PLEADS UNWRITTEN LAW IN DEFENSE OF MURDER

Congressman-Elect George K. Favrot of Louisiana on Trial for Slaying Friend.

SHOT PHYSICIAN AS HE CAME OUT OF OFFICE

Refuses to Discuss Crime, but Friends State That the Character of His Wife, a Southern Social Leader, Had Been Trauded.

(Journal Special Service.)

Baton Rouge, La., Jan. 10.—Through-out this section the one topic of discussion just now is the trial of Representative-elect George K. Favrot for the alleged murder of Dr. R. H. Aldrich, his college classmate, lifelong friend and family physician. The case resembles the Thaw case in New York, in that both involve "the unwritten law." But the two cases are entirely dissimilar in respect to the reputation of the principals. In the Favrot case, up to the day of the tragedy, all those chiefly concerned were of unimpeachable reputation and of highest standing in the community. At the time of the killing Favrot was district judge and about the same time was elected a representative in congress. The victim, until a short time before his death, was a physician of high standing and known as a religious, abstemious man.

Different stories are told of the events and causes that led up to the tragedy. It is averred by his friends that Dr. Aldrich possessed a secret regarding the wife of Favrot and that the knowledge greatly oppressed him. It is related that he appealed to a fellow-physician that he go to Judge Favrot

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Costs Nothing to Try.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless substances in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but 25 cents a box at drug stores, and although in some cases a slight preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

and reveal it to him. Dr. Aldrich spoke of his anguish and of his reluctance to destroy confidence reposed in a woman, yet he felt as a friend he could no longer preserve silence. It is said that the doctor appealed to finally consented, and this brought on the tragedy.

Boasted While Intoxicated.
But the friends of Judge Favrot give an entirely different version of the case. They affirm that Dr. Aldrich, while intoxicated, was not so careful in his speech as he should have been, and made boasts that involved the good name of a woman. The usual tale-bearer hurried to Favrot and informed him of the alleged reflections cast by Dr. Aldrich.

The tragedy occurred November 7 last. The returns from the election were still coming in when the representatives-elect walked down Capitol street. On his way numerous friends stopped him and congratulated him on his victory. Judge Favrot thanked them, apparently as collected as ever. Leaving a group of his friends he crossed the street and entered the Raymond building. Hardly had he disappeared within the door when a pistol shot was heard, followed by another, and a third. The first to reach the scene found the body of Dr. Aldrich stretched upon the floor, with Judge Favrot, pistol in hand, looking coolly on. The physician had just descended the stairs from his office on the second floor when met by the volley of bullets that instantly killed him.

Refuses to Discuss Crime.
Judge Favrot has consistently refused to make public the facts that led up to the killing except to let it be known that he killed the physician because the latter had traduced Mrs. Favrot's character. In circles known to be friendly to the Aldrich family the belief is expressed that Dr. Aldrich was a martyr; that he sacrificed his life in an unwise attempt to show his deep friendship for Judge Favrot and reveal to him a secret with which he thought his friend ought to be made acquainted. Others express the opinion that Favrot "got the wrong man," and that he realized his error too late. Other, including some who declare they have knowledge of the inside facts, stoutly maintain that Judge Favrot was justified in taking the law into his own hands.

Mrs. Favrot, the supposed cause of the tragedy, has been a leader in the social life of Baton Rouge. Her home has been one of the most elegant in the city and there the legislators have found hospitable greetings. Mrs. Favrot took an active part in her husband's campaign for congress when he defeated Colonel "Sam" Robertson, who had represented the Sixth district for a dozen years. In connection with the killing of Dr. Aldrich Favrot has not uttered one word for publication. Under the Louisiana laws she cannot be compelled to testify against her husband.

Unwritten Law Plea.
The Favrot family has retained a formidable array of eminent counsel to assist in the defense. The list is headed by Judge T. J. Kernan of this city, who is recognized as one of the greatest exponents of "the unwritten law" in America and whose address before the recent meeting of the American Bar association at St. Paul attracted widespread attention.

