculative tendency dominates many, there is special need of a conservative organization which will look to the substantial development of the city and county, especially by inviting and encouraging new industries, which are greatly needed and would find profitable employment here.

After next Sunday trains on the Klamath Lake railroad will run on a new schedule, instead of leaving Trail at

TO ALL WE WISH A VERY Merry Christmas

7:30 a. m. they will leave at 10, reaching Keno, and returning they will leave Klamath Falls at 2 p. m. and arrive at Trail at 4:45. This will make the mails arrive here two hours later, but will make little difference to the public, as they now arrive too late for distribution before morning. Representatives of the Oregon Stage company and the Klamath Lake Navigation company are now at San Francisco and it is expected that before Christmas the Klamath will be making the run between this city and Keno, again shortening by 12 miles the stage route between here and the railroad.

TOWN TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION

(Journal Special Service.)
Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 24.—In accordance with an order of the court there will be sold at auction a large part of the town of Mammoth Springs, Arkansas, including one of the largest flour mills in the northern section of the state, a cotton mill and more than 50 city lots. The town, founded many years ago by capitalists, who have since died or retired from active business, for a time enjoyed considerable prosperity, but the owners failing to agree upon plans for its further development, it has been decided best to let all the property go under the hammer.

NORTH BANK OPENING NEW AREAS OF TIMBER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., Dec. 24.—There is much evidence that the lumber business will have a rapid development along the north bank railroad in the near future and that timber lands which have heretofore been inaccessible for marketing logs will soon be taken up or bought and that several small mills will soon be built between White Salmon and Lyle.
The offer of the railroad company to take the delivered anywhere on its line is proving a great incentive to lumbermen, and during the past few months two mills have been built for the purpose near Underwood and White Sal-