Judge Kernan formulates the "unwritten law" system into 10 cardinal laws, the fourth of which is: "Any man who traduces a virtuous woman's character may be shot with impunity by her or her husband or any near relative. But the offender must first be given an opportunity to deny and disprove the charge or to retract and apologize."

FIVE MEN BELIEVED DROWNED IN RIVER

No trace of the five men who tried to cross the Columbia in a skiff Sunday night has been discovered, according to B. L. Barry, who came up from McGowan last night. The river in the vicinity was dragged until yesterday, when the search for the bodies had to be given up on account of the formation of ice. The men who started out on the fatal trip were: W. E. Murray of Butler, surveyor of Skamania county, Wash- ington, and brother-in-law of Mr. Barry; Carl Lindstrom, manager of McGowan's cannery; William Wallace of McGowan; James and Sam Hinch of Stevenson, Washington.

ton, and brother-in-law of Mr. Barry; Carl Lindstrom, manager of McGowan's cannery; William Wallace of McGowan; James and Sam Hinch of Stevenson, Washington.

The men, Mr. Barry says, were all well acquainted with the river, and Mr. Barry believes their drowning was due to an error of judgment. Murray suggested the use of a heavier boat when the party left Butler, but Lindstrom, in whom all had confidence, said the 15-foot skiff in which they were seated was perfectly safe, and the voyage could be made without danger. Lindstrom made these remarks before he pushed the boat out from the landing. They were the last words people on shore heard him utter.

ALWAYS ASK FOR OREGON FRUIT

Suggestion of Jonathan Bourne to State Horticultural Society Society Well Received.

H. C. ATWELL IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SOCIETY

Delegation in Congress Will Be Asked to Secure the Passage of a Fruit Mark's Bill to Enforce Proper Labels on Packages.

In point of interest and attendance the annual meeting of the State Horticultural society which closed yesterday was the most important that has been held for years. One hundred and eleven regular delegates and 150 affiliated members were present with 19 auxiliary local societies represented. Resolutions of importance were adopted by the society and it was determined to exert every effort to secure legislative action in the interest of horticulture. The Oregon delegation in congress will be urged to secure the passage of a fruit mark bill by which growers, shippers and packers may be required properly to label fruit packages.

It will be requested of the state legislature to amend the law so as to make the term of office of the master of the grange nine years instead of two, and also to provide for the appointment of the president of the State Horticultural society for a three-term. The courts counties having fruit inspectors will be asked to pay the expenses of their inspectors for a one-

Recipe for Colds

Mix half pint of good whiskey with two ounces of glycerine and add one half ounce Concentrated oil of pine. This latter comes in one half ounce vials packed securely in round screw top cases which are intended to protect it from light and retain all the original essence. Don't use bulk of oil of pine or imitations of Concentrated, which are often found put up in wooden boxes. They are insoluble and work havoc to the kidneys. Any druggist has the Concentrated oil of pine. It will also be found a most excellent remedy for lumbago and all forms of uric acid rheumatism. For this purpose it is taken raw, a few drops on sugar at night and morning. Concentrated oil of pine is the result of many years experimenting by one of Philadelphia's foremost doctors who after endless research at last secured a truly soluble oil of pine, so make sure you get the real thing. It also makes an excellent salve to be applied externally on the lungs. For this purpose it is mixed with lard or vaseline.

week course in entomology at the agricultural college. Officers of the society were elected as follows: Honorary president, Dr. J. R. Cardwell, Portland; president, H. C. Atwell, Forest Grove; first vice-president, Hunt Lewis, Medford; second vice-president, C. D. Huffman, La Grande; secretary, Professor R. Lake, Corvallis; and member finance committee, H. M. Williamson, Portland.

At the conclusion of the meeting a telegram was read from United States Senator-elect Jonathan Bourne Jr., suggesting that the society adopt a resolution requesting Oregonians, when passing through other states, to inquire for Oregon fruit and other Oregon products. Mr. Bourne also suggested that boards of trade and similar organizations in the state adopt similar resolutions. Awards were made as follows:
